Nanaimo Coal Strike Settled

NANAIMO, BC, April 7—(CP)—One of the longest major strikes in British Columbia labor history—the 84-day-old walkout of 1,300 Vancouver Island coal miners—to-day was over.

Members of the United Mine Workers of America (CCL) voted 649 to 301 yesterday in favor of accepting the latest offer of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. operators of pitheads at Nanaimo and Cumberland.

The settlement provided for:

1—An increase of $1.79 a day to all employees.

2—An increase of the welfare fund of from 3 to 5 cents a ton.

3—Adjustment in holidays-with-pay conditions.

4—Retroactive increases of $1.79 a day to all maintenance men who have worked since the January 14 work stoppage.

400,000 Watchers Keep Election Peace

ROME, April 7 — (AP) — Il Populo, official organ of the Government party, said today Interior Minister Mario Scelba intends to assign 400,000 poll watchers to keep the peace at Italy's April 19 elections.

The Christian Democrat newspaper reprinted an interview with Scelba carried in a Turin newspaper.

Scelba, the story said, announced the Government has measures ready to deal with any eventuality. He urged all Italians to vote without fear.

Italy still faces a general strike Thursday. The Communist-dominated Italian General Labor Confederation says it will call a country-wide "creeping" strike if Placido Rizzuto, missing Sicilian Communist, is not found by them.

THE LION GROWLS BACK — British troops check a truck load of Russian soldiers through a British barrier thrown up in a counter move to Russian illegal roadblock in British sector of Berlin. In background is the Russian block. After 12 hours the small Soviet detachment finally abandoned the barrier. The British sent their men in after lodging a vain protest. The Russians over the week-end have asked the British and Americans to call a conference with a view to ending the "Battle of Berlin."

Saskatchewan Hospital Service Said To Cost $5 A Person Per Year

REGINA, April 7 — Four years of CCF government policy in Saskatchewan have produced a hospital service at a yearly charge of $5 a person or $31 a family, said Percy Wright, member of Parliament for Melfort, Sask., here Saturday night.

For these fees there is hospital care for every day in the year. The government pays balances of two million dollars. When the CCF was placed in power the hospital bed accommodation was 3.4 per 1,000 persons. It has been increased to 6.1 beds after four years. Work nearing completion should raise the bed accommodation to 7 per 1,000. Special attention is being given to cancer and tuberculosis.

"Whether you are worth a million or one dollar, you get the same care in our Saskatchewan hospitals," Mr. Wright said. "If a suspicious lump or pain develops the person goes to a government doctor for examination. We have psychiatrists for mental cases."

Mr. Wright recalled that in 1930 school teachers received $425 to $450. They boarded with farmers for nothing. The average has been increased to $1,200. Eighty school districts have been formed for the facility of transporting children to school, and also in providing better teaching.

"Liberals were 40 years in power in the province, and left it in debt. CCF financing obtained sinking fund money for 1½ per cent. interest. The province had previously paid 5 per cent. on a debt to the Dominion government.

"Representatives went to Ottawa and were successful in getting a reduction of $50,000,000. It was a large debt. We have paid 72 millions off since coming into power, saving $2,500,000 yearly in interest. We have spent six millions on roads. We get at least five yards of road at the same cost as four yards under the old system. We laid 8,000 miles of permanent highways in 1944, including 185 miles of black-top. We have paved 3,000 miles in two years.

"We did not levy any new taxes. The 3 per cent. sales tax was used to pay arrears to school teachers. We gave families $200 in the depression to assist them in getting established on rural farms; set up an insurance company at $10,000, used only $6,000 and made net profits of $750,000 in 2½ years. Insurance is cheaper than anywhere else, and on my own car I saved enough to pay my small hospitalization cost for myself and family, and educational costs. In 1940-1946 premiums on fire insurance we paid out 50 cents on every $1,000 insurance, working out CCF insurance at cost. Everyone tries to keep accidents down to keep cost of administration low."

In the question period at the close of his address, Mr. Wright said there were no Communists in Saskatchewan. "To find Communists, you have to go to Toronto."

In advocating the co-operative principle and practice, Mr. Wright declared that when the ceiling went off barley brokers made $18,000,000.

Will Help Malta

LONDON, April 7—(CP)—D. Mintoff, Malta's reconstruction minister, told a press conference last night that Britain has agreed to advance Malta £300,000 ($1,200,000) as a gift towards the George Cross Island's food subsidies in 1948-49. Mintoff headed a delegation which told Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones that Malta's five-month-old labor government would be forced to resign unless aid was forthcoming.

Don't Smoke Or Read At Meals—Expert Chefs

REGINA, April 7—(CP)—Regina restaurant patrons don't eat right, two Swiss cooks who have been working in the Saskatchewan capital for the last three months believe.

How, they ask, can you eat, smoke and read at the same time? Paul Tanner and Karl Gehriger, now working at a local hotel, also object to eating at lunch counters. It might be all right if you just want a cup of coffee—but not for a full course meal.

The two immigrants who have each spent 18 years as chefs say the only way to eat a meal is at a table in a convivial atmosphere and at a leisurely pace. Afterwards, perhaps, when you're drinking your coffee it might be all right to take a quick look at a newspaper or magazine.

They think Canadian food is excellent and well-prepared, although some of it is too heavy and too greasy. And pies in Canada are so covered over it is impossible to see what you are getting, they say.

They don't like hot, gravy-covered sandwiches either, but concede that Canadians might not like some Swiss dishes.

2 More Cottages Have Break-ins

LINDSAY, April 7 — (ENS) — Ontario Provincial Police Corp. Ralph Taylor reports two more summer cottages on Sturgeon Lake were broken into bringing the total to five. All were presumably entered during last week-end.

The two belong to Vernon Hill and Sam Kennedy of Toronto. Corporal Taylor said that, contrary to previous reports, the summer home of James Devers, Toronto, was not entered, but one belonging to Gerrard Elshout of that city was entered.

Nothing was stolen in any of the cottages and police believe the break-ins were committed to determine what valuables were there. All the homes are completely furnished.

A tourist resort on Balsam Lake was looted over the Easter week-end to mark the first in this series of break-ins. At that time, goods worth more than $2,700 were taken.

Canadian Theatre Group Goes Broke, Still Hopeful

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP)—Sydney Risk's Everyman Theatre, aimed at bringing a thoroughly Canadian production to every large centre west of Winnipeg, has folded after the first season, but the young Vancouver director still has high hopes that an "angel" will appear to keep the enterprise going.

In the meantime, rehearsals continue in a converted army hut here when actors and actresses are not busy on their workaday jobs.

In 1932 Risk decided that Canadian theatre culture spotlighted a few "name" imports while young Canadian talent watched from the galleries. He began working on an all-Canadian cast. But it was not until last year that the venture got under way. In its 13-month career the group staged 128 productions in four western provinces.

One of the leading actresses was 20-year-old Lillian Carlson who performed brilliantly as Cecily in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," and Riana in "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw.

When the theatre answered its last curtain call, Lillian became a stenographer, but she still devotes her spare time to rehearsals with the group.

Fighter Plane Escort Considered For Berlin

SPRING HAS ARRIVED — Evelyn Stapleton and Shirley Payne smile happily as they display their catch of smelts at Newcastle near the shore of Lake Ontario. Fishermen from different parts of Ontario are swarming over the area since smelts started running.

Russians Win Committee Tilt

BERLIN, April 8—(Reuters).—The Western delegates at today's meeting of the four-power Kommandatura agreed to abolish six of the eight committees which the Russians last week demanded should be wiped out. The work done by these committees, which have been boycotted by the Russians since they demanded their abolition last Friday, will be absorbed by the committees which remain functioning.

The move was considered by Kommandatura officials as at least a partial success for Russia, who, at last Friday's stormy meeting of the deputies, announced that they were quitting a number of committees on the grounds of shortage of personnel.

Original Plan

The sub-committees which the Russians originally proposed to dissolve were building and housing, transport, economics, social welfare, fuel, property control, denazification, and cultural affairs.

It was agreed to abolish all of these except the economics and property control sub-committees, the work of those abolished being absorbed by other kommandatura sub-committees.

The Soviet proposals were stated to air at "streamlining" the work of the kommandatura.

The deputy commandants agreed to allow the economic sub-committee to remain functioning and to refer the question of the property control sub-committee to the allied commandants.

Soviets Feel Canada Making Fuss

Say Lithuanian Registration Their Own Affair

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP).—The Russian Embassy, replying to a Canadian rebuke, today defended its conduct in advertising for Lithuanians in Canada to register as Soviet citizens, and made no apologies.

Its reply came a week after the Canadian Government publicly "regretted" that it had not been informed before the Embassy published the advertisements in Slavic-Canadian newspapers and disclosed that the Embassy had been asked to make clear in future announcements that such registrations would be entirely voluntary.

Russian Reply

The Russians, in a note to External Affairs Minister St. Laurent that was signed by N. Belokhvostikov, Charge d'Affaires at the Embassy:

1. Quoted the advertisement as saying Lithuanians here who are not Canadian citizens "should register" as Soviet citizens by June 1.

2. Pointed out that the Canadian statement had been made public before any reply from the Embassy.

3. Said the registration and its announcement did not differ from similar steps taken here in 1945 quested the registration of former quested the regiseration of former Polish residents of Ukraine and Byelorussia and former residents of the Carpathian Ukraine.

4. Quarrelled with the statement that Canada did not consider Lithuania part of the Soviet Union, by calling it "a constituent republic of the USSR in virtue of the acts which expressed the sovereign will of the Lithuanian people."

No Explanation

The Embassy said flatly that it "considers that insofar as the text of the announcement makes clear the character of the registration there is no necessity in any additional clarification or explanations."

The Canadian statement of last week was the second rebuke to the Soviet Embassy in five months. In November it warned that any "offensive" speeches by Russian diplomats would lead to demands for their immediate recall. This followed statements at a Ukrainian picnic by an Embassy employee.

500 Students Wreck LPP Headquarters

Riot Caused When Board Refuses To Bar Use Of Auditoriums

WINDSOR, April 8.—(CP).—Local Board of Education officials today said they had no knowledge of who was responsible for the raid last night in which 500 rioting Collegiate and High school students ransacked the Windsor headquarters of the Labor-Progressive party and mauled four party officials.

Three L.P.P. officials — Cyril Prince, Windsor-Essex-Kent regional organizer; regional chairman Michael Kennedy and Martin Kisk of Leamington, were taken into protective custody and escorted from the building by 25 city police. No students were taken into custody.

The three party officials were injured while attempting to barricade the headquarters' doors. A fourth official, Walter Kopchuk, suffered cuts about the arms and hands; Kisk had head and arm wounds from flying glass; and one student said he was injured when struck on the head by one of the party officials.

Several students said they rioted because the Board of Education refused to bar the use of Windsor secondary school auditoriums to L.P.P. meetings.

At the L.P.P. headquarters desks were toppled over and broken open, windows smashed, typewriters broken, filing cabinets pulled apart and their contents scattered about the floor.

Armed with clubs, broom handles, pieces of rubber hose and rotten eggs, the students stormed the L.P.P.'s two office suites.

Unable to force the doors open they centred their attack on large windows in partitions bordering the entrance hallway. Broken glass littered the hallway and offices. Chopping the remaining pieces of glass out of the window frames, the students leaped through the openings.

They shoved Prince, Kennedy, Risk and Kopchuk out of the way and concentrated their attack on the office furnishings and piles of literature. The four officials were injured in the first minute or so of the attack.

Soviet Rejects Plan For 4-Power Crash Investigation

BERLIN, April 8 (AP). — Britain again is considering the use of fighter planes to escort its transports to Berlin, a spokesman said tonight.

The spokesman said Russia had replied unsatisfactorily to British protests over Monday's collision of a Soviet fighter and a transport arriving from London. Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky blamed a traffic violation by the British plane for the collision, and said the British version of the incident was a slander.

The spokesman said that the tone of Sokolovsky's reply indicated the Russians were not giving any assurances of safety for planes entering Berlin.

He said it seemed Sokolovsky's written reply appeared to weaken or erase oral assurances which had been previously given by Sokolovsky to Gen. Sir Brian Robertson when the latter visited him Monday night to make a personal protest on the crash indcident.

U.S. Will Follow Suit

When asked in what light the British Government considered the Soviet reply to Sir Brian's note, the spokesman said:

"I cannot answer that. There are ladies present."

American officials said the United States will follow suit if British fighter escorts are established.

The Russian military commander said that unless he was assured British planes will observe four-power flight rules, he intends to "take measures for the protection of the safety of air traffic over the Soviet occupation zone."

He turned down the idea of a four-power investigation of the

Czech Pilot Locked Up Fly Plane To US Zone

MUNICH, April 8—(AP).—Twenty passengers aboard a Czech transport plane revolted and forced its flight into the United States zone of Germany Tuesday, Czech authorities said today. The Czech Na- United States Air Force fighter tional Air Lines plane, with 26 aboard, landed without warning at an American base near Munich.

The plane was en route from Prague to Bratislava, Slovakia. Acting Czech Consul Karer Dvorak said the pilot was forced at pistol point to leave the controls and was locked in the plane's toilet.

A former Czech pilot who once flew with the RAF took over the controls. The plane doubled back on its route and headed for Germany.

When the plane landed at the base at Neubiberg, the former RAF pilot asked which of the passengers and crew wanted to stay in the American zone.

Six Will Return

Six persons, including the plane's original pilot and a woman, said they wanted to go back to Prague. Dvorak said he had issued visas for their return.

The six are billeted in Munich by American authorities and are expected to return to Prague soon, Dvorak said. The other 20 elected to stay in Germany.

Dvork said the transport still is at Neubiberg. It was assumed the plane would remain there until pilots are sent from Czechoslovakia to fly it back.

Ask Brazil Back Power Expansion

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 8—(AP)—The Brazilian Congress is being asked to underwrite a $90,000,000 world bank loan for electric power expansion.

It would be one of the first world bank loans for development of "underdeveloped" Latin America and might set a precedent for other South African governmental loans for industrial development.

The proposed loan also would absorb most of Brazil's borrowing quota with the world bank. Brazilian congressmen are carefully examining the request.

The Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd., of Toronto, wants the $90,000,000 loan to expand its power plants and improve service to Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, as well as nearby regions including Volta Rendonda, Latin America's largest steel mill.

The word bank in Washington will lend the money if the Brazilian government as a member of the Internatinoal Banking Agency, will guarantee its repayment.

Snow Strikes Prairies

REGINA, April 8 — (CP). — A heavy snow storm struck southern Saskatchewan yesterday and highways department officials at Weyburn, 70 miles south of here, said it was as bad as any this winter. One official said a snowplow working out of Weyburn reported visibility of less than 100 feet, and all highways in the area were blocked.

Ontario Bans Race Prejudice

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP).—A bill to make it criminal for an employer to practice discrimination due to race, color, religion, nationality or ancestry was introduced in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by J. B. Salsberg (L.P.P.-Toronto-St. Andrew).

Fines up to $500 or a maximum of one year in jail are provided for violations of the measure. It would prohibit an employer from barring or discharging any person, refusing to employ or discriminating in any way, or even make any inquiry in connection with prospective employment regarding racial or religious background.

Spring-Like Weather Blankets Ontario

TORONTO, April 8 (CP).—Ontario basked in spring-like weather today with temperatures reaching the 70's in many areas. The clear, sunny weather followed a night in which storms ranged over Southern Ontario.

Toronto had its share of thunder and lightning. At Stratford lightning was blamed for a power interruption after a transformer was hit. A severe electrical storm hit St. Thomas, putting all circuits in the city out of business for several minutes.

One St. Thomas circuit was out for more than two hours. In rural areas Hydro men were out today repairing damage caused by the storm.

US Letter-writing Attack Has Some Effect In Italy

ROME, April 8 — (AP). — The Communist-packed popular front attacked today the letter-writing campaign of Italian-Americans urging Communist defeat in the April 18 elections.

Italians in the United States have sent a flood of letters to Italy, and this attack against them was seen by some as an indication the letters are having considerable effect.

Avanti, the newspaper of the pro-Communist Socialist front, gave its entire back page to a multi-colored broadside against the letters. It urged that the page be cut out and pasted up as a poster.

Meanwhile, party members hitched up their belts for a final week of campaigning for Italy's vital parliamentary balloting.

Reports from both Communists and anti-Communists as well as from foreign observers indicate the final campaign week may bring some surprises. There are possibilities that sensational last-minute efforts to capture wavering votes may develop.

Communists in Rome have been boasting that the "last big electoral coup will be ours."

A poster said the Christian Democrats might be ready to expose an alleged Communist plot to force the Pope to leave Rome if the popular front wins.

Rome newspapers said a communique from allied authorities in Trieste announced that civil government in the British-American zone of the free territory will be transferred April 12 into Italian hands.

In the Emilia region, whose capital town of Bologna is often called the Italian Kremlin, 3,000 Carabinieri were reported to have carried out extensive, radio-directed manoeuvres yesterday.

Cite John Lewis For Contempt In Coal Strike

WASHINGTON, April — (AP) — John L. Lewis was confronted with the choice today of ending the 25-day coal strike in the United States or risking heavy contempt-of-court penalties for each day it continues.

There was little to indicate, however, that the United Mine Workers chief meant to comply immediately with the back-to-work order despite the contempt citation served on him late yesterday.

Top government officials said Lewis instead appeared to be digging in for a finish fight in the courts. The dispute involves pension plan disagreements.

That fight is scheduled to start Monday before Justice T. Alan Goldsborough, the same judge who fined him and the union $3,510,000 in 1946 for defying a similar court order. The fines later were cut to $710,000 by the Supreme Court.

The government paved the way for a possible new contempt trial when it asked Goldsborough to order Lewis to "show cause, if any" why he and the U.M.W. should not be punished for ignoring the strike-end directive issued last Saturday night.

Signs Order

Goldsborough promptly signed the order, which also calls upon Lewis to say why he should not be held in both criminal and civil contempt. This leaves any possible penalties entirely up to the judge. He could order a jail term as well as a fine if he found Lewis guilty.

Lawyers for Lewis accepted a copy of the contempt action barely two hours after the citation was issued.

Lewis meanwhile was engaged in another kind of fight on the side. He sent seven UMW officers and district presidents to meet with a committee of eight representatives of the operators yesterday, as an outgrowth of the McGuire order. They promptly got into a hot argument over their authority.

The court directed Lewis, and the operators who had negotiated past agreements, or their successors, to engage in "free collective bargaining" to end the pension dispute.

Lewis stayed away because two top industry leaders refused to attend. They are Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corporation, and George M. Humphrey, chairman of the board of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

50-Truck Food Convoy Runs Arab Blockade

—A convoy of about 50 trucks, the second in three days, arrived today with food for Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews.

The Jewish militia, Hagana, brought the convoy through from coastal plains settlements to Jewish sections of the Holy City. Units went ahead of the trucks to clear the road of any newly placed Arab mines or road blocks.

Jewish sources said the Arab-Jewish battle for Kastel village, five miles west of Jerusalem, reached the stage of hand-to-hand fighting several times yesterday, but the area was reported quiet last night.

Harold Stassen Becomes Top Contender For Republican Presidential Nomination

MILWAUKEE, April 8 (AP) —Harold E. Stassen was as- National Republican convention National Repulican Convention delegates. His victory, which blanked Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, established him as a top contender for the Republican Presidential nomination.

The former Minnesota Governor, on the basis of nearly complete unofficial returns, swept all seven delegates-at-large and won 12 district delegate races. Gen. Douglas MacArthur picked up the remaining eight. Governor Dewey was shut out completely.

Stassen had cinched 18 delegates when ballot counting stopped last night, but the outcome of the fifth (Milwaukee) district remained in doubt until complete returns were tabulated today.

In this district, which had assured MacArthur of one delegate, a tight race between Stassen-pledged Ralph P. Sproule and a Dewey-stalwart, State Senator Bernard Gettlemans ended with Sproule ahead on 26,795 in the 305 precincts. 26,195 in the 305 precincts.

CCF Non-Confidence Vote Made On Freight Rate; Gov't Refuses 30-Day Delay

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP).—The tinder-dry issue of freight rates, an explosive question among those Canadians who live outside of Quebec and Ontario, flared in the Commons yesterday and produced an ominous motion of non-confidence in the Government. Already debated once this week, the issue came before the Chamber a second time with Transport Minister Chevrier's announcement that the Government is rejecting the pleas of seven provincial governments for a 30-day stay of the 21-per-cent. increase granted the railways last week.

All provinces except Quebec and Ontario, which by comparison enjoy lower freight charges, contested the award.

At the same time, Mr. Chevrier announced that the Government is ordering a general investigation into the entire rate structure.

There were spattered objections by both opposition and the Government sides to the announcement, but the matter did not rest there.

An hour later, when the Government moved to go into supply, CCF Leader Coldwell moved an amendment calling on the House to express opinion that the Government's failure to defer the increase was inimical to the best interests of the country, and said his party was willing to go to the country on the issue.

He realized, he said, that a general election might ensue if the Government were defeated on his motion, but "the question is of such vital importance to the people of Canada that it should be decided by the people of Canada, if necessary."

Can Go Ahead

Mr. Chevrier made clear in his statement that the government's rejection of their pleas for a 30-day stay did not bar the provinces from going ahead with their appeal.

Mr. Chevrier agreed with Opposition members that the inquiry may take one or two years.

As the minister concluded his statement, George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) interjected that "nothing would come of the inquiry."

Thomas Reid (L-New Westminster) said he wanted to see the Board given specific power to remove British Columbia's 'mountain differential' on hauls over the Rockies. This rate increases the rate on certain goods going over the mountain area.

Draws S.C. Report

The motion promptly drew support from the Social Credit party, with spokesman John Blackmore (SC - Lethbridge) warning that the west might secede from the rest of Canada if

Won't Excuse Army Murders

NUERNBERG, April 8 (AP).—An American court ruled today that any soldier who murders innocent civilians is just as guilty as those who ordered him to do it.

With the finding, the tribunal wiped away the main defence of 22 S.S. (Elite Guard) officers charged with killing at least 1,000,000 Jews, Gypsies, Communist partians and "Asiatic Inferiors" during Germany's invasion of Russia.

The court said, in shocked language, that the case was "beyond the experience of normal man."

The defendants, led by Otto Ohlendorf, who admitted 90,000 killings by his group, include five S.S. generals, five colonels, six lieuteant-colonels, three majors and three junior officers.

"Whole categories of people were to be killed without truce, without investigation, without pity, tears or remorse," the opinion said.

Records meticulously kept by the groups, the court said, indicated that 1,000,000 murders apparently is a conservative estimate.

Russia Grabs Lion's Share Of Germany's Reparations

BERLIN, April 8.— (AP). — Russia and her satellites have grabbed the lion's share of industrial reparations from the United States zone of Germany, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said in his monthly report today.

The American military governor said Russia, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland and Albania, have received 63 per cent of the reparations. He based his reckoning in monetary value.

Clay said that in the first two years of the reparations program these countries received from American occupation zone factories 74,783,297 marks worth of equiment. The pre-war mark was valued at 40 cents.

This was nearly twice as much as was delivered to 12 western Allied countries, which up to March 1 had received equipment with a combined value of 42,412,313 marks.

Russia alone collected about 30 per cent of the total—36,113,245 marks worth.

This is the way he listed value for the satelites: Poland, 8,845,672 marks; Yugoslavia, 22,232,942; Czechoslovakia, 7,003,285; Albania, 588,153.

Biggest receivers among the western countries were France, with 2,546,940 marks worth; Belgium, 4,629,411; Netherlands, 4,335,086; Britain, 2,847,397, and the United States, 174,659. The U.S. share was the smallest of any.

Russia has been getting factory equipment out of western Germany under an advance reparations account agreed to at Potsdam. This account is nearly complete. When it is closed the Russians will get no more until they agree to carry out the Potsdam provisions for Germany's unification.

Find Woman Shot In Cabin

PORT ELGIN, Ont., April 8—(CP).—Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Hamilton was found shot to death today in a waterfront tourist cabin in this Bruce county summer resort on Lake Huron. She moved into the cabin with her husband last Tuesday.

Provincial Police said the woman was shot through the face and a .22-calibre rifle was found in the cabin. Circumstances surrounding the incident were vague and police said investigation was continuing. Coroner J. E. Fraser said she was dead when he was called to the cabin shortly after nine o'clock this morning.

Constable Bruce Woods said that Smith ran to the home of his landlord nearby this morning and asking for assistance said "something is wrong." The husband was in a "distraught" condition and police said he did not make an immediate statement. It was reported later that he gave police a statement this afternoon.

2 Men Under Arrest In Rail Office Holdup

SOUTH PORCUPINE, April 8 (CP).—Two men are being held in police cells here for questioning in the holdup of the Ontario Northland railway ticket office last night.

Their names were given as Roy Richards of South Porcupine and Patrick Quinn.

The holdup occurred last night when two men, masked and apparently armed, entered the ticket office where two employees were on duty—Sy Lareman, telegraph operator and ticket seller and 16-year-old W. R. Decon, messenger boy.

The bandits were reported to have escaped with slightly more that $70, most of which was reported recovered.

No War Talk In Russia Reporter Finds

By EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, April 8 — (AP). — Returning to the Soviet Union from the United States, one is struck by the absence of war talk among the Russian people. One simply doesn't hear any.

(Gilmore, chief of The Associated Press Bureau in Moscow, has just returned to his post by way of Berlin from a trip to the United States.)

In Berlin, the United States Press Department told me I had better take a Russian-speaking American officer from the liaison section with me to the Soviet airdrome to catch the plane. They also offered a military escort. With a German chauffeur, four suitcases, a typewriter and small dog I had purchased for my little daughter, I set out. Halfway to the Russian zone we were overtaken by United States Military Police.

About 100 yards from the Soviet zone the military police car halted and the man next to the driver said they would wait there. If my driver didn't return, they said, they would know "you and he have had it."

Down the road in the Soviet zone a Russian soldier held up his hand, asked about documents and when he found none were available except my United States passport with a Soviet visa, remarked that "I guess everything is all right." At the airport it was the same story. The dog rode free.

Despite the Berlin tension in the American headlines and war talk, I heard not one word of that in Moscow. I'll wait 24 hours, I said to myself, and talk to more Russians. This I have done. Not one has mentioned war or the possibility of it.

Counsel for defence and prosecution are scheduled to begin their summations this morning with indications Mr. Justice J. Boyd will reserve judgment before noon and announce his finding at the afternoon sitting.

Then Mr. Cooke, published of New Liberty magazine, was called to the stand in a defence move and testified for more than two hours.

Selected Industrials Continue Advances

TORONTO, April 8 (CP). — Profit cashing and general irregularity kept prices down in quiet trading although selected industrials continued making good advances. International Paper added another $2.25 on top of yesterday's sharp rise to sell at $57.75. A few steels made further gains but mines and western oils generally weakened.

The Exchange's noon index showed industrials down .06 at 167.40, golds .41 at 93.01, base metals .38 at 88.03, western oils .48 at 34.79. Volume for the first three hours was 330,000 shares, about 286,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Newsprints remained firm on fractional advances for most issues trading but utilities were a little easier on losses for Brazilian, C.P.R. and Winipeg Electric. Foods were mixed while oils and liquors were quiet.

Hollinger, Kerr Addison and Teck-Hughes made narrow gains for the senior golds, but Lake Shore lost ⅜ at 12. Easier juniors were Berens, Campbell, Cochenour, Consolidated Beattie, Crowshore, Discovery, Eldona, Giant, Hedley, Howey, Kirkland Lake, Louvicourt, Macassa, MacLeod, Malartic, Ogama, Upper Canada, Taku, Sullivan and Preston. For the base metals Pend Oreille lost 15 at $3.20, Smelters ¾ at 108½, Normetal 3 at $1.87 and Steep Rock 1 at $2.08. Gainers were East Sullivan, Eureka, Labrador and Quemont.

Butter Cheating Probe Results To Be Released

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP) — The public may be made aware today of information which Fabio Monet, legal counsel of the Commons Prices Committee, considers "very valuable" on charges there have been sales in Halifax, of third grade butter represented as first grade A.

Mr. Monet decided yesterday he would "prefer to wait" before releasing the information obtained in an investigation requested by R. H. Winters (L-Queens-Luxenburg). Mr. Winters, raising the question again in committee, pressed unsuccessfully for immediate release.

Chairman Paul Martin, health minister, said the information would be made public sometime. It was a question of deciding when.

The commtte climaxed its discussion by going into a closed session.

The committee continued examination of A. E. Silverwood of London, Ont., president of Silverwood Dairies Ltd.

He said his firm had lost 1.35 cents a pound on butter from 1939 to 1947 but could not discontinue butter sales without discontinuing other produce lines, such as eggs and poultry. Between March, 1947, and February, 1948, however, the firm had made 2.53 cents a pound, an "abnormal" figure, because of the rising prices after butter price decontrol in June.

Mr. Silverwood said he considered that the large drop in butter stocks was chiefly responsible for the price rise that started in August.

Soviet Asks Removal Of Air Base In Vienna

VIENNA, April 8 — (AP). — Official sources said Russian authorities have demanded removal of the United States air base station for Vienna from its present location in the Soviet zone.

The informants interpreted this as a new move by the Russians to hamper American communications lines into Vienna, the seat of a four-power command.

United States authorities said they have agreed tentatively to move the station to the Tulln air base. They said this would not seriously affect civil or military air traffic, but added it might lead to involuntary violation of the 12-mile-wide corridor over the Russian zone. They said any incidents resulting then would be the fault of the Russians.

crash, which occurred on Berlin's outskirts and killed 15 persons. He favored an inquiry by a Soviet-British commission.

Sokolovsky stated his position in reply to communcations on the crash from his British counterpart, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson. He described the British version of the accident as slander. His letter was published in Taegliche Rundschau, official newspaper of the Soviet military administration.

Act Immediately

Robertson said on his return here this morning from Duesseldorf that he intends to deal immediately with the Russian reply.

Arriving in Berlin at about the same time was Maurice Couve De Murville, one of France's top diplomatic negotiators. He is to meet ranking officials of the western allies and many believe negotiations for a closer linking of the French zone with British-American Bizonia are on tap.

The Marshal's letter reversed the position he took Monday after the accident. At that time he expressed regret and assured Sir Brian the Russians did not intend to interfere with flights down the Allied air corridor to Berlin.

Before the debate was adjourned, to be resumed tomorrow or next week, two Progressive-Conservative members expressed their disapproval of the CCF move, although they agreed that there was a need for equalization of the rate structure across the country.

Mr. Coldwell, moving his amendment, held that the government, in ordering a general inquiry, was "simply dodging" an issue which it should decide squarely.

Freight Rate Rise Boosts Butter Price

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP). — With the general 21-per-cent increase in freight rates going into effect today, the price of butter—if you can get any — will be a shade higher.

The Prices Board announced that manufacturers and wholesale distributors of butter are authorized to increase their selling price "by the exact amount of the increase in cost of transportation."

While this would vary in each particular case, the Board said the price increase to the consumer, varying in different zones, will average less than a half-cent a pound.

While the order becomes effective today, it allows increased costs to be added by the manufacturer only on sales of butter on which he has actually incurred higher costs in delivering the butter to the buyer. In the case of the wholesale distributor the increase may be added only on sales of butter on which he has actually paid increased transportation costs.

All Legislature Parties Back Housing Plan

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP). — All parties in the Ontario Legislature are on record today as supporting the $30,000,000 four-point housing program introduced by the government last week.

Their unanimity became official during yesterday's sitting when the vote was 64 to 0 in favor of giving the measure second reading. It was the second unanimous vote of the current session, the previous one having been for the Southern Ontario cycle conversion program.

However despite apparent agreement on housing, there was some reticence on the part of the CCF and Labor-Progressive members.

W. J. Grummett, CCF House leader, criticized the the plan because he felt it did not give enough assistance to the man who wants to build a home.

Not Too Satisfied

During the vote, and while the House was giving thumping approval to the 64 to 0 vote, J. B. Salsberg (LPP—Toronto St. Andrew) remarked that "It's better than nothing," implying that it was the best he could expect from the present government.

The legislation is designed to encourage construction of new homes by guaranteeing mortgage companies to the extent of $1,000 a house, thus enabling reduction of the down payment.

The Liberal line on the housing bill was favorable. Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver praised the government for bringing in the bill. However, he also had criticism on what he said were the "too broad" terms.

The CCF House Leader, Mr. Grummett, declared that only $3,000,000 of the $30,000,000 listed in the legislation is set aside for direct housing aid. This was for municipalities in co-operation with federal housing projects.

Scottish Colony Centenary Marked In New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUNEDIN, N.Z., April 8—(CP)—New Zealand's Scottish province, Otago, is this year celebrating the centenary of its foundation with a series of ceremonies in honor of the pioneer settlers who arrived from Scotland in 1848, eight years after New Zealand became a British colony.

The founding of Otago was one of the most succesful of the colonizing ventures of last century. It met with inevitable difficulties but it was systematically planned and the venture in practice kept closer to the original concept than did most.

It was sponsored largely by the Free Church of Scotland and the plan provided for the Church to play a large part in community life and for strong emphasis to be placed on education. These characteristics have been noticeable in the province ever since.

Colonization began in the North Island of New Zealand in a haphazard manner and though there wer later planned settlements most of them have long since lost the distinctive characteristics of their founders. But the South Island settlements of Canterbury and Otago have retained much of their original atmosphere. Christchurch, chief city of Canterbury, still strives to retain the air of an English cathedral town, while Dunedin, in the far south, is essentially Scottish in character and sentiment.

Became Leaders

The shrewd sagacity of the original Scottish settlers soon made them leaders in the financial and commercial life of New Zealand, and although Dunedin is today much smaller than the main cities of the North Island it retains much of its financial leadership.

The early emphasis on education gave Otago a lead which it has never lost. Dunedin was the first New Zealand town to have a university and many of that institution's special schools still serve the whole Dominion.

The centenary celebrations have included a cavalcade of progress, a monster procession through the city illustrating the changes that have taken place in 100 years, a fireworks display claimed to be the largest ever held in the southern hemisphere, and a re-enactment of the arrival of the first ship, the John Wickcliffe, on March 23, 1848. Most of the parts in this ceremony were played by the direct descendants of the original characters, many of them wearing clothing actually worn at the landing and carefully preserved ever since.

The centenary celebrations have brought even closer the links between Otago and Scotland. Dunedin is the old Celtic name for Edinburg and Dunedin even has the same streets, suburbs as the mother city. Edinburgh has taken a lively interest in the centenary and sent its retiring Lord Provost, Sir John Falconer, as its official representative at the cermonies. Other Scottish cities have also been represented and large numbers of Otago people have filled in forms sent by the Scots Ancestry Research Society which undertakes to trace the ancestors of people of Scottish descent.

Cite Statistics To Prove Labor Losing

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, April 8 — (CP). — Election returns from the political backwoods are cited by the Conservative party's national headquarters to support its claim that Labor has been given another setback.

In urban and rural district elections which started Saturday and still have to be completed in some areas, Conservatives said they have gained 265 council seats and lost 19 while Labor lost 240 and won 99.

A Labor party statement said that returns available are hardly proof there has been a radical change in favor of the Conservatives. Records of district council elections on a national basis have never been kept thus far as they have been looked on as purely local affairs with the electors tending to vote for the man rather than the parties.

Morgan Phillips, Labor party secretary, said there were more than 9,000 councillors who did not contest the elections and were returned unopposed.

Complete Statistics

The most complete statistics have been assembled by the Conservatives who said that the elections were for 2,572 seats. On the other hand the association of urban district councils said that it did not know how many vacancies were to be filled. The Conservatives said that 860 Conservatives and 768 independents with Conservative support, were nominated as candidates.

All parties agreed that the elections in many districts were fought with extraordinary vigor.

Results of Conservative activity became evident in the municipal borough elections in November when they failed 643 seats and Labor lost 695.

Bomber Flight For Air Cadets

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP). — A bomber flight over Europe and tours of Canadian and United States air force bases are planned in an expanded international exchange scheme between Canadian, United States and British air cadet equivalents. The exchange is to take place this summer.

Of the 15,000 air cadets currently celebrating air cadet week in Canada, 24 top-notchers, chosen partly by the cadets themselves, will be sent to the United States. Another 24 may be flown to Great Britain.

At the same time a group of junior members of the United States civil air patrol willl journey north to be farmed out for several weeks to air force centres in Canada. From Britain, young flying enthusiasts ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, will also arrive and join their American counterparts.

Details of the United States-Canadian exchange will be ironed out when D. Alex Ross, of Vancouver, president of the Air Cadet League, joins American officials at the annual meeting of the Civil Air Patrol in Washington this spring.

19 Traffic Fines Net Court $94

There were 19 pleas of guilty received by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in court today for minor traffic offences. Total was $94.

Fined $2 and $1 costs each for overtime parking were: George Heffernan, 517 Cambridge St.; Donald MacPhee, 499 Aylmer St.; Bert Pearson, 86 Dufferin St.; James E. Moher, 238 Caddy St.

For making improper left turns, $2 and $1 costs each were paid by: Ivan Stewart, 509 Albert St. and Ernest Fish, Ruthven.

Improper lights on vehicles cost $2 and $1 costs each to: D. A. Morrison, 100 Kent St.; F. C. Marshall, 285 Reid St.; C. Nicholls, 965 High St.; Peter E. Bencze, 46 Lafayette Ave.; Clinton Young, Douro. Russell D. Lane, Apsley, paid $3 and $2.50 costs for a similar charge.

Going through a stop sign cost Arthur R. Peeling, 628 Gilmour St., a fine of $3 and $2.50 costs.

Speeding brought fines of $5 and $2.50 chosts to: Arthur R. Peeling, 628 Gilmour St.; Mrs. Effie Brackinbridge, R.R. 1, Bailieboro; Aloysuis Desbarbieux, 308 Louis St.; R. Nellist, 1157 Clonsilla Ave.

Mrs. Doreen Perritt, 694 Water St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate brakes.

Hunt Bros., 260 Aylmer St., were fined $5 and $2.50 costs for not having signs on a truck.

Gas Kills Baby

WELLAND, April 8.—(CP).—One-year-old Wilfrid Huntingdon died of carbon-monoxide poisoning when gas from a flue-less water heater escaped into the house. His mother, Mrs. Wilfrid Huntingdon, and a three-year-old sister, Kay, were saved by Mrs. Huntingdon's mother, Mrs. A. Douglas.

Muddy Roads And A Muskrat In The Net Complicate Smelt Fishing Near Cobourg

COBOURG, April 8—(ENS)—The smelts are still coming in and are expected to continue their run until the end of this week. Bad roads in the area south of Grafton have hampered cars. One Cobourg man had to leave his car stuck in the mud all night and hoof it home.

Other motorized anglers reported very bad roads and some were stuck until a tow truck arrived. The take has been unsually good this year and youngsters have been selling their overflow catch to local householders.

Most unexpected catch of the year was made by Johnny Ewart who felt something pull his net violently and thresh about. Johnny thought it was a very large sucker until he lifted the net up and found a muskrat in it. A very surprised fisherman dumped an equally-surprised muskrat back into the water.

Must Watch Export Trade

As a third of each Canadian's salary comes out of export trade, it is of considerable interest to him what kind of world is in the making—a world in which the European recovery program will play a large part.

ERP is a political as well as economic and designed to enable Europe's democracies to again set themselves up in business and maintain their way of life.

It is of moment that ERP comes after most foreseeable dangers, economic and political, have been plumbed and realized. If it had come, for instance, in the relatively optimistic days after the war it might have been regarded as a cure-all, if not a grab-bag.

Now the 16 countries taking part know that it will not of itself put them on their feet, but that it may give them time to restore themselves.

Russia pushed to the limit before ERP should come into effect, and it can not be said with any confidence that the pressure is relaxing.

ALL IN DAY'S WORK — Button producers in Canada have forged to a position of world leadership in button export, turning out close to 2,000,000 buttons per day. About 75 per cent. of total production is shipped out of the country. Present export leadership is being maintained through development of new manufacturing techniques and materials. By use of modern plastics, which accounts for approximately 75 per cent. of all buttons, Canadian firms are turning out all shapes, sizes and colors. As Canada becomes more a style centre as in recent years, it is highly likely that the well-established button industry — which today employs more than 2,000 persons—will continue to ride the export boom and at the same time enjoy a growing prosperity along with other all-Canadian fashion developments. Handling quantities of colorful buttons in Montreal is all in a day's work for the pretty miss above.

Cobourg Rink May Be Ready By Christmas

COBOURG, April 8—(ENS)—Work to lay the foundations of Cobourg's recreation centre may start by May 24, Mayor Joe Smith told the banquet of the Cobourg Hockey Club. His Worship said that contributions were coming in fairly well, but could be much better, and there was a possibility that the rink might be ready by next Christmas.

It is planned to buy most of the electrical equipment through local contacts who have promised to supply it at cost. This includes the piping for the artifical ice plant. Local industry have offered to lend their skilled labor at no cost, the Mayor said.

Created Disturbance For Aiding Father

"It does not matter what the grounds of your action were," Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., told Valney Woodcock, 405 Wellington St., in fining him $5 and $2.50 costs for creating a disturbance on George St.

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, called his father, Charles Woodcock, to the stand to testify as to the reason of the disturbance near a city hotel on April 1. The aged witness said that the other man involved in the scuffle —William Brethour, Haultain— had prevented him from leaving the hotel beverage room, had slapped his face and then thrown him out on the sidewalk. It was at this point, the elder Woodcock said, that his son had interfered and tangled with Brethour.

"I don't think any man in the court room would have done anything else,' argued the accused in his own evidence. He admitted striking Brethour at least once in the face with his fist.

PC Sherman Keliele, who had arrested both men, told the court that Brethour had pleaded guilty to a similar charge. There had been about "six or eight" people around the pair, he said.

Senior Man On Duty

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP). — The senior police officer on duty must be present when prisoners are unloaded at police stations, Police Chief John Chisholm yesterday told a weekly conference of police inspectors. His order arose from a decision at a special police commission meeting which heard charges by Jean Potras that he was beaten in a local police station. No disciplinary action was taken on the Poitras complaint.

Prince Edward Cheese Manufacturing Up

PICTON, April 8.—Prince Edward district cheesemakers manufactured 48,849 boxes of cheese last season, the official grading report for 1947 reveals. Allowing 90 pounds as the average weight per cheese, this represents 4,410,460 pounds and is 2,073 more cheese graded than in 1946.

Average score was 93,189 per cent., an improvement over the previous year. More than 80 per cent of the cheese scored 93 points and over, while 95.7 per cent was first grade. UEL factory at Adolphustown produced the most cheese in this district, with Cloverdale and Weller's Bay factories close behind. Black River Bridge factory, George Gallagher, maker, had 99.1 per cent first-grade cheese.

Work Will Proceed On 20 Cobourg Homes

COBOURG, April 8—(ENS)—Mayor Joseph Smith received word Wednesday that the federal government had resumed the housing plan which earlier had been called off. Work will now be able to proceed in building the block of 20 houses in Cobourg under the subsidized plan.

Tenders will be received again. The final date set is April 13.

In viewing of the housing shortage in Cobourg, keen disappointment was felt when the government withdrew its assistance.

PREVENT HANDICAPS

Approximately 60 per cent of Canadian youngsters entering school show one or more physical defects, statistics show. Doctors advise the child be examined and treated so he will not be handicapped in studies or sports by minor defects.

Angry Deputy-Reeve Walks Out On Council After Refusal To Withdraw Account

PICTON, April 8.—Refused his demand that an account for $515 be withdrawn after it had passed town council by a 5-4 vote Tuesday night, Deputy Reeve Robert Cockburn walked out of council meeting. He accused councillors of high-handed methods and said he would resign if the account was not dealt with separately.

Chairman Charles McGibbon said he had authority to withdraw the account, which was the settlement amount of a court judgment resulting from a construction company proceeding with sewage installation work without an easement. The company had been authorized to proceed by Mayor Lancelot. Nethery, who said he assumed the responsibility and was prepared to stand by it.

The mayor scoffed at criticism that sewage installations were bankrupting the town. "We have suffered no major catastrophies," he said, in reply to councillor Grimmon's remark that sewage was costing the town one and a half million dollars. The system is about 85 per cent completed and expenditures total $296,000, he said. This does not include of laterals, it was pointed out.

Seek Additional School Property In Lindsay

LINDSAY, April 8—(ENS).—At a meeting of the Lindsay Board of Education Wednesday night it was decided that the board take action to acquire three vacant lots adjacent to three of Lindsay's public schools, as these lands were declared necessary for future enlargement of school sites.

Chairman D. McQuarrie, Vice-Chairman Jasper Forman and Secretary J. R. Wilford were appointed a committee to negotiate for these lands. It was also decided to ask the town assessors to furnish the board with the number of children in Lindsay between the ages of 1 and 5 in order to obtain a better idea of what enlargements would be necessary.

"Our schools are faced with overcrowding, not 25 years from now, but next September," declared J. F. Wood, principal of Victoria School. "Junior pupils are coming in faster than senior ones are leaving." Principals E. C. Dettman of Alexandra School and W. S. Battersby of Central School both said they expected to be seriously crowded next fall. "Speaking of Victoria School, Chairman McQuarrie said it was believed by many that it would be unwise to build an annex, but would be better to build a new school. He suggested a public meeting be held to discuss the matter.

Secretary Wilford said that in 1918 there were 970 pupils in public schools here, whereas now there are 940. "Remember that in those days pupils only attended school about half the time." said School Inspector E. C. Anderson.

Former Reeve Of Hope Dead

PORT HOPE, April 8.—(ENS).—Reeve of Hope township in 1946 and 1947, W. G. Bickle of Canton, died in Port Hope General Hospital yesterday. In poor health for some time, he rettired from municipal life at the end of 1947. A veteran member of Northumberland and Durham counties council, he was chairman of the Legislative and Bylaws committee in 1946 and has been active on many council committees.

Surviving are his wife, who was Elizabeth Rutledge, and one daughter, Mrs. C. H. Mailer, Hamilton. Following services at Canton United church on Friday afternoon he will be buried in Canton cemetery.

4 Hurt In Accident

ST. CATHARINES, April 8. — (CP).—Four St. Catharines people are in the hospital today, one of them in a serious condition, as a result of an accident between a motorcycle with three passengers, and a bicycle on the Queen Elizabeth way just outside St. Catharines last night. Hubert Kerley, 50, rider of the bicycle, received cuts about the head. His condition is favorable. Daniel McNulty, 21, is described as favorable, and Leona Plowright, 13, is not seriously injured. Leo Bayron, 20, of Merritton, is the only one seriously injured. The extent of his injuries has not been divulged.

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B_1, C, D, Riboflavin (B_2), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells —high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underpar, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1948

Dutch-Canadian Friendship

The Ambassador to Canada from The Hague visited Peterborough on Monday. It was fitting that he was given a civic welcome. Our citizens must regret that the official reception lacked the ceremony and dignity which was proper and which we shall be unable to give until a new city hall is built which contains a fitting reception chamber. We hope, however, that the Dutch Ambassador carried with him from Peterborough a good impression of this city and a realization of the warm regard our folk have for The Netherlands and the Dutch people.

* * *

In his address to the members of the Kiwanis Club Dr. Van Roijen spoke of the strong link between Canadians and Dutch which was forged in the late war. He paid tribute to the part Canadian soldiers played in the liberation of Holland and remarked that though conquered people always hail their liberators they usually tire very quickly of them in occupation. His comment was that "the wonderful part is that after your troops remained they were still popular". He intended this as a tribute to Canadians; it is equally or even more a tribute to the Dutch whose character and industry Canadians in Holland came to appreciate warmly.

* * *

The Dutch are among the most progressive and enlightened people of Europe. They have a strong tradition of independence and freedom. In science and art their creation has been great. Their educational standards and attainment are enviable. Their commercial and industrial enterprises are world-wide. Their standard of living was the highest in Europe. The Dutch Empire is second in size to the British. In the cities of Holland are to be found some of the finest modern public buildings and best housing in the world. The countryside is a productive garden and the farmers are expert. This is the remarkable achievement of a nation of nine million people inhabiting a land only ten times larger than Peterborough County—nearly half of it below sea-level.

* * *

It is not to be wondered at that Canada will welcome as many Dutch immigrants as The Netherlands is willing to afford us. Three thousand came last year, ten thousand are expected this. We hope that more than a few will find their way to the district of Peterborough.

The Government Liquor Monopoly

It is encouraging to learn that the Liberal legislator from Glengarry, Mr. E. A. MacGillivray, has been protesting in the Legislature about the watering of liquor by the L.C.B.O. He described this practice as "short-changing", and that is exactly what it is. But unfortunately it is a type of short-changing in which governments have indulged for roughly five thousand years, and we do not think that it will be changed in our time.

Government monopolies are always administered in the way which will bring most revenue, whatever injustices to the public may be the result. Liquor is a government monopoly, and an immensely profitable one. The trade was taken under the government's wing, as everyone will recall, "not for profit but for control", and since that time it has been one of the Ontario Government's most consistent money-getters. During the war the Government discovered that, in addition to paying immense taxes on liquor, the public was simple-minded enough to accept an adulterated product, and when a valuable discovery like that is made it is sheer foolishness to expect that the government will ever give it up.

It is dishonest, of course, but it is governmental dishonesty, and it is a legal maxim that the King can do no wrong. Furthermore, we suspect that Old Granny Queen's Park feels about watering liquor much as she feels about the twenty per cent. tax she puts on amusements—wicked people who demand pleasures must put up with any treatment which Granny chooses to give them.

Whatever party is in power, government monopolies are abused. That is why we think that government monopolies are essentially bad things.

Our Letters And The Labour Council

At its meeting on Tuesday the Allied Labour Council expressed some criticism of The Examiner because we have recently published a few letters critical of union activity. We are not particularly surprised or concerned by such criticism, for we know that it is utterly impossible for a newspaper to satisfy either labour or management in dealing with labour-management affairs. Certainly we have no intention of suppressing criticism of unions merely because unions do not like criticism.

It is the belief of the Allied Labour Council, apparently, that this paper has been unfair to organized labour because we have, upon certain occasions, refused to print letters from union officials. Our reason for doing so is simply stated and easily understood: the statements which we declined to print were official statements of grievances and policy, and the proper place for them was in the advertising columns. They were in all cases too long to be published as letters, and we would no more think of publishing a free advertisement for a union than we would of publishing a free advertisement for an industry.

We reserve our letter columns for bona fide letters from individuals, or small groups (as in the case of a letter from three union members which appeared on Monday). We sometimes publish letters signed with pen-names, and we are sure that the Allied Labour Council knows why we do so: minority opinions do not purchase a man a quiet life in a union or anywhere else. We do not publish propaganda, disguised in letter form, from either management or labour.

For the information of the Allied Labour Council we may say that in the course of a year we receive a considerable number of letters which are highly critical of itself and of labour unions, and we do not print them because they are libellous, or scurrilous, or in our judgement contrary to the public interest. If the Council thinks that the editorial power of veto is always used against labour, it is quite mistaken.

Communist Russia's Expansion

In 1939-40 when Russia was at war with Finland and in "friendly" alliance with Germany, it gobbled up eastern Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, eastern Poland and Bessarabia (north-east Roumania). Between 1944 and 1946 it has added hugely to its empire, either by conquest or by communist infiltration. The extent of the expansion in area and population (pre-war census), is shown by the following table:

	Square Miles	Population in Millions
Finland	132,550	3.5
Estonia	16,955	1.2
Latvia	24,440	1.9
Lithuania	22,400	2.9
Poland	150,000	35.0
Roumania	122,282	20.0
Czechoslovakia	54,207	15.0
Hungary	35,935	10.0
Bulgaria	39,814	7.0
Yugoslavia	96,143	16.0
Albania	11,500	0.8
Totals	706,226	115.0
Occupation Zones:
Eastern Germany	100,000	35.0
Eastern Austria	10,000	2.0
	816,226	152.0

The expanding imperialism of Soviet Russia is not a figment of wild imagination; it is the reality of 816,226 square miles of territory and 150,000,000 people.

Total Conscription

The American Congress and people are now warily considering President Trumans' request for compulsory military training of young men and of peace-time conscription on a draft basis. Canadians, of course, are watching on the sidelines, for peace-time conscription in this country is a major political problem. "Conscription" is a dreaded word, but really there are worse things than being a conscript, as thoughtful Abyssinians must have realized when they heard Emperor Haile Selassie's conscription order in 1937. Here it is:

"(1) All men and boys able to carry a spear go to Addis Ababa. (2) Every married man will bring his wife to cook and wash for him. (3) Every unmarried man will bring any unmarried woman he can find to cook and wash for him. (4) Women with babies, the blind, and those too aged and infirm to carry a spear are excused. (5) Anyone found at home after receiving this order will be hanged".

Who Pays For The Drama Festival

By BEATRICE TAYLOR
(In The London Free Press)

TO the steadily growing company of "little theatre" people across Canada the Dominion Drama Festival is billed as the most significant event on the year's program.

In Ottawa from April 26 to May 1, thirteen amateur drama groups from the Maritimes to the Pacific coast will present fourteen plays, or parts of plays, in national competition. Before them all dangles the Bessborough Trophy, which annually crowns the highest achievement in the non-professional theatre of the Dominion. And there are other important awards as well.

THE Canadian amateur theatre has become one of the foremost exponents of national unity, and the Dominion Festival is the crux of this sentiment.

Incidentally the little theatre movement in Canada may be credited in a great measure with the developing audience reaction to the professional performances with which the Dominion is again being blessed. For too many years "dark" theatres were the rule in most communities and there grew up a generation that knew not the stage in its living sense. Appearances, and successful appearances, of touring companies from overseas and from the United States, for a number of seasons have proved that Canada can now provide audiences, annually growing more informed and more critical. Aspects of the present regional-cum-national drama festivals are many. Most important are the bringing together of French and English-speaking groups to compete under the same rules of the theatre: Opportunity for the groups competing to send casts to other parts of the Dominion, not only to make their own offering but to absorb theatre atmosphere and knowledge from other players, and the invaluable commentary of adjudicators, regional and Dominion, who are picked for their intimate knowledge of the theatre and their ability to translate this knowledge and experience into practical advice for playing amateurs.

TURNING from the artistic to the practical, how is all this paid for?

The sum total of voluntary work given to the whole movement is enormous. Paid for, no country would support it. Officers, executives, directors, casts and stage crews make their services available, gratis, adjudicators get expenses, and an honorarium. But there yet remain cold financial facts to be faced.

Estimated total costs of the 1948 Dominion Drama Festival exceed $12,000. Chairman D. Park Jamieson, of Sarnia, stated this week. Examination of the necessary expenditures suggests that this is not an exorbitant sum. From it are paid the costs of regional and final adjudications, travelling grants to competing groups, actual operating costs of the Dominion Festival itself; cost of billeting all competitors for the full week, if they so desire, and the annual operating expenses of the set-up, between festivals.

FROM 1933, when the Dominion Festival was set up, to 1939, the project was made financially possible by large donations from private individuals, Mr. Jamieson explains. When the festival was revived in 1947 (in this city) it was felt that it should become self-supporting if its continuance was to be assured. Last year's festival did support itself, due partly to the fact that each region provided its own adjudicator and no grants were made. In 1948, and at the request of the regions, it was decided that one adjudicator travelling across Canada would more adequately maintain a standard of performance.

This year $1,300 has been assigned by the Dominion executive towards the travelling expenses of groups from a distance, to whom the cost of transportation to Ottawa is high. This sum has been broken down as follows: $400 to British Columbia; $300 to Alberta; $250 to Saskatchewan; $200 to Manitoba and $150 to New Brunswick. These grants in aid were provided for in the regulations sent each region last autumn, and can be counted on in regional plans.

Sources of revenue are entry fees, not large, and box office receipts at festivals.

◇ ◇ ◇

PROVISION of some adequate financial basis for future festivals will be one of the most important matters to be considered by executive and governors in session at Ottawa during the forthcoming festival.

Mr. Jamieson and Dr. Alan Skinner, London, (honorary director) both note a large number of suggestions received for the extension of the work of the Dominion Drama Festival.

Many of these are desirable but any extension must wait until some sound financial basis is set up for the festival itself. Since it is desired that these annual national competitions move about, they might not all provide sufficient box office returns to give a back-log for the next year's finals.

Possible sources of an annual income, not great but definite, include of course, Government grants, federal or provincial. Festival leaders at the present time seem adverse to any suggestion of departmentalizing the festival in return for such grant or grants. "In so completely flexible a national movement, such a plan would not be popular" was an opinion given.

Community grants would offer at least a partial solution and are not outside the realm of possibility, have even on some occasions, been made, but not all communities are yet aware of the intangible values to be derived from such an expenditure.

DISCUSSIONS at Ottawa however, will cover other phases than the financial. Findings of a committee set up to examine the question of a national theatre will provide bones for meetings open to anyone interested. And the matter of a physical theatre will also be considered at a session to be presided over by Professor William Angus of Queen's University. Will community centres of the future be built with an eye on the peculiar requirements of the theatre?

Aside from these anxieties, and taking an audience-eye view, an excellent show is indicated from the report of Robert Stuart, adjudicator from overseas who saw and appraised all the 1948 regional contests. "The plays chosen promise a good festival," says Mr. Stuart, who found adjudicating in the regions a "most exciting and stimulating experience," with "eagerness for the best in the theatre a strong note."

THE INCURABLE

Letter To The Editor

SPEAKING TO DEAF EARS?

Sir,—I read all the letters to the editor, and take them as they come, but I have decided to have my own little word concerning this union business.

A week or so ago you printed a letter written by a union member, who advised caution in further dealings for higher wages, and it was, to my way of thinking, one of the most intelligent letters ever printed in your paper.

Last night there was another letter printed which lets one see what a large part of these unions are made up of, and that is people who want to grab, grab, grab for a bigger pay cheque regardless of the consequences.

Before I go any farther I should like to state that we are far from being in the higher wage bracket.

A lot of people just can't imagine anyone being happy the way things are today. However, they are sadly mistaken, as we are very happy, although we just manage nicely to make ends meet.

As the writer of the first letter stated, there is not a GE worker who can honestly say he is dissatisfied with the present wages.

Some people are up to their ears in debt, I know, but those same people would still be if they earned three times their present wage.

I agree with the writer of the first letter, that the first few raises were certainly needed, and I also agree we should try to keep wages the way they are now, in hope that the prices of several things will eventually come down.

The trouble with the majority of people today is they dream too much of the day when we will be able to live on about half our wages and save the rest. If they had any intelligence at all they would realize things have never been like that since time began, and never will be, and they would be much farther ahead if they would sit down and take stock of all their possessions and realize how well off they are in comparison to millions of others in this world today.

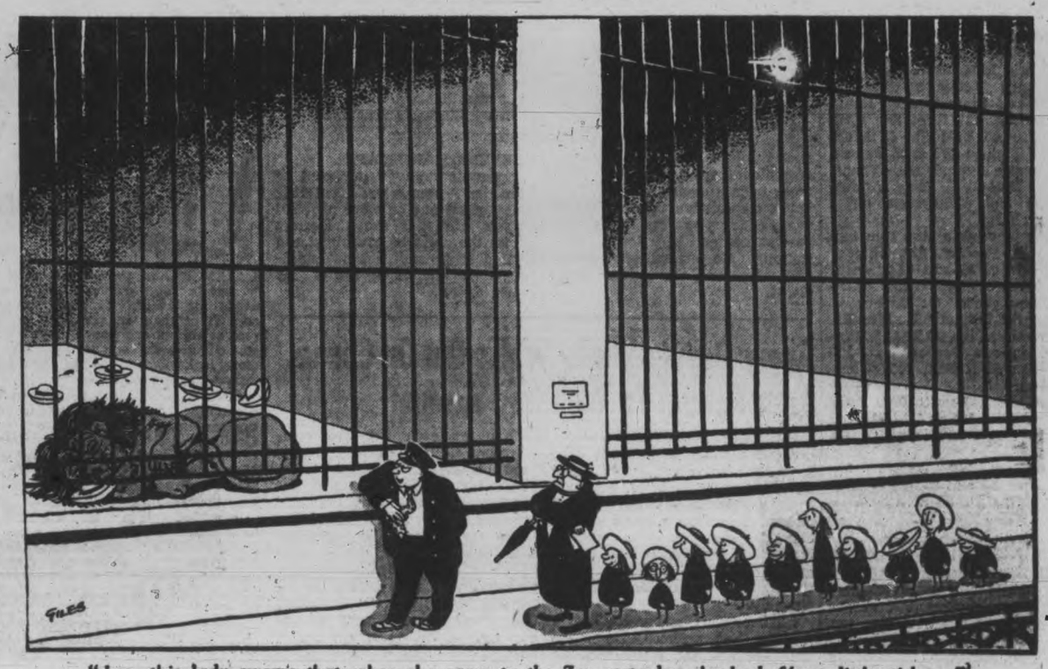
Well, Sir, I could go on for hours telling those people how wrong they are to think that higher wages will put us on easy street, but having met too many of them, I'm afraid I'd be speaking into deaf ears. At least I am certain it is to one-track minds.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain.

Sincerely yours,
A HOUSEWIFE.

It Can Be Done! Parsnips Are Ready

Advancing warm winds of spring have thrown back the heavy snow covers of last year's garden bed and reminded the farmer—as if he had to be reminded—that there is a crop yet to be harvested.



Out there in the rich defrosting earth, the parsnip is now ripe for the pulling.

Only ridges now remain where a well-hoed row was last year. But they are enough to guide the farmer to his buried treasure. Occasionally the white shoulder of a parsnip protrudes above the black ground. For the most part, however, the parsnip has wiggled down into nature's deep freeze.

A fork is helpful in the harvest, but even then the parsnip yields reluctantly from its rooting place. But once freed, washed, and scrubbed the parsnip has a gleam that only those who know its pungent flavour understand.

From our point of taste, the parsnip is best enjoyed when cut in slim quarters and fried in butter to a golden brown. And, so far as we are concerned, anything better would be a generous second helping.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

THE Jews therefore said unto him that was cured. It is the Sabbath day: it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed. He answered them. He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk . . . Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. (John 5:19, 11, 14.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them. (Rom. 1:18, 19.)

Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things. But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things. And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God? Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?

But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God; who will render to every man according to his deeds. (Rom. 2: 1-6.)

THE SALVATION ARMY

PETERBOROUGH TEMPLE CORPS

IS JOYOUSLY AND THANKFULLY CELEBRATING ITS

★ 1885 ★ 63rd ANNIVERSARY ★ 1948 ★

MAJOR CHAS. WATT
Commanding Officer

On April 10th, 1885, The Salvation Army opened fire in Peterborough under the leadership of Captain Esther Mills.

For sixty three years, consistently, through wars, depressions, good times and bad, foul weather or fine, the message of Salvation has been preached and practised by Salvation Army Officers and by a host of Salvation Army "blood and fire" Soldiers.

Our Corps was opened by Captain Mills in 1885. The Hall was located on Aylmer Street north of Simcoe in the premises now occupied by Gillespie Garage. In the days of our beginnings a great deal of opposition was encountered by our Comrades, but they fought the fight, and with God's continued help were enabled to gain a firm footing as early day Salvationists.

The next scene of activities was in a little old Church on Aylmer Street, where unusual scenes were constantly occuring. The audiences would linger excessively long into the night, especially the unfortunate who were slaves of the liquor traffic, but kindly persuasion and perseverance won them for God. Under the able leadership of Captain Bertha Smith everything seemed to reach a climax. Thus names became outstanding and familiar by way of devotion to the Kingdom cause. There were the "Bacons," the "Bakers," the "Howlands," the "Fathleys," the "Manns," the "Paytons," the "Butchers," the "Sloans"—these names have left a lasting impression in and around Peterborough.

THE PETERBOROUGH TEMPLE BAND — R. G. Routly, Bandmaster

The Band was organized about 1889, under the leadership of Bandmaster George Stephens the instrumentation at that time being of both reed and brass, but later became entirely brass combination. In 1914, the Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster W. Peryer, undertook the longest tour ever undertaken by any Salvation Army Band up to that time. They attended the I. Congress gatherings in London England. This was at the time of the Empress of Ireland disaster which almost entirely wiped out the Canadian Staff Band. The Peterborough Temple Band was asked to take the place of the Staff Band and toured the northern part of England. This trip took about six weeks to complete. Twenty-four of the men entered the Armed Forces during World War 2, but the Band was able to maintain a fairly high standard. It is gratifying to know that many of the boys returned to take their places in the Band again. In 1946 the Band made a visit to the U.S.A., visiting Flint, Mich. During this trip the Band played in the Massey Hall in Toronto and also gave a programme at Galt, Ont. In 1947 they toured in New Brunswick. The Band has had some very fine Bandmasters, including J. M. Greene, W. Peryer, G. Stephens, F. W. Robinson, S. J. Richardson, Brigadier Beer and J. Smith. The present Bandmaster, R. G. Routly, has been in charge for the past fourteen years.

THE PETERBOROUGH TEMPLE SONGSTERS — A. B. Smith, Songster Leader

Peterborough Songsters have been an organized choir for the past 42 years, having first formed as a brigade in 1906. Under the baton of various leaders of both short and long terms the brigade struggled and worked until at the present time they are recognized as the finest group of singers attached to the Salvation Army Corps in the Canadian territory. The Peterborough brigade has the distinction of being the most travelled amateur church choir in Canada, having filled engagements in numerous cities and towns in Canada including Ottawa, Montreal and several occasions in Massey Hall, Toronto. At present the brigade is composed of 64 members, which represents approximately 1000 years of voluntary service. Included in their reportorie are numbers from the Great Masters, etc. They also feature a marimba ensemble, tubular chimes, and ladies quartette, as well as individual soloists. At present the brigade is under the leadership of Ben Smith, who has had the distinction of leading this fine group of singers for over 20 years, and through his untiring efforts has brought the brigade to its present state of efficiency.

Basketball may wind up in Peterborough for the year this weekend, both girls' and boys' hoop play. There's a twin bill for the femmes in the YWCA tomorrow p.m. with Nurses (senior champs) playing Kawarthas an 8.15 exhibition, and then St. Paul's and CGE clashing in their second junior finals. Saints won the first, and if they take this one it is all over till next winter. Banquet is April 21. The OABA midget championship tourney is on Saturday at the Collegiate gym with PCVS and three other teams, representing various zones in Ontario, fighting it out in afternoon semi-finals and holding finals in the evening. They ought to be interesting scraps Friday and Saturday for local cage fans.

Ontario swimming championships for men and boys will be staged this Saturday eve in the YM pool, starting at 8.15. Over 60 strong contenders are expected from around the province and about 30 local swimmers will take part in the various events. Toronto, New Toronto, Hamilton, London and Peterborough all will be well represented, Gord Minty advises. Ken Tully of U. of T., Dominion intercollegiate diving champ, will give an exhibition, while Al Marshall of U. of T.—formerly of here—will try to break the 100-yard breaststroke record. He now holds the Canuck 200-yard event, and the 100 is held by Peter Salmon of Victoria, B.C., with a mark of 1.04 1-10. The different competitions will be listed in a day or so.

Annual local weight-lifting championships will be settled at 7.30 or so this p.m. in the YMCA. Public is invited and will see feats of strength, gymnastics, muscle posing, weight-lifting and bronze modelling. Also, Peterborough's acrobatic McInroy sisters will go through their difficult routine. Joe Sklar, middleweight British Empire weight-lifting champion, and Jack Varaleau—who is Dominion lightheavy champ—will attend and attempt to break their own lifting records. Another noted exponent of muscle control to attend will be M. Chevier of Montreal. Sounds like a large e'en.

Bert Bailey, secretary of the City Softball League, has been notified of his appointment to the OASA executive. He succeeds Fred Griffin of Peterborough to this office, Fred having been not so well the past year. We are glad to see the city represented on the Ontario softball body as this is a live centre for the sport, and we should have a voice in provincial doings. And Bert has proven a good worker for the game up this way since becoming league secretary several seasons back. The OASA president has power to appoint several members to the executive, after the others have been elected, and this appointment is a recognition of Peterborough's part in the game.

Dohaney By a Kayo

While it takes more than one mitt win to make the Olympic team, Frank Dohaney of Peterborough is at least on the right path. In the semi-final bout of a Hamilton card last night, the 183-pounder kayoed Harry Marshall, 197-pound Hamilton scrapper—"who has been flattening all and sundry," according to the Spectator—halfway through the first round. Frank jabbed cautiously a few times, took a grazing right to the cheek and then his own right exploded several times on Marshall's jaw. And that was that. The 22-year-old electrical engineer is training for a crack at the Canadian Olympic trials in Toronto next month, and he and Ron Menzies (who handles him) hope to get a couple of more bouts before then. Nice going. Nick Orlando made the trip to Hamilton with them, too.

They jacked up the Cardiff Giant—quite a job to jack up a 330-pound grappler—to a main bout spot at the Brock mat show last eve and Earl McCready kicked the jack from under him. Not just as easy as that, since the Giant is a powerful character, but experience pays off in this game and Earl is a scrapper who has been around. Got him finally with a flying scissors off the ropes after the big guy had shown a lot of strength and once disdained Earl's pet hold, the rolling scissors split. Rough John Katan took the semi-final over Doc Ed Meske, and John seemed to have an edge on bone-bending over his chiropractic rival—though a missed drop kick had a lot to do with it. Singh tucked off Kenneth in the prelim wit.. a cobra hold. A good card before a goodly gallery.

Maple Leafs mauled the Red Wings 5-3 at the Gardens last p.m. and a lot of folks were disappointed when the game wasn't broadcast. Wings started strongly, but after about 10 minutes the Leafs took over and outplayed the Detroiters until the third chukker. Wings got flying again then and whittled down the count, but couldn't catch up. Toronto team suffered a casualty in the second period when defenceman Gus Mortson had his left leg fractured, and this may prove costly yet. They clash again in Toronto on Saturday ere heading for a Sunday game in Detroit. We haven't given up on the Wings yet, and they may come right back to even the series Saturday.

Cardiff Giant Comes A Cropper As McCready Takes Third Fall

The Cardiff Giant ran into a scrapper in the main mat bout at the Brock last night and wound up on his back, Earl McCready taking the deciding fall before a goodly gallery. It was a popular fall with the crowd as the pushef-in McCready, at 239 pounds, was in against a powerful 330-pound grappler.

The Giant won the first fall in 11 minutes with a powerful bear-hug, throwing McCready disdainfully to the mat when the latter had to concede it and the referee waved it was over. The big bewhiskered one was both strong and villainous, and not popular. He was warned often by pudgy Referee Bert Maxwell—no lightweight himself at 252—but kept tramping in. McCready fought back and once had the Giant in trouble with a leglock, but that last bear-hug reallly did it.

Evened It Up

McCready got the equalizer (though he was partly lucky on it) in four minutes when he scrambled back into the ring in time to beat the referee's count. The Giant was counted out after both had rolled outside and mixed it on the arena floor. Previously, it had been pretty even with Earl aggressive this time and the Cardiff chap using his heft to push his opponent around. He was plenty sore once when Earl yanked his whiskers, and both exchanged elbow smashes on even terms. It was a lively go and the fans liked the action served up.

The final fall came in just seven minutes in a sort of surprise. The Giant had thrown Earl into the ropes when McCready bounced back extra fast and hit the big Welshman with a flying scissors and threw him to the floor. He held his squirming rival for the count. The Giant was peeved about it but wound up by shaking hands. They had mixed hard before that with the scrappy Aurora farmer boring in and hoding his own, despite the power of the other. He clamped on his famed "rolling scissors split" once but the Giant was too powerful and just lay there cradled and refused to give in. Earl said later that it was the first time he found a man too strong to submit to the grip.

Katan Won

Rough John Katan won the semi-final in 27 minutes over Dr. Ed Meske when the latter had his neck injured and the referee stopped it. Maxwell was slow in stopping it and Katan got in some extra work on Meske—who twisted his neck when he missed on a drop kick—and the Doc had to be carried to his dressing room. Some massaging finally straightened out the kink. Up to then, the big chiropractor had more than held his own, despite the villainous work of Katan (highy unpopular) in a hot tussle. John weighed 243 to Meske's 229, but they looked pretty well matched with the Doc better at straight grappling as John roughed it up. The fall was unpopular.

"Cobra Hold"

Nanjo Singh, 230, took the prelim in 23 minutes over Ken Kenneth, scaling 235, with his "cobra hold," as the fans booed. Ken was better liked and made it a real match until the end. Singh started right off with illegal stuff, paying no attention to referee's warnings, but Kenneth got going gradually and had him backing up. Ken's stepover leglock was punishing but Singh came back with the works until the referee threatened to disqualify him. It was hot going in and out of the ring for a time and Kenneth appeared to be holding his own till the Hindu clamped on his dreaded grip and it was all over.

Alberta Downs Bruins 7-6 In 2nd Defeat

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 8.—(CP).—Port Arthur West End Bruins, regarded by many as the team to beat for Western Canada junior hockey honors this season, were behind the eight-ball today.

Last night the Lakehead crew absorbed a second straight beating from the Lethbridge Native Sons and will be fighting with their backs to the wall when the third game of the best-of-seven series gets under way in Port Arthur Saturday night.

Coach Scotty Munro's Native Sons chalked up a 7-6 victory last night, but the score did not indicate the play.

In a hectic third period, the officials dished out 10 penalties, two majors to Bob (Conney) Wood of Lethbridge and Pete Durham of Port Arthur for fighting and a 10-minute misconduct to have Creighton for threatening his namesake Jimmy Creighton of Brandon, Man.

A capacity crowd of 3,500 fans saw centre Bill Ramseden of Lethbridge score his 100th goal for Native Sons this season.

Other Native Sons' marksmen were Leclair with two, Bob Manson, Reddie Brown, Eddie Dorohoy and Howie Milford.

Rudy Migay counted twice for Port Arthur and set up the plays for two other Bruins' goals. Other Brlin snipers were Freddie Baccari, Alf Childs, Dave Creighton and Lin Forslund.

In a rough and tough game 17 penalties were handed out.

Find Royals Optimistic About Chances

VERO BEACH, Fla., April 8.—(CP).—The backbone of a strong pitching staff already moulded, Montreal Royals—like most other International League Baseball League teams—are heading into the spring training stretch casting an expectant eye at prospective aid in other departments from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Royals, second-place finishers in 1947, face the sixth-place Newark Bears at Newark April 22 for the opening game.

Only 11 of last year's team are again on Manager Clay Hopper's roster. Eight of the 1947 Royals went up to the majors.

The majors in turn provided the services of Hank Behrman who pitched last year for Pittsburgh and Brooklyn. He is expected to be one of Montreal's strong points.

Southpaw Dwain Sloat, another newcomer form Fort Worth, Tex., worked four times against the Dodgers in training, giving them 12 hits in 12 innings and six runs.

Other Pitchers

Others of the pitching staff are Donald Newcombe, Clarence Podbielah and Frank Laga.

Joe Smolko, Walter Olsen and Armand Cardoni will be on the Montreal mound again.

Improvement in the infield is forecast with the addition of veteran Jimmy Bloodsworth from Pittsburgh.

In the catching department, it is a toss up between Mike Sandlock of last year's team and Sam Calderone a .317 batter.

In the outfield, Hooper is hoping for at least two players from the Dodgers and would be happy with Al Gionfriddo, Marvin Rackley or Duke Snider Walter Sessi will be back.

APPS LAUNCHES LEAFS' THIRD GOAL—Syl Apps is shown jockeying into position at left before firing the third goal for the Leafs in the first period of last night's Stanley Cup final series opener with Detroit Red Wings. Gus Mortson set up the play. It was Gus' last game for this season, because in the second period the steady Toronto defenceman was taken to hospital with a broken leg.

Leafs Trounce Wings 5-3 In Final Opener Gus Mortson Breaks Leg

By FRASER MACDOUGALL

TORONTO, April 8—(CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs took that first long stride to their second straight Stanley Cup championship last night. They emerged from a somewhat ragged hockey game victors by 5-3 over Detroit Red Wings in the opener of their best-of-seven final series. But in the process they lost the services of Gus (Hard Rock) Mortson, rushing defenceman who was carried off the ice in the second period with a broken leg.

The injury which sent the 23-year-old prospector from Kirkland Lake to hospital dampened the spirits of the 13,633 fans who had watched the National Hockey League champions come from behind for the 34th time in 66 starts this season to fashion their victory.

After the game both teams left Toronto to rest for the second meeting here Saturday night. The Red Wings went to Hamilton. The Leafs headed for St. Catharines, their favorite training and rest-cure centre.

The Red Wings appeared to be victory-bound for the first few minutes They capped their early mastery with a goal in less than eight minutes by rookie Jim McFadden who swooped across the goalmouth and slipped the puck into the net just as Goalie Turk Broda was about to clear a shot from Pete Horeck.

Hit Back

The Leafs drove right back. A drive headed by Syl Apps produced a goal 61 seconds after the Detroit score. Harry Watson, former Red Wing, was the scorer, banging home a passout from the veteran centre. Less than a minute later, sturdy Joe Klukay from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., beat Goalie Harry Lumley on a play with his linemates, Max Bentley and rookie Les Costelllo.

Late in the first period, Mortson sent Apps into the clear with a breakaway pass. The latter fought off husky Jack Stewart of the Red Wings from the blue line in, and picked the corner with an expert shot.

Mortson tallied a goal himself, his first in the Stanley Cup playoffs, shortly before his injury. It came on a screened shot from just inside the blue line. Howie Meeker rounded out the Toronto scoring with a drive from in front that went between Lumleys pads.

The Red Wings rallied in the third period when they whipped in a brace of goals in less than a minute. Jimmy Conacher tallied the first on a close range drive. The fleet Ted Lindsay got out on a breakaway and beat defenceman Garth Boesch in a race for the puck. He drove it past Broda although Boesch had him off balance.

Breaks Leg

Mortson's injury came when he and his defence mate, Jimmy Thomson, sandwiched Stewart. The Detroit defenceman went up in the air from the impact and as he came to the ice his knee appeared to hit Mortson's leg.

Referee Bill Chadwick imposed seven penalties—four to Toronto and three to Detroit.

Neither team manager thought much of the game. Conny Smythe of the Leafs called it a game of "chop, push and hook." Manager Jack Adams, who allowed the Toronto newspaper men in his dressing room for less than a minute, said his club played sound hockey only for 30 minutes.

Individual Leafs said they look for a tough series, even though they have taken the important opening game. The teams go to Detroit for games Sunday and Wednesday after the Saturday fixture in Toronto. So far, no dates have been set for games beyond the fourth.

Cinderella Team Warmly Feted

OTTAWA, April 8. (CP) — Hailed as the "rags-to-riches" team and the "Cinderella" team, RCAF Flyers are on Canadian soil today after a rousing welcome expressing what Prime Minister Mackenzie King thought: they proved Canada is still best at hockey.

Unable to attend the homecoming himself, the prime minister sent this message along with Defence Minister Claxton, who yesterday greeted the Flyers as they disembarked from the train:

"Their crown of victory as Olympic champions symbolizes the continued supremacy of Canada in our national sport."

Coach of the Flyers, Cpl. Frank Boucher, admitted the team was pretty mediocre when it started out in January. In England and Paris it met pre-Olympic competition made up of Canadian senior players.

Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. (Sandy) Watson, manager of Flyers, told interviewers that even the Czechs, who had been out to win from away back, finally acknowledged Canada's supremacy. But he warned that interests in hockey shown by that country and by Sweden would eventually prove a threat to Canadian leadership.

Hundreds of people thronged the Union Station as the Flyers disembarked, and more gathered along the downtown route which threaded past a reviewing stand in front of defence headquarters where Defence Minister Claxton took the salute as the Flyers drove past in gleaming open cars.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, then 44 years old, went in goal for more than half a Stanley Cup playoff game with Montreal Maroons, 20 years ago tonight. In that game, at Montreal, Lorne Chabot was injured early in the second period and Lester donned the pads allowing only one goal, helping Rangers win the game 2-1, in overtime.

College Studies Boxing Effects

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP). — A professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin, one of the few strongholds of the intercollegiate boxing, has asked that university's athletic department to survey the sport to find out if it is detrimental . . . without knowing the man who made that request, we suspect that he's inclined to be suspicious of any sport that's profitable . . . Having watched college boxing for some time, this observer is firmly convinced (1) that few college students can hit hard enough to do any real damage and (2) that a college boxer is in much less danger of being severely hurt than a football player . . .

Chicago 'Farmers' Club' Formed of City Slickers

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED

CHICAGO, April 8 — (AP) — Hundreds of farmers roam the skyscrapers of downtown Chicago, though it is many decades since that area was a cow pasture. They belong to the little-known Chicago Farmers Club.

Insurance and advertising agents, bankers, lawyers, executives, office and factory workers, business men — all are "overalls" farm operators with jobs in the city.

Some, admittedly, do their farming most of the year by remote control. But one member claims he can tell how much milk each cow will give by "the way she switches her tail."

Most have farms within daily commuting distance of the big town. Some consider their acres country estates and live there only during the summer.

Law and Farming

Others operate through hired managers and retire to the peaceful countryside on week-ends. A number own the family homestead or a ranch at some distance and reach it only at vacation time.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, club president and former state supreme court justice, maintains a new practice in Chicago and a 450-acre farm in Green County, Illinois.

H. A. Hooker, head of his own advertising agency, has a 300-acre dairy farm near McHenry, Ill., where he raises prize Guernseys. He edits the club's monthly "Bulletin," which carries marketing news, advice, club activities, and members' advertisements of livestock and farm machinery.

Started in Depression

Winfred Bromstad operates a linotype machine during the day, then goes home to do the chores and field work on his 74-acre piece near suburban Waukegan. He raises poultry, hogs, wheat, corn and oats.

L. Frank Pitts, youthful president of a paint corporation, leaves his desk and the philosophy of paint behind to board his tractor in the fields of his 170 acres near Yorkville, Ill., about 50 miles west of the city.

The club was organized in 1935, that was when depression stalked the golden pavements of financial row and many men saw in farm land a meal ticket and a hedge against further losses. Since then the club has grown solidly to a record 700-plus members, though no membership or publicity drive ever has been made.

Every first and third Wednesday of the month the city farmers gather around noontime luncheon tables at the Bismarck Hotel to exchange crop and market ideas. Each meeting features an expert speaker on some phase of farm operations. Politics is taboo, though the membership includes politicians.

No Women.

No wives or women members are allowed, but an auual picnic at some member's place brings out entire families. About 800 persons usually attend.

Last year the event was held at Thomas E. Wilson's country estate in suburban Lake Forest. He heads a major meat packing concern. The year before the group gathered at the Curtiss Candy Company show farm near Marengo, Ill.

An annual trek to some agricultural college takes the members into the field of farm research and improved practices. This year the trip in June is expected to wind up at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. About 150 members take the jaunt.

Winnipeg Dumps Edmonton In 2-0 Win

By GORD PEPPER

WINNIPEG, April 8.—(CP).—Any lack of confidence that the underdog Winnipeg Flyers may have had before the start of their Western Canada senior hockey final series with Edmonton Flyers today no doubt has disappeared into thin air.

Winnipeg club last night got the jump on the Albertans by scoring a 2-0 victory in the first game of their best-of-seven series to decide the west's representative in the Allan Cup final.

The Manitobans emerged from the bruising tussle with numerous bruises, none of which were serious, but it made them all unanimous on the point that the series will be their toughest yet.

Port Arthur Hopeful

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 8—(CP).—Port Arthur West End Bruins were convinced today they still have a good chance to win the Western Canada junior hockey title despite the walloping they took from Lethbridge Native Sons in the first game of the finals. Although somewhat stunned by the 6-1 Lethbridge victory Monday, the Lakeheaders figured they have a 50-50 chance of winning the second game of the best-of-seven series here tonight. Coach Eddie Lauzon reported no injuries in the Port Arthur camp.

Sport Can Cut Crime Says Jail Official

WINNIPEG, April 8 (CP). — Promotion of healthful recreation and stimulation of sports activities for the youth of the country is advocated by Thomas J. Keen, former deputy superintendent of Headingly jail, as a "sure-fire" antidote in the battle against crime.

"It is remarkable how few of those in Headingly jail have any active interest in sport," he said. "If they had spent more time in such activities they would probably not have ended up in prison.

Since he first entered the service as a prison guard 32 years ago, Mr. Keen has witnessed progressive improvement in prison conditions. The advance has been particularly noticeable, he said, in the higher standard of food provided, along with better library and recreational facilities.

"Today the men are allowed to listen to radio programs, broadcast through the wards by a public address system. Broadcasts of swing music, hockey games and prize fights are the big favorites.

Partners Fight; Judge Orders Business Closed

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP).—A Toronto cocktail lounge which made $90,000 on a $100,000 investment in nine months, was wound up yesterday because the partners are deadlocked.

Mr. Justice G. A. Urquhart of the Ontario Supreme Court said he could see "no way out except winding up the Michael P. Georgas Co. Ltd.", which operates the Silver Rail at downtown Yonge and Shuter Sts. E. G. Clarkson was appointed liquidator.

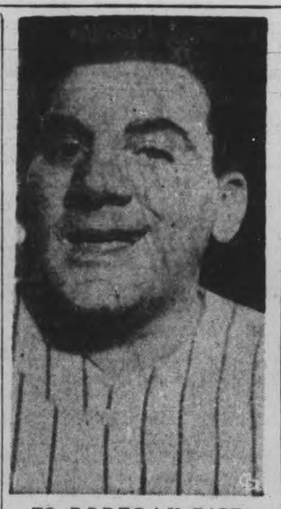
In a 53-page judgment Mr. Justice Urquhart said there "was not only invincible deadlock but the co-adventurers of the venture, Louis David Arnold and Michael P. Georgas, are not on speaking terms."

The application to wind up the company was made by Arnold and two other directors upon grounds "other than bankruptcy or insolvency."

The judgment stated that Georgas and Arnold had each put up $50,000 for the original investment. Their establishment was one of the first opened after the Ontario government in 1946 made liquor by the glass legal

N.Z. Birds In Annual Flight To Siberia

AUCKLAND, N.Z., April 8 (CP).—An airborne invasion of Russian is now being prepared in New Zealand, but it is unlikely to have any political repercussions. It has been going on every year for centuries.



The invaders are bar-tailed godwits which now are gathering along the tidal harbors of northern New Zealand preparatory to their annual migration to breeding grounds in the Siberian tundra or in Alaska. Late in March and during April the godwits gather each day and the beaches are alive with their musical twittering cries. Toward sunset the flocks grow restless and rising from the beach in a long line they form a broad semi-circle and head off north into the growing darkness on their hazardous flight to the other side of the world.

Each flock at the start of the journey comprises many thousands, but they arrive at their destination in many small parties of a few hundreds each. It is believed they make a non-stop flight from New Zealand to New Guinea or Northern Australia, as very few birds have been observed at intermediate islands. Their route is then via the Philippines, China and Japan to Siberia or Alaska.

The birds complete their long flight north in May. In August and early September they set off for the south again and reach New Zealand in October and November.

ENTERS MARATHON

Johnny Kelley, two-time winner and the runner who probably has finished second more than any other competitor, yesterday entered the Boston AA Marathon. Sixty-four competitors now have entered the April 19 race.

TO PORTRAY BABE — William Bendix, Hollywood screen actor who was chosen by Roy Del Ruth to play the role of Babe Ruth in a forthcoming picture telling the story of Babe Ruth. Bendix was chosen to play the Babe because Del Ruth believed the actor best represented the sort of good-natured guy which exemplified "The Bambino." Bendix is pictured ready for the camera, and sporting a new nose.

BASEBALL

New York Yankees stopped off here today to meet their Augusta farm team in the first of a week of exhibitions that will bring them to New York April 15. The squad left Florida in good condition with only three men still on the injured list.

Brooklyn "A" and "B" teams were reunited here today. The No. 1 squad flew in from Tulsa while the No. 2 club came from Newport News, Va., where it had been rained out for the second straight day. The Dodgers' tri-state league Asheville farm provided today's opposition.

Detroit Tigers are finding plenty of opposition from the Southern Association clubs. The Tigers pounded New Orleans, but lost to Birmingham and then had to go 10 innings last night to best Atlanta. The Tigers meet the Crackers again today.

To Salvage Submarines

LONDON (CP). — New equipment for underwater salvage work has been fitted in a ship recently launched here. A special gun, using an explosive, fires a rivet with a hollow centre into a steel plate of a sunken submarine. A hose is passed through the rivet and air pumped into the sub, permitting it to surface.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Senior Basketball champion Windsor Alumni quintet have reconsidered their objections to the schedule laid down by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association for Eastern Canada playoffs, and have announced they will meet the Ottawa district winners at Ottawa Saturday night in the opening round.

Philadelphia Phillies yesterday obtained Dick Sisler, first baseman, from St. Louis Cardinals in an exchange for Shortstop Ralph Lapointe and a sum of money believed to be $20,000. Sisler is a son of George Sisler of St. Louis Browns' fame 20 years ago.

Frankie Filchock, former star passer with New York Giants of the National Football League who played with Hamilton Tigers of the Big Four last season, will go to Montreal next week to talk terms with officials of Montreal Alouettes. It was reported that Ottawa Roughriders also are interested in Filchock now that Hamilton Tigers have folded operations.

Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday had a suit filed against them for $3,500. Larkin Bailey of Tulsa, Okla., claimed the amount was due him for helping the Dodgers sign Barney White. The petition said Bailey was promised cash payment for introducing White to a Brooklyn scout to whom Bailey described the player.

United States Fear Soviet Interference In Palestine

By WALTER O'HEARN

NEW YORK — The American line in Palestine has become brilliantly clear since the United States disclosed its blueprint. The Americans are neither pro-partition nor anti- They do not particularly fear the Arabs.

What they do fear is the USSR and any device by which Russian troops could be introduced to Palestine. What they are concerned about is getting the Palestine case out of the Security Council, where the Soviet has a life-or-death power, and into the trusteeship council, where Russia has only one vote, not any power of veto; where indeed Russia up to this time has refused to take her seat.

The announced blueprint which makes this line clear was made, not at Lake Success, but high up in an office building at No. 2 Park Avenue, where the United States mission holes up in Manhattan.

On the 19th floor in the delegation offices, Warren Austin read the 15-point proposal to eight Security Council delegates (Russia and the Ukraine were notable by their absence)

Up on the 23rd floor, in slightly less pontifical surroundings, a press attache named Porter McKeever, who helped James F. Byrnes write "Speaking Frankly," went over the points with newspapermen. For all his background of frank speaking, Mr. McKeever was a model of reticence and the correspondents, who like him and did not want to trap him in any boners, did not press him too hard.

Points Summarized

But for all its diplomatic evasions, the 15-point proposal which McKeever read made its point perfectly clear Today it is much like the British position, especially in its insistence that the two sections of the population must agree on any permanent political solution.

Let us summarize the 15 points, with a few original notes:

One: The trusteeship should be administered without prejudice to the parties concerned.

Two: It should terminate whenever the Arab and Jewish communities have agreed on a future political program,

Three: The United Nations itself shall be the administering authority (not any one member nation) and responsibility shall be placed with the trusteeship council. Administration of Palestine shall be transferred to a separate body called the Government of Palestine.

Four: The trusteeship agreement should include many points already covered by the trusteeship council, including the safeguarding of human rights and provision for the machinery of government.

Five: The government should be headed by a governor-general appointed by and responsible to the trusteeship council.

Six: The government of Palestine should include a cabinet and a democratically elected legislature. In any case where a democratic legislature could not be elected, the governor - general could make laws by fiat.

Seven: The agreement should provide for maintenance of law and order in Palestine by the government of Palestine, by means of police forces recruited locally, by volunteer forces raised under article 84 of the UN Charter (this means local volunteers and would rule out any volunteer legions from Britain or America). When this force of the government of Palestine proves insufficient for this purpose, "the governor-general should be authorized to call on such states as would be specified in the agreement to assist in maintenance of security in Palestine. A separate protocol of this (trust) agreement would be concluded which would contain undertakings by those named to accept responsibility in specified cases."

(This paragraph is perhaps the most important of all the American points. It limits the nations which can be called in to maintain order in Palestine to those which are not only willing to take on the assignment but which are approved by a majority of the United Nations Assembly. Thus it pretty definitely rules out Russia and her satellites.)

An American reporter, trying to find out whether the United States itself would accept responsibility under point seven, did not get very far. He was reminded of Senator Austin's speech on February 24, favoring "the multilateral approach to Palestine." Some people took that to mean that the United States would be willing to move into the Holy Land in concert with other —Western Nations).

Eight: The government of Palestine should be enabled under the agreement to take over on a temporary basis the existing arrangements in Palestine—that is, take over the machinery from the mandatory on May 15. It would, thereafter, set up the organization specified in the trust agreement.

Nine: The agreement should make specific provision for immigration and land purchase. This should be negotiated in consultation with representatives of the Jewish and Arab communities.

(This is an attempt to lift from the trusteeship the curse which beset the mandate after it set a quota on Jewish migration and had limited the areas in which Jews could buy land. At first reading, some Zionist observers were inclined to think that the promise of the first sentence above was negated by the second.)

Ten: Normal cost of the trusteeship should mainly be borne by Palestine itself. "Large UN subsidies should not be expected."

Eleven: Expenses of outside forces sent in to defend the country or maintain order "should be defrayed by the members who are providing the forces."

Twelve: Salaries of the principal officers of government, such as the governor-general and the chief justice, should be paid by the UN.

Thirteen: If the UN finds that additional funds are necessary to run Palestine "these additional funds should be applied as subsidies or as recoverable loans." The UN should provide for them in a separate budget, not in its regular annual budget.

Fourteen: Adequate safeguards for protection of the holy places should be set up.

Fifteen: The temporary trusteeship should cease "as soon as the majority of members of each of the two communities in Palestine have agreed upon a plan of government."

Of these 15 points, all but a few might have come from the statements made last October by the Rt. Hon. Arthur Creech-Jones, the British Colonial Secretary.

The chief points of difference are: Britain's determination, as expressed by Creech-Jones at that time, to get out of Palestine whatever the cost; a wider policy of immigration; the setting up of a legislature and the destination of certain nations as chosen instruments to enforce law and order.

There is little likelihood that Britain will be one of those nations agreeing to take on this burden. The USSR is out, for reasons already indicated. France is extremely unpopular in the whole Middle East. China has troubles of her own.

The chosen instruments, if the American plan goes through, will have to be the United States and a carefully selected panel of smaller nations. In this connection, Washington still has an eye on Canada, but Canada so far has been resolute in her unwillingness to underwrite any Palestine adventure.

Fox-Hunting Stirs Lively House Debate

BY JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, April 8 (CP)—Mention fox-hunting in the Commons and every Conservative is automatically a pink-coated horseman riding helter-skelter across muddy fields and every labor man and woman is the defender of all animals against cruelty.

The dignified chamber ignores the fact that bulk age--and inexperience--make many Conservatives unlikely to catch the most laggard fox, and that some country-born Labor supporters must have participated in rural sports in their youth.

The firm party division over blood sports is supposed to hark back to privileged days when the wealthy showed their disregard for poorer men. When J. A. Sparks, Labor Member of Parliament for action, a London suburb, called fox-hunting "Spivs and Drones," he envisioned brutal huntsmen knocking down farmers' crops in mad gallops after a tortured fox.

His party colleagues cheered him; the Conservatives jeered.

Hard Working Fox Hunters

A few days later, G. A. Martelli of Rads End Farm, Bletchley, Buckinghamshire, sent a letter to the Times with the firm statement that fox-hunting is kept going by hard-working people, most of them farmers.

Martelli gave this census of the field at this last local hunt: farmers, 10; farm employees, one; market gardeners, one; garage mechanic, one; innkeeper, one; professional men, two; business men, two; children under 14, five; young girls, two; married women, two and horse dealers, one.

"I should be interested to learn from Mrs. Sparks to which of these categories the description of 'Spivs and Drones' is applicable," wrote Martelli.

Fire On 57th Floor

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—A 57th floor fire and explosion in the towering Empire State building last night created excitement in the busy mid-Manhattan area but caused relatively little damage. Shattered window glass was flung over a wide area and scores of spectators gathered in the streets below when flames burst through windows of an office suite. Cause of the fire and explosion was not immediately determined.

Braund 'Cure' Described Public Mischief

SYDNEY, Australia, April 8.—(CP)—A government committee report tabled in the New South Wales parliament, said today that in no case it investigated had John Braund, a layman, substantiated his claim that he could cure cancer.

Premier James McGirr of New South Wales ordered the investigation after publication of claims by Braund and some of his patients that he had a cure. A panel of 12 physicians, surgeons and laymen made the inquiry.

The committee said that Braund's "alleged specific cure for cancer is injection of alum into the subcutaneous tissues of patients thereby causing necrosis (death) of tissues with consequent separation of a slough which is claimed to be the actual cancer.

(Slough is dead tissue which breaks away from the flesh.)

In its lengthy report, the committee said "exploitation of Braund's alleged cure amounts to an outstanding public mischief with international ramifications.

"It has lulled sufferers into a false sense of security, thereby preventing them from obtaining proper treatment at a curable stage of the disease or at least affording them an opportunity to prolong their lives."

Cancer sufferers from several countries, including four from Canada, travelled to Australia to be treated by Braund.

Will Give MP's Discussion On Private Bills

OTTAWA, April 8. (CP)—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent indicated in the Commons yesterday that members will be given an opportunity to discuss private members' bills to legalize oleomargarine and to outlaw the Communist Party in Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent said efforts will be made before today to allot a "fair amount" of time for the discussion of private members bills and resolutions now on the order paper.

He made the statement after some liberal members poined with opposition parties in protesting against a motion that would give government business precedence for an indefinite period.

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), acting leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, charged the government was trying to "hog" the time of the house. He suggested that government business be given precedence for two more weeks and that the situation then be reviewed with a view to fixing time for the discussion of private members bills and resolutions.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, moved an amendment to the motion. It would have provided that an hour be set aside Tuesdays and Fridays for debate on public and private bills. Divorce bills and bills affecting individual private corporations now are considered between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. Fridays.

James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North), sponsor of a bill that would legalize the manufacture, importation and sale of oleomargarine, said parliament should follow the rules laid down for it. Under the rules private members' business was given precedence on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Canadian Meat Contract Unaffected By UK Switch

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP) — A government official said yesterday Britain has officially requested the United States Recovery Plan agency to take over the United Kingdom's food contracts with Canada, but the United States reaction is not yet known.

The official said the move, if it went through, would mean little to Canada directly except that, if the contracts were taken over intact, the meat contract would definitely be carried out. He felt that under present arrangements there was a chance that Britain might decide to fill her meat needs from the sterling currency area.

The British move was "not unexpected" in Ottawa in the wake of passage of the American plan to put Europe back on her feet economically.

The change would only mean a switch in the people paying Canada in United States dollars for the food she sends Britain. Britain now pays them, with a portion being taken out of the Canadian loan for another week, and the change would mean that the United States would do so, directly or indirectly.

The change would fit into the pattern of financial switches expected to follow passage of the Marshall plan. The plan is not expected to mean any increase in Canadian exports abroad, but it will mean that she gets paid for them directly instead of on a long-term credit basis.

In the Commons, Gordon Graydon (PC, Peel) asked when a Canadian delegation would go to Washington to discuss ERP matters.

Trade Minister Howe declined any statement other than to say that the subject had been under constant study.

BETHANY, April 8.—(ENS).—Bethany Loyal Orange Lodge 1022, met on Tuesday evening. A number of visiting brethren were present from Cavan, Millbrook and other points. England Plans World's 'Most Modern Town' Will Have 40,000 People, Cost $56 Million

LONDON, April 8 (CP).—Berthold Lubetkin, a London architect, has been given the task of designing and building the most modern town in the world.

The town will be taking shape in the north of England and construction will be begun well before the end of this year. It is estimated that the job will be completed in 10 years.

Planned to house miners and their families, the town will be called Peteree. It will have 10,000 houses, accommodate about 40,000 people and cost an estimated $56,000,000.

Situated in an area where there is nothing but small mining communities spread over large tracts of country, Peterlee will serve as an educational, cultural, social and commercial axis for some 100,000 people in the surrounding district.

Freight Rates Alarm Farmers

By The Canadian Press

Criticism of the proposed 21-per-cent. increase in Canadian freight rates was heard yesterday in provincial legislatures at Halifax and Victoria.

Agriculture Minister A. W. Mackenzie told the Nova Scotia Legislature that the increase would result in a further rise in the cost of livestock feed. He said many Maritime farmers were "alarmed" by the increase.

The Federal Cabinet has decided against postponing the increase 30 days — a postponement asked by all provinces but Ontario and Quebec—but has ordered a general investigation of the freight rate structure.

Harold Winch, leader of the CCF Opposition in the British Columbia House, suggested that the Legislature send the Federal Government a resolution of protest. Premier Byron Johnson rejected the suggestion.

Plans to open a medical school at the University of British Columbia in the fall of 1949 were announced in the Legislature. It is expected to graduate 50 doctors a year.

THE FIGHT MUST GO ON!

CANCER is the No. 2 Killer in Canada today. It claims the lives of more women between 35 and 55 than any other disease. In 1947, more than 7,000 women... many desperately needed to care for their families.. will die of cancer.

Cancer respects neither age nor sex!

More than 14,000 men, women and children will die of cancer during 1947. Unless something is done about cancer, 1,500,000 Canadians now living will die of it. This means that one in every eight of us faces ultimate death from cancer.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE ABOUT IT

One in three may be saved. Yes, many victims could be saved by early recognition of the symptoms, and by early and proper treatment. Lend your vigorous support to the Canadian Cancer Society in its fight to overcome cancer in three ways:

1. To spread the knowledge that cancer is often curable if correctly diagnosed in its early stages.

2. To provide the most modern facilities for the care and treatment of present cancer sufferers.

3. To maintain a comprehensive, nationwide cancer research program to discover the basic cause and the cure of cancer.

• • •

In the meantime protect yourself against cancer. Be sure that you and every member of your family sees a doctor regularly.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Craft Show— The weeks are speedily passing and the craft display at the market hall should be in the minds of us all. We understand that some special booths will be put on by some of the units and should be well worth while. Bird houses could be well donated to the local association to be placed out at the Scout grounds. This could be done during the week-end of the camporee.

Note of Thanks—It was a pleasure to see the many men and boys out on Saturday last during the paper drive and can only say "thanks" to every one of you.

Camporee Notes—We published a list of five of the projects in our last column and follow here with another five.

No. 6—Identify at least six trees and explain their usefulness.

No. 7—Make a gadget as required, using only the Scout knife.

No. 8—This will be a test in observation, deduction with the making out of a report.

No. 9—Read a sand track.

No. 10—Make a map of a required area.

As noted in our last column, no patrol will know just what project they will start at and should be ready to compete properly in any of the 15 suggested. Also bear in mind that you will have to carry out six.

Tentage—Just a reminder of the fact that every patrol taking part in the camporee will have to provide their own tentage. This can be of any style from pup tent to marques but judging will be taken on the style of tentage you secure. One would not take a marque with them on an overnight hike and that is the standard of tentage for the camporee.

St. John's Troop

Several members of the troop forged ahead along the trail on Friday last during an evening of fun and work. The highlight of the evening was the investiture of Bobby Kingston, a former member of the pack, into the troop as a tenderfoot. Bobby has been making steady progress since his coming up ceremony. The game of man the ship helped to take the steam out of the over zealous.

The score board gave the Eagle patrol the pennant for the week. Paul Elcombe recently completed his second class tests and was presented with his badge.

Following are tests as recorded since last meeting: Dennis Bell, signs, salute and Union Jack; Clarence James, fire lighting, cooking, use of knife and axe, 2nd class first aid; Paul Elcombe, use of axe and knef, 2nd class first aid, cooking and hikes; Garry Smith, tenderfoot first aid; Leonard Smtih, signs.

St. John's Pack

Only about 50 p.c. attendance repored at the last meetig, with several reporting sick. We were pleased to have with us Mr. Reid, who witnessed his son's investiture into the World Brotherhood of Scouts as a Wolf Cub. Graham has been persistent through a spell of illness. Akela took over in relief for Akela who was under the weather. Before the evening came to its close the following tests were accomplished: John Morris, message; Terry Hawkins, knots; Bob Martyn, first aider; Don Cooke, signaling and first aid; Walter Blackwell, first aid, thus completing his second sta tests.

ASM C. Stone was in charge of opening Flag Break. Inspection was good but several lost points for shoes and nails. Competition was keen in game period and several new ones were greatly enjoyed. Study corners was given over to First Aid and Signalling. Dr. J. N. Perry, group committee chairman, was in charge of First Aid and Jack Freeman tested several Scouts on Morse Code. The Fox patrol under CL George Fanjoy held a hike to Green Hill. Alvin Phillips, scribe for this patrol, turned in a most complete and interesting report on the hike. These reports along with other news items, snaps, etc., are all entered into the troop "Scrap Book." Scout Murray Yelland accepted the Patrol competition prize on behalf of the Eagle Patrol.

35 Dads and Scouts turned out and helped gather six loads of paper on the drive last Saturday. Many thanks.

7th St. Paul's Pack

Fourteen members of St. Paul's pack were present at the council rock at the YMCA Friday evening. The meeting opened by prayer led by sixer Alex Eastwood, followed by an inspection and collection of dues. Akela and the pack welcomed Baloo and Douglas Rishor, who have been absent through illness. Various games were played. Robert Hornal was promoted to second of the Blue Six. Akela's announcement consisted of the paper and making bird houses and other wood crafts. St. Paul's pack was well represented Saturday morning on the paper collection and they did a grand job.

St. Paul's pack will be guests at St. John's pack Friday evening April 9 at 6.45 p.m., so let's [illegible] and all be present. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

4th Peterborough Troop

The meeting opened with the breaking of the flag by P. L. Leo Houran and the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the troop scribe. We had a game of soccer and Mr. Chambers was on hand to give us a few pointers on the coming paper drive. The assistant scouter, Claire Dionne, who is doing a swell job of looking after the troop, gave out neckerchiefs to those who were invested and had not received theirs. Neckerchief slides were made by the boys later. Jack Found, who belongs to the Mark St. troop, was welcomed into our troop by the bulldog patrol, after he decided to make a change. The meeting was closed with the lowering of the flag and the Lord's Prayer.

Knox Church YP Present Comedy

Jay Tobias', three-act comedy entitled "For Pete's Sake" was presented last week by the Knox Church Young People.

The entire story took place in the month of June within the Pepperdine Mansion in an eastern College Town, and centered around the Pepperdine family, consisting of Peter (Don McLeod) and his Aunt Sarah (Marjorie Charlton), entailing also the Clarkson family—Mrs. Clarkson (Eileen Thompson), and her two adorable daughters, Nadine (Isabel Carveth) and Peggy (Beverley Carveth).

The fun all started when Aunt Sarah left for a trip to the Holy Land, and under the instructions of Dean Murglethorpe (Owen Amundson), Peter was placed under the charge of the most horrible of Latin grinds, Thorndyke Murglethorpe (Steve Stephenson) better known to all as "Muggsy", whose job it was to see that Peter buried himself completely in "that dead" subject all summer, seeing nothing of his "no-account" friend Bill Bradshaw (Bob Gardiner) and of his best girl, Nadine Clarkson.

However, after getting his Aunt well started on her journey, Peter soon took over. First smuggling his chum into the house, and then blackmailing Muggsy into keeping quiet as to what went on, and if he didn't then tales would be told of him to his girl Malvina Potts (Ruby Downes), and finally of haunting the colored cook, Jasmine (Grace Stewart) into believing nothing that she saw. So with all in hand, the plot was well underway. Pete and Bill had heard that their girl friends, the Clarkson, had been doing a little two-timing, so one way to keep tabs on them would be to rent the Pepperdine home to the Clarkson family for the summer, and so they did. This of course, necessitated Peter, Bill and Muggsy disguising themselves, as butler, gardener and the maid.

Finally after many complications set in, a happy ending came to light. The boys won out over their rivals, Dupond Darby (Bill Faulkner), and John Bolliver (Bud Charlton), and Aunt Sarah and Mrs. Clarkson, who had been social rivals for years were reconciled, and to top it all off Peter was to live happily with a gift his aunt bestowed on him upon her return — that of a volume of Latin books.

SHIPPING ON GREAT LAKES STARTS —The Texaco Chief is photographed nosing out her sister ship, the Texaco Warrior, seen in background, for the honor of the first trip through the Welland ship canal this year. Afterwards came the question of who deserved the topper for the first trip. Hugh Flasby of St. Catharines, solved the problem by sharing the topper between Capt. Pyette of the Warrior and Capt. Foote of the Chief and giving each a fedora.

Prince of Wales Good Fare Old Cabbie Recalls Tip

By NORMAN CRABBENS.

LONDON, April 8 — (CP) — Ernie Dixon, 75-year-old taxi driver, still roaming the West-end streets, proudly announced that he had "just bought a nice little cottage" with the £580 ($2,320) he won in a football pool.

"Jump in, sir," he cried jauntily. "I'm 75, but I don't feel a day older than when I began.... Eight children by my first wife, three by my second....Been on the road 35 years."

Ernie told how in his time he had driven most of Britain's Royal Family in his cab, and some of Europe's crowned heads as well.

Tip From Prince

Once when he was standing outside Claridge's Hotel, a man in a check cloth cap beckoned to him. "York House, as quickly as you can," the man said, opening the cab door for a slim, well-dressed figure.

"It was the Prince of Wales himself," Ernie said, "and he gave me a real handsome tip when I got him home."

When Ernie dropped the late King Alphonso of Spain at the Berkeley Hotel, the King gave him a badly-bent sixpence in the fare. Ernie yelled after him: "Hi, sir, this looks as if a steamroller had been over it." But the King never looked back.

Grimmest Fares

His grimmest fares were Frederick Bywaters, a notorious murderer, whom he drove to Pentonville Jail with three warders in the mid '20s; and a Chinese who had murdered his employer and buried him in a trunk in a cellar.

What puzzled Ernie was that the Chinese "kept grinning" all the way.

Clown Dies At Mike

NEW YORK, April 8 — (AP) — One of England's great clowns went on the air last night to tell of his life-long circus exploits in America and Europe — and an instant later fell dead from a heart attack at the microphone. At his side was his wife, billed as the only woman clown in the world. The radio appearance of the couple, Albert V. Adams, 48, and his wife, Louise, was a prelude to the opening of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus today in Madison Square Garden.

Hope Standardized Cockpits Prevent Many Air Crashes

By JAMES J. STREBIG

WASHINGTON, April 8. — Pilot error is blamed for most air crashes, but pilot perfection has been pushed near the limit until supermen are born.

Safety experts, looking around the pilot to learn what makes him make mistakes, are convinced that "design error" is a very important item. Now they hope to give the good pilot a better cockpit.

During the war the United States Air Force lost more than half as many pilots in training accidents as it lost in combat. An air force study of the experiences of 460 fliers since the war disclosed one important fact: All pilots make mistakes sometimes.

Some pilots make more errors than others. Half of all the errors reported were "substitution" — that is, operating the wrong control, such as lowering the wing flap instead of the landing gear.

Nearly one-fifth were "adjustment"—moving a control too much or too little or not moving it fast enough. Nearly one-fifth of the mistakes were simply forgetting to do something. The rest of the errors were caused by moving a control the wrong way, moving it unintentionally or by not being able to reach it.

Robert V. Garrett, chief pilot and senior accident investigator says two things need to be done: for the civil aeronautics board, Cockpits should be standardized; 2. Pilots should be trained more.

British Ahead

The British Government ordered standardized cockpits years ago. In this country cockpits differ not only between makes of planes but within the same series of the same model. Garrett recalls that during the war one series of Liberator bomber — the B-24-D—had four different cockpits. With split-second decisions necessary in instrument flying, it meant that pilots virtually had to be trained for each airplane.

The air force and the navy have taken one important step toward standardization by grouping the six basic instruments used in "blind flying." These are the air speed indicator, directional gyrocompass, artificial horizon, altimeter, turn and bank indicator, and rate of climb indicator.

The most common type of error, accounting for about one-fifth of all pilot mistakes, occurs in the "power group"—the four handles which control fuel mixture, propeller pitch, fuel and supercharging. They must be operated in that order when increasing power, and in the reverse order to decrease it. The natural arrangement would appear to be to place the controls in the order of use, but few planes have it that way.

The second most common failing—confusing flap and wheels—accounts for one error in eight. In most airplanes those controls are in the same area and sometimes have the same shape. Both are used in landings and take-offs.

All Types Of Planes

Garrett proposes that all cockpits be standardized, whether for military, commercial or private planes.

Standardization would mean having each control in the same relative position in every cockpit. The effectiveness of that would be increased by "code-shaping" the handles so that a pilot would recognize the control by feel, and by distinctive coloring.

A further step might be changing the movement of some controls, such as from horizontal to vertical or rotary. Still another step might be to place the light used to show whether a control is on or off right in the handle instead of above, below, or beside it.

CHINA BUYS PLANES — One of 150 Mosquito bombers, bought from the Canadian government by the Chinese air force, starts from the de Havilland plant, Toronto. It will be shipped by rail to Halifax and then by ship to China. All planes have been put in fighting trim.

Liberals And Conservatives Put On Spot By CCF Vote

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP).—Liberal and Progressive Conservative members have been put on a spot by the CCF non-confidence motion on the Government's action on freight rates. The motion has caught many members from the Maritimes, the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia in a cleft stick.

Liberals from these areas are faced with the choice of sticking with the Government on a non-confidence motion that might overthrow it or aligning themselves with their provincial governments, who are in direct opposition.

And five of the seven provincial governments in the donnybrook are Liberal.

Some of the Progressive Conservative members are on an equally warm spot, but with the heat coming from different direction.

These are the P.C.'s from the Maritimes and the West. Their party in general endorses the idea that the railways should have "adequate" revenues.

If they vote with the general party stand, their constituents may not like it. But if they vote the other way, they will be getting themselves in hot water party-wise, with an election coming up in the next year or so.

The CCF and the Social Credit group, it was expected, would vote solidly for the CCF motion declaring non-confidence in the government for failing to defer the 21-per-cent rate increase granted the railways last week.

May Delay Vote

One suggestion is that the government would find an outlet that would enable its followers to slide out of registering direct opposition to the administration on a vote that could topple it.

Another is that the actual vote may be delayed considerably. It was called on a government motion to go into committee of supply, which means to raise money to keep the government operating.

The government now has enough supply to keep it going for a month, so it need not call that item for that period, except as it is committed to open up a debate on foreign affairs by the same means.

Oil Development Power To Canada

By RAY TIMSON

VANCOUVER, April 8—(CP). — Tremendous potentialities of the oil fields of Alberta, radium of the Yellowknife and nickel of Manitoba today are fragments of a greater Canadian economy.

"Mining moulds a nation," said Hon. Charles McCrea, former Ontario Minister of Mines, yesterday as he saluted the jubilee convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

"Men from east and west would do well to pay homage to this great industry," he suggested. Canada had gone on blissfully in its terrific growth and now should "glory in its action."

He linked Canadian expansion with the Sutter's Creek gold hysteria of '49 when miners first hiked into British Columbia and later insisted successfully that a trans-continental railway be built before the province entered Confederation.

The convention, which ends today, is the largest in the history of the Canadian Mining Institute. Delegates numbered 1,400, final registration showed, including 300 women.

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP). — First members of the Royal Family to enter Pakistan since the Dominion was created, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester received a royal salute from a Royal Pakistan Air Force guard while on their way to Ceylon recently.

Buddha Found In Coal

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP).—A small soapstone buddha, about 2½ inches high was found in a load of coal delivered here from the Transvaal. The centuries-old figure may be proof that Chinese voyaged along the coast of Africa long before the Europeans.

FACES SECOND TRIAL — Apparently concerned only with his comic books, 13-year-old Howard Lang sits in Chicago as court convenes to try him for the slaying of a seven-year-old playmate, Lonnie Fellick, last October. With the boys is his attorney, Sam Andelman. The first time Lang was brought to trial the hearing ended in a mistrial.

Will Allow Transfer Of Student Veterans

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP). — Veterans Minister Gregg gave notice today of a bill that would amend the veteran's rehabilitation act to allow transfers of student veterans from universities to vocational schools and vice versa.

It had been found that some men were aiming too high in their studies, other too low. The bill would give the administration statutory authority to transfer them.

Find Dealers Break Ceiling On Oranges

KITCHENER, April 8—(CP).—Price Board officials here in a check up on fruit stores have found some dealers mixing stamped oranges with lower grade oranges and selling them 12 cents higher than ceiling regulations.

Warning has been issued that continuance of the practice will mean prosecutions.

Some food stores have been found selling butter to regular customers conditional on their purchasing other food commodities and dairy wholesalers have been discovered requiring retail stores ordering butter also to make purchases of cream and milk. Stern warning has been issued to all dealers to stop these irregular practices at once.

Exports At Record

LONDON (CP).—Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, announced recently that Britain's February exports, calculated on a daily basis, were $28,000,000 more than in January. The January figure was a post-war record and 28 per cent above the 1938 level.

Britons Using Black Market Gas Supplies

LONDON, April 8.—(CP). — British motorists used 47,000,000 gallons of black market gasoline in 1947, it was disclosed today in a 14,000-word report made public by a committee appointed last January to "beat the black-market."

The report recommended that commercial gasoline be dyed red and that gasoline for private automobiles retain its present yellow color.

Among the drastic penalties proposed was that private owners found using red gasoline be deprived of their gasoline and use of the road for one year.

The general expectation is that the report will form the basis for a long-awaited statement in the House of Commons tomorrow. Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell is considered likely to announce the restoration of the basic gasoline ration which is certain to be smaller than the 270 miles monthly travel allowed before the basic ration was withdrawn last September.

All winter the opposition press has hammered at the government to "restore basic." Hardest hit by the ban are the tourist resorts, some of which claim that their businesses have been crippled.

The committee arrived at its estimate of 47,000,000 gallons of black gasoline after studying reports placing the figure at between 35,000,000 and 135,000,000. If the committee's estimates are accurate, one-tenth of all the gasoline used by British automobiles last year came from the black market.

Czech Transport Reaches Bavaria

MUNICH, Germany, April 8.—(AP).—A Czechoslovak transport plane with 26 persons aboard landed in Bavaria last night, it was disclosed.

No one would say immediately whether the plane had escaped from Czechoslovakia or was lost.

United States military government sources said the plane came down on a Bavarian airfield without warning. Five of the persons aboard were reported to be former Royal Air Force pilots.

One non-American source said the pilots told him they were fleeing Czechoslovakia. He added the fliers said they wanted to join the RAF again.

An American source, however, said: "I imagine some of the people aboard may want to go back again." He declined to say whether the plane came to Germany deliberately.

A report distributed by the Soviet-licensed ADN news agency said the plane had become lost en route from Prague to Bratislava—although both points are far out of the way of Bavaria.

ADN also asserted the plane had been forced down by American planes. United States authorities said that was not true, but they refused to give any details.

Coal To Play Vital Part In Rebuilding of Europe

HAMBURG, Germany, April 8 (AP)—Recovery in Europe is spelled C-O-A-L.

Fuel for the economic machine to be rebuilt with Marshall plan dollars must be provided by the European pits—in the west mainly those of Germany and Britain.

It was news when a few thousand tons of British coal were unloaded at Antwerp. Britain's miners were working so well that she was able to export again.

On the other side of the picture Sweden, lacking adequate coal imports, burned the precious timber which could have been exported to build sorely-needed houses for the miners.

In Europe today, daily coal production figures are studied by economists with the eager interest a Wall Street broker displays in the market quotations.

Ruhr production is of prime importance in this study. This mineral-laden river valley is the coal cellar of western Europe. On the efforts of the German miners depends the pace of western European recovery.

And those efforts have been disappointing, so far. The Anglo-American military government set the target at 325,000 tons daily. British officials believe that target to be within the capacity of the Ruhr miners.

Families Affected

The comparatively well-fed miners, whose rations are far in excess of those of any other section of the German community have not been directly affected by the recent food distribution breakdowns. But their families have been.

Also, although the miners did not take part in the demonstration strikes staged by thousands of workers through the combined zones, they cannot have escaped the psychological effects, British officials point out.

One sample of propaganda directed at the miners was the recent allegation in Communist newspapers that output figures at some mines were faked in order that their men could qualify for their "incentive" CARE parcels. They claimed that in some cases as much as 30,000 tons had been added to the true daily output.

Another example was a newspaper cartoon of a CARE parcel with arms and legs lashing a group of Ruhr miners to work.

Future Will Improve

What of the future?

H. E. Collins, joint chairman of the Anglo-American control group, was confident that the downward tendency has been checked. He thought the decisions to buy food with dollar funds accumulated from export of Ruhr coal would help increase output.

The German coal board has $7,000,000 on hand. There has been some bickering over the things bought and complaints of long waits. But delivery of the goods should put all that right.

Moreover, a German textiles expert has been to Britain to select 200,000 pieces of "old look" women's clothes for the miners' wives. They are outdated in Britain, but the experts said German women would be "delighted" to have them. They said their appearance in the Ruhr would be an incentive to the miners.

The European nations who depend on German coal exports hope he is right.

Atomic Tests Kept Secret

HONOLULU, April 8—(AP)—A top-level American scientist-military team is evidently conducting a secret series of major atomic weapons tests at isolated, guarded Eniwetok atoll.

The tests are not the grandstand show of the 1946 Bikini experiments. Then hundreds of newspapermen, scientists, military observers and diplomats from many countries watched and told the world what they saw.

At the current tests, the only witnesses are a few experts from one country—the United States. The experiments are military in purpose, to show how American armed forces may use atomic energy in war. The United States Atomic Energy Commission has warned everyone but a few well-screened experts to keep away.

There is not indication here that anyone is expected to return soon from Eniwetok. This supports the belief that a series of several tests is under way.

It seems evident to careful observers that at least two types of tests were planned. The first, presumably would be the use of atomic warheads on guided missiles, on short-range flights; the second, atomic bombs dropped from the air.

ANOTHER GARIBALDI—The famous name of Garibaldi is again figuring in Italian politics as the 65-year-old grandson of the famous patriot, General Giuseppe Garibaldi, takes part in the fight against communism. The general, who has been carrying on the tradition of his grandfather by fighting for liberty in South American and European countries, has taken over direction of the new Rome evening newspaper, "Roma Notte," in support of the Christian Democrats.

Coffin For Captain Blosse Made Up of Rough Boards Taken From Wall of Hotel

The coffin in which Captain Francis Lynch-Blosse was buried in Little Lake Cemetery was made of wide boards from Thomas McKee Stuart's hotel which was located three-quarters of a mile south of Apsley.

That additional scrap of information about the son of the Irish titled family whose death in Anstruther township July 26, 1864, was verified by the Examiner last week, was obtained from Mr. John W. Stuart, Division St., yesterday.

"My uncle, Thomas McKee Stuart, built the first hotel in the Apsley district," Mr. Stuart said. "That might have been in 1862. At anyrate, he had returned from the United States in 1861 after the outbreak of the American Civil War. He had come back to Smith township and lived there about a year.

Some lumbermen persuaded him to build a hotel south of Apsley. Lumbering was the main industry throughout this district in those years. The hotel was only a small building of boards and logs. It was about the size of the average settler's house in that part of the county.

Retired Officer

My uncle used to tell em about Captain Blosse arriving in the Apsley settlement. He was a retired officer of the British Army. He was accompanied by a Doctor Clegg, and the story was to the effect that he came with Capt. Blosse to look after him. My uncle never mentioned this man as Lynch-Blosse, but only as Captain Blosse. He and Dr. Clegg stayed for some time at my uncle's hotel. Dr. Clegg married my father's half-sister. Their daughter, Mrs. Emma Downing owns the former Blosse and Clegg property, about a mile north of Apsley.

I remember my uncle telling me about the coffin the last time he was here in 1906. I went back there with him. The old hotel building was still standing. My uncle pointed to some narrow boards which he said he had nailed there as substitutes for the ones which he had removed from the wall. He needed wide boards because they were more suitable for the purpose of a coffin. There were no casket-makers in those early days. My uncle said he fixed it up and made it look quite presentable. I have no recollection of him telling where Blosse was buried, but I understand from the Examiner's account that it was at Little Lake Cemetery. One of the things he told me was that the lumbermen were so glad to have a hotel in the neighborhood that for a time there was no licence charge.

Suggested a Duel.

One of the incidents about Capt. Blosse which I always remember was a duel that nearly took place. Involved in it was a man whose name I shall not mention because it is a name that is known here to-day. This man said something derogatory of the British Crown. Blosse resented it so keenly, that he went to his room and brought out a fine pair of pistols which he had brought with him from his Army days.

Blosse put one of them on a table and said: "We'll settle this outside." The other fellow refused to take up the pistol. He didn't want any part of duelling. So, Blosse walked around the table and spat four or five times in his face. My uncle told me that as having witnessed it."

Mr. Stuart said his uncle and aunt stayed at Apsley until 1871 when they went back to Iowa. I don't know whether I should tell you this. Readers of the Examiner might not believe it. Any way my uncle told me that the Civil War was six months under way before he heard the news. He and his wife were in Utah. They were with a pack train of 18 families, moving easterly to Iowa.

One day a man came along from the east and in great excitement said a war had started. My uncle said he seemed almost demented, and the party hesitated to believe him. But a week later two men brought the same news. They said they were on their way to Pike's Peak. They said there was all kinds of silver to be found and when the war was over they would be rich.

Well, the party decided to break up. They all went their separate ways. It was then my uncle and aunt came back to Peterborough County. They sold their horses and all their equipment to some men representing the Northern Army.

The following personal sketch is from Foster's Peerage and Baronetcy: "Sir Francis Lynch-Blosse, 9th Baronet in Heraldry Office; born August 1801, died July 1840, having married April 5, 1824, Hon. Montreal Editor Lauds Swim Champs

Mrs. G. R. Sellers, Montreal, chairman of ornamental swimming committee for the Dominion of Canada, has received from Mr. Dodson, Chicago, head of the American Athlettic Union, U.S.A., a letter of congratulation on Peterborough girls winning the U.S. national ornamental swimming trophy.

Carol Mauer writes in her column in the Montreal Gazette:

"Iris Forbes Reilly and Jean Millard are the toast of Peterborough right now. The two girls, members of Peterborough's Ornamental Swimming Club, went to Detroit last week-end to compete in the National U.S. Synchronized Swimming Championships, and returned with the title for the duet division.

Miss Reilly and Miss Millard are coached by Pansy Forbes. Their routine was performed to the music of Dvorak's "Humoreque," and the gals were attired in white bathing suits with black inserts, black and white ruffles and black and white caps complete with little lights.

We're not quite sure if this is the first time a Canadian team has even competed in the U.S. Synchronized Swimming nationals, but it is certainly the first time a Canadian duet came home with the honors. This section is trying to make arrangements to bring the girls down here to give a demonstration during the week-end of the Gale Trophy meet."

FASHION EXHIBITION

An extremely interesting exhibition, "One World of Fashion," is on view at the Public Library. It illustrates the influence of ancient art, peasant costumes and native dress on dress designers and the development of fashion styles from the French revolution to the present day.

69 YEARS OF PUBLIC SERVICE — An official visit Wednesday from Deputy Commissioner W. C. Killing, Toronto (Centre), marked the opening of the new offices of No. 8 District Headquarters, Ontario Provincial Police, on Charlotte St. With him, inspecting the new office set-up here is District Inspector E. V. McNeil (Left) and District Sergeant Price Morris. The Deputy Commissioner has been a member of the force for 28 years, the Inspector has served for 21 years. Sgt. Morris completed 20 years this January, all of it in this area.

Provincial Police Open Headquarters

Deputy Commissioner W. C. Killing, Toronto, of the Ontario Provincial Police, paid an official visit to the new headquarters building of District 8, at the corner of Charlotte and Park Sts. Wednesday. He expressed himself well satisfied with the arrangements and pleased at the "excellent location" which had been obtained. Outlining the development of the Provincial Police force in eastern Ontario, he explained that the former headquarters for this area had been at Belleville, known as District 8. This district, he said, has now been split, with Belleville as headquarters for the new District 9. Peterborough is now nerve centre for the District 8.

The area controlled from the big brick building a few blocks from the centre of the city extends north to Algonquin Park, south to the shores of Lake Ontario, east to Trenton and west to the outskirts of Oshawa.

About 25 men are at present under the command of the District Inspector, E. V. McNeil, a veteran of 21 years with the force. Under him in command is District Sergeant Price Morris, whose 20 years' service with the provincials have all been in the Eastern Ontario area.

Besides the staff at headquarters here, there are detachments under authority of this office in: Brighton, Cobourg, Colborne, Bowmanville, Hastings, Havelock, Apsley, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Minden and Lindsay. The area policed covers the counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham.

Later this summer, additional officers—expert radio men—will be taken on strength to operate the radio headquarters here for the equipped provincial police cars in the area.

Records of the property at the northwest corner of Charlotte and Park Streets, now occupied as headquarters of Provincial Police in this district, was originally a Crown grant to the Roman Catholic Church.

Apparently there were two lots at the corner. One of them was sold by the church to Thomas Kelly, presumably the father of the Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly who died at Cobourg some weeks ago, and the other was sold to Jennie Walker. The purchase by Mr. Kelly was in 1888. Both lots were bought by Mr. Clementi. The Kelly lot transfer was on Sept. 30, 1891.

The house on the property was built by Mr. Clementi, who engaged the late W. W. Blackwell, architect, father of Mr. Walter L. Blackwell, to draw the plans.

It is believed that William Cluxton was at one time a tenant. He was for many years a leading citizen and retail merchant at the southwest corner of George and Hunter Streets. Another tenant was a Mr. Burnett, head of the lamp department of the Canadian General Electric Co. which was moved to Toronto years ago.

The property was bought by Mrs. Estelle L. Medd in Sept., 1915, from the late Arthur Stevenson as sole surviving trustee of the Chas. H. Clementi settlement.

This information suggests that the house was built by Mr. Clementi some time in the nineties.

GUEST SPEAKER — Dr. George E. Hall, President of the University of Western Ontario, who will be the guest speaker at the open meeting of the University Women's Club to be held in the YWCA on Monday evening. Dr. Hall's subject will be "Aspects of Medical Research."

NORWOOD MEETING

East Peterborough people who attended the CCF meeting at Norwood Saturday night may have had some difficulty recognizing the report of it under a Regina date line, published in the Examiner Wednesday. Knox Men's Club Hear Morris

Ted Morris, coach of the Toronto Argonauts Football Club, was the speaker at the father and son dinner held on Wednesday evening at Knox United Church and organized by Knox Men's Club. He gave a short talk on rugby football, which he said was a coming game and one which developed the best in a player. A footballer has to have courage, determination, initiative and the ability to get along with the other fellow. He told the fathers they should encourage their sons to play games, but they must like the games they play.

Jack Kidd proposed a toast to the Church, which was replied to by the Rev. H. C. Douglas. Barton Grainger proposed a toast to the fathers, which was replied to by George Morrison, who propsed a toast to the sons. K. Lancashire thanked Mr. Moris and all who made the dinner a success. Vincent Grainger presided and Leslie Ascott, captain of the Argonauts, was a guest at the dinner. Before the speech of Mr. Morris, John Lewis read two humorous poems, and after the dinner a film was shown of the Dominion rugby final, in which the Toronto Argonauts defeated the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Miss Phyllis Kidd played the piano during the dinner.

Cleveland Booth Sets Record For Enquiries

By PETE McGILLEN

Kawartha district should have a record number of American tourists this summer judging from the number of enquiries received at the Peterborough booth, in the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show which ends Saturday night.

Thousands of people from Cleveland and from a wide area in Ohio State throng the vast auditorium building every afternoon and evening, and at the rate the literature is going from the Peterborough booth, it will be exhausted by the end of the week. Two thousand 1947 Examiner Vacation Editions have been distributed and they went like hot cakes, several resort owners in the district provided folders and these too have been distributed. Chamber of Commerce folders were still in fair supply on Wednesday evening.

I returned from the show at noon today leaving Aldermen Patrick Anglesey and Richard Raine in charge. Alderman Raine reached Cleveland by air late Wednesday afternoon. Both are using the mornings to interview Chamber of Commerce, city and industrial executives seeking new industries.

The volume of enquiries aimed at securing specific information on accommodation, fishing, and highways is far greater this year than in 1947 when the city also had a booth at the show. The literature is picked up fast, but the difference this year is that the people are not satisfied to take a folder and vacation edition but want detailed information as well.

Vivian Gray, travel editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Edward Clarke, travel editor of the Cleveland News, all said that 20 per cent of the travel enquiries they receive are about Canada. An ample supply of folders was left with each travel editor.

The booth at Cleveland this year is being financed jointly by the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's Association.

Other Ontario centres represented are Parry Sound, Hamilton, Norfolk County, five French River resorts, one American-owned resort beyond Restoule, and two operators from the Lake of the Woods section.

Neither the Dominion Travel Bureau, nor the Ontario Dept. of Travel and Publicity have booths at the show, and both were there in 1947. The space formerly occupied by the Dominion Travel Bureau has been taken over by Pennsylvania, and prominent in the show are Mnnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Steamship Freight Rates Increase

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP). — Steamship freight rates for package good rise automatically today with the 21 per cent increase in railroad freight rates, steamship officials said today.

Rates for bulk freight, the major part of shipping business, remain the same. They were raised 20 per cent one year ago.

Packaged goods include all baled or packaged material generally running on scheduled routes, officials said. Bulk freight includes grain, coal, iron ore and similar commodities.

Only package freight comes under the jurisdiction of the Board of Transport Commissioners, steamship officials said.

The potential NCO's have recently finished an eight weeks intensive course at the Armouries.

CHANGE IN THE WEATHER

A month ago last night the temperature sank to 18 below zero and struggled up to a chilly 17 above by the following noon. On Thursday noon several men were observed walking down Gorge St. in shirt sleeves, and a couple of women were stolling along the sunny street in short-sleeved blouses. What a difference a month makes.

New Plan Suggested As Way To Clean Up Little Lake, Engineer Will Make Report

The long deferred sewer main out of Ashburnham may skirt Little Lake to the east instead of to the west. City Engineer A. E. Chalmers was asked by the council this week for an advisory report on a suggestion that a specialist firm be engaged to prepare a complete estimate of a sewer crossing the canal, south to Downer's Corners and then southwesterly to empty into the sewage disposal plant by an Otonabee approach.

That is as far as the council has gone with this problem which is usually uppermost in thought when the council and other citizens speak of "cleaning up Little Lake."

Ease George Street Line

One of the advantages of the easterly route would be eventual divergence of volume from the George St. sewer. The new sewerage outlet from Ashburnham, as proposed for four or five years, has been along Maria St., westerly to Burnham St., then following the shore line of the lake to Burnham's Point, crossing the river to McDonald's Point, and connecting with the George St. trunk sewer. surplus sewerage capacity on the The council has recognized that west side of the river is decreasing with the growth in population.

Some citizens advocate an attempt to direct expansion of the city, at least to some extent, toward the east and south, across the Otonabee. Separate communities have been growing at Downer's Corners and south of No. 7 highway lock until they are now virtually one.

Another factor in the council's thinking is the lower cost of sewer construction with trenching machines.

Some day a bridge may be built from the foot of Lock St. to the Otonabee side of the river. Even now without it that short cut, the township community is considered to be no farther from the centre of the city than are new housing areas projected into Smith township.

The council has been disposed to plan an auxiliary sewer line down the west side of the city, probably along Western Ave., but the present proposal swings to the east. The first step will be to get an estimate of the cost of the east route, and before any undertaking is entered into with specialist engineers the council will have Mr. Chalmers' report to consider.

Violin Artist Heard In Final Program

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

The last presentation of the 1947-48 Community Concert season was a recital by the eminent violinist Tossy Spivakovsky. The P.C.V.S. auditorium was completely filled and the listeners received the artist with enthusiastic warmth.

In an admirable program, three selections were of unusual interest. The first of these was one of Paganini's Sonatinas, which was played by Mr. Spivakovsky in a manner which did much to make clear to the audience the extraordinary reputation which Paganini enjoyed during his lifetime, and the legend which has grown up about him. Paganini was by no means a great composer, but he was not negligible, as some musical historians have suggested. He wrote violin pieces of extreme technical difficulty, which demand something of his own mordantly romantic disposition in the player, if they are to be brought to life. Obviously Spivakovsky understands not only the violin, but the wild and terrible nature of Paganini, as well.

The second highlight of the recital was the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto, which Spivakovsky played with romantic understanding and fine restraint. It is interesting to hear this work without the orchestral accompaniment, for such a performance understandably throws the solo part into the greatest possible prominence. Jan Behr, an admirable and discreet accompanist, was at his best in this work, though at times the piano part could have been a little more prominent without running any risk of clouding the violin passages. The Mendelssohn Concerto is perhaps the best known of all great works for the violin, and it was a source of deep satisfaction to hear it so splendidly played.

The third fine moment of the program was the playing of a group of Roumanian Folk Dances by Bela Bartok. Some violinists, faced with Bartok and Roumanian idiom in a single composition, seem to lose all sense of melody and time. Spivakovsky gave the full Roumanian flavour to the dances, but he never permitted us to lose sight of the fact that they were dances, of a special wild beauty. He clarified this work to a degree which the present writer, at least, has never heard equalled.

As encores the artist played a Habanera by Ravel, and the familiar Caprice Viennoise by Kreisler.

A. Wander Co. Denies Building Been Sold

Rumors about the city that the building of A. Wander Ltd., at the corner of Park and Lansdowne streets had been sold have been denied by the company. The rumors said that the building had been sold to a brewery concern or was to be converted into a hotel.

Horace Steggles, general manager of the company, told The Examiner today that both these rumors are "entirely untrue."

It was left in the ground during the winter and is described as a delicious - looking specimen.

Nicholas James Swan Buried In Otonabee

The funeral of the late Nicholas James Swan of Otonabee township was held on Monday with burial in Zion cemetery. Mr. Swan, who was 82 years old, was the son of the late Nicholas Swan Sr. and Jane Dowdhill and spent his entire life in Otonabee with the exception of the last few years when he lived with his daughter, Mrs. S. Lee, of 631 Brown St., Peterborough. Rev. E. C. Moore officiated.

Mr. Swan was a lifelong member of St. Mark's Anglican Church and although of advanced years he was a very active man. He retained a very vivid memory of days in Peterborough more than 50 years ago for he had seen the city grow from the time it was a very small town.

Mr. Swan had a great many friends, both young and old, and he will be greatly missed as he was often to be found on the market on Saturdays. He remained in excellent health until the last few days of his life.

His wife, formerly Carrie Helen Boyer, predeceased him. There survive three daughters, Mrs. S. Lee of Peterborough, Mrs. C. J. Heal of Peterborough and Miss Pearl at the old family home at Zion, and four sons, James Swan of Peterborough, George Swan of Niagara-on-the-Lake and Roy and Clarence on the homestead at Zion. Also eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Pallbearers were Harold Nurse, Harry Rutherford, Vince Hayes, Percy Crane, Leo Fitzgerald and Frank Greystock.

More Cancer Checks

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP).—Dr. Elise L'Esperance, eminent New York cancer specialist, said yesterday that there must be an awakening in medical schools and among general practitioners to the need of complete and regular cancer examinations. "It is impossible to establish a sufficient number of clincs to examine even 1/100th part of the population (for cancer), and it must therefore be assumed ultimately by the physician," she said in an address.

Garfield Plans To Produce Second Film

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, April 8 (AP)—John Garfield is getting a lot of free advice on his career these days and is promptly ignoring it all.

"Everybody is telling me I should protect myself," he says. "They say I've just been connected with two hit pictures, I've had an Academy nomination, and a successful stage engagement. Now I should make a sure-fire box office picture. I say nuts to that."

Far from seeking protection, Garfield is sticking his neck away out. He is shoving his "Body and Soul" profits (estimate $600,000) back into his producing company for a new film, "Tucker's People," a story of the numbers racket. Not only is he gambling on an off-beat story, but he is giving writer Abraham Polonsky his first directorial chore. "Protect myself — haw," commented Garfield.

Miscellany.

Gail Russell and Guy Madison have found an apartment and she is decorating it. You can expect those long-awaited wedding bells to be tolling soon.... Dana Andrews returned from Mexico with some color film he will market as a travelogue. Dana will narrate and appear in the film, if his bosses approve....

John Carroll plans his own producing company after he finishes the three pictures he owes Republic on his present contract. His first film on his own will be "The Professional Southerner," about the French in Louisiana .. .."Beyond Glory" is the new title for the West Point film, "The Long Grey Line." Too many people thought it was either a prison yarn or a Civil War story.

10-Second Review.

"Winter Meeting" (Warners) can best be termed a Bette Davis picture. This time she is a Yankee spinster in a brief but frenzied romance with a naval hero (Jim Davis). Talky to the extreme, its action is almost limited to lighting cigarettes and drinking coffee.

Hopes New Operation Aid Mental Patients

LONDON, Ont., April 8—(CP)—Dr. E. S. Goddard, chief psychiatrist at Westminster military hospital here, said yesterday he hopes a new brain tissue operation will restore sanity to 50 per cent of the mentally-ill patients who undergo it at the hospital.

The operation, known as prefrontal lobotomy, has been reported successful in several other North American hospitals. It involves cutting through certain sections of the brain tissue to relieve tension and enable the patient to co-operate with other persons.

Doctors of 35 Nations To Be Trained In Canada

WINNIPEG, April 8—(CP)—This year, Canada is to undertake training World Health Organization student doctors from 35 countries, says Manitoba's deputy minister of health, Dr. F. W. Jackson.

In an address here to the council of social agencies, he said air travel has made the world smaller and the spread of distance easier. The training of doctors was a problem everywhere because of the crowding of medical schools.

"In these days when one can have breakfast in London, lunch in Iceland and dinner in Canada, disease and infection can travel around the world in no time. It is our job to prevent the spread from nation to nation and to help train personnel for this work."

Dr. Jackson recently returned from Geneva meetings of the W.H.O. Of all the nations, Canada contributed the highest per capita sum toward world health.

Specialized Work.

The functions of the United Nations health group were aimed primarily at malaria, tuberculosis, venereal disease and the promotion of material and child hygiene. But any disease weakening a nation's productive ability would become the responsibility of W.H.O.

Dr. Jackson said tuberculosis trebled in Europe after the Second World War. Control methods have been introduced in all central European nations. W.H.O. had vaccinated 15,000,000 children. It was taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease to Asia.

Malaria was a deadly threat to many nations. Dr. Jackson said 100,000,000 persons were effected each year and 1,000,000 died.

W.H.O. now was only one of several organizations established for health purposes. He thought the leadership of the entire field eventually would be given to it.

Name Dalgleish Editor-in-Chief

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP) — Oakley Dalgleish, 37, has been appointed editor-in-chief of the Globe & Mail publisher, George McCullagh announced last night. He succeeds A. A. McIntosh, who is retiring due to ill health.

Mr. Dalgleish joined the Globe staff in 1935 as a reporter and soon afterwards was appointed an editorial writer. Shortly after the start of the war, he served several months as Ottawa correspondent.

Born in New Liskeard, Ont., he spent his boyhood in Moose Jaw, Sask. After working on newspapers on the west coast and in Edmonton and Moose Jaw, he went to England as a free-lance writer and a roving correspondent for the Sifton group of papers.

Later he worked for British newspapers and as a correspondent was posted to Madrid, Berlin, Geneva and Vienna. He then spent some time in Washington before returning to Canada and joining the Globe.

FILLING IN HOLE

That hole of stagnant water sometimes known as Frog Pond, just south of the London Street dam — and in which a youth was drowned last year — is being filled in rapidly. Loads of ashes and other refuse dumped around the rim have crowded it into a puddle half its size of last summer.

TO VISIT CITY—Commander Ernest I. Pugmire, National Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, and Mrs. Pugmire, who will be the distinguished visitors to Peterborough this week-end for the 63rd anniversary of the founding of the Peterborough Corps.

Salvation Army Corps Plans To Celebrate 63rd Anniversary

The international aspect of the Salvation Army will be reflected in the celebration of the 63rd anniversary of the founding of its Peterborough Corps, April 9-12, by the distinguished presence of Commander Ernest I. Pugmire, National Commander in the USA. He will be accompanied by Mrs Pugmire, who holds the rank of Commissioner in her own right.

Peterborough Corps has prepared a splendid program for this visit of Commissioner Pugmire and Canadian officers who are coming for the events which begin with the anniversary tea at the Temple Friday, April 9, at 6.30 p.m.

The final service of these repletely eventful days will be the concluding rally Monday at 8 p.m.

Guest speakers at the Friday dinner will be Brigadier H. Newman, Divisional Commander, and Mrs. Newman.

Civic Reception

A civic reception and dinner will be given in honor of Commissioner and Mrs. Pugmire at 5.30 p.m. Saturday. It will be followed at 7.15 o'clock by a march of witness through the business streets and by a musical program at the Temple at 8 p.m. with Commissioner Pugmire presiding.

The musical resources of the Peterborough Corps, in all its instrumental and vocal developments, will be concentrated in this program.

Sunday begins with its customery service at 7.30 a.m., known as knee drill. The open air meeting at 10.15 o'clock is another familiar call to prayer somewhere in the city streets.

Feature of the morning is its regular holiness meeting. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., will preside. Temple Band and Songsters will provide the music.

The main event of the service will be the civic welcome and anniversary service at 3 p.m. The address will be given by Commissioner Pugmire, and those who have been invited to join in the felicities of this grateful occasion are: Mayor W. G. Ovens, Hon. Harold R. Scott, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.; Rev. Dr. James Semple of George St. United Church.

The Salvation Army's Sunday will continue in the evening with an oper air meeting at 6 o'clock, and at 7 p.m. a Salvation Gospel meeting led by Commissioner and Mrs. Pugmire.

The officers of Ontario East Division of the Army will meet in council at 2.30 p.m. with Brigadier Newman presiding. The speaker will be Colonel Wm. Dray, Chief Secretary for Canada.

Closing rally in the evening at 8 o'clock for soldiers, adherents and friends. Col. Dray will be the speaker.

Thanks for Years of Progress

The purpose of this 63rd anniversary celebration is to give thanks to God for the years of progress of the local Corps in the community of Peterborough since 1885.

The Temple has recently been redecorated, and it will also be rededicated at the Sunday afternoon meeting by Brigadier Newman.

The leadership of the Salvation Army will recall many names of its directing officers within present memories. Among them will be that of the late Adjutant J. A. McElhiney, Adjutant Wallace Bunton, Ensign E. H. Green, one of the most devoted officers in the long roster of the Corps' responsibility, a man who left the kindliest of memories of his personality and devotion to God's cause. Another was Staff Captain McAmmond who was stationed here for about a year in 1905, and left a fine impression upon those citizens who knew him during his incumbency.

One of the Soldiers of the Corps who have carried on the Army's work through all weathers, through accomplishments and adversity, it must be enough to say that many of them have fallen out of the ranks. Others are growing old in the same service, but unwearied.

An Explosion shook the oil company's pump house and Mr. Jones looked out of the window to see a gasoline tank truck on fire! Hurriedly he called the Ste. Agathe Fire Brigade, made up of volunteers, who turned the water from three hoses on the burning tank and on two adjoining tanks to keep them cool. Hours later the fire was still raging out of control and the town authorities ordered everyone to stay away from the area. Nothing at all could be done while the valve on the truck's gasoline tank remained open to feed the flames. Without hesitation, Zotique Perrault, armed with a long pole with a hook on the end, approached the burning tank. The firemen played water on the open valve and after a painful struggle in the terrific heat of the fire, Mr. Perrault managed to close the valve. As a tribute to his bravery . . . the DOW AWARD, including a $100 Canada Savings Bond, is being presented to Mr. Zotique Perrault of Ste. Agathe des Monts, P.Q. The DOW AWARD, presented from time to time to a Canadian hero or heroine for outstanding bravery, is sponsored by DOW BREWERY in Montreal.

20 Monks Perish In Chinkiang Blaze

SHANGHAI, April 8 — (Reuters)—Twenty Buddhist monks refused rescue last night and died chanting in the flames of their 1,700-year-old King Shan (Golden Mountain) monastery at Chinkiang, a Yangtse fort 140 miles northwest of here, it was reported today.

Their Abbot, Tai Chong, tried to rush into the flames to die with them but was held back by firemen.

Priceless Buddhist relics and literature were destroyed in the five-hour blaze which caused damage estimated at 500,000,000 Chinese dollars ($2,00,000 U.S.) to one of China's oldest and largest temples. More than 300 monks were housed in the building.

CCF Fights Blind Adoption Of Dominion Labor Code

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP) — Contending that Ontario is "buying a pig in a poke" by "blindly" adopting the yet unpassed Dominion labor code, CCF and Labor-Progressive party forces yesterday opposed second reading of the Provincial Labor Relations Act.

The Legislature voted 59 to 9 in favor of passing the bill during second reading after defeating by the same majority a CCF motion which would have hoisted the measure for one week.

The Government's assertion was that the issue involved in the bill is whether uniformity in labor legislation is wanted.

The opposing members declared it was not a question of uniformity but of accepting legislation which the House could not first study.

The bill provides that Ontario will adopt the Dominion labor code to apply to disputes in this province.

"It is wishful thinking that we should hope to gain complete uniformity," said Labor Minister Daley who moved second reading. "But we can at least attain a semblance of uniformity."

Work Out Well

He said labor conditions in Ontario have been generally satisfactory. Eighty per cent of all labor disputes were settled amicably and never came to the attention of the public. The labor minister expressed belief that adoption of the Ontario bill would help continue the satisfactory conditions.

Since 1944 Ontario has been using the Dominion labor legislation under a situation similar to the one which would exist after the current bill is passed.

W. J. Grummett, CCF House Leader, said there are many shortcomings in present labor legislation and that as far as he knew the new Dominion code, which Ontario proposes to adopt, does nothing to improve on these shortcomings.

He noted particularly that the labor code does not give municipal employees the right to collective bargaining unless the municipality agrees to it; that it bears heavier on unions than on companies in respect to penalties, and that there is no assurance that nation-wide uniformity will be gained because there is no indication that other provinces will follow Ontario's example in adopting the Federal legislation.

Attorney-General Blackwell declared that Ontario's hands would not be tied by passage of this bill. Any objectional parts of the Dominion bill could be revoked later.

South Africa Develops New Textile Industry

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, April 8—(CP)—Wool spinning and weaving machinery worth £50,000 ($200,000) which has been moved to Port Elizabeth from northern France, will begin production shortly. This will be the first of five new spinning, weaving and combing concerns from overseas which will form what may become a major South African industry.

Twelve French operators have been brought from Normandy to instruct new workers in the new industry, and on them will fall the burden of training the 60 men and women who will be employed when the plant reaches full capacity.

It is hoped the mills will soon turn out 1,800,000 pounds of worsted yarns a year.

Workers now being trained show considerable aptitude. One girl is pronounced by the French foreman to have been quicker and better than any of the first-rate women operators in France. She learned her job in two weeks, against the usual three months' training period.

The language barrier between the French instructors and the learners has not proved a difficulty, as much of the instruction has in any case to be carried on in sign language because of the noise of the machinery.

Find Appendix Can Be Exciting When It Gives Trouble In Arctic

By JACK AVESON

WINNIPEG, April 8—(CP).—An appendix can be exciting in the Arctic today. Ailments which once threatened residents of lonely northern outposts with death because of inaccessibility of medical aid now often signal the start of far-flung aerial rescue operations.

Record of the RCAF, together with the United States army air force and privately-operated aircraft in evacuating sick and injured persons from Arctic desolation to well-equipped city hospitals has brought the Polar regions within apparently easy reach of southern centres.

Even with modern aircraft, however, aerial penetration into the northland is dependent on favorable climatic conditions.

Evacuation to Winnipeg late last year of Canon John H. Turner from his church of England mission post at Moffet Inlet, 400 miles within the Arctic circle, was an example both of the delaying action of adverse weather and of the determination of air crew to reach their mercy mission objective.

It took 51 days for an R.C.A.F. Dakota aircraft to fly the combined distance of 3,500 miles from Rivers, Man., to Moffet Inlet and back, with week-long delays encountered when polar storms shrouded the ice-bound waste.

Only Takes Week

In contrast was the recent evacuation of Mrs. Sam Dodds from the Arctic Bay Meteorological Station nestling in the shadow of towering King George Mountain 70 miles north of Moffet Inlet. With March weather conditions more favorable, this operation was concluded within seven days.

In both cases FO. Bob Race of Vancouver was at the controls of the mercy aircraft. On the latter flight a record was set. Arctic Bay, almost 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg, was the most northerly point at which any wheeled R.C.A.F. plane had landed on a mercy mission.

Latest of Arctic mercy missions was that of a United States Air Force Skymaster, which this week flew from Westover Field, Mass., to pick up a seriously-burned Eskimo child from Cape Dorset on Baffin Island. It was this small settlement that the R. M. S. Nascopie foundered last summer, its back broken on jagged reefs.

The Skymaster, its crew cooperating with Canadian authorities in making the flight, also delivered a doctor and drugs to Lakes Harbor, Baffin Island, where several Eskimos are ill, and evacuated an ailing woman from Cape Hope's Advance in Ungava Bay.

Cattle Breeders Endorse Plan

Both the Peterborough and Victoria county branches of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association will be in action before the end of this month, Mr. G. W. Keffer, secretary-manager, informed The Examiner in his visit here Monday afternoon with Dr. C. R. Reeds, V.S.

Peterborough has more than 1,000 cows for the new program of artificial insemination and Victoria has listed 811.

"Our plans include Jerseys and Ayrshires shortly after May 1, if not before that," Mr. Keffer said. "We have been expanding so fast that we are having our hands full in looking after new members in our own area and new groups like these two eastern counties.

There is no reason why I should mention it, but it is a fact that Peterborough and Victoria breeders came to us and asked to be taken into our organization. We did not go to them in the first place. They cannot say that we have wasted any time in providing for them.

In our organization each county has a committee of five men. Their chairmen sit in on our board of directors. Then we have an executive of five members who are more readily called together than the whole board.

Our directors are well pleased with the response of Peterborough breeders. This is the only county where we have stepped across the borders. We did that to take in some Cavan breeders. We were told that although they are in Durham, they are closer to Peterborough than to Bowmanville, and they are attached to various associations here."

TROOPS PURSUE RIOTERS — This photo shows helmeted, rifle-carrying Egyptian troops moving through a Cairo, Egypt, square in pursuit of fleeing rioters recently. Rioting and looting took place in Cairo and Alexandria as the underworld unleased a reign of terror when police in both cities went out on strike. At least a score of persons died in the riots. Police in both cities returned to duty today in an effort to put an end to the violence.

Norwood Man Faces Charge

Judgment was reserved until April 12 in the case against Donald Bedora, Norwood, charged with supplying liquor to a person under 21 years of age. The accused, represented by Emmett Sheehy, has pleaded not guilty. Evidence was heard before Magistrate Philp Wednesday.

The charge involves a trip made to Peterborough from Norwood on March 20. Winston Hie, 18, of Norwood, testified that he had come to the city that day with the accused. He said he had a quantity of empty beer bottles, which he sold for $4.50. He then gave some money to the accused to get a case of beer, which was placed in the car. Hie had been apprehended by police as he was returning to Norwood in the car with the beer.

Under questioning of Counsel Sheehy, he said that he was bringing the beer to the home of the accused and that he had loaned the money to accused. He had expected to be repaid.

"Did you explain it that way to the police?" asked Mr. Sheehy.

"Sort of," replied the accused.

OPP A. F. Grayling, Havelock, in his evidence read a statement which Hie had given. The statement said: ". . . I gave Bedora $3.50 . . . he purchased a case of beer for me under his own name . . . I am sure that Donald Bedora knows I am under 21 . . ."

The statement was objected to by Mr. Sheehy, who argued that to accept its version in contradiction to the evidence of Hie would be to accept an "unsworn statement made under duress" in preference to a sworn statement on the witness box.

In the accused's evidence, he told the court that he had left the beer in Hie's car while he continued uptown to shop. When he returned, the car was gone. The accused said he had borrowed the money from Hie to buy the beer, and was planning on drinking it in his own home.

Referring to the statement given to OPP Grayling, Bedora said he thought "Hie signed it to clear himself." The statement was not right, he said. He had had "no idea" how old Hie was, at that time, he said.

Ross Woodcock, defence witness, said that he had been in the car on the trip to Peterborough and had heard Bedora borrowing money from Hie.

Bail was set at $500 as the accused was remanded in custody until judgment is given.

LAST TRIBUTE — This photograph, taken during the brief but impressive committal service at Lennoxville Malvern's Cemetery, for Rev. A. H. McGreer, OBE, MC, DCL, LLD, DD, principal and vice-chancellor of Bishop's University in Lennoxville, Que., since 1922, who died on December 10, shows some of the officiating clergymen, headed by Dean Basil Jones, acting principal, who is reciting the prescribed prayers. Behind Dean Jones are Rev. Prof. Sydney Childs and Rev. Prof. W. O. Raymond. Standing beside the grave are Dr. McGreer's three brothers, Victor, Roy and Harold, all of Napanee, a sister-in-law, Miss M. L. Lee, of Lennoxville. Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant Education, can be seen in the rear of the picture.

Fluorine, Once a Villain, Now Tested As Tooth-Saver

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Dentists are testing a treatment to germ-proof children's teeth against future decay.

The germ-proofing is done with the chemical element fluorine. This is not a case of being certain of better teeth but of offering parents what looks like the best bet yet in dentistry. It is being tried by dentists in New York and elsewhere.

The germ-proofing treatment is the latest in a series of studies covering 10 years of fluorine and teeth. Up to 10 years ago fluorine was regarded as a health hazard. This chemical, found in the drinking water in at least 200 areas in the United States, was known to cause mottled teeth.

These green-brown spots disfigured teeth permanently, but this misfortune happened only to children who drank the water continuously for years. The damage was done only under the age of 12. After that teeth became immune to fluorine damage.

Just about 10 years ago a scientist poking around with some rat teeth experiments noticed that animals with teeth mottled from fluorine had less decay than usual. This suggested that perhaps a little bit of fluorine in drinking water or elsewhere might build better teeth instead of spotting them. The spotting came from too much fluorine.

It was found that a little of the fluorine entered the enamel of children's teeth. This fluorine apparently became a permanent part of the enamel. Then it was learned that decayed teeth contained less fluorine than sound teeth in virtually all cases.

Fewer Germs

A further step came with findings that there were fewer tooth-decay germs in the mouths of children with the larger amounts of fluorine in their teeth. The germ is lactobacillus acidophilus. Although like most everything else in tooth decay, the acidophilus has been accepted generally as at least one cause. Why his numbers dwindle with the presence of fluorine is not known.

As soon as scientists were reasonably sure that drinking fluorine-water made stronger teeth, it occurred to them to try rubbing flourine on the teeth as a short-cut to years of drinking fluorine-water.

Apparently the short-cut works. It was tried at Tufts College, near Boston; then on children in Hibbing, Chisholm and Virginia, Minn., in Brockton, Mass., Cambridge, Mass., and Millville, Mass.

These experiments appear foolproof, because only part of each child's teeth were treated with fluorine. Half the mouth was left as a control to show what would happen with no fluorine. In all these cases the drop in tooth decay in the fluorine tooth sector ranged from 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

Science thinks the ideal thing will be to add the right amount of fluorine to drinking water in all cities. A controlled 10-year experiment in which one city adds fluorine to its water while another uses fluorine-free water has been underway in New York State for three years.

All known fluorine benefits are limited to children under 12. Nothing of use to adults has been found.

Women Love Sympathy Enjoy Posing As Martyrs

ONE OF THE most inexplicable of all feminine characteristics is that practically all women have a morbid craving for sympathy.

No matter if they possess all the good things of life and if there isn't a crumpled rose leaf under their 40 mattresses of ease, they still want to be pitied. And that is a strange desire, since pity always carries with it condescension and patronage. In reality, there is nothing harder to endure than to have people sorry for us, but nonetheless there are few women who can resist the temptation to be wept over and "poor Maryed."

Dorothy Dix

Of course, women have cheered up a lot since they have more interest in life than they used to have. Our maidens now don't pine away and die of a green and yellow melancholy when their boy friend ditches them. Nor do they make a cult of invalidism and spend their days on a couch, waiting for death with a sad, sweet, patient smile. But, all the same, women are still sold to the idea that it isn't really "nice" for a girl to be gay and jolly and full of fun, and that you had better keep your eye on a woman who tells funny stories and has a laugh that is hung on a hair-trigger.

Why it is any more virtuous to be gloomy than it is to be merry, nobody knows. But, in spite of all evidence to the contrary, women still think that the women who never "get over" things are of a finer fibre and more to be trusted than the ones who swallow their tears and nail a smile on their faces and carry on about the business of life.

Explains Feminine Vagaries

This explains, in a way, many of the curious vagaries of the feminine character. It is the desire to be pitied, for instance, that explains why so many wives are guilty of the traitorous crime of blazoning all of the secrets of their home to any listener.

Nothing is more appalling than the fact that many a wife wrecks her whole married life for the gratification she gets out of posing as a martyr and having everybody refer to her as that "poor Mrs. So-ond-So." It would certainly astonish the great majority of hard-working, kind, generous, house-broken husbands to find out that their wives are going about weeping on any shoulder that will stand for it, while they broadcast the sad, sad story of how their husbands neglect them, and what a terrible mistake they made in marrying a businessman instead of a millionaire.

Worse still is the crime that women commit when, in order to get the spotlight turned on them and to acquire the reputation of being noble and heroic mothers who sacrifice themselves to their wayward children, they drag all of the family skeletons out of the closet, and tell things that they should have their tongues cut out for even mentioning.

Many and many a mother starts the scandal on her own daughter that ruins the girl's life by wailing that Sally is so wild she can't do a thing with her. Many and many a mother blocks her son's career by always harping on some little fault the lad has, until he gets him the reputation of being a no-good, or a drunkard.

Why women get a kick out of exploiting their family troubles, no one knows. But they do. There is nothing they enjoy so much as being pitied, yet they have to pay a terrible price for it.

Wedding Reception Plans Preparing Dainty Food

By MARY MOORE

The reader's letter that follows interested me so much that I decided to use it for a lead article today.

There are hundreds of weddings and wedding receptions coming up and probably many of our reader-hostesses can adjust the suggestions I have assembled here to make them fit their particular wedding reception plans.

(I might mention that while this reader mentions that she does not have to stint I have inserted ideas for making the recipes more economical if desired.)

DEAR MARY MOORE: I have, as the saying goes, "Opened my mouth and put my foot in it." So since I read your columns eagerly each week can I please appeal to you for help.

I offered my home for a wedding reception to my English sister-in-law who came to this country two years ago, and like many more, she received a very dirty deal. Now she is to marry a nice young man and start life all over. Here is my problem' I have only a moderate size kitchen and living room and the guests are to number 24 or 26. I have turned the table and boards every way, but I can't possbly seat 24, and since I will be pouring tea and coffee, etc. I don't like the idea of two settings. So I finally decided on a buffet supper. But what can I serve that's easy to eat balanced on a precarious plate.

I've lots of dishes and can rent chairs and silver, so that can be taken care of.

I can make good potato salad, but what could I serve in the way of meat easily. It must be cold because I'll have to move my kitchen stove out. That leaves me only a 2-burner plate for tea and coffee. Would you please send me any suggestions you can offer and I'll read your column with gratitude to my dying days.

money B oa

P. S. I don't have to stint on money for the supper. Thanks a million.

Mrs. T. K.

ANSWER:

Wedding Reception Menu

Jellied Chicken Moulds (see note)
Supreme Potato Salad
Variety of Breadstuffs: Rolled Asparagus Sandwiches, Tiny Buttered Tea Buns, Cheese Pinwheel Sandwiches with Whole Wheat Bread, Thin Plain White Bread and Butter cut in Triangles, Celery, Olives—both ripe and stuffed, Radishes, Rich Maple or Coffee Ice Cream, Wedding Cake, Macaroons, Tiny Chocolate Ice Box Cookies, Tea, Coffee, Mints, Nuts.

DIRECTIONS

Jellied Chicken Moulds

(as you can see this meets your requirements of things that can be served cold AND eaten with a fork. These amounts will serve 25 to 30 adequately.)

Boil for 3¼ hours in 3½ quarts water 2 5-lb. fowl which have been thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned, covered. Cool. Separate meat from bones. You will have under 4 lbs. lean meat. Strain broth through double thickness of cheesecloth. Use bones and skin and giblets for other purposes—they are not called for in the jellied chicken.

Aspic Jelly for Jellied Chicken:

Chill the strained broth, and skimoff fat. There should be two quarts stock—this is 10 measuring cups. To two quarts strained and skimmed stock add juice of 2 lemons, 8 level tablespoons plain gelatine, 2 slightly beaten egg whites, and 2 crushed egg shells. Stir this over medium heat until it boils, boil 2 minutes, then remove from heat and let stand 20 minutes. Strain again. When this is cool but before it congeals, pour 1 tablespoon in each of about 30 individual moulds. When this has set place pieces of chicken that are not so large they protrude above top edge of mould OR diced chicken, in all of the moulds, and garnish sides or sides and bottom with slices of stuffed olives. Pour aspic jelly in mould to submerge chicken and just fill moulds. Chill. (If this is to be kept more than 1 day after it is prepared it must be kept very cold as both chicken and gelatine mixtures spoil easily.) Serve this on bed of leaf or head lettuce and provide genuine mayonnaise to be passed with it.

Supreme Potato Salad

Since you know how to make potato salad I will just give you two or three suggestions that I think make a superior salad: boil potatoes with jackets on, but do not boil potatoes tender,—they should be about three-quarters cooked. Thus they keep a good sharp shape. Add about 3 small green onions cut as finely as it is possible to chop them and about 6 hard-cooked eggs to enough potato salad to serve 26. Do not stint on the mayonnaise or the salt. Celery salt or chopped celery are a good addition, also new cooked green peas.

Sandwiches And Breadstuffs

If you do not like my suggestions for sandwiches and breadstuffs, change them, but be sure you have plenty of this type of food.

Ice Cream

I suggest rich Ice Cream because you may be able to order it from a local dairy. They can make it or double rich cream if they will. It would be especially attractive if you could have it made up into fancy individual shapes.

Reception Macaroons (60)

Two egg whites, ½ cup each white and brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups corn flakes, ½ cup broken walnut meats, 1 cup shredded cocoanut, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg whites until very stiff with the sugars and ½ teaspoon salt. (Beating the whites and sugar together takes longer but makes a more durable meringue.) Add flour and all other ingredients, mixing them in with a folding motion. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well buttered cookie sheets. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 15 or 20 minutes, or until just delicately browned.

Chocolate Refrigerator Cookies

One-half cup butter or good quality shortening, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg well-beaten, 1 square (1 oz.) melted chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans. Cream butter or shortening very well, then add sugar gradually, while creaming. Add beaten egg, melted chocolate and vanilla, and mix well. Sift together the dry ingredients and gradually add, beating well. Shape into roll 1¾ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper, chill overnight. Slice ⅛-inch thick with very sharp knife. Bake on buttered cookie sheets at 375 deg. Fahr. not more than 10 minutes. These burn easily, so watch them. Make about 50.

Suggestions

I want to advise you strongly to ask one of your capable hostess friends, or two of them, to pour the tea and coffee. It will take all of your time and wits to keep this party rolling smoothly without having to attend to tea and coffee too. Choose from your women friends who have that rare combination of composure, affability and alertness to do this imoprtant part for you, and warn her to see that all cups are filled for the time when toasts are to be proposed, if other beverages are not provided. Feel free to write again if I could help you with other details.

JUDGE, Mrs. Stanley—In loving memory of mother, who passed away one year ago today.

In silence she suffered, in patience she bore
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Bill, Audrey and Stanley.

Farmers Shoot Seven Dogs Worrying Sheep

BETHANY, April 8.—(ENS).—Wolves, dogs and sheep played a large part in the meeting of Manvers Council on Tuesday.

M. Hickson was paid $20 for killing two wolves. The $10 a head bonus is paid by the township to apply to any wolves killed within it and on which the standard county bounty has been paid. Mr. Hickson shot the animals several months ago while hunting foxes.

A pack of wandering dogs cost the Council more than $100 which they paid out for sheep killed by the dogs, and for the two farmers who shot seven of the ravaging dogs. Clifford Curtis and Walter Porter, neighbors in the township, found that the dogs had been bothering their sheep flocks. Under bylaw, a $5 bounty is paid for every dog shot found worrying sheep. Curtis also collected $44 for sheep killed and Porter was awarded $25 for his losses.

Tender, Aching Perspiring Feet

In just one minute after an application of Emerald Oil you'll get the surprise of your life. Your tired, tender, smarting, burning feet will literally jump for joy.

No fuss, no trouble; you just apply a few drops of the oil over the surface of the foot night and morning, or when occasion requires. Just a little and rub it in. It's simply wonderful the way it acts on all foot misery, while for feet that sweat with an offensive odor, there's nothing better in the world.

It's a splendid formula — this combination of essential oil and camphor and other antiseptics so good that thousands of bottles are sold annually to help soften up corns and callouses. McDermid Z Jury and Tamblyn Drug Stores sell lots of it.

Accept Report

HALIFAX, April 8 — (CP) — Striking ship's officers here last night decided to accept the Niven report as the basis of the settlement of the strike on Canadian deep-sea vessels both coasts. William Doherty, national secretary of the Canuadian Communications Association, said: "We are very close to settlement."

GRASS FIRES CONTINUE

Grass fires continue to plague firemen. On Wednesday calls were received by the department to extinguish blazes on a lot at the rear of 1311 Monaghan Rd., a vacant lot on Frank St., another vacant lot on Frank St. between Highway 28 and Western Ave., and one at the CPR right-of-way at Maria and Mark streets.

Spend $725 Millions On U.S. Air Force

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP). —President Truman asked Congress today for an immediate appropriation of $725,000,000 for expansion of the Air Forces.

The House of Representatives Appropriations Committee, to which the President's request was directed, called a special meeting for this afternoon to consider the request. It plans to report to the House next week a bill carrying the new funds.

The additional money is for use during the fiscal year starting July 1.

The President last week notified Congress that such a request would be forthcoming. It is part of an adidtional $3,000,000,000 to be sought for over-all defence purposes for the next fiscal year.

Anti-CCF Move Grows In Regina

REGINA, April 8 — (CP). — An anti-CCF combination of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives that has flickered across the Saskatchewan political scene for more than a year was strengthened last night when Regina Liberals voted to nominate only one candidate in the two-member Regina city provincial constituency.

Conservatives in the city last year agreed to a similar move. The nominating convention — which chose W. J. Ecown, Regina lawyer and president of the city Liberal association, as candidate—means that Liberals and Progressive Conservatives each will run a single candidate in an attempt to take the two Regina seats from the CCF in the next provincial election.

Likely opponents are two CCF and two Social Credit candidates.

There might be no difference between Liberals and Conservativs as far as lawyers and architects were concerned, "but there's a lot of difference to the working man," he said. "The Liberals are the party for the working man."

Mining In Cameroons

LONDON—(CP).—The Cameroons Mining Corporation Limited has been formed jointly by the government of Nigeria and the London Tin Corporation to prospect in the British Cameroons. The voting control is with the government of Nigeria which would appoint the chairman and half the directors. Other prospecting leases have been granted in recent months in West Africa, Tanganyika and British Guiana.

562,000 Idle In Coal Strike

PITTSBURG, April 8.—(AP). —A State-by-State check today revealed at least 562,000 workers were idle in the United States in the 25-day old soft coal walkout.

The bulk of these were members of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers—400,000 in the soft coal fields demanding $100-a-month pensions and nearly 25,000 eastern Pennsylvania anthracite miners who walked out this week in sympathy.

The other 137,000 were in related indupstries crippled by the continually increasing coal shortage. At least 70,000 railroaders were furloughed together wtih 45,000 steel workers.

Iron Age estimated that by the end of this week the coal walkout will have caused the loss of 600,000 tons of steel.

Pennsylvania had the largest number of idle in related industries—about 25,000 not incluuding the anthracite workers. Bethlehem Steel Corporation took the brunt of the cutbacks with 22,500 workers laid off at its Bethlehem and Johnstown plants.

Every day brought new cutbacks in the steel industry.

A spokesman said "if the strike continues, another sharp cutback in operations will be made in the next few days."

200 Housewives To Raid Ottawa

TORONTO, April 8—(CP). — Irate housewives—200 members of the Housewives Consumers' Association—will descend on Ottawa April 15-17 with a petition they say is signed by 500,000 Canadian women asking for price control on basic commodities and subsidies on essential foods.

Mrs. Ray Luckock, president of the Toronto branch, said today that the Government had not yet granted a hearing to the women but that "they simply have to accept the delegation because they have no right to turn it down when we have so many signatures."

The women hope to confer with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his Cabinet in their request for price control and subsidies.

The request will coincide with the first national convention held by the Housewives Consumers' Association.

Molotov Reported Due To Give Up Post

LONDON, April 8 — (CP). — The weekly magazine News Review said today that removal from office of Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia "may shortly have to be considered a possibility."

The magazine said "not much reliable information seeps through the iron curtain but it is believed that an adjustment in Soviet foreign policy has been under discussion in the Kremlin during the past few weeks.

News Review said Molotov was criticized by other members of the Polit-Bureau at a Moscow meeting last Friday on the grounds that he had involved the Soviet Union "in a series of commitments which were having a diversionary effect on the country's own internal reconstruction was dissipating energies which could be better applied at home and had brought into existence a vast, anti-Soviet fifth column which was smuggling important information and key personnel to western Europe."

Freakish Mishap

TOBERMORY, Ont. — (CP). — School officials of St. Edmunds, near this Georgian Bay town, are worried about senior pupils persistently arriving late at the public school. The school trustees have decided to warn the offenders' parents, and take more drastic action if the warning doesn't work.

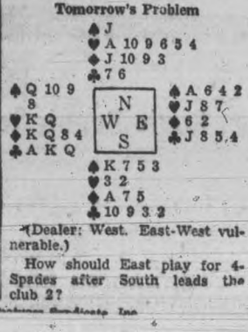
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LIKE CLAIRVOYANCY

CARD READING of fine players seems like clairvoyancy to many human mortals. They are unable to realize the mental processes which guide the most skillful to making plays that prove decisive in intricate cases. Yet when explained to them many of the most complicated appearing actions appear simple. Many of them are due to a process of elimination, one inference leading to another until the ultimate deduction shows what is the best thing to do.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠



What gingery bidding. North opened with that 1-Club because it was a match point pair duplicate and he felt the chances were about 51 per cent to 49 that his side would get a plus instead of a minus if he did so. His reason was because he held four cards, including real strength, in the highest-ranking suit of spades and three cards in the next-ranking hearts. He had to go carefully after that, though.

East and West proved a bit too good for him, however, and set him a trick to give him a minus instead of a plus. The diamond K got the first trick, the J the second, and East then cleverly refrained from laying down the A. Instead he led the heart 2, the Q winning, and then the A was played, followed by the spade 3 to the K, the diamond Q ruffed, the spade 8 to the A and the club 5 to the K and A.

Now came the crisis. West reckoned if South had the club J with the four shown by his bid, he would have played it instead of the K; hence East had it. The natural return of a heart would have given South a ruff. An ensuing club lead, if won by the J, would end-play East, obliging him to make a red card lead causing a ruff-and-discard; overtaking of the J by the Q would set up dummy's 10, just as bad. So to the instant trick she led the club 2, which the J won. Now the heart 3 return, ruffed, put South where he had to finish by losing the setting trick in clubs to the Q.

Tomorrow's Problem

How should East play for 4-Spades after South leads the club 2?

Below, young Falangists cheer Franco when he said "Twenty-eight million Spaniards are ready to fight" and boasted that Spain warned the world of the Red peril ten years ago. Benes Makes First Speech

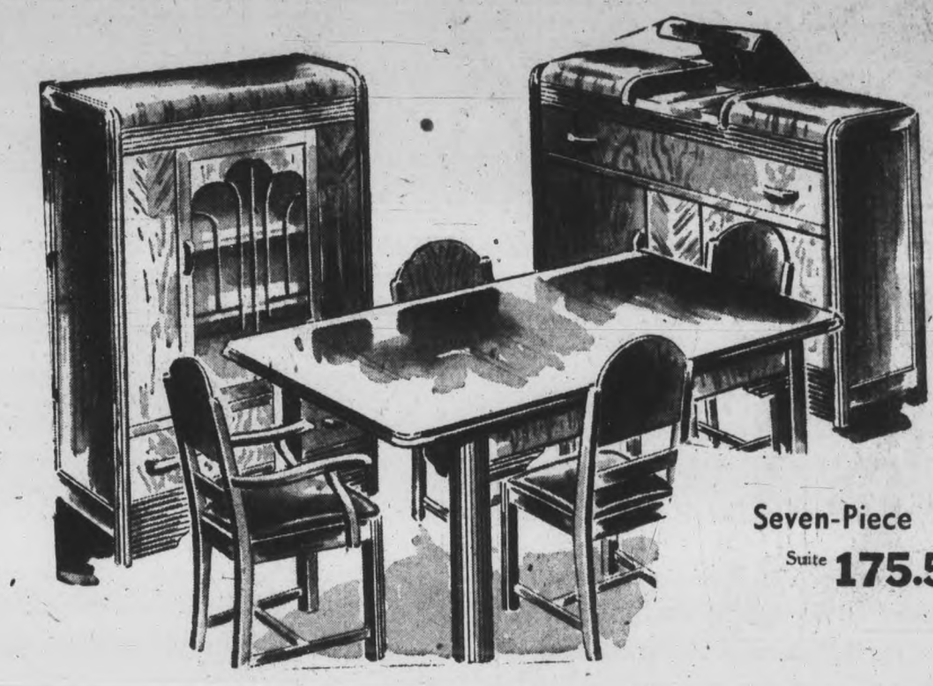
PRAGUE, April 8—(Reuters)—President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, making his first public speech since he swore in the new Communist-led government in February, said today: "The power of free ideas seeking the truth and nothing but the truth can break shackles.

"God willing, universal freedom of the spirit will once more lead to prosperity and a happy future."

His audience had gathered under the ancient Gothic arches of Valdislav Hall in the Hradcin Castle. Representatives from the United States, Britain, Holland, Denmark and Norway were absent from the ceremony.



"In order that the natural human longing coupled with the freedom of faith, science, thought and creed, be satisfied, it is necessary that thorough spiritual freedom be cultivated and realized; that freedom is a prerequisite of any true spiritual life and spiritual work in general," Benes said.

Campbellford Farmers Give Food, Welcome To New Dutch Settlers

By NICK NICKELS

Last Friday evening about 20 families gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Barnum on the Boundary Line eight miles east of Campbellford. They brought a large collection of food along, three bags of potatoes, 25 sealers of home-canned fruits and vegetables, flour, raisins, sets of dishes. All this was not for their own enjoyment at the party but a community gift to Petrus, Lucia and Henri Verhoeven who had arrived at the Barnum home eight days before from the Netherlands. They are the first Dutch family to settle in the district and it is fitting that they have come to settle in this fine community among gracious people. They enjoyed their first showing of Canadian hospitality at the party given in their honor and were noticeably impressed.

June 8 Date Fixed For Two By-Elections

OTTAWA, April 9. —(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced that Tuesday, June 8, has been fixed as the polling date for the by-elections in the Federal ridings of Ontario and Vancouver Centre.

The Ontario seat was left vacant by the death of W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal, while the Vancouver Centre seat was vacated by Hon. Ian Mackenzie a few months ago with is appointment to the Senate.

Seek Student Ringleaders

Fear LPP Fomenting War, Pupils Declare

WINDSOR, April 9.—(CP).—Windsor police today were still seeking the ringleaders of a mob of 500 collegiate and high school students who ransacked the Labor-Progressive party's headquarters here and roughed up four party officials Wednesday night.

Two men were assigned to investigate the mob-violence, Police Chief Claude Renaud said. However, he had not yet received their reports. He declined to say whether or not any students had been questioned at police headquarters.

A special Police Commission meeting will be held later this week to review the details of Wednesday's rioting.

Student spokesmen said they rioted because the Board of Education will not refuse the use of Windsor secondary school auditoriums to LPP meetings.

Generally, the reaction of students was as one said, "We are the people who are going to be shot at in the next war, and it seems as though the time has arrived for someone to take action to oust groups trying to overthrow our government and create another war."

7 Top Divisions Wiped Out In Manchuria

NANKING, April 9— (AP). —Chiang Kai-Shek said today that seven of his best divisions were destroyed in Manchuria but declared defiantly that the Communists cannot conquer China.

In one of the frankest public speeches of his long career as China's leader, the Generalissimo told the National Assembly:

"I confess seven of the government's best divisions were destroyed in Manchuria. They were my best armies that under my command accomplished the revolutionary campaign with glory."

These divisions are being reorganized, Chiang said, adding: "I refuse to admit defeat because our fighting strength is still powerful."

(Chiang evidently meant that the divisions were destroyed over a considerable period of time. There has been no recent heavy fighting in Manchuria.)

Chiang made no mention of the presidency, which he says he wants to turn over to someone else.

Conceding that "we have made serious military mistakes," Chiang said his armies are changing strategy. No longer will they try to defend all points, but will concentrate for decisive blows.

On the subject of inflation, the Generalissimo declared that China is solvent. He said China has enough gold, silver, other assets and dollar credits to recall all of the Chinese currency afloat.

"Despite foreign criticism of our inflation and military defeats I have faith."

Princess Margaret Engagement Rumored

NEW YORK, April 9.—(CP).—The New York Times said in a London dispatch today that rumors of the engagement of Princess Margaret and Prince George of Denmark "became stronger today."

Prince George is the eldest son of Prince Axel and a nephew of King Frederick IX. He is 27 and Princess Margaret — younger daughter of the King and Queen —will be 18 on Aug. 21.

The Times said, "In recent months he has been seen frequently in the company of Princess Margaret."

"According to current rumors, announcement of the engagement will be delayed until after her birthday," the story added.

Acquit Cooke On Alberta Libel Charge

Justice McBride Fails To Solve Riddle Of Trying Offence

EDMONTON, April 9—(CP)—Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto today was acquitted of Alberta's charge that he "counselled the publication of a defamatory libel." The finding was announced by Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride, who had presided without jury.

Mr. Cooke, publisher of New Liberty magazine, was charged in connection with an article in the Dec. 27 issue criticizing child welfare administration by the Alberta government. The article was based on a report prepared for the Provincial Chapter of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. Justice McBride, in his five-page summation, said he did not "find it necessary to decide the extent of onus lying on the accused.

"I shall, however, for the sake of argument, accept that the onus is as high on the accused as the Crown sought to establish. Stand up, accused.

"I find that the accused has met and satisfied that onus. The case is discharged.

Lawyers said the effect of Mr. Justice McBride's finding was to leave in the air a defence contention that the court had no jurisdiction to try the offence in Alberta, to accept that Mr. Cooke did counsel distribution of the magazine but to rule that in the circumstances his intention was not to commit an offence.

Defence counsel Joseph Sedgwick arose after the finding to say that he had been asked by Mr. Cooke to make a statement.

"This statement would have been made, my lord, regardless of the verdict.

"My client desires me to say that he had no intention at any time to embarrass the royal commission or to do anything which would have reflected on its conduct or on the citizens of the province. He would like to leave the province confident that its citizens will understand and believe that."

Mr. Justice Sedgwick thanked him for the statement.

Toronto Warehouse Swept By Flames

TORONTO, April 9 — (CP) — Damage estimated at $105,000 was caused by a three-alarm fire which early today swept through a 90-year-old combined warehouse and office building at the Adelaide-Jarvis streets intersection in central Toronto.

The building housed three companies and damage was estimated as: Rodway Co. Ltd., produce brokers, $90,000; Canadian Brass Company, $10,000; E. E. Vance printing company, $5,000. Loss included quantities of cheese, butter, molasses and mattress cotton.

Introduce 3 Per Cent Sales Tax Measure To Take British Columbia "Out Of The Red"

VICTORIAVILLE, April 9.—(CP).—The British Columbia government, troubled by the prospects of its accounts being 'in the red," has taken the first step to add $12,000,000 to its revenues this fiscal year.

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb yesterday introduced the long-awaited and contentious three-per-cent sales tax measure. The bill, which was given first reading, will become effective about May 15.

The three-per-cent retail tax bill represents a victory all down the line for farmers and fishermen. They will not have to pay tax on anything that goes into the production of food —from implements to feed grain and fertilizers, fish boats to fish hooks.

The tax applies to what the bill describes as "personal property that can be seen, weighed, measured, felt or touched, or that is in any other way perceptible to the senses, and includes electricity, natural or manufactured gas, and telephone services."

Coal-Burning Rail Service Cut 50 Per Cent In US Beginning April 15

WASHINGTON, April 9—(AP).—The 26-day-old pension-dispute mine shutdown in the United States forced the government today to order coal burning rail service cut to half of normal. The reduction is effective at midnight, April 15, and presumably would be cancelled if mining resumes before then.

There appeared no immediate prospect, however, of an end of the walkout despite a new threat of action against John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers (Ind.)

Representative Fred Hartley (Rep.—NJ) said that if the Taft-Hartley labor law which he helped write fails "to put the brakes" on Lewis, he will ask for stiffer laws. Hartley is head of the House of Representatives Labor Committee.

The pending new cutback in coal-burning freight and passenger train service was bordered by the Office of Defence Transportation and the Interstate Commerce Commission to save dwidling supplies of coal.

ODT said Wednesday the railroads had stocks enough to last only 22 days. The 25 per cent cut ordered today is in addition to a similar reduction put into effect earlier. Those curtailments have made approximately 70,000 railroaders idle.

Coal-burning locomotives normally handle about 45 per cent of the passenger trains and 65 per cent of the freight service.

The White House, in the meantime, said it had no comment on a published report that the administration has given up hope of ending the strike within the next 10 days.

Lewis is scheduled to appear Monday to "show cause" why he should not face a contempt-of-court trial for ignoring a back-to-work order. The 26-day-old strike resulted from a dispute over miners' pensions.

The Southern Coal Producers Association formally accused Lewis and the union of breaking the law by refusing to recognize the Association for bargaining purposes.

The Association's complaint contended that Lewis' refusal to recognize the group constituted not only refusal to bargain but an attempt to coerce the operations in the choice of their bargaining agents.

Allege Halifax Firm Selling Inferior Butter

OTTAWA, April 9.—(CP).— A triple-barrelled investigation into firms taking advantage of the butter scarcity was in full swing today by the Parliamentary Price committee.

While it publicly inquired into the use of butter as sales premiums by a Montreal jewelry firm, the committee was moving also to:

1. Issue subpoenas for two officials of Canada Packers, Ltd., in connection with allegations that second-grade butter was sold as first-grade in Halifax.

2. Probe a charge that butter brokers were using that much-sought commodity to force the sale of other goods in tie-in sales around Montreal. This practice is contrary to Prices Board regulations.

Subpoenas were ordered in the Halifax case after R. H. Winters, Liberal member of the committee from Queens-Lunenburg, had declared he was advised authoritatively up-graded butter in Halifax had come from Canada Packers.

At the same time, it was informed by a Prices Board official tha the Board is considering prosecutions in Halifax, though there was no indication as to who might be prosecuted.

Mr. Winters, who touched off the Halifax investigation before the committee two days ago, said he had been informed by authoritative sources that at least one carload of inferior butter had been supplied by Canada Packers.

That company—one of Canada's largest meat-packing firms and also a large handler of butter—was investigated by the committee a few weeks ago in its quest for the reason for higher butter prices.

Palestine Solution Fades As Truce Talks Collapse

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., April 9 (CP).—United Nations hopes for settling the Palestine problem wavered today with the failure of preliminary Arab-Jewish truce talks.

Dr. Alfonso Lopez of Colombia, April president of the Security Council, hurriedly called a series of private conferences with other delegates in efforts to salvage the cease-fire plan. The council called for the truce unanimously after the American delegation presented the proposal on direct orders from President Truman.

Dr. Lopez told reporters last night after his second informal conference in New York City with representatives of the Jewish Agency and the Arab Higher Committee:

"The prospect is not as favorable as I had anticipated."

He added that he could decide whether to see the Jewish and Arab leaders again after talking with his colleagues.

The unyielding demands of the two parties in the Holy Land fighting were pointed up by statements made after the conference

Moshe Shertok, head of the Agency's political department, said: "I do not think there is any bridge"

Jamal Husseini, vice-chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, commented:

"We cannot and never will recognize the Jewish Agency for Palestine."

The Agency is recognized by the British and Palestine governments as the representative of the Jewish people in Palestine.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie, who sat in on the conferences, said previously that a truce was essential if the American suggestion for a U.N. trusteeship in Palestine is to be carried out.

Laborer's Body Found In Lock

LINDSAY, April 9 (ENS).—A body tentatively identified as Joseph McMahon, 65-year-old laborer of Lindsay, was found floating face down in the gate lock on the Scugog River here this morning, shortly before 10 o'clock. He had been missing from his home for four or six weeks. Dr. W. R. Crowe, coroner, said that no inquest would be held.

The body was discovered by Stanley Henderson, lockkeeper. "I first saw the head and thought it was a dog," he said. "Then I saw the coat collar and ran to phone the police." He added that this was the eighth body he had found in the river in the past 10 years, but the first he had found in the lock.

First reports estimated that the body had been in the river since last November. The body was recovered by firemen.

The deceased has one son and one daughter, both residing in Lindsay and a second son in Northern Ontario.

It is believed that the drowning victim had one son surviving.

Discover $500 Untouched In Victim's Purse; Blame Illegal Operation

May Take Two Days To Complete Autopsy On Doctor's Estranged Wife; Second 'Clinic' Death In Recent Months

TORONTO, April 9—(CP).—Police said today they believed that Jane Gordon, 27, estranged wife of Dr. Neil Gordon, city health department physician, died in an "abortion clinic" and her body was thrown on a lonely North York township street "to hide the evidence." In Mrs. Gordon's purse police found $500 in $50 bills. Police said this amount had been given to her by a man who admitted giving it to her to pay for the illegal operation. The man, who gave a suburban Leaside address, was released after two hours' questioning.

Mrs. Gordon's death is the second in recent months which police have connected with a clinic. A single girl who lived in suburban York township died after an operation. Police were unable to trace her movements but, like Mrs. Gordon, she was driven to the same general locality and let out.

TORONTO— Police said an unidentified man had notified them that he would discuss, in the company of his lawyer, the death of 27-year-old Jane Gordon.

A taxi driver, Laverne Stafford, reported discovery of the body.

A taxi was stolen here a few hours before the girl's crumpled form was found. Police said a link between the slaying and the theft was possible.

Find Body On Road

Stafford told police he discovered the body while cruising along York Ridge Road in the dimly-lighted Hog's Hollow section of North York township. He said he took a brief look, then drove back to the city limits where he hailed a police cruiser.

Police said the girl was lying with

Will Confiscate $10,000 Bails

HAMILTON, April 10 (CP). — Bail of $10,000 each was estreated by the court this morning for 19-year-old Elaine Peltier, and James Jamieson, 37, salesman, when they failed to appear before Magistrate H. A. Burbidge on charges under the Narcotics Drug Act.

William Schreiber, their counsel, asked the court to give them until 11 o'clock when they didn't answer their names at 10 o'clock. Mr. Schreiber said he had been in communication with them from Toronto and he thought they were probably on their way up here.

Miss Beatrice Lyons, prosecutor, consented to this and at 11 o'clock when they failed to answer a second time she suggested that bail be estreated. A certificate was made that the bail is in default and following the customary proceedings the county court judge willl give the order that the bail be estreated.

Two Children Burned In House Fire

MATANE, Que., April 8 (CP). —Two children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dumont in this town on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River.

Dead are Reginald, five, and his 13-year-old sister Pierrette.

Fire started at one o'clock in a small restaurant at the front of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Dumont tried to remove their six children. Pierrette was outside the house when she noticed that her small brother was missing and reentered the house.

Reginald was found at the foot of the stairs and his sister at the top.

Britain Agrees To Joint Inquiry

BERLIN, APRIL 9 (Reuters)—Britain has agreed to a joint Anglo-Russian inquiry into the crash on Monday between a British Viking airliner and a Russian Yak fighter, it was disclosed today.

Britains agreement was conveyed to Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian Commander in Chief, in a letter from Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British Military Governor.

If British and Russian experts fail to agree, Sir Brian suggested that separate reports should be made.

Sokolovsky's letter implied that British officials had demanded an investigation by a body representing all four occupation powers.

PORT ARTHUR, April 9—(CP) —Ontario Provincial Police fanned out of the Schreiber area yesterday after a robbery at Hydro, five miles west of Schreiber, in which more than $3,000 were reported taken. It was reported $1,500 in cash and $1,600 in cheques, property of the CPR, were taken from the small railway station at Hydro.

Urges Spies To Cut Crime

Thinks Espionage Might Uncover Criminals

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).—A suggestion that wartime "superspies" be used in peace against criminals was made in the House of Commons as members discussed means of increasing police force recruits.

Sir Arthur Salter, independent member for Oxford University, said wartime experience showed that 'we have a comparatively small but very important number of people who showed a kind of genius . . in penetrating the plans of the enemy and discovering their secrets."

"I suggest that the association of some of the best of these with the higher organization of the force . . . might be an extremely valuable addition to the police system" for use in combatting skilled criminals.

Home Secretary Ede said poor recruiting figures had been largely due to restrictions governing the private lives of policemen. He promised to consult with a committee on police reforms and said his desire was to see "a force in which men can take pridee and in which petty regulations and limitations on their individual liberty will not be tolerated."

He had already wiped out many restrictions, such as those which forbade constables to play cards, unbutton their coats in the canteen, go hatless while off duty or play rugby football after the age of 35

Hint Ontario May Renew Gas Rationing

Several Hospitals Will Be Given More X-Ray Machines

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP).—A hint that Ontario residents may face gasoline rationing this year was given in the Legislature last night.

The word came from Provincial Treasurer Frost as the House continued budget debate. A. A MacLeod (LPP-Toronto Bellwoods) had asked why the estimates provided for a drop of more than $1,000,000 in gasoline tax revenue this year.

"There may be gas rationing," Mr. Frost replied. He did not elaborate.

The House earlier heard Premier Drew assert that the province is continuing and increasing immigration activities. Its air immigration plan had ended but the government was working in other ways to encourage immigrants, including a number of Netherlanders, to settle in Ontario.

More X-Ray Equipment

Speaking during discussion of Health Department estimates, Health Minister Kelley said it was planned to equip additional hospitals with X-ray equipment for use in detecting tuberculosis. He also said an extra $1,000,000 was included in this year's estimates to provide for improved operation of mental hospitals.

Mr. Kelley said that the aim is to reach a stage where all nurses, attendants and patients are X-rayed when entering a hospital. He noted that 467 nurses had contracted tuberculosis during the last few years.

Health estimates for this year are almost $22,000,000 to which $4,437,350 will go to tuberculosis prevention and treatment. Grants to the various clinics are: Ottawa $11,700; Belleville $17,200; North Bay $15,700; Fort William $3,300. Last year $3,379,730 was estimated for tuberculosis prevention and treatment.

Mr. Kelley addressed a plea to the people to approach mental sickness with the right mental attitude. He cautioned that mental sickness is the same as any other illness and can be cured.

Death Penalty Likely For 20 SS Men

Three-Judge Court Rules They Murdered One Million Jews

NUERNBERG, April 9—(AP) Twenty officers of Hitler's SS (Elite Guard) today were convicted of wholesale murder in an American finding so biting that the death penalty for many seemed inescapable. Sentences will be announced tomorrow.

A three-judge court found them guilty on all three counts of an indictment charging the killing of at least 1,000,000 Jews, Gyspies and other classified by the Nazis as racial undesirables. Only two were found innocent in any degree.

The judgment was handed down by presiding judge Michael A. Musmanno. He summed up the counts as "plain murder."

Only SS captain was acquitted on two counts—war crimes and crimes against humanity. He was convicted of the third—membership in a criminal organization: namely, the SS and SD (a department that ran a spy system).

One corporal was found innocent of all three charges because he once quit the SS and got back into it only through the draft.

Convicted of all three counts were four SS generals, 12 colonels, three majors and one lieutenant.

Commanding Officers

They were commanding officers of the Einsatz commandos. These were units, none of more than 2,000 men, established by Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the security service. They were sent into Russia behind the rampaging German armies to wipe out whole classes of people Hitler and Gestapo Chief Henrich Himmler thought were better off dead.

Mainly the killed Jews. Their own records, introduced in court, showed at least 1,000,000 slain. The prosecution held that maybe 2,000,000 died from their bullets or in their gas vans.

Among those convicted of all counts were:

Maj.-Gen. Otto Ohlendorf, who admitted his Einsatz group slew 90,000 Jews and Brig.-Gen. Heinz Jost, veteran policeman and law expert.

May Remove Crew From Crippled Ship

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., April 9 — (AP). — A northwest storm last night drove towering waves against the disabled freighter William Palmer while the coast guard stood by prepared, if necessary to evacuate her crew. The Palmer, en route to Chicago with a cargo of stone, went aground on White Shoals in the Lake Michigan side of the Straits Wednesday night.

her head down, her feet near the roadside and her black shoes at her head. Her green dress was in disarray. She wore a blue coat. There were no outward signs of violence.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, Chief Coroner, said an autopsy was in progress and it might take two days to complete. Dr. Gordon, her husband, and a younger brother of the dead woman, Patrick Murdock, waited in Dr. Lawson's office while the autopsy was performed.

"It's all a mystery to me," Dr. Gordon said.

"She never skylarked. She had only a few select friends. We just can't understand," her brother said.

Police said the Leaside man said he was not responsible for Mrs. Gordon's condition. He had given her the money because he knew her well and she asked to borrow it.

Police said they believe the death was accidental but they are trying to clear up one or two points in their investigation before setting the date for an inquest.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon were married here June 20, 1942. They had been separated for some months. A five-year-old daughter attends boarding school here. Mrs. Gordon had been living with her mother, Mrs. A. Murdoch, and a younger brother at the mother's North Toronto home.

"Dr. Gordon used to call for his daughter every day and take her to school," said Dr. F. S. Minns, Dr. Gordon's roommate for the last two years. At that time the child was living at the north-end house.

He said Dr. Gordon was employed as a district medical officer in the downtown Moss Park slum area. He understood Dr. Gordon had just returned from the RCAC.

Grass Fire Destroys Two Old Buildings

HAVELOCK, April 9—(ENS). —An old unoccupied house and a barn at Cordova Mines were burned on Wednesday. The house of Keith Saunders and the United Church building were damaged when a grass fire got out of control.

The house, which was used to store tools, was the property of Louis Meyers, and was the first to burn. The church caught fire next, but the fire there was quickly extinguished. There was little damage.

The fire spread to Keith Saunders' home, and while the firefighters fought for one and a half hours to save the house, the barn on the property recently purchased by James McCurdy from T. Fitzpatrick was burned. The barn contained a quantity of hay. The origin of the grass fire is unknown.

Netherlands. Dominion troops were billeted for some time and a mutual friendship and admiration sprang up that resulted in this particular Dutch family deciding to leave the Old Land and settle in the New. From all accounts they were prosperous people in their community but they were young, Petrus is 37, and they decided to make a new start. The family were allowed 80 clothing coupons to outfit themselves and $100 each in Canadian funds to assist them in their emigration. They sailed from Rotterdam on M.S. Kota Inden on March 12.

Willing Workers

After ten days by sea and rail from Halifax they were glad to end their long trip at Campbellford station in the early morning of Holy Thursday. Mrs. Verhoeven assisted Mrs. Barnum about the house while Petrus and Henri were shown the methods of doing spring work on a Canadian farm. Mr. Barnum is very enthusiastic about the manner in which the men take to various chores. Petrus was a milkman of no small repute at home; he has a diploma for milking 32 cows by hand and finds the Barnum mechanical milker a lot easier.

One of the first big jobs around the farm was working in the sugar bush. This was surely as Canadian a chore as any immigrant could first tackle. As for the maple syrup, Petrus grinned all over his lean face and pronounced the product, "good, good. Not like it in Holland."

No Housing Problem

The Verhoevens are more fortunate than thousands of Canadians who are continually scrambling for housing accommodation. The Barnums own two farms complete with dwellings and buildings. The homestead of 100 acres is in Hastings county and a smaller farm of 65 acres is situated across the road in Northumberland.

The Examiner reporter arrived yesterday afternoon in time to see the Dutch family moving into their new Northumberland home. Mrs. Verhoeven was clattering around the clean house in sabots (wooden shoes) preparing their first meal. Together with some serviceable furniture and the neighborhood food gift, they considered themselves very lucky people.

After a short period of two weeks a great feeling of friendship is apparent between the five people of the boundary line. There is no indication of master and servant here but downright admiration, one for the other. If this will be the happy situation for future immigrants, Dominion diplomats will have no worries on Canadian - Netherlands relations for many years to come.

Ditch Cave-In Kills Pipelayer

GEORGETOWN, April 9.—(CP).—William Balusiak, Port Robinson, pipelayer, was killed yesterday when the sewer cut in which he was working caved in, covering him with tons of loose earth. Construction workers shovelled five minutes before the man was released.

Both Balusiak and Yateman are employed by the Scott-Jackson Construction Co., New Toronto, which is building a new sewage disposal plant here. On John St. a big steam shovel is digging a sewer trench about four feet wide and 10 feet deep. The men were following it, Balusiak working with a hand shovel and Yateman laying the tile.

"It was around 1.15," Yateman said. "A third man on the north bank saw it opening up and he hollered the warning. Balusiak was right in front of me. I jumped back. That's why I was only buried up to my waist.

'In front of me Bill got it. Somebody handed me a shovel and I dug myself clear in a minute. I was scared silly, but I hadn't got a scratch. Then I helped the others reach Bill.

Within five minutes rescuers had cleared the clay and sand from his face but he was lifeless. The loose wall, which pinned him so tightly that the rescuers had to pull him out of his rubber boots, was about 20 feet long, eight feet high and a foot and a half wide.

Autopsy Shows Poison Caused Death

PORT HOPE, April 9—(ENS)—An investigation is being made into the death of Mrs. Harry Wong, 33-year-old white wife of the Chinese proprietor of a cafe here. An autopsy was performed yesterday by Dr. J. B. McKay of Belleville after Coroner Dr. E. L. Wrathall had looked into the circumstances of the woman's death.

Mrs. Wong, police said, died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon after she had taken a soft drink in the cafe owned here by her husband. Police were informed that her 10-year-old son had brought her the drink from the soft drink dispensary and that shortly after she drank it, she became suddenly ill. Her husband called a doctor but she was dead on arrival at the hospital shortly afterward.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said last night that no decision yet had been made as to an inquest.

The couple had recently moved to Port Hope with their children, a 10-year-old boy and a five-year-old girl, Mr. Wong having purchased the cafe from his cousin, George Wong. They had been living at Pickering prior to that.

Russ Families Leave Germany

BERLIN, April 9—(AP)—The Soviet-controlled press today confirmed recurrent reports that large numbers of Russian families were leaving Germany. But it was declared this was for economy reasons and not for fear of war.

The Soviet-sponsored Tribune said the return of the dependents was required because the Russians wre "reducing their occupation costs."

This somewhat mystifying statement was not further explained. The Russian occupation costs are considered comparatively light because their forces live off the German economy and the Soviet Union is by far the biggest recipient of reparations.

The Tribune said large numbers of families, especially those with many children, had been returned to Russia by order of the Soviet military administration.

UnionsDenounce Plant Raiding

DETROIT, Mich., April 9 (CP) Three United Automobile Workers (CIO) locals yesterday denounced attempts by their international union to "raid" plants now under contract to the United Electrical Workers (CIO) here.

The UAW policy was disapproved by membership meetings at Plymouth Local 51 and Detroit Steel Products Local 351. Cadillac Local 52 has taken similar action.

Union officials claim the chief trouble spot here is at the International Detrola Corporation plant where the UEW represents 900 workers.

Although the International Association of Machinists (Independent) withdrew its bid for members at the plant, UEW spokesman charge the UAW has "now moved in."

The Electrical Workers Union cannot appear on National Labor Relations Board Union preference ballots because of its refusal to sign non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley Act.

The British Revolution

The British Budget, with its new heavy tax on investment income, has brought agonized shrieks of "Class legislation!" from the Conservatives, and it cannot be denied that Sir Stafford Cripps has set to work on the long-cherished Socialist plan of taxing the rich out of existence. Nevertheless it is impossible to see what else he could have done, even had his inclinations not led him toward very heavy taxes on what is called (sometimes unjustly) unearned income. Britain must have money; she needs money as she has never needed it before in her whole history, and the only way for the British Government to get money is to take it from those who have it. The Conservatives have no alternative plan, and if they were in power the likelihood is that they would do precisely what the Labour government is now doing, though they would sugar the pill as much as possible. Criticism of Cripps' capital levy (for that is what it is in effect) will be severe; but until a financial genius with a better plan appears in the Conservative ranks the criticism will be powerless to alter the situation. To Canadian observers it is a matter for satisfaction that Britain has a Chancellor as ready to face harsh facts, and take harsh action, as Sir Stafford Cripps.

• • •

The new tax on investment income will soon tax a whole class out of existence, if it is not mitigated. We see no reason to believe that the tax will be mitigated, for it is in line with socialist theory, and we do not believe that Britain will elect a Conservative Government at the next general election in 1950, nor do we see much prospect of a Conservative return in 1955, though we make no prophecies. Hardship will be caused by the sharp reduction of private wealth, for hardship is caused by every social change, but it must be borne in mind that Britain is exhibiting, in a violent form, a revolution which is taking place on this continent as well, and in every western democracy. Because we live in this revolution and are keenly affected by it, we cannot see its outlines clearly, nor can we predict its outcome confidently.

• • •

There is a family resemblance about all revolutions, however, and we can expect that this revolution, which is destroying one influential class by taking away its money, will create another influential class—for that is what revolutions always do. It appears to us that this revolution has something in common with the revolution which took place in the reigns of Henry VII and Henry VIII, when the commercial class of England achieved new power, the old Catholic nobility was impoverished, the monasteries were dissolved, and a new aristocracy of adventurers sprang into being, fed on the pillage of the religious houses. Who, living in those troubled times, could have forseen the great age of Elizabeth, which followed so soon? That revolution was part of the breakdown of feudalism; the present revolution is a part of the breakdown of capitalism — certainly of capitalism as the world has known it for the past 150 years.

• • •

Capitalism is not sacred or immutable, and neither is socialism. The main task of any economic or political system is to keep in being a state in which the humanities and the hard-won rights of the individual are cherished. No single class is the sole custodian of these things. Britain's courageous fight is being watched by the western world with wonder and with hope, for the outcome of Britain's national struggle will provide the example and the pattern for much that will eventually happen here.

A Woman's Page writer says that boiling tea in a fish pan will remove the fishy taste. Judging by their tea, a lot of summer resorts already know this trick.

Adolescent Bombast

On Thursday 500 high school pupils ganged up to raid L.P.P. premises in Windsor because the Board of Education had permitted that party to rent school auditoriums for meetings. We mildly suggest that instead of riotously interfering with matters profoundly affecting a basic principle like freedom of speech the pupils should have been at home studying Locke's essays or at least in bed reading thrillers. There is a possibility that Parliament may soon discuss the question of reducing the voting age to eighteen, despite the modern trend of keeping young people as hothouse plants away from the world's work. They will have time enough to vote when they are wage-earners and taxpayers and have disciplined their emotions.

We do not believe in the old-fashioned statement that children should be seen and not heard, sensible as many statements are seen to be after they have been disregarded. We do think that it is high time to stop prating that young people form the most important section of society. That is nonsense; there are more adults than children and people are adult for a longer time than they are childish—at least we hope so. Adults are more important than adolescents; it is they who have the cares and responsibility.

And since it is adults who pay the piper it should be they who call the tune. Adults should be less humble in the face of their gangling progeny and the adolescent should be taught a decent humility in the face of the adult world.

Canadian Vimy

Canadian servicemen who visited Vimy Ridge in 1944 and 1945 have met a charming French girl, then about seventeen, who sold them post-cards and souvenirs at the kiosk near the Canadian memorial. She would chatter in French about the farm behind the Ridge which was her home, about her father who was the keeper of the Memorial and cemetery. Most astonishingly, she said proudly that she was a Canadian though she had never been in Canada.

She was and is a Canadian because she lived on a little part of Canadian soil which was deeded by the French Government to Canada after the First Great War — Vimy Ridge, hallowed by Canadian blood and bones, memorialized in Canadian hearts, and created perpetually Canadian by the grateful French people. The girl has now come to Canada with her brother, mother and father to see her native land for the first time. Her father is Mr. George Stubbs, a veteran of the Great War who since his discharge from the army in 1919 and until last month has lived at Vimy Ridge. This Canadian family is unique among the thousands of immigrants. They come as emigres from a foreign soil that is for ever Canada to take up life in the homeland which none but the father has ever seen.

Their story bridges two wars and two peoples. It is because of their link with the past through their custody of a venerated Canadian battlefield that we mention them today, 31 years since the morning that Sir Julian Byng and General Currie launched the massive, costly and triumphant attack on Vimy Ridge.

The C.C.F.'s Flushed Face

There has come to hand a mimeographed sheet which we have scanned gingerly. It says at the bottom: "From Labor-Progressive Party"—that is the Communists of Canada now masquerading under the initials L.P.P. It quotes Marx and Engels and ends with this stirring appeal:

NOW IS THE TIME for plain speaking. Communism marches on. Let all Canadians join in this great liberation from fascism and from reaction. Vote Labor-Progressive and where there is not an L.P.P. candidate vote C.C.F. Communism will eventually triumph and the C.C.F. is a step in the right direction.

We are moved to sympathize with the C.C.F. and to shed a tear for Mr. Coldwell. Despite the C.C.F.'s indignant rejection of L.P.P. support and their condemnation of Communists and Communism, the L.P.P. insists on putting the red flag on the C.C.F. platform and shading it with a Communist umbrella. The C.C.F.'s embarrassment is excruciating, but it seems that nothing can deliver them from the deep damnation of Communist approval — not even the suggestion that the mimeographed sheet now moving us to tears has been put out by wicked capitalists.

Michelangelo Of The Tropics

By JOSEPHINE HAMBLETON

THE candle on the edge of the tall, involuted, mahogany torchere melts, and the wax drips down over the carved cherubs' faces. The light, warm, cupreous, benedictive, illumines the pages of the Book, lying open, atop the sculptor's worktable. It has not eye to turn horrified away from the leprous hand, following line by line: "And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh sing it . . ."

Mercifully, the light leaves shadow-enshrouded the horrible figure of the reader. It is the light, and not the man, which seems the soul, the life within the darkened room.

Michelangelo used to read the Old Testament when he felt lonely. He knew its verses by heart. He expressed their majesty and their power in the great paintings of the Prophets which adorn the Sistine Chapel in Rome.

Two centuries have elapsed since Michelangelo died. Tonight Aleijadinho, his Brazilian counterpart, seeks consolation from the words Isaiah spake: "The people that dwell in the valley of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

WHILST the sonorous prophecies overcome his bitter revolt against his fate, Aleijadinho's imagination conjures statues, half-completed, into the penumbra ringing the candle-flame's small-circled radiance. Avidly, his mind pursues the holy thoughts, wondering how best to give them sculptural form: "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath anointed his people, and will have mercy on his afflicted."

"But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken me, and . . ."

The words dance. Aleijadinho's eyes burn. Must he lose his eyesight also? Ah, that he could lie down! He cannot leave his seat. Leprosy has eaten his legs away.

He blows out his candle.

❖ ❖ ❖

HE visions his beloved city, the city where he was born, sierra-ringed Ouro Preto, Brazil's Klondike, a hundred miles odd north of Rio de Janeiro. He sees Mestre Antonio Francisco Lisboa clearly—the broad forehead, curling black hair, tight lips, arrogant bearing. He never quite reconciled that mental image with the idea of his father, recalls how soft that man's voice became whenever he described his native Portugal, on the other side of the world, the Thousand and One Nights land he had left to build churches in wealthy Ouro Preto. Aleijadinho remembers his mother well, the sombre-eyed, affectionate black slave. She had loved Mestre Antonio Francisco deeply. He had freed her, freed their child, the illegitimate Aleijadinho, but when Mestre Antonio Francisco Lisboa married, it was a white woman belonging to his own class whom he chose.

PEACE keeps vigil with Aleijadinho tonight. What matter if sleep knock not at his door? Isaiah's words appear, black-writ across the candlelit page, in the sable solitude: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound."

The word-music crystallizes Aleijadinho's thoughts and there takes shape in his mind the statue of Isaiah, every stroke completed. The Prophet's brow will be multi-furrowed, the eyes piercing, radiant, the beard flowing in this direction and in that as though the Divine Power possessed and made its instrument his soul, his will, his body.

THE night passes. The day breaks.

Aleijadinho's slave, Januario, straps chisels to the stumps to which leprosy has reduced his master's hands and hoists him onto a little platform before a block of stone. All day the great genius works until the time comes again for studying the Old Testament and for remembering.

Four years later, on the morning of November 18, 1814, death draws Aleijadinho's suffering to its close.

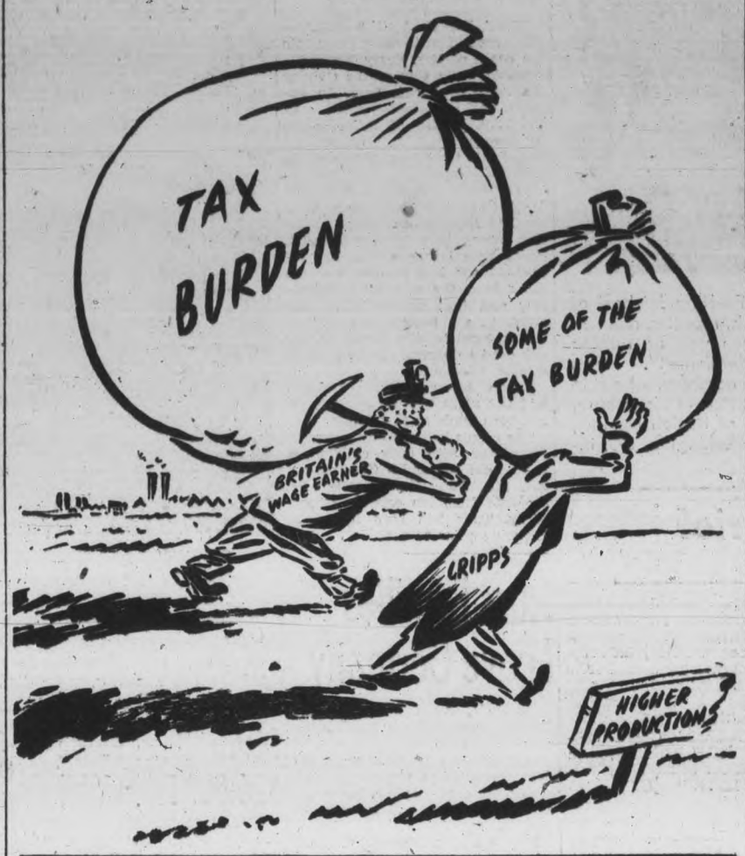
THE statue of Isaiah stands today before Congonhas do Campo church, not alone, but in the company of his peers, Jeremiah, Baruch, Ezequiel, Daniel, Hosea, Jonah, Joel, Nahum, Obadiah and Habakkuk. Aleijadinho hewed them all, life-size, from blueish soapstone while he was enduring unspeakable agony. The Prophets are his testament of an unbreakable spirit bequeathed to humanity, fruit of a bitterness of soul which religious contemplation turned to complete spirituality.



Congonhas do Campo church is not far from Ouro Preto. It is among the simplest and most beautiful the world knows. Around it, like poppies, cluster red tile roofs of white homes and buildings. Beyond, hills interweave their rounded forms. Two bell-towers flank its nave. Heavy wooden doors open onto a broad terrace from which shallow steps lead down to a cobble stone square. It is around the square the Prophets stand.

ISAIAH seems 'twixt mortal and immortal worlds suspended, his own human life become an immanation of the Divine Will, his body, the fleshly envelope of his transcendent vision. Jeremiah, on the contrary, thunders and foretells dire torments unless Jerusalem and Judea redeem their transgressions. He throws back his embroidered mantle from his shoulder and strides authoritatively. The young Daniel considers human pageantries and frailties, the Babylons and the Tyres, the jealousies and the egotisms. He pays no heed to the lion purring at his feet. His empire lies behind his noble brow. Jonah turns his gaze heavenwards, and Joel looks every inch Portuguese philosopher. Nahum is neither teacher nor visionary but the man of profound wisdom and upright character, in complete contrast to the beardless and optimistic Baruch. Joel and Habakkuk approach their middle life. Their battle with Evil has tempered their initial ardour and robbed their epicite of that quixotic which is the benison of Nahum's great age and well-spent existence.

Aleijadinho created many statues other than his Prophets but none more expressive, none so powerful as those at Congonhas do Campo.

PICK-ME-UP

Letters To The Editor

NO INTENTIONAL DISTORTION

Sir: Last night I spent precious minutes perusing small detail maps of Peterborough and environs for a little place called Regina but with no success. Not being a native of this district, I thought maybe some westerner had come out here with not enough money to get back and founded a new little capital. I saw such interesting names as Keene, Coe Hill, Actinolite and Norwood, but no Regina.

Of course I am referring to the news item covering Percy Wright's (M.P. for Melfort, Sask.) CCF talk in Norwood, Saturday night. According to the heading, the speech originated in Regina. Whoever entered this of course just made a slight mistake and the proof-reader didn't notice it, although it was staring him right in the face. Everybody makes mistakes of course but why, oh why did you have to pick Regina instead of Edmonton, Winnipeg or even Toronto? Ottawa would be the most logical place when Parliament is in session.

News takes time to travel from Regina, two or three days at least, so I can understand why the article did not appear till Wednesday.

Seriously, though, I believe it should be every newspaper's policy to practice impartial reporting even though politics are involved. As to the editor's political views that is another matter. I am not accusing the editor of holding narrow political views. I checked last night's article on Gardiner and the dairy situation. At the same time, I believe that he or the publisher should see to it that such a subtle distortion of the news will not occur again in the pages of the Examiner.

LOCAL CCF'ER.

ED. NOTE: This was no 'subtle distortion' but a composing room error of a kind not uncommon.

ANOTHER FARM OPINION

Sir: I am sure there are only a very few agitators who are demanding cheaper milk and other dairy products. Perhaps if they knew more about the dairy industry, they too would be willing to allow farmers fair prices. Here are some facts gleaned from various sources:

(1) Milk is the cheapest food there is.

(2) Dairy products are cheaper in Canada than in any other country in the world.

(3) In the same period of time, Canadians spent $385,000,000 on milk but $485,000,000 on beverage alcohol.

(4) Soft drinks cost about 42c per quart and huge sums are spent for these even in the homes. Chocolate milk, hot or cold, lemonade and other pure fruit juices, and tomato juice are much pleasanter to taste, are not habit-forming, and have much more food value.

(5) The value of a man's work per hour, is as important on farms as in urban industries. According to figures from the report of the Ontario Royal Commission, farmers received only 39c per hour for their work in producing whole milk for the fluid milk market. Since that, they have received only one increase in price, about 1½ cents per quart, so that their income now is only something less than 50 cents per hour. Compare that with the minimum wage rate being received in an industry in Peterborough where a strike is being talk of.

(6) This same industry, we read, pays its employees $4.69 per week more than the average for all manufacturing industry, pays all compensation dues, and helps employees with unemployment insurance, pensions, life insurance, pays for holiday time, and accepts work for only five days a week.

In comparison, because the farmer does not receive on an average as high an income for himself, and because he pays his own way in bills for accidents, life insurance, etc., and works six days and part time on Sunday, he cannot afford to pay a hired man wages as high as those received in urban industries. The grown children and the farmer's wife cannot receive a fair income so the children often leave the farm, the farmer's wife isn't able or willing to go on, working for so little, and the farmer himself, disgusted with the injustice of it all, sells off a lot of his cows. Then there are shortages, and we hear some city folk innocently asking, why?

(7) Also, because of the five day week, and higher wages and salaries, more free benefits to both government employees and those in factories, stores, and offices, prices of goods and services which farmers must buy, keep rising.

Then we have read much about the so-called oleomargarine ban on margarine, which is cheaper than butter. About 10 years ago a National Policy was introduced by the Canadian parliament by which a tariff was placed on certain goods, mostly imported from the United States, in order to help our infant industries. During all these years that those infants have grown to a ripe old age, farmers have paid out hundreds of dollars each because the high tariffs put a ban on lower-priced farm machinery from other countries. Which system is more undemocratic?

As one of our agricultural representatives stated recently, city folk can expect higher prices demanded by farmers for their produce. If farmers receive a minimum of 75 cents an hour for their work, as is fair and just, then prices must go up, not down.

FARMER.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum . . . And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.

And he came and touched the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother.

And there came a fear on all: and they glorified God, saying, That a great prophet is risen up among us; and, That God hath visited his people. (Luke vii, 11-16.)

Good Morning

Because he deplored the general lack of human kindness, a New York man started on a recent morning to spread sweetness and light in his daily contacts. His first effort was in a department store. "Good morning," he said to the woman who came to wait on him. "And now are you this fine morning?" Instead of the pleasant smile he expected to receive in return, she said: "A hell of a lot of difference it makes to you how I am."—Calgary Albertan.

YOUNG "ROOKIE" INVADES GIANTS' CAMP—Little Dick Green, two years of age, wandered out on the New York Giants' playing field at Phoenix, Arizona, as the team prepared for some strenuous training. They immediately "grabbed" him and put a catcher's outfit on the young lad. Sheldon Jones, Giants' pitcher, is seen bunting to the young "rookie" while Mel Ott, Giants' manager, does some fanciful coaching. The team will probably sign him up for 1964, he's that good. The catcher's outfit almost fits him.

See New Faces Playing First Base

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP). — "Who is on first?"

The baseball fan who asks that question this year is going to get a lot of new answers.

Returning in the American League are the aging George McQuinn of New York Yankees, currently ailing Ferris Fain of Philadelphia A's, and Mickey Vernon, one-time batting king, of Washington Senators.

In the National League, Johnny Mize, of New York Giants, Eddie Waitkus of Chicago Cubs, and Earl Torgeson of Boston Braves will be back.

Rookies are certain to man the bag for Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns, and Pittsburg Pirates.

Tony Lupien, who hit .341 for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League, will be at first for the White Sox. George Vico, a .307 hitter at Portland in the same circuit, wil lbe the Tiger starter, and Chuck Stevens will start for the Browns. Ed Stevens will be in the lineup for the Pirates.

Other Players

Boston Red Sox have Jake Jones, Willard Robinson, a part-timer in 1947, and Elbie Fletcher, late of the Pirates, will divide the duties in Cleveland.

Babe Young will be starting his first full year at Cincinnati, and Philadelphia Phils have acquired Dick Sisler from the Cardinals.

The Sisler deal in turn left the St. Louis position wide open. Stan Musial, who would much rather be an outfielder, played there most of last season. He may be back.

As for Brooklyn, Jackie Robinson was the first baseman last year and did a very good job. Owner-Branch Rickey wants Robinson to play second base. The Dodgers bought Ray Sanders, out of baseball since mid-season of 1946 with injuries, on a look-see basis from the Braves.

Mel Akers Hits 408 Single In City League

Highlight of the final night of bowling of the Men's City Five-Pin League schedule was supplied by Mel Akers with high single game of 408. Akers ran nine strikes, spared the tenth and finished with another strike in a nice try for a perfect game.

Fashion Craft finished the season in first place with a grand total of 136 points and the Duffus Trophy. They blanked Empress Old Timer last night 6-0.

Ramblers 6-0 victory over Generals gave them second place in the standing, just two points ahead of Shockey's, who defeated Kawarthas 4-2.

King George and Plazas blanked Clappers and De Laval to wind up in the fourth and fifth slots. Kawarthas were sixth.

Grants, Sunocos and Legion each won two games from Freeman's, Spartons and McGillis.

Vince Anthony had high three with 823 and Norm Gordon was right on his heels with 803.

Other good singles following Akers' top score were: George Walton 336, Jack Barnes 335, Norm Gordon 331, Gene Reynolds 317, Art Pilling and Vince Anthony 314, while George Gimblett, Bill Lewis and Bill Martin had 301.

Bill Martin won the Clapper Trophy for season's high average with 252 for 90 games. Fred Martin was second with 245.8 and Tic Caccavella third with 245.6.

Maurice Caccavella had high single of 420 and Holly Mowry high three of 976.

The annual banquet will be held April 15 at 6:30 o'clock at Kawartha Club. Various trophies will be presented at this event.

St. Paul's and CGE cage colleens clash at 9.15 tonight in the YW gym in the second of their two-in-three junior finals. Saints are up one now and can take the title this eve. A win for Electrics will force another meeting next week. This important game is preceded at 8.15 by an exhibition betwixt Nurses (senior loop champs) and Kawarthas. A good-sized hoop crowd is expected. The OABA midget championships for boy basketeers will not be held till a week tomorrow at the Collegiate, the semi-finals in the afternoon and finals at night. Four clubs from various zones of the province in these big frays and the PCVS pack is hopeful of coming out on top.

Aquatic aces take over at the YMCA this Saturday night at 8.15 when the Ontario swimming championships will be held. Probably 100 competitors on hand from various places in the province, a third or some of them from Peterborough itself. Men and boys will race in a raft of competitions and some of those guys coming can really plow through the waves. Al Marshall, holder of the 200-yard Canadian breaststroke record, will be down from Varsity for a crack at the 100-yard event, and coming with him for a diving exhibition is Ken Tully, who is Dominion intercollegiate champ in that line. Sure to be an interesting water show.

Facts About Frank

Since his showing in Hamilton the other night and his professed ambition to make the Canadian Olympic boxing team, we've been asked about Frank Dohaney. All we know is that he lives here now and expects to remain for some time. A graduate electrical engineer (he's with CGE test), the 22-year-old 183-pounder was intercollegiate light-heavy champion of the Maritimes for two years. Likes boxing and wants to make the Olympics. A strict amateur, Dohaney has no intention of ever turning pro in the ring. His manager, Ron Menzies, says that Franks chances to make the Olympic team next month depend to a great extent on obtaining more suitable training facilities than the basement of his residence, which is used at present. Also, he'd like to get a couple of sparring partners in the heavyweight division.

While we certainly won't be in the Border Pro Ball Loop this year, there's hopes we might be in another summer. Hence it may be of interest to consider admission prices quoted as follows in the Ottawa Journal: "Auburn and Geneva clubs are making slight admission increases. At Auburn, the tariff for uncovered bleachers advances from 55 cents to 60, with covered bleaches back of first from 70 to 80 cents, while grandstand and box seats move from $1.00 to $1.10. General admission at Ogdensburg is 75 cents with boxes $1.00. Red Birds sell grandstand seats at $1.00 with boxes at $1.20.

Petes Get In Loop

Lloyd Crose and Eddie Murphy attended a baseball meeting in Port Hope last p.m. and entered the Petes in the Lakeshore League. Others in are: Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg. Two more possibilities are Whitby and Newcastle. The Oshawa entry was a pleasant surprise to the Petes, as the Motor Citizens will be classed as a senior club, too. Both Oshawa and the Petes are a welcome addition to the Lakeshore Loop, which plays good intermediate "A" ball. The Motor City crew will use a lot of ex-juniors, and it appears they are on the way back up to a strong senior entry, and the future of the COBL looks brighter. The schedule will be drawn up at a May 6 meeting, and meantime the Petes can start planning for the season.

Annual meeting of the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club will be held on Monday evening at eight in the Chamber of Commerce and everyone interested is invited. This applies also to newcomers to the city. As is well known, the two local clubs, Peterborough and Whitaker, have been operating as a combined club during the upsetting war years and since. The older one was formed 90 years ago and the Whitaker team in 1933. There was no difficulty getting a team last year, owing to the arrival of some players from England, but the trouble was getting opposition, apart from the two schools at Lakefield and Port Hope. The other clubs at Oshawa and Toronto entail expensive trips, but an effort will be made to arrange home-and-home matches with Toronto. It is hoped to have a good representation at the Monday meeting.

The Men of Muscle

Those muscular men who lift weights just for the fun of it put on a swell show in the YMCA last eve and the big gallery enjoyed it thoroughly. Five former champions (British Empire and Canadian) were on hand for exhibitions, and the McInroy sisters staged their tricky routine again in most capable manner. City champions declared were: Heavyweight—Joe McGuire; light-heavy—Bud Collins; middleweight—Ab Blondin; lightweight—Ken Bailey; and featherweight—Bill Knight. Our congratulations to them, and they certainly showed a lot of training and power in their hefty hoisting. Stan McBride didn't compete this year. Yeah, it was a fine all-around performance, best yet of this type held in Peterborough.

Mangrum Leads In First Round

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9 - (AP). — Fifty-six other professional and amateur golfers today eyed the 69 shot by Lloyd Mangrum in the opening of the 12th annual Masters' tournament yesterday with some apprehension as they teed off for the second 18 holes of the 72-hole event.

Mangrum, whose three-under-par score led the field by one stroke, came here as the leading winner of the winter tour. A year ago Jimmy Demaret came here as the leading money winner, took the lead on the first round and held it until the finish.

Sixteen players were par or better for yesterday's play over the 6,000-yard layout. Among them were most of the entrants rated outstanding contenders in pre-tournament calculations.

Missing the select circle by one stroke was defending champion Jimmy Demaret—bracketed with six others at 73 — playing with Bobby Jones, making his annual competitive appearance. Jones came in with a 76.

One stroke behind the sizzling Mangrum were Claude Marmom, Ed Furgol, Ben Hogan and Herman Keiser, the surprise winner two years ago, and in the 71 bracket were Skee Riegel, United States amateur champion; Art Bell, Dick Metz, Chick Harbert, Jim Ferrier, Bobby Locke, the South African threat, and Byron Nelson, a two-time winner.

Britain's Henry Cotton was one of the four matching par 72. His companions were Harry Todd, Bob Hamilton and Weland Gibson.

Live, Act Clean Hockey Scout Tells Players

"You don't know when you are being scouted—and you are being scouted for more than mere hockey ability," Alfred Moore, coach of the Galt Rockets, told a group of young Peterborough hockey players Thursday night.

"All the big teams keep their eyes on cities like Peterborough, and their scouts are watching your continually," said the former professional hockey player. He was guest speaker at a special meeting of the Kinsmen Club at which players of the club-sponsored minor hockey team were guests of the club.

He told his youthful audience that the trend today was stress on character and behavior in picking potential "big time" players.

The Toronto Maple Leafs were the first to start this trend, he said, when they introduced the importance of moral standards in hockey players about 15 years ago in selecting their farm teams. Their scouts investigate the home background, moral responsibilities and other character factors when they make their selection.

Professional hockey material today, he said, is obtained from the Junior OHA mainly, not the senior. All junior players are thoroughly studied for signs of potential development. He stressed the importance of good living habits.

"When you arena is built here," he said, "the scouts will descend on this town."

"Live clean, act clean," he advised, "—if you don't get anywhere in hockey, you'll still go a long way in life."

Played Here In 1924

The speaker, who is now in charge of all hockey activity in the city of Galt, was introduced by Stuart Munro, who pointed out that Mr. Moore had been a member of the London hockey team which had been defeated by Peterborough Petes in 1924, when the Petes won the OHA title. The speaker referred to the past humorously, adding that "for a long time, the name Peterborough brought many bitter memories."

During his hockey career, Mr. Moore played professional hockey with Chicago, Cleveland, Springfield, New Haven, Providence and the New York Americans. He figured prominently in the Stanley Cup series in 1938 for the Chicago Black Hawks, who won the world title that year.

Arnold Olmstead, coach of one of the midget teams, briefly expressed the appreciation of the players and officials for the financial support which the Kinsmen Club had given in the past year. He outlined the operation of the league in the city and the difficulty of play in out-of-town rinks and open air city rinks.

Thanks of the club to the speaker and officials of the teams were expressed by Dr. Mark Crough, who made a presentation to the speaker.

President Jim King was chairman of the meeting. A singsong was led by Stan Gilmore.

Other coaches of the teams are Arthur Black and David Tucker. Members of the teams present were: Ray Seabrook, Fred Bebee, Ronald Wood, Lionel Althouse, Kenneth Reynolds, William Deyell, Vaughan Tucker, John Henderson, Douglas Crawford, Ronald Beals, Keith Delahaye, Donald Northey, Kenneth Powers, Reg Gould, Albert Buckton, Elwood McDonald, John Namett, C. D. Montgomery, William Killingbeck and E. Foster.

LEAFS TAKE OPENER—Toronto Maple Leafs triumphed 5-3 over the Detroit Red Wings in the first game of their best-of-seven series for the Stanley Cup. The action in the above shot occurred midway through the game with the Wings swarming around Leaf goalie Turk Broda (1). The Wings who are trying to put the puck behind "The Turk" are Marty Pavelich and Jimmie McFadden. Leaf defencemen Bill Barilko and Garth Boesch (18) are helping Broda to protect his twine. By the way, that red light on the back of the net which signifies a goal, flashed three times for the Leafs to no avail. Referee Bill Chadwick called back no less than three of their efforts.

Nationales Whip St. Mary's 6-2

MONTREAL, April 9 (CP). — Montreal Nationales set their sights to-day on the Eastern Canada junior hockey title after disposing of Halifax St. Mary's in two straight games.

The power-packed French-Canadian squad meet the Barrie Flyers here Saturday night in the opener of the Memorial Cup semi-finals and a full house is assured.

Last night, the power-packed Montrealers bounced the Maritime champions out of the running with an impressive 6-2 triumph, giving them the best-of-three series 2-0.

The 10,000-odd Forum fans went home convinced that Barrie will find Nationales hard to beat, especially if Nats play the brand of hockey they displayed in the two games just completed.

Barons Down Bisons 3-1

UFFALO, N.Y., Apirl 9.—(CP). —Unless Buffalo Bisons pull a surprise punch out of their hats, Cleveland Barons are sure-fire bets to walk off with the American Hockey League championship in four straight games.

Last night in Buffalo, the Barons moved a notch closer to the Calder Cup when they downed Bisons 3-1 before 9,969 fans, giving them a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven finals.

Bob Solinger, wearing a helmet because of a recent injury, was the Cleveland star, breaking a 1-1 tie with a back hand shot in the opening period.

Murdo McKay gave Bisons a 1-0 lead in the opening session. But that was all the scoring for Buffalo and after Roy Kelly knotted the count for Barons, Solinger went to work.

HEADING FOR A NEW HOME—Lithuanian displaced persons, part of a group of 860 Balkan and Baltic nationals brought from camps in British and American zones of Germany, wait in the boxcar that brought them to Genoa, Italy, where they will board a US army transport that will take them to Canada for resettlement. The group is moving under the International Refugee Organization's program, which has already resettled 13,000 displaced persons in Canada alone.

Seek Legislation On Timber Dues

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP). — The Ontario government took steps yesterday to give itself authority to increase or decrease Crown dues payable in respect to any kind of timber.

The provision is contained in a bill introduced in the Legislature by Lands and Forests Minister Scott. The right to increase the dues can also be applied to the annual ground rent and fire protection charges for any timber berth, limit or concession area. The province can make the increase or decrease despite any existing leases or agreements.

Another provision of the bill sets up manufacturing conditions covering all licenses, leases, agreements, permits or other documents for cutting of timber. It requires timber to be manufactured in Canada unless otherwise stated.

Felling and cutting of trees into lengths is not deemed to be manufacturing. In addition, timber used in Canada in an unmanufactured state for fuel, building or other purposes are not subject to conditions in the schedule covering manufacturing conditions.

The legislation gives the government power to make regulations defining wasteful practices in forest operations. It prescribes penalties for breaking such regulations.

Canada Draws Loan Of $30 Million

OTTAWA, April 9 — (CP). — Canada has drawn another $30,000,000 on the $300,000,000 loan from the United States export-import bank. A Finance Department official said the withdrawal was made April 1 and brought to $80,000,000 the drawings to date on the loan obtained to help Canada solve her shortage of US dollars.

Will Retain Briton Head Of Indian Army

NEW DEHLI, April 9—(Reuters)—India is to retain a Briton as commander-in-chief of the Indian Army "in the best interests of the country generally and the army in particular," Sardar Baldev Singh, defence minister, told parliament today.

Stating that Lt.-Gen. F. R. Bucher's service would be retained "for some time," Baldev Singh said it had been decided to depart from the planned program for the army in this respect. Last December he said that Gen. Bucher would take over as commander-in-chief Jan. 1 and would be replaced by an Indian officer on April 1.

Find Negroes Uninterested In Civil Rights Program

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 9—(CP).—President Truman may have lost this year's election over his civil rights program but a sentiment sampling of the underprivileged Negroes down south fails to reveal much interest. Governor William Tuck of Virginia is one of the state leaders of the south most anxious to force Truman away from his idea of ensuring equal rights for Negroes. Tuck's alternative is for Virginia to withhold support from the democratic leaders.

The President and the Governor met in Williamsburg the other day for the convocation at the college of William and Mary where both received honorary degrees. The occasion was the celebration of Canadian - American day and Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, were similarly honored.

Truman and Tuck met, smiled and shook hands and each was glad to meet the other. But it was noticeable that the president smilingly brushed off the bluff and hearty Tuck when they were thrown together at a later social function.

Not Worried

Truman does not seem worried about the threat of the solidly democratic southern states to seek his defeat because of his efforts toward racial equality. Perhaps there is nothing to worry about.

In Williamsburg this reporter asked a negro waiter what he thought of the civil rights issue. He replied in cultured tones:

"There are two sides to the question--many sides in fact. President Truman is a great man and so is Governor Tuck. But perhaps neither one has the answer to the race question."

Ignore Politics

Here in St. Augustine, oldest settlement in America, they do not pay much attention to politics. The natives are concerned with tourists and their own business of living in a very beautiful spot, reminiscent of Quebec city in midsummer.

But all down the highway through the Carolinas and Georgia is the evidence of what people are thinking about when they want to do something for the negroes.

Poor unpainted rickety shacks, many on posts to keep them off the boggy ground places that it seems impossible to believe could contain human beings — are the homes of thousands of southern negroes and visible to every tourist.

That's in the far-out country areas. In Savannah, ancient and proud Georgia city with the longest Palm Avenue in the world, are rows upon rows of negro slums that give the impression they could be pushed over by hand. These are on the main streets, also visible to every passing tourist.

Fights By-Election

LONDON, April 9.(Reuters).—A man in prison for acts likely to help Nazi Germany during the war is trying to unseat a recently elected Conservative Member of Parliament, Frederick Harris. He claaims that he was illegally prevented from opposing Harris at the North Croydon by-election last month. The prisoner is Henry William Wicks, who at his trial in 1946 was alleged to have worked for the German radio. He has lodged a petition in the high court asking that the by-election be annulled.

No Women Play In New Pidgeon Film

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 9 (CP)—Sometimes it pays to take a chance. Joan Caulfield discovered that by leaving a comfortable Paramount contract. She is now set for three films--"Larceny" at U-I, "Dear Wife" at Paramount and a Michael Curtiz film at Warners. . .

Walter Pidgeon tells me the all-male nature of "Command Descision" will be retained in the film version. "Not a dame in it," The Saint John, N. B.-born Walter, who will play a Major-General. Incidentally, congress may not be pleased with the film's portrayal of two congressmen visiting a wartime air base.

Cloak and Dagger

Twentieth-Fox has been reluctant to call "The Iron Curtain" --part of which was filmed in Ottawa--an Anti-Soviet picture. However, Dana Andrews minces no words. "It's as Anti-Russian as a picture can be, "He Told Me.

Rex Harrison was asked if he intended to become a United States citizen. His reply: "If I had come to America to work when I was younger, I certainly would have. But now my roots are too firmly planted in England and I enjoy life on both sides of the Atlantic. I pay American Income Taxes; but England is my real home."

Best-Laid Plans

Betty Grable and Harry James will take their kids and nags to Del Mar for the beach and racing season. Incidentally, Harry is planning a concert tour. A La Stan Kenton. . .Clifton Webb is planning a comedy air show. . .Clair Trevor has done four films in a row and plans a vacation after "The Babe Ruth Story." Says she: the only part that would tempt me would be as Gregory Peck's co-star." . . .

Cesar Romero says he'll leave for Italian shooting of "Prince of Foxes" in July--if that country doesn't go communistic on the 18th. "It will be either the hills of Rome or the Westwood hills," he remarks. . .Bette Davis and W. G. Sherry are vacationing in Carmel and may buy a ranch there. . .

Winnipeg's Deanna Durbin has a dress in "Washington Girl" which she describes as "split up one side to the waist." she adds, "it is designed to make long skirts more appealing by being more revealing". . . Robert Stack may sign a long-termer with M-G-M . . .David Niven is laboring with his chore as a concert pianist in "Kiss in the Dark." "They couldn't have picked a less talented actor for the part," he says. "I'm so tone-deaf that in England someone has to nudge me so I'll know when to stand up for 'God Save The King.'"

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Ben Chapman, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, yesterday announced the purchase of outfielder Richie Ashburn from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League.

The King and Princess Elizabeth are among those who have contributed £15,000 ($60,000) required to cover training expenses of Britain's equestrian team for the Olympic games.

Eric Boon, former British lightweight champion and contender for the welterweight title, will accompany Billy Thompson, British lightweight titleholder, on his Canadian and American tour in June. Thompson is to fight L'il Arthur King in Toronto for the Empire tile.

Georgetown won the OHA intermediate A championship last night by defeating Markham Millionaires 4-3 in overtime. Georgetown took the best-of-seven series 4-1.

Jackie Vraves, Austin, Minn., last night knocked out Jack (Spider) Armstrong, Toronto in the first round of a 10-round main bout at Minneapolis.

Bisons Anxious To Strengthen Mound Staff

By JOE ALLI.

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., April 9 —(AP). — Buffalo Bisons should improve their fourth-place finish of 1947, and may develop into serious pennant contenders if Manager Paul Richards can come up with some pitching assistance to take up the slack left by the graduation of Billy Pierce and Ted Gray to Detroit Tigers.

Acquisition of Outfielder Johnny Groth and Second Baseman John Bero from the Tigers on option gives Richards a well-balanced picket line and a sound inner defence.

Groth, a .319 hitter at Williamsport last year, is a speedy ballhawk who probably will be stationed in centre.

Three seasoned veterans, Chet Laabs, Anse Moore and Coaker Triplett, also are available for outfield duty.

The infield cast will present three new faces, in Bero, Block, and Jaeger.

Good Catching

The catching could be the best in the circuit. Eddie Mordarski, a holdover, will be the No. 1 receiver.

Marty Tabacheck, who posted a .292 mark at Williamsport, has been impressive in spring contests.

Richards is building his mound staff around four 1947 holdovers —Clem Hausmann, Tex Shirley, Hank Perry, and Andy Bush.

Others who have a chance to win starting berths are Aaron Silverman, Sol Rogovin, John Weiss, Don German, Bill Connelly, and Jack Guiterrez. German, the only lefty, won 20 games in the Cotton State League, while Connelly, optioned by the Athletics, won 10 and lost seven at Savannah.

Sundridge Beavers Trounce Tanners 7-5

BARRIE, April 9. — (CP).—Sundridge Beavers moved into a two-game lead in their best-of-five OHA intermediate B final series last night by defeating Acton Tanners 7-5. Third game will be played at Hespeler Saturday.

Right-winger Bo Wheeler paced the winners by firing three goals while Laing, H. Christie, K. Kidd and H. Hill hit for singles. Grant Gillespie was top man for Acton with a pair of goals while Kentner, Lindsay and I. Marzo had one each.

Offer To Star Barbara With Fred Astaire

OTTAWA, April 9 — (CP).—The Ottawa Journal said to-day that a Hollywood and North American ice-touring contract with Fred Astaire as her co-star has been offered Barbara Ann Scott, Olympic women's figure-skating champion.

The paper quoted Leroy Prinz, producer in charge of musical revues at Warner Brothers' Studios as saying in a telephone conversation that negotiations are continuing with the 19-year-old figure-skating queen. A weekly salary of $2,500 was reported as offered.

At South Porcupine, Barbara Ann told the newspaper in a telephone interview that she was "interested, even thrilled" at the news of the offer.

The paper quoted her as saying she had heard nothing, but it was possible that her lawyer, J. S. D Tory of Toronto or Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, her guardian, had been negotiating with Prinz.

Rookie Phil Samis To Replace Mortson

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP). — Rookie Phil Samis from the Pittsburgh American Hockey League club was named last night as the replacement for Gus Mortson on the defence shift for Toronto Maple Leafs, currently one-up in their best-of-seven final against Detroit Red Wings for the Stanley Cup.

Mortson suffered a broken left leg Wednesday night when Leafs beat Detroit 5-3 in the opener. Leafs' managing director Conn Smythe said last night that Samis would be given the starting defence berth in the second game Saturday night.

Smythe also said that Les Costello, also brought up from the A.H.L. will be on the Leafs' starting line-up Saturday.

Renews Battle To Lift Margarine Ban

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP). — James Sinclair, Liberal Commons member for Vancouver North, today carried to the Parliamentary Price Committee his fight for the lifting of Canada's margarine ban.

The Westerner, whose bill for the raising of the ban has been hanging fire in the Commons for several months, is not a member of the Price Committee, but moved in on it to direct some margarine slanted questions at J. H. Duplan, president of the National Dairy Council.

Mr. Duplan conceded margarine was an "important question." The Council executive had discussed it. But it had not made any representations to the government, considering the matter one of government policy.

"You think it is better for people to go without butter than to have margarine?" Mr. Sinclair asked.

Has No Opinion

The witness did not express an opinion.

He also said he was not prepared to give an opinion when Mr. Sinclair inquired as to what effect margarine would have on the sale and the price of butter in Canada.

"You could give an opinion, though, on the effect of New Zealand butter, and this is exactly parallel," prodded Mr. Sinclair, referring to previous evidence by the dairy officer.

"I wouldn't know," Mr. Duplan replied. But he said he might cite the case of margarine in the United States, where it had not had "much effect" on the price of butter.

U.S. Withdraws Two From Prague Embassy

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP) —The United States has withdrawn two members of the Embassy staff at Prague on the demand of the Czechoslovak government.

Diplomatic officials who reported this today said the action came before last week's demand by the United States that the Czechs recall two members of their embassy staff in Washington.

These authorities said, however, there was no direct link between the two cases. Both took place after the Communists won control of Czechoslovakia in February.

Doubts Plan's Value

Labor Unions Condemn Riot

WINDSOR, April 9. (CP) — Three top labor union officials here today issued a joint statement regarding last night's student raid on the Labor-Progressive Party's headquarters.

Earl Watson, president of Local 195, Roy England, Local 200 president, and George Burt, regional Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) termed last night's demonstration as "a danger signal for all Canadians."

The statement read—"The violent anti-Communist demonstration in Windsor last night is a danger signal for all Canadians, for it shows that there are many among us who are foolish enough to believe that we can resist Communism with violence, while at the same time we condemn the Communists for advocating Communism.

"Lynch tactics — the by-products of hysteria and ignorance, cannot defeat Communism. Communism is an idea, a way of life, and can only be successfully resisted with a better idea and a better way of life . . ."

Find Paul Kane Portrait In Library

The portrait in the Public Library of Wilson Seymour Conger, mayor of Peterborough in 1856, and also a former mayor of Cobourg, is believed to be a work of Paul Kane, one of the most important of Canada's early artists. E. C. Guillet, author of "Early Life in Upper Canada," was doing research work in the library last Saturday preparing a history of Cobourg. Mr. Guillet had a picture of every mayor of Cobourg except Mr. Conger, when he saw the portrait which had been presented some years ago by T. H. G. Denne. It is known that Kane painted portraits of both Conger and his wife, but no record exists of these paintings anywhere in Canada. The picture of Conger is now thought to be the missing portrait.

Paul Kane was born in Mallow, County Cork, Ireland in 1810 and came to Canada as a boy. He was educated at the Old Grammar School on Church Street, in York, where he was taught drawing by Thomas Drury or Drewry who became drawing master at Upper Canada College on its opening in 130. Kane spent four years in Europe, studying its peoples and visiting the art galleries. After he returned to Canada in 1836, he wandered by canoe, boaot and packhorse from Montreal to Vancouver Island, sketching and painting scenes of Indian life in the then practically unknown West. In 1859, his "Wanderings of an Artist Among the Indians of North America" was published in London. He died in 1871.

Kane was primarily a landscape painter. He and Cornelius Krieghoff were the first artists to use the Canadian landscape for their subjects. Portrait painting was more profitable in Kane's day, and like many other painters, he did numerous portraits as well as his landscapes. The portrait in the Public Library is probably an early work, painted when he and Conger were both living in Cobourg some time before 1842.

Merchant in 1829.

W. S. Conger began business in Cobourg as a merchant in 1829. He supported the Government during the rebellion of 1837-38 and organized and equipped a company at his own expense. In 1842, he was appointed first sheriff of the Colborne district, but resigned in 1852 to take up political life. Conger became sixth mayor of Peterborough in 1856, and in the same year was returned as member of the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada for Peterborough County with a majority of 298. In January 1857, he was defeated by Thomas Short and was defeated again in 1861 by Colonel Haultain, but elected by acclamation in 1863. He was Warden of the County of Peterborough in 1859. He died in 1864, after catching a cold while going over the district of the Trent Valley Canal, in which he was keenly interested. Conger Street in Peterborough is named after him.

Start Building Ice Arena By May 15 Next

A meeting of the Civic Arena committee was held Thursday evening and it was decided to start building the secondary rink on May 15. Mayor W. G. Ovens is to be asked to cut the first sod.

Discussion was mostly on the subject of the present drive for funds. Dick Ouimet announced that only $1,500 had been collected so far, but the committee was confident that if some action was shown, the public would respond to the campaign and support the secondary rink. Percy Killingbeck reported that heads of local firms and factories had agreed to have pledge cards distributed. All cards will have bee sent out by the beginning of next week. Many firms, although agreeing to have pledge cards distributed to all employees, did not agree to payroll deductions and would not contribute to the project.

A motion was proposed by Percy Killingbeck and seconded by Charles Kingan that general subscriptions to the drive should not be published, but final decision was left to the committee which would take into account the wishes of the donors.

It was reported by Gordon Shearer that the Lions Clubs is holding a mammoth bingo on Tuesday next, at Brock St. Summer Gardens. All proceeds will be turned over to the Civic Arena Fund.

Thieves Enter Trinity Church

There were no losses at Trinity United Church, Reid St., where it was discovered Thursday morning that marauders had broken into the hallway behind the choir loft. Entrance was gained Wednesday night, it is believed, by jimmying the lock on the vestry door. Cupboards, where music and other choir supplies are kept, were also pried open. A check so far has revealed nothing missing.

The break-in was discovered Thursday morning by caretaker Robert Ralston.

Lawyer For Cab Drivers Charges City Police Discourteous To Taxi Men

Taxi drivers of the city will not be required to have their photographs taken by the police. The Police Commission, at their monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, rescinded its motion of a month ago which provided for that step to be taken with the 60-odd cab drivers of the city. The Commission heard from T. J. Carley, KC, counsel for the newly-formed Peterborough Taxicab Association, regarding protests of the drivers and operators concerning the proposed move.

Judge Sheldon Smoke, who had not been present when the motion was made, said that the photographing and suggested fingerprinting of taxi drivers was "unnecessary" for a city of this size.

Commission Chairman Mayor William Ovens said that the recommendation of the move by Police Chief John Thompson had been made on the basis of a recommendation from the RCMP experts at Ottawa.

It's main purpose, said Chief Thompson today, had been as a protective measure for the passengers in the cabs.

Mr. Carley, for the cab association, said that the drivers and operators felt that the line had been "discriminated against" in the move. The news that such steps as photographing and fingerprinting drivers were being considered, he said, had caused "undue nervousness among the public."

Limits Freedom

Regulations which limit individual freedom, he argued, are resented. The moves would be a "big stick over the heads of taxi men." He pointed out that transport drivers, restaurant workers and others employed in serving the public are not required to comply with this. The taxi business, he contended, is a respectable calling and should not be subject to such rules.

Most of the drivers of Peterborough, he said, are known to most members of the police force, and the problems of larger cities do not exist here. As for the danger to the passengers, he said, daily newspaper stories of crimes show that in most cases it is the driver who is attacked, not the attacker.

"We should not have to be catalogued," Mr. Carley said.

The motion to rescind was made by Judge Smoke and seconded by Chairman Mayor Ovens. Magistrate W. R. Phillips, KC, the third member of the Commission, had previously expressed himself against changing the action. It was pointed out that the matter of fingerprinting had not been in the minutes of the meeting and a formal motion would not be required. It had been merely a suggestion.

Other Criticisms

The case for the taxi men, presented by Mr. Carley, contained a number of other complaints.

In cases involving taxis, he said, the association would appreciate the opportunity to appear before the Commission and present its side of the question before action was taken.

The Taxi Association asked that the limitation of the business in the city be made on the number of taxi owners, not the number of drivers. (At its last meeting, the Commission passed a resolution limiting the number of licensed drivers in the city to 65). The suggestion, said Mr. Carley, would tend to reduce the number of people entering the work hastily and who later found it impractical financially. This, he said, caused injury to the business as a whole.

There have been some recent reports of cutting rates, he told the Commission. In that regard, the taxi men again said that the police had not vigorously prosecuted such cases. Rather than requiring the drivers to furnish the proof, as he alleged had been the case, he argued that the police should handle some of the investigations themselves.

Allege Police Impolite

Mr. Carley said that he had received complaints from most of the drivers that police officers of the city force had, in many cases, been discourteous to drivers in front of passengers. He referred to reported statements by police to drivers: "What the h— are you parked there for?"

Held Incommunicado

Another sore spot of the drivers aired at the meeting was the charge that in cases involving arrest and detention of passengers, in some cases, taxi drivers have been held also. Mr. Carley

Appointment of eight new teachers was approved Thursday night by the Board of Education at South Central School. Two others, teaching on a temporary basis, will have their contracts extended for another year.

Additions to the Peterborough staff include Miss Meribeth Stout, Napanee; W. M. Patterson, Havelock; Donald Lawless, Walton; Harvey Wilson, Toronto; Lloyd Corbett, Collingwood; Miss Margaret Rutherford, Peterborough; Miss Muriel Andrews, Peterborough and Miss Mary Maunders, Roseneath. Use of the PCVS grounds for the Peterborough Panthers Football Club to practise on during the remaining Saturdays of April, was approved.

Inspector K. S. Wightman said the collection for the European Childrens' Fund held recently, amounted to $652.53. He explained this large sum was partially due to substantial contributions received from teachers and other money-raising activities undertaken by the schools.

The Music Teachers' Association was granted permission to announce in the schools that the children's concert to be held in George Street United Sunday School on Saturday, April 24. A child pianist will be guest artist.

William Burgess, substitute teacher for Miss Marie Hicks who has had a year's leave of absence granted because of illness, will be informed that as Miss Hicks is returning to the staff at the beginning of the next term his services will not be required.

An amendment to the pension plan for non-teaching employees who are now employees of the Board and will be unable to reach the 20-year mark before they are automatically retired, was approved. After 10 years of service the employee reaching the retiring age will receive a pension proportionate to his length of employment.

Delegates to the Urban School Trustees and Ontario School Business Officials will be A. Pitchford, W. E. Bannon, Frank Jobbitt, and the chairman. It will beheld in Ottawa May 10-12.

The property committee recommended that George Cloke, caretaker of Queen Mary School should be retired in accordance with the pension and retirement allowance plan for non-teaching employees beginning April 1 and his stated salary will be paid up to the time of his retirement.

Board members attending included D. V. Canning, A. Pitchford, Dr. R. C. Honey, W. E. Bannon, W. B. Gordon, Frank Jobbitt, G. Wilson Craw and Dr. H. G. Carleton.

CSU Asks Leave To Prosecute Five Companies

OTTAWA, April 9.—(CP). — The National Labor Relations Board yesterday reserved judgment on an application by the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) for leave to prosecute five steamship companies.

The C.S.U. charges the companies broke regulations in signing agreements with the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union. The C.L.S.U. was formed by J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, after he quit as C.S.U. president. He claimed the C.S.U. was Communist-dominated.

The companies accused by the C.S.U. are Canada Steamship Lines, Sarnia Steamships, Colonial Steamships, Transit Tankers and Terminals and Northwest Steamships.

The Board's decision is expected within a few days.

The C.S.U.-C.L.S.U. battle also was aired in the Commons yesterday.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) said the employees of the Sarnia and Colonial Companies had voted heavily in favor of certification of the C.S.U. as their bargaining agent.

"Yet these companies refused to bargain collectively with their employees," he said. "Another steamship company, according to my information, has refused the Department of Labor the right to take a vote of the employees of that company."

"What would be the situation and what action would the government take," he asked, "if after taking a supervised ballot the workers' organization did not recognize the validity of the vote?"

INSPECTOR-GENERAL AUREL LEMAY (above), of the Quebec Liquor Commission Police, holds an invitation to the week-end "social" held in Montreal which was raided recently when 57 "guests", including Pierre Gelinas, editor of the banned French-Canadian Communist paper, "Le Combat," were arrested. A portion of the Communist literature was seized at the meeting being held in the house is shown scattered on Insp.-Gen. Lemay's desk.

Prize Reduced To $12,789 In Sweepstake

MONTREAL, April 9. — Because ticket sales in the reorganized sweepstake conducted by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association did not measure up to expectations, the expected first prize of $40,000, won by Fred Hampshire, 63-year-old CPR blacksmith, was reduced to $12,789, it was learned here yesterday.

"I am not protesting about the money," said the winner. "Nor am I accusing anyone. But I do think the public should know just how much I received. I guess it just depends on how many tickets they sell."

The $12,789 windfall will not make any change in Hampshire's daily routine. "I am going to tuck the money in the bank," he said "If I gave up work I wouldn't live three days."

It was pointed out by officials connected with the sweepstake that there is a provision on the ticket which states that while the prize is expected to be a specific figure, that if this amount is not suscribed, the total collected will be distributed proportionately. The same provision is included in tickets on the Irish Sweepstakes.

Hampshire had a winning ticket on Sheila's Cottage, first in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, March 20. He hoped that as a result of publicity he had received he might get word from his sister, Edith "Dolly" Gowler, who was in London during the blitz. He has not heard from her since the war.

CO-ORDINATOR — C. M. Drury, of the External Affairs Department, former UNRRA official in Poland, has been named co-ordinator of the Marshall of European Recovery Plan in Canada and the Government has set up a series of committees to handle Canadian participation, it was announced recently.

Cripps Reduces Emigrant Money

LONDON, April 9—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced today in the House of Commons that he has slashed from £5,000 ($20,000) £1,000 ($4,000) the amount of money which an emigrant can transfer from the United Kingdom to his new residence during a four-year period.

Sir Stafford said he had been in consultation with Canada on the restriction and it was hoped to save from £3,000,000 to £4,000,000 worth of dollars annually by the new arrangement.

Sir Stafford said there was no intention of discouraging emigration but in the existing circumstances he had to seek every ecomomy in expenditure of foreign currency.

B.C. Ready To Ease Japanese Regulations

VICTORIA, April 9—(CP)—The British Columbia Government is prepared to abolish regulations which have the effect of prohibiting Japanese from working on Crown timber lands east of the Cascades.

Ships Have Trouble

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 9 — (AP). — Six or seven freighters in White Fish Bay north-west of the Soo Locks were reported having "heavy going" last night as gale-like north-west winds piled ice into ship lanes and plugged the St. Mary's River.

All ship traffic through the heavily-travelled locks was halted until the ice could be cleared away.

Steel Shortage Hits Industry

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Editor

A steel shortage which will cause embarrassment throughout industry is building up.

It results from the United States coal strike. Already America nsteel production faces a drop this week to 75 per cent of [illegible] and if the coal shut down continues it will become that much worse.

Repercussions will reach into Canada, which imports 25 to 30 per cent of her requirements from the United States, mainly types which can't be obtained here.

The present drop in production will be felt in the third-quarter of the year, about July, because raw steel which should be made now is what would be processed then.

War Potential Studied

One indication of the thought the United States is giving to rearmament possibilities is announcement that the American War Assets Administration has been told to hold up final disposition of unsold industrial plants, machine tools and production equipment in these plants.

No change has yet been made in procedure by Canadian War Assets Corporation, which is continuing to dispose of material still on hand.

Federal Labor Code Given House Approval In Principle

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, April 9—(CP).—The Federal Labor Code, which gives the Dominion authority over inter-provincial industries, won approval in principle in the Commons yesterday. The enabling bill was given second reading and referred to the Industrial Relations Committee for detailed study after Labor Minister Mitchell turned down CCF requests that its scope be widened to include operations such as the meat-packing industry.

At present, the measure gives the Federal Government jurisdiction over industries such as railroads, shipping and communications and can be extended to any other industry only by concurrent legislation by the provinces.

Mr. Mitchell said the Dominion would be able to step into a dispute such as the country-wide strike in the meat-packing industry last year if the provinces desired Federal action.

The chamber also debated the principle of a bill authorizing a $10-a-month increase in allowances paid to needy veterans of the First World War. Discussion will continue today.

Two bills aimed at facilitating Canada's participation in the United States European Recovery Program came up for study.

One extends the life of the wartime import and export permits act to April 1, 1950, and ensures that materials available for export from Canada contribute to the "maximum effect" in the rehabilitation of Europe under ERP. It was given second reading.

The second authorized the Crown-owned Export Credits Insurance Corporation to increase by another $100,000,000 the amount of insurance it may issue to protect Canadian exporters against losses on foreign sales.

Increase Salary

Preliminary approval also was given a measure to increase the salary of Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, from $8,000 to $10,000 a year. The legislation now undergoes committee examination.

In the opening stages, Mr. Mitchell told the House the government hopes for a settlement of the deep-sea strike within a few days and said telegrams received by his department indicated the unions and the ship owners are in direct negotiations.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced the government has decided to extend for another year — until July 31, 1949 — its policy of paying freight charges from the head-of-the-lakes on feed grains moving from western to eastern Canada and to British Columbia.

One government member — David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) — expressed criticism of the labor code bill, although he thought generally that it was a "very good start" on labor problems.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) said he was afraid the government was "paying attention to representations made to it by employer organizations and that it is no administering the law equitably."

Labor Loses 100 Seats

LONDON, April 9.—(AP). — The Labor party conceded last night a net loss of about 100 seats in the spring urban and rural district council elections. The Opposition Conservatives claim a gain of 249 seats in results checked so far. Their figures place the net Labor loss at 244. The other five were claimed from other parties and independents. About 500 seats out of 2,500 were contested. Results are still coming in.

Pulp and paper accounts for 44 per cent of all Canadian exports to the United States.

Education Costs Blamed For High Tax

By The Canadian Press

Rising costs of education and higher civic salary scales have driven Ontario's municipal tax rates to unprecedented high levels, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Recently announced rates in Ontario municipalities show an average increase of slightly more than five mills. With few exceptions, tax rates are the highest in history. Most centres reported rising education costs as the principal cause of rate boosts. Other causes were increased salaries of civic employees, rising costs of wages and material involved in maintenance and other public works, and extension of public services such as hospitals. Several communities were forced to raise rates to cover 1947 overdrafts.

A Department of Education official attributes higher school costs to salary increases granted teachers and high costs of building materials. School facilities have been expanded to accommodate a greater number of children born in years immediately preceding the war.

Toronto's tax rate showed little change from last year. General rates were 26.6 mills compared with 1947's 26.7. Public school rates increased a half mill to 11.9. Separate school rates from 14.5 to 15.2.

All-Time High

Hamilton rates reached an all-time high of 44.5, compared with last year's 39.75. Main causes of the rise were increased civic salaries, cost of maintaining institutions such as hospitals which are affected by high food prices, and increased Board of Education estimates.

In sharp contrast to the rest of the province, Windsor's 1948 rates were the lowest on record at 41.5 mills.

Niagara Falls tax rates rose from 41.5 in 1947 to 44 mills this year. Education costs were the principal factor in boosting Owen Sound rates from 58 to 67 mills. Kingston's 47.5 mill levy, an increase of more than six mills over last year, equalled the record established in 1936. Welland rates remained constant at 48 mills. An overdraft pushed Galt rates up six mills to 46.

Barbara Ann Scott was their bridesmaid.

Large Sum for Postage Realized at St. Luke's Tea

Response to a worthy cause from parishioners and friends of St. Luke's Church was overwhelming Thursday. A tea and sale of home cooking was arranged by members of the WA to raise funds for postage on parcels of good that are being sent regularly to Britain. They find no difficulty in collecting food and one appeal usually results in enough to fill two cartons but transportation charges are high and have been something of a problem. A crowd of nearly 200 yesterday brought ample funds to continue shipments, and almost completely exhausted supplies as conveners had anticipated fewer guests.

Pussywillows made a most attractive seasonal decoration for the team room, combined with sprays of apple blossoms and baskets of tulips and roses. Quartette tables with dainty white linen cloths were centred with a bright yellow daffodil and sprig of furry willow buds in a silver bud vase.

A cloth on the central table was of hand-crocheted ecru lace. A heavy silver candelbra held three bright green tapers and a bouquet of daffodils was in the centre, arranged in a silver basket. The tea service and tray used for this occasion were handsomely designed of silver.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Gordon Maniece, WA president, and Mrs. W. J. Gilling. They were shown all pieces of sewing that the association had done for an Indian girl in the north country by Mrs. E. Lee and Mrs. H. Lang. Delicious home cooking was for sale by Mrs. R. Krant, Mrs. W. King and Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Wilshire, Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. Jack Trennum, Miss Frances Legon, Mrs. M. Mesley, Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Storey, Mrs. Fred Dainton and Miss Joyce Wyatt. Pouring tea were Mrs. Mark Burnham and Mrs. J. J. Turner.

General convener of the tea was Mrs. Fraser Watson, assisted by Mrs. R. Parsons. Mrs. D. Wyatt was at the treasurer's table.

Rings and Vows Exchanged In Condon-McLean Union

A double ring wedding ceremony in St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday morning united Mary Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McLean of Peterborough, and Frederick Joseph Condon, son of Mrs. Margaret Condon of Hamilton and formerly of this city, and the late John Condon. The Rev. J. G. Kay officiated. Bouquets of red roses and white snapdragon were on the altar table. Mrs. Robert Aman played traditional wedding music and during the signing of the register, Mrs. D. Campanaro sang "On This Day."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful gown of ivory satin with yoke of fine net in the fitted bodice which topped a full skirt. Her veil of sheer embroidered net fell in a short train from a beaded headdress and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses, with white snapdragon.

The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Anne McLean of Peterborough. Her frock was of blue waterfall taffeta made with fitted bodice and short sleeves and side peplums on a wide full skirt. She wore a matching headdress and mittens and carried a cascade of deep pink roses with forget-me-nots. Mr. John Corkery was the groomsman and ushers were Leo McLean, brother of the bride, and Paul Condon, brother of the groom.

The reception afterward was at Kawartha Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother received, gowned in powder blue with draped skirt with black accessories and wearing a shoulder bouquet of deep pink roses. The groom's mother who also received was in pearl grey sheer crepe, wearing black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left later on a wedding trip to Toronto and Detroit. For travelling Mrs. Condon chose a light brown gabardine suit and matching straw hat, beige shortie coat and Kelly green shoes and bag. The couple will reside in Hamilton.

After the meeting adjourned, lunch was served by Mrs. Goselin and Mrs. Maloney.

M'Keever-Amyotte Nuptials Held Thursday

Immaculate Conception Church was the setting for a pretty spring-time wedding Thursday morning when Theresa Mary Amyotte became the bride of George McKeever. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Amyotte, Euclid Ave., and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKeever of Douro. The Rev. Gerrard Sullivan, cousin of the groom, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. D. Campanaro was soloist and Mrs. O'Donnel was at the organ.

The bride's gown was of white brocaded satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline on the fitted bodice and long sleeves coming to points over her hands. The skirt was full with bustle effect at the back. Her finger-tip veil of white embroidered net was caught to a headdress of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of red roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Catherine McKeever, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, frocked in pink sheer long-sleeved gown and wearing a matching halo hat, trimmed with flowers, and shoulder veil. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. James Amyotte, brother of the [illegible], was groomsman. Ushers were P. McManus and Ed. Amyotte.

The reception was held at Hooper's Palm rooms where Mrs. Amyotte received, assisted by Mrs. McKeever. The former was attired in grey figured silk with hat of black, and the latter wore a black printed crepe with matching accessories. Each had a corsage of red roses.

For her wedding trip to Toronto the bride donned a dress of rose crepe with brown topcoat and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeever will live on the groom's farm in Douro.

Home and School

QUEEN ELIZABETH

Mrs. M. A. Webster, VON, a graduate in psychiatric nursing from McGill University, was guest speaker Wednesday evening at Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association. Her address was based around the film shown, "The Feeling of Rejection." She told her audience that faulty early childhood training in the home affects, sometimes very seriously, the mental stability of adults. Mrs. O. Deyell thanked the speaker on behalf of the association.

Two grade four pupils, Arlene Payne and Doris Perry, sang a duet, "Robin on the Lawn." Arlene Jarvis recited "The Fighting Temeraire," which brought her third place in the recent Kiwanis Festival.

It was announced that the parents of grade 8 pupils are invited by Mr. J. H. Moebus, director of career planning, PCVS, to a meeting at the Collegiate on May 5; also an invitation was extended to members to attend euchre party and fashion show sponsored by the Bridgenorth Home and School Association. It was decided to assist the pupils by purchasing the lining and quilting a quilt which they are making for the Red Cross.

Mrs. P. Jarvis and Mrs. W. H. Frise reported on the OEA convention which they attended last week. Attendance honors went to Miss Cathcart's room. It was announced that the teachers would be responsible for the program for the May meeting.

Refreshments were served by the social convener, Mrs. J. Rea, assisted by Mrs. R. Kingdon and her committee.

Doreen Smith Wed Thursday To Robert Skuce, Omemee

BETHANY, April 9—(ENS)—St. Paul's Anglican Church, Bethany, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Thursday when the Rev. T. S. Gault solemnized the marriage of Doreen Mary Smith, youngest daughter of Mrs. Henry Smith and the late Mr. Smith, Bethany, to Robert Arthur Skuce, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Skuce of Omemee.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Carl Smith, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin and lace, made on princess lines with long pointed sleeves, with veil of silk net caught to a headdress of white satin roses, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Only attendant was her cousin, Miss Alma Leach of Peterborough, who was frocked in powder blue taffeta, made with fitted waist and full gathered skirt with matching halo hat and gloves, carrying a bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

Mr. Richard Skuce of Omemee was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Ira Skuce, brother of the groom and Mr. Gordon Smith of Colborne, brother of the bride. Mrs. George Neals, the bride's sister, played the wedding music. Just before the ceremony Mr. George Neals sang "Oh Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "I Love You Truly."

At the reception at the bride's home Mrs. Smith received her guests in a two-piece costume of black crpe and embrodiered net with matching black accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Skuce, who was wearing white dotted navy crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Miss Ruby Leach, Miss Isabel Jackson of Peterborough and Mrs. Robert Sisson of Bethany assisted at the buffet luncheon.

The bride's travelling costume was of grey wool, dressmaker style with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Skuce will reside on the groom's farm near Omemee.

Selfish Boy Is Advised His Duty to Help Family

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy 18 years old, an orphan, living with my sisters. Two of them are in school, and my older sister works and supports them. Now this is my problem: I don't want to work just now. I want more than anything else in the world to go to college, but my sister says she thinks it is just as much my duty to help take care of my younger sisters as it is hers.

Dorothy Dix

Don't you think that if I have the grit to work my way through college, she should be willing to shoulder the burden of the girls' support for three or four years?

EDWARD H.

ANSWER: I certainly do not see any justice in your evading your part of the family responsibility and dumping the whole load on your sister. It is just as much up to you to work and help support the younger sisters as it is up to her; and if you have any manhood in you, you will brace up and do it.

Suppose you do want to go to college. Probably she would like to travel extensively, and one of you has just as much right to gratify your desire as the other. You will say that the next three or four years are crucial ones in your life, and that if you had a better education it might help you to make more of a success in life.

Sis' Vital Years

She can say—with equal truth—that the next three or four years are a crucial time in her life. It willl be the time in which she will be most likely to marry. And if she does not have to work too hard and can have money to buy pretty clothes, she will stand a far better chance of catching a good husband than if she were overworked and underfed and shabby, as she would have to be if she had to support her younger sisters without any help from you.

It is all right for an individual to sacrifice himself in order to go to college if he wants to, but he hasn't any right to sacrifice others. And there are altogether too many families who are making martyrs of themselves for the fetish of a college education for some boy or girl of mediocre ability.

DEAR MISS DIX: We have a daughter 15 years old who attends a public school. Her mother discourages her making friends with those who are less fortunate socially, but she encourages the friendships and associations with those who are better placed in the world. I am afraid my daughter will become a snob, than which there is nothing worse to my mind. What do you think?

A READER

ANSWER: It is difficult to guide a girl in forming desirable friendships and associations without making her a snob, and certainly she had better be hail-fellow-well met with every Tom, Dick and Harry than to grow up into a lick-spittle who kowtows to those above her and snubs those below her.

However, it must be recognized that while a girl is in school she forms her social connections. Her intimate friends in the school room will be her intimate friends when she grows up. She will be invited to their parties and know their friends, and she will be known by the company she keeps. Moreover, a girl usually marries some man she meets at her friends' houses, so that her whole life is settled by her choice of friendships.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A year ago I broke off my engagement to a man whom I dearly loved because I found out that he was only marrying me for my money. Since this sad experience I have come to distrust all men. Yet I am very lonely and I certainly don't want to be an old maid. What shall I do?

LONESOME

ANSWER: Undoubtedly the poor little rich girl has less chance of making a good marriage than a poor girl, for she is the predestined prey of fortune-hunters, and worth-while men are afraid that they will be accused of living off of their wives, so they are apt to give the heiress a wide berth.

SMART AND PRACTICAL—If there is one girl of distinction, crisp, pretty, dainty yet efficient in costume and manner, it is the American business girl. For her, here is a design in uniform style, and a very effective get-up it is too. Sheer black crepe is used for the simple dress with its circular skirt, to which is added a big bow and colored plaid taffeta petticoat to match.

Georgetown Wins Infermediate A Title

OSHAWA, April 9. — Georgetown Raiders won the Ontario Hockey Association intermediate "A" hockey championship here Thursday night when they defeated Markham Millionaires, 4-3, in an overtime thriller.

Gibson was the star and hero of all the Georgetown fans for it was he who scored the winning goal in overtime, and it was also he who scored three of his team's total of four counters.

Lawyer For Cab

cited one case when it was claimed that a driver was held at the police station for two hours unable to communicate with his employer.

The drivers, he said, were willing to "co-operate with the police within reason," but he said the drivers felt they should not be expected to question the actions of all their passengers. Should a person commission a cab to take him to a certain address, stop there and leave shortly after with "a package," he contended that the driver should not be presumed to know the contents of it. It is not the responsibility of the drivers, he argued, to know the business of the passengers.

Police Chief Replies

Chief Constable John Thompson expressed surprise at the complaints registered. He said that he did not believe that such actions would be taken by police on the city force, and asserted that he would check the reports.

"I would hate to think that any of my men would do so," he told the Commission in regard to the cases of discourtesy alleged by the taxi drivers.

The case of the driver held two hours at the station was 'unknown to me,' said the Chief.

Judge Smoke referred to past instances when it was reported that the public was not receiving courteous treatment from the police.

The Chief said that, if such things were happening, "it certainly should not go on and efforts will be made to correct it."

ASKS FOR NEW SIGNS

The Police Commission Thursday recommended to the Board of Works that signs be erected at all signal light corners reading "Pedestrians cross only on green light." Pedestrian traffic, said the Committee to hold a tag day was ing this regulation.

THREE NEW POLICE

Advertisements for the positions of three new police constables will be inserted immediately, it was decided by the Police Commission Thursday. Applications are to be in the office of the Police Chief by April 17, and final decision by the Commission on the appointments will be made at a special meeting near the end of the month.

Weight Lifters Gain Titles In Good Show

Joe McGuire won the weightlifting championship of the city in the heavyweight division last evening in the YMCA. Light-heavyweight honors went to Bud Collins, with Ab Blondin taking the middleweight title, Ken Bailey best of the lightweights, and Bill Knight capturing the feather-weight championship.

It was a highly successful weightlifting show, culminating a winter of training, and a large crowd enjoyed the lifts, the bronze modelling, acrobatics and other exhibitions on the program. A number of outstanding lifters and physical culture experts from Toronto attended the show and some put on exhibitions. Mainly responsible for putting it across so successfully were the club officers, President Joe McGuire, Vice-President Ab Blondin, and Harry Botnick, secretary-treasurer, with Al Clark helping considerably in the background.

Total Lifts

McGuire lifted a total of 555 pounds, with Bud Collins also hoisting that weight. Blondin's total was 640, while Bailey had 495 and Knight 500. Joe Sklar, British Empire middleweight champion, of Toronto, lifted 770 to tie his previous mark; while Jim Varaleau, who is Dominion lightheavy champion, also tied his former mark with 750 in competition with Sklar.

Other guests were Wes Hurst of Bowmanville, lightweight champion of Canada, who put on an act; Norm Miller of Toronto, former feather champion and Olympic official, who officiated; Jack Cooper, former Dominion heavy champion; Bus Oliphant, physical culture expert of Toronto; and Vince Celcanese of Toronto, former ace lifter; besides several others from Toronto.

Participating in muscular posing were: Ab Blondin, Harry Botnik, Bob Brightman and Jack Huggins. The latter three also drew applause for their colorful bronze modelling. The junior "Y" leaders staged an interesting exhibition of club swinging with torches, and the McInroy sisters again proved popular with their clever acrobatic performance. Lucien Chevrier of Montreal, a beautifully-built specimen, demonstrated muscular posing.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ONE SUIT IS CRUCIAL

ON HAND after hand you sometimes find that the fate of the contract depends on how the declarer decides to play some one particular suit. Employing one method, he scores a certain number of tricks in it. Using another, he gets a different number, losing either one more or one less. That's why it pays to be familiar with the chances in favor of this and that way of playing a particular combination of cards, especially in trump suits. Presence of intermediate cards, like nines and tens, can often be the deciding factor.

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
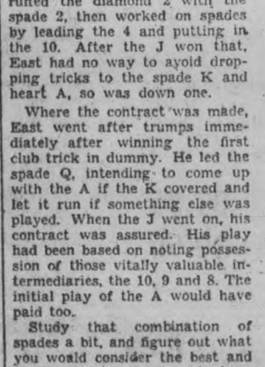
4 ♠

With that four-card trump holding and desiring to avoid shortening it by ruffs, the South players at two tables of a duplicate led their long-side-suit clubs, the 2, of course won in the dummy. One declarer carried the ball from there to make his contract, and the other managed to get himself set.



The unsuccessful declarer led the diamond K to the A on the second trick, won the returned club, scored the diamond Q, ruffed the diamond 2 with the spade 2, then worked on spades by leading the 4 and putting in the 10. After the J won that, East had no way to avoid dropping tricks to the spade K and heart A, so was down one.

Where the contract was made, East went after trumps immediately after winning the first club trick in dummy. He led the spade Q, intending to come up with the A if the K covered and let it run if something else was played. When the J went on, his contract was assured. His play had been based on noting possession of those vitally valuable intermediaries, the 10, 9 and 8. The initial play of the A would have paid too.

Study that combination of spades a bit, and figure out what you would consider the best and worst ways to play it, and why.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

After West leads the ace of the spades which dummy had bid, how should South play for 5 Clubs, doubled by West?

100 Killed, 200 Hurt In Columbia

Rioters Loot Bogota Start Many Fires All Americans Safe

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 10. —(AP).— Revolutionary rioting subsided early today in the burning and looted centre of Bogota. A presidential statement said forces of the Conservative givernment controlled the situation.

Delegates to the ninth international conference of American states still were cooped up in their headquarters, facing a shortage of food.

The newspaper El Tempo said 100 were killed and 200 were injured in the revolt which flared suddenly yesterday with the assassination of the Liberal party leader. Some 35 buildings were put to the torch by a howling mob.

As dawn came, gangs still roamed the streets, setting new fires. Shooting broke out sporadically, but by 6 a.m. the streets were almost deserted. Those who remained poked around the remains in the looted, burning shops. No police or troops were seen on the main streets. Apparently they still were confined to the area of the presidential palace.

(State Secretary Marshall and his American staff in Bogota for the Inter-American conference all are safe, the secretary reported by telephone to Washington).

The large plaza south of the United States Embassay was ablaze last night and a gun battle raged nearby.

The revolution followed the assassination yesterday of a liberal leader and resulted in the setting up a liberal junta. The government of President Mariano Ospina Perez is mainly conservative.

No police were seen on the street. The few soldiers about apparently were unable to halt teh widespread looting.

Earlier last night President Ospina Perez said forces of the conservative government were regaining control of the situation.

The President issued a communique accusing Communists of inciting the uprising. He said steps had been taken to restore order.

Surprise Move Expected From Russians

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP).—Some spectacular Russian act to influence Italy's elections is expected by American officials after the brusque western suggestion that Russia make up her mind about Trieste.

Britain, the United States and France yesterday asked the USSR to take astand—without further delay—on their proposal to turn the disputed city back to Italy.

Moscow has kept silent since the plan was advanced unexpectedly March 20 and quickly accepted by Italian Premier De Gasperi's anti-Communist government.

With only eight days left before the crucial Italian election, the western powers asked the Russians to meet in Paris early next month to work out the Trieste transfer details. It would mean revision of the Italian peace treaty which went into effect last September.

Moscow might hope to win votes for Communism by accepting. But some Russian action more positive and spectacular is considered far more likely by authorities here.

One such action could be a Russian offer to give up the $300,000,000 in Italian reparations granted in the peace treaty. The other powers renounced their reparations claims when the pact was drafted.

Yugoslavia, a Russian satellite, is bitterly opposed to giving up its share of the Trieste territory, but presumably would follow a Moscow order to fall in line.

Without waiting for Russia's reply, Britain and the United States are going ahead with plans to turn back some administrative powers in thir joint occupation zone to the local Italian population Monday.

South Africans To Vote May 26

JOHANNESBURG, April 10.—(AP)—The Union of South Africa will hold a general election May 26, an official proclamation announced today.

The election will be fought out primarily by Prime Minister Smuts, veteran internationalist and leader of the United Party, and Dr. Francois Malan, outspoken isolationist and head of the Nationalist Party.

At the outbreak of the Second World War, the Nationalists sought to have South Africa declare itself a neutral, but Smuts managed to defeat their motion in parliament. During the war the Nationalists agitated for a separate peace on several occasions.

In the domestic field the Nationalists seek complete racial segregation and the elimination of Indians and Africans from legislative bodies.

Two other parties, Labor and Independents, also are expected to campaign for parliamentary seats.

Two Die In Tub

BINGHAMPTON, NY, April 10—(AP).—Two little girls climbed into a baihtub last night and switched on a radio beside the tub. Two hours later, Wanda Thompson, 12, and Marlene Monell, 11, were found face-to-face in the tub, dead of electric shock. The radio had fallen from a shelf into the water.

14 Officers To Hang For Murders

Stiffest Penalty Handed Down By Any War Judges

NUERNBERG, April 10.—(AP).—Fourteen officers of the SS (Elite Guard) were sentenced today to hang for at least 1,000,000 killings. The sentences wound up the biggest murder trial in history.

The men were leaders of the 'Einsatz Commandos." These were special extermination squads sent into Russia to do away with peoples classified by the Nazis as radically undesirable.

Two other men drew life terms. Another five were sent to prison for lesser terms ranging down to 10 years.

The judgment by the American court was the stiffest ever handed down in the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

The international military tribunal which tried top Nazi leaders condemned only 12 defendants to death.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge Michael A. Musmanno, presiding over a three-man court, at the end of trial lasting seven months.

Maj.-Gen. Otto Ohlendorf was one of those sentenced to death. He admitted in the trial that his Einsatz group killed 90,000 Jews.

Maj. Heinz Schubert was another of the condemned. He claims distant relationship to Franz Schubert composer of the "Unfinished Symphony" and other well known works.

Ohlendorf and 10 co-defendants were found guilty yesterday of all three counts of the indictment against them: "War crimes, crimes against humanity and membership in a criminal organization"—the SS and SD. The latter was a spy-directing group.

Another defendant was found guilty only of membership in a criminal organization, and the last was acquitted.

The slightly built Ohlendorf heard the sentence with the detached air of a man who knew it was ordained all along.

Ohlendorg was top man in a special brigade of 2,000 triggermen organized by Hitler and Heinrich Himmler to follow armies into Russia and wipe out Jews, gypsies and others tagged by the Nazis as racial undesirables."

Musmanno imposed the sentences in the courtroom where Hermann Goering and other leading Nazis were condemned by

Reds, British Start Enquiry

BERLIN, April 10 — (AP). — British and Russian officials have taken steps toward a two-power investigation of the air crash over Berlin which killed 15 persons last Monday.

The Russian-controlled German news agency ADN said last night Russian occupation authorities have named a board to work with British officials in seeking the causes of the accident.

A Russian fighter plane and a British transport aircraft collided as the British plane was coming in to land. Twelve Britons, two Americans and the Russian pilot were killed.

The news announcement followed a mild British reply yesterday to the Soviet military governor, who had blamed Britain for the accident. In this note, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor, dropped an earlier demand for a four-power inquiry and accepted a Russian suggestion for a British-Russian probe.

Earlier, British officials had blamed the Russian plane for causing the accident and demanded assurances the air corridor to the western zones be free from molestation.

The Russians tightened up their traffic control in the Berlin Russian area and for the first time last night stopped a United States army freight truck leaving the city. The vehicle was hauling household furniture for the United States consulate at Bremen.

The Russians insisted the cargo carry the stamp of the Russian government in Berlin.

NEW RSM BADGE—Canadian Regimental Sergeant - Majors soon will be sporting a new badge of rank—one that for the first time in the history of the Canadian Army will be distinctively Canadian in design. In describing the badge, Ottawa authorities said it is more colorful than, and differs greatly from the badge now being worn which is of Imperial design. The badge is three inches high and two and a half inches wide. It will be worn by all Warrant Officers, Class I, replacing both the RSM's badge and Conductor's (RCOC) badge now in use.

Cooke Verdict Makes History On Two Counts

EDMONTON, April 10.—(CP).—The first judgment of its kind in commonwealth legal history rendered free yesterday publisher Jack Kent Cooke of New Liberty magazine.

Mr. Cooke's acquittal made legal history on two counts. He was the first man to be tried—and freed—for "counselling" rather than committing a defamatory libel and the first to be tried in a Canadian province other than his own on a libel charge.

The finding by Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride of the Supreme Court of Alberta, who had presided without jury, satisfied the defence as to the indictment against Mr. Cooke personally.

There remained apprehension, however, that the "new threat" seen to the freedom to the press in Canada in the proceedings had been 'left hanging in the air."

Defence counsel Joseph Sedgwick had questioned the "propriety of the proceedings," saying that Alberta had "subverted the clear intent" of the libel law that editors and publishers be tried in the province in which the libel allegedly was commited.

While Mr. Cooke, writer Harold Dingman of New Liberty and welfare authority Dr. Charlotte Whitton also has been charged with "conspiracy" to libel their common indictment was "stayed" last Monday at the request of the Crown.

Opinion late today weighed against the probability of any revival of the charges, although Crown Prosecutor C. S. Blanchard said a definite announcement would be made Monday.

In marked contrast to the penalty provided by the criminal code $200 or one year in jail — were the $25,000 expenses mentioned locally as having been incurred in the trial.

Convening the court, searching for evidence, travelling expenses of witnesses, many of whom covered thousands of miles twice between Edmonton, Toronto and Montreal, will cost between $5,000 and $7,000 Attorney-General Lucien Maynard has said.

Mr. Cooke said today his expenses probably would be $20,000, the greater part in legal fees.

2 Deaf Mutes Killed At Hamilton

Stepped In Front Of Automobile; Four Others Hurt

HAMILTON, April 10—(CP)—Two deaf mute pedestrians were killed, four persons were injured, and two cars were wrecked in an accident early today on Main St. West in front of the Westdale secondary Schools.

Killed were Gordon Evans, 29, and Gordon Etty, 21, both of Hamilton. They were reported to have been crossing Main St. when they stopped and stepped back into the path of a car driven by George Bullis, 31, of Hamilton.

In hospital were Mr. Bullis, with a lacerated nose, a cut knee and a bruised chest; Mrs. Kathleen Chapman, with a broken shoulder blade, a fractured wrist, cut lip, and shock; John Chapman, cuts to both legs, body bruises, and shock; and Mrs. Elsie Haymes, bruises to the forehead and chest, and shock. All ar Hamilton residents.

Charles Haymes, her husband, was the driver of the other car involved in the accident.

Arabs Using Heavy Artillery

JERUSALEM, April 10 (AP).—Arab artillery hammered away today at Jews entrenched in the hilltop village of Kastel along the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway.

(Reuters News Agency reported that the Arabs had recaptured Kastel today.)

It was believed howitzers of Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji's Arab army were slamming shells into the most fought-over village in Palestine communal strife.

Jewish forces told reporters that 200 Arabs were killed in the attack on the village of Deir Yassin, four miles southeast of Kastel. They said 100 of them were women and children. They put their own dead at four killed and 40 wounded.

Is today's shelling of Kastel a heavy barrage was heard for an hour in Jerusalem five miles away but no casualty report was available. Shelling slacked off at dawn today, but small arms fire was audible.

The fight over the strategic village has been going on for a week, ever since the Jews first drove out the Arabs. The Arabs used it as a rallying point for smashing at Jewish convoys bound for Jerusalem.

Jewish forces have occupied it since last Saturday, except for a 24-hour period when Arab reinforcements threw them out. They knifed in again yesterday, routing Arab forces.

Abdul Khader Bey Husseini, cousin of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, died in the Arab attack that took Kastel Thursday.

Jungle Fighters, Bandits Hunted By Malayan Police

SINGAPORE, April 10—(Reuters).—Combined British military and police patrols went into action at dawn today to trap 400 armed guerrillas operating in the border jungles between Malaya and Siam, in the last phase of the biggest anti-bandit campaign in Malaya in the last 50 years.

The well-organized bandits have been demanding "protection money from traffic moving between Malaya and South Siam and in parts of north Perak.

Assistant Superintendent G. C. Sansom, the Briton who was shot yesterday by a guerrilla posing as a Chinese guide, had been taking part in the anti-bandit operations.

British troops, equipped for jungle warfare, moved in early today and were converging with the police in the guerrillas' jungle hideout.

A police officer said that in some parts of North Perak, the guerrillas sad set up their own "government" and were collecting taxes. He said that a successful operation would affect the whole of Malaya, where bandits are active from the Siam border to Singapore.

Contact has not been made with the bandits but 15 suspects have been arrested.

Details of Sansom's assassination said that he was shot in the knee by a Chinese bandit who had posed as a guide and had been attached to the party. He died about half an hour later from loss of blood while being carried out of the jungle.

Other members of the party shot and killed the guide.

Many guerrillas, former jungle fighters against the Japanese, refused to disband after the surrender of Japan.

DEATH INVESTIGATED—Mrs. Jane Murdoch Gordon, 27, of 180 St. Clair Ave. E., estranged wife of a Toronto doctor, whose body was found in a ditch beside a York Mills street early yesterday morning. Her death from an illegal operation is being investigated.

Police Seek Murder Clinic In Death of Mrs. Gordon

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—Names and telephone numbers in a small blue book found in the coat pocket of Mrs. Jane Murdoch Gordon, 27, were checked by police today in a hunt for a clumsy abortionist blamed for her death. Veteran law officers said they were shocked by the inept manner in which the illegal operation was performed.

"We're looking for a murder clinic," declared one investigator assigned to the hunt for the abortion ring.

The autopsy finding spurred the search for the persons held responsible for the events which led to the discovery of the young brunette's body early yesterday on a roadside at the northern city limits. The abortion death was the second in recent months.

Still a mystery is the identity of the man responsible for the woman's pregnancy. A married business man said he loaned her $500 found in her purse but denied responsibility for her condition.

He is employed by a firm in the downtown business area in which Mrs. Gordon worked as a switchboard operator and stenographer for a mining firm. Police said they expect to interview him further.

"It's all a mystery to me," was the comment of the woman's husband, Dr. Neil S. Gordon, formerly of Ottawa, who recently joined the staff of the city health department. He and the former Jane Murdoch were married June 20, 1942.

Still happily unaware of her mother's death is the couple's five-year-old daughter. The dimpled little girl joined in games at her nursery school yesterday and sang with her playmates:

"Here We Go Gathering Nuts in May."

Held 4 Months Without Indictment

TORONTO, April 10. (CP) — The Assize Court Grand Jury yesterday reported that Edward Debrosky of Toronto has been held in Toronto's Don Jail for nearly four months without an indictment apparently being brought against him.

The grand jury was charged by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer to discover whether any man was held in the Don Jail illegally. Debrosky was arrested Dec. 21 on a charge of having narcotics illegally and police claim he is a dope addict.

Instructing the grand jury earlier, Mr. Justice McRuer said: "Not even for one day may a person be held for jury trial without a proper bill of indictment. If you find any such, report it to me."

The grand jury reported to Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder who made no comment except to promise the matter would be brought to the immediate attention of proper authorities.

Clear Lake Fire Levels Garage

A grass fire of undetermined origin Friday afternoon destroyed a garage at Sandy Point, Clear Lake, belonging to W. J. Hamilton, Homewood Ave., Peterborough. The building housed three boats valued at $1,000, cedar strip outboard, canoe and dinghy The building was valued at $500, Mr. Hamilton states. Oscar Reid, Highway 28, north of Young's Point, sounded the alarm to the Young's Point volunteer fire brigade about 5 p.m. and a dozen men with hand pumps and buckets responded to the call.

The fire had worked from the grass into a stump fence to the garage and was fanned by a brisk wind. Mr. Tom Lawlor, owner of South Beach hotel, sent his force fire pump and with all working hard to prevent the spreading of the blaze it was finally extinguished. Mr. Pelton, Young's Point, states that if Mr. Hamilton had not cleaned up the summer debris in his lot last fall, Friday's fire could not have been stopped from spreading into the colony of expensive summer homes along the water front. He urged all cottagers to take such precautions each autumn to prevent serious consequences from spring grass fires. Owners of several neighboring cottages drove to Clear lake last night after hearing of the fire.

To Interpret Russ Veto As Unfriendly

Grave Injustice Done Italians Security Council Told

LAKE SUCCESS, April 10 — (CP). — The United States demanded today that Italy be admitted to the United Nations immediately.

United States delegate Warren R. Austin told the Security Council that another Russian veto of the application could be interpreted by the world only as an expression of the Soviet Union's lack of friendship for the Italian people.

Britain, the United States and France jointly reopened the Italian application in the Council, where Russia twice vetoed it in 1947. The move was timed with this month's Italian election, where the Communists are fighting for power.

Austin said a grave injustice has been done to Italian people by the Russian vetoes.

"We ask that they immediately be granted their rightful position among nations," the American delegate added.

He assailed the Russian position that Italy should be admitted only along with Finland, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, other ex-enemy states. The U.S. opposes Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, Austin said:

"Surely there is no justice in penalizing a people who have proved themselves to be qualified for membership by coupling them with states which by their own actions have shown they are clearly disqualified

"This attempt at barghining is surely beneath the dignity of this council.

"If the same tactics are attempted and if this council should unfortunately fail to recommend Italy's admission . . . . the world can interpret the act in no other way than as an expression by the Soviet Union as a lack of friendship for the people of Italy."

Russian vetoes also hung over the heads of five other applying countries previously blocked by Russia.

Five of the 11 previously rejected applicants, opposed by the United States as Russian satellites, were expected to fall short of the necessary seven affirmative votes.

This left Burma as the only applicant with any certainty of winning council endorsement.

The delegates were interested particularly in Russia's action on Italy, because of the possible effects a Russian veto might have on the Communist showing in the Italian national election April 18.

In adition to Italy, the countries facing a Soviet veto were Finland, Austria, Eire, Portugal and Trans-Jordan. Those facing rejection for lack of a majority

80-Mile Ride

DECATUR, Ill., April 10 — (AP)—A tornado has spread the word around that Dorothy Plegg is a straight "A" pupil in Fosterburg, Ill. Her report card was found today sticking in a hedge on a farm at Bearsdale, near Decatur. The girl's parents said it must have been carried 80 miles by the tornado which destroyed the Fosterburg school building March 20.

Roasted Rattlesnake Steaks Said A Delicacy Taste Like Rabbit But Gamy And Tender

ENID, Okla., April 10. (AP) —Rattle-snake hunters are convinced that proof of the pudding is in the eating.

With the usual accompaniment of "oohs" and "ahhs" and some "ughs", 500 reptile rousers trooped into a dining hall to partake of a little rattlesnake steak.

It was the real thing, too, with tiny curved ribs like a miniature standing roast. This treat started off the ninth annual convention of the International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters here last night. Hunters from 17 states will go after the rattlers in earnest tomorrow. A year ago, 5,000 hunters came back with 500 snakes.

Only about 100 eager souls got to sample the delicacy last night.

If you want to know what it tastes like—and you may quote The Associated Press—the meat resembles chicken or rabbit. Only it is richer and gamer. It is white, solid and tender.

Meddlesome Mother-in-Law Stymied Fence Built In Room Restricts Travel

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10. — (AP). — Harlan Roscoe Hand has erected a fence against his mother-in-law — right down the middle of a room.

A matter of self-defence, you might say, since Hand claimed in court that every time his wife's mother, Mrs. Nola Meyer of Tulsa, Okla. came visiting there was trouble.

Normally, Hand testified, his married life was very happy. He said he would like to keep it that way.

Anyhow Hand got an injunction last Tuesday restraining his visiting mother-in-law to a back room. He said he put up the fence to enforce the court order which designated one section of the house as Mrs. Meyer's, the other Hand's.

Steve Bowers lawyer for Hand, said yesterday that "as long as Mrs. Meyer stays on her side of the fence everything is okay If she crosses, she goes to jail."

40 People Homeless At Beachville In Renfrew County

BEACHBURG, Ont., April 10.—(CP).—Water still is being poured today into the embers of 10 homes and a general store destroyed yesterday in a six-hour fire which threatened to wipe out this Renfrew county village 90 miles north-west of Ottawa. Some 40 persons are homeless.

Damage was estimated at $250,000 as flames leaped from a kitchen stove in the home of Lowell MacLennan, caught to the roofs and walls of adjoining dwellings and temporarily crippled electrical circuits and telephone communications. There were no reports of injuries.

Hampered by a small water supply and a high wind, firemen from Pembroke, Cobden and other district points fought the roaring blaze.

From the brick house of MacLennan, the fire spread to a general store owned by James Bennie. One home after another fell prey to the flames which reached to the outskirts of Beachburg, gutting the farm of Joseph Beach.

Whipped by a 25-mile-an-hour wind, the flames spread half a mile across fields to ignite barns and stables on the Beach farm.

Other rural homes were gutted as volunteers found the only water available in a tiny mill creek running through the village.

As the wind subsided, fire fighters were able to bring the blaze under control. Hydro facilities and telephone communications were immediately re-established.

Oldest Citizen Dies

CALGARY, April 10 (CP).—Calgary's oldest and one of its first citizens, the man who laid out the city streets and avenues, Allan Patrick, died at his home here yesterday, three months short of his 100th birthday. He was in his usual good health until the moment of his death. He was one of Calgary's most colorful personalities. He did commercial surveying jobs after his 95th birthday, was one of the city's best gardeners and one of its most ardent bridge fans.

the State department in Washington reported Communists appear to be abetting the revolution and helping attempts to provoke a strike.

(Diplomatic officials in Washington scanned Bogota reports today to determine just what role the Communists are playing in the revolution. Authorities said the Commuist party in Colombia has about 8,000 members.)

Rebels Hold Buildings

Ospina Perez said the fighting was diminishing.

Revolutionary leaders claimed, however, the revolution was spreading throughout the country. Earlier in the day the liberals proclaimed their own government.

(Parts of this story were received in the form of a joint dispatch sent from Bogota by 10 foreign correspondents, including Joseph F. McEvoy of The Associated Press, and received by the State Department in Washington. Other portions came direct from Bogota by Commercial channels and still others were relayed by The Associated Press Bureau in Caracas, Venezuela.)

Delegates to the ninth Pan American conference in the Capitol building left the building when the rioting started. Newspaper men still inside were endangered when parts of the structure were set afire.

The building remained in the hands of the rebels.

Late last night Gen. Armando Revoredo, chief of the Peruvian delegation to the conference, offered Lima as a replacement site for the parley.

Delegates were reported ready to meet today to consider the situation and possibly decide whether to continue here, postpone the conference or accept the Peruvian offer.

All members of the Chilean, Peruvian, Mexican, Bolivian and Uruguayan delegations have been accounted for, though scattered through the city.

21 Countries Attend

Top-ranking diplomats of 21 countries are in Bogota for the conference, which opened March 30. The delegates have discussed Communism in the Western Hemisphere, among other problems. Canada, which is not a member of the Pan-American Union, did not send an observer.

Bogota had the appearance of a war-blitzed city as mobs indulged in an orgy of burning and looting.

(The State Department, in a message sent by a group of American newspaper men, said "all food markets have been looted." Hundreds, including members of foreign delegations, are "marooned" in downtown buildings, it said, "but no foreigners have been reported harmed.")

Dynamite explosions were heard in the vicinity of the embassy as rioters tried to blow open doors of other buildings.

Two leaders of Ospina Perez' government were slain. The rebels claimed Foreign Minister Laureano Gomez a Conservative leader and head of the Colombian delegation to the Pan-American Conference, was killed. He later was reported safe in the United States embassy.

The mobs killed Jose Antonio Montalvo, minister of mines and petroleum, and Guillermo Leon Valencia, a Conservative party leader.

Police and troops have been divided by the revolt. Some support the Conservatives, others the Liberals. Still others, regardless of political leanings, are endeavoring to restore order in the city.

The rioting was touched off by the assassination of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, Liberal party presidential candidate for 1950.

Gaitan was shot by an unknown assailant. He died an hour later.

The man believed to have shot him was killed by the demonstrators. His body was dragged before the presidential palace and torn to pieces.

An insurgent radio broadcast said Dr. Dario Echandia, veteran Liberal and president of the revolutionary Junta, had managed to see Ospina Perez in the presidential palace and was trying to encourage him to resign.

Homesick

herds feasted and lived in luxury.

That accusation too, we of the present generation may well take to heart. Many today are feasting and reveling while millions starve. Thank God many more are aware of the sufferings of others and sharing generously with those in need, even at considerable personal sacrifice.

The Jews still are scattered over the face of the earth, and those who are in exile in lands where they have lost all their possessions and are truly "displaced persons," are homesick and heartsick, longing for homes and security. Ezekiel promised his exiles that God would take care of them, bring them together in their own land, where He would help them to make the land to blossom and bear fruit like the Garden of Eden.

The closing verses of our lesson today tell the parable of the valley of dry bones to which the Lord transported Ezekiel. As Ezekiel "prophesied" over them, the bones were assembled into human skeletons, the skeletons were clothed with fresh, muscle skin, etc., and the breath of life was blown into them by the four winds of heaven.

When this latter was accomplished, there was a "great army," symbolizing the restoration of a great nation.

We of today are not looking forward to a great army or a great nation. We want a great world of brotherhood and justice, and that is the ideal to which we are working with God's help.

J. Diefenbaker Seeking Bill Of Rights

OTTAWA, April 10 — (CP). — A demand that the government ask the Supreme Court whether Parliament has the constitutional power to draft a Canadian Bill of Rights was placed before the Commons yesterday by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre).

Lang an advocate of a Bill of Rights, the Saskatchewan member charged the Federal Government with trying to hide behind the constitutional issue in the domestic sphere and with shirking its responsibilities in the forming of an international Bill of Rights under the United Nations Charter.

His demand for a Supreme Court reference took the form of an amendment to a government motion to re-establish the Parliamentary Committee on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. The question of a Bill of Rights came before the committee last year.

Specifically, his amendment proposed the government "immediately submit" to the Supreme Court "such questions as are necessary to determine to what extent the preservation of the fundamental freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly and the maintenance of constitutional safeguards of the individual are matters of Federal jurisdiction.

He spoke after Justice Minister Ilsley, moving the main motion, reported that the opinions obtained from Provincial Attorneys General indicated none of them thought the Dominion had the constitutional power to draft such a bill.

Earlier, the Chamber approved the principle of a Government Bill to increase allowances to the needy war veterans by $10 a month—to $40 for single veterans and to $70 for those married. Opposition members criticized the legislation as being inadequate.

In the private members hour, the House gave second reading to 158 divorce bills and voted 99 to 34 to reject a CCF motion to send a bill increasing the capitalization of the Bell Telephone Company to the Railway Committee.

At the House opening, Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced the government will absorb the increased freight charges on transporting feed grains from western to eastern Canada and British Columbia. The increase—$1 a ton—results from the 21-per-cent. boost authorized in the general freight rate structure.

Fisheries Minister MacKinnon announcing a new government policy on export of raw salmon to the United States, said there will be no restriction in shipments of raw spring salmon but exports of raw cohoe will be prohibited from Sept. 1 this year.

Veterans Minister Gregg, defending the veterans' legislation, met opposition objections to its means test—a stipulation that beneficiaries have no other income above certain limits—with the statement that this clause was administered with a view to the interest of veterans and their dependents. The main body of present recipients would receive the increase automatically.

The opposition was led by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C.-Nanaimo), who termed the bill inadequate and said the increased allowances would not meet the veterans' needs. The limits on permissible outside income which may be earned also were not high enough.

Plea for Veterans

Julian Fergusion (P.C.-Simcoe North) charged the government with dealing with the veterans in a "niggardly fashion" and urged it to "lean over backwards" to be "over-generous." The means test should be eliminated and a full $10 increase awarded automatically.

D. King Hazen (P.C.-St. John-Albert) suggested provision be made for an allowance to men who enlisted for the Boer War but did not reach the battle lines before the Armistice. These men, of whom few were left, were old and needed assistance.

Garfield Case, (P.C.-Grey North) said Canadian service men were "all too soon forgotten." Their years in uniform were "lost years" as far as civilian advancement was concerned. Veterans were not asking "preferred treatment"—they and their widows and children were entitled to "just reward".

Mr. Case criticized the means test. Canada should be "generous" to her veterans, showing them the nation was as solidly behind them in peace as in war.

Claire Gillis (C.C.F.-Cape Breton South) urged that consideration be given to extending the allowance to Canadian veterans now living in the United States, in the same way that veterans living abroad receive their pension.

Capt. John Probe (C.C.F.-Regina City) suggested the increase be supplemented by a "sliding-scale" cost-of-living bonus. The present allowances gave no protection against unpredictable costs arising from injury or serious illness.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C.-MacLeod) repeated his recent suggestion that veterans be freed from the necessity of paying income tax, especially when the tax was aimed at paying off the war debt. The government should abolish the means test.

FOUND BODY—Laverne Stafford, Thornhill, taxi driver, found the body of Mrs. Jane Gordon on his way back from a fare. Mrs. Gordon was the mother of a five-year-old daughter, who is at a boarding nursery school, police said. Mrs. Gordon's death is the second in recent months that police have suspected to be connected with a clinic.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of Russia indicated earlier this week that his position had not changed. He said he would vote for Italy and Finland if the Council acted on them as part of an ex-enemy bloc along with Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

This was ruled out, however, by the western powers which said they would insist on separate votes on each country as they did last year.

Work To Sustain Baseball In Holland

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 10.—(AP). — The United States was on to be today for young "honkbal" (baseball) players of the Netherlands, launching a country-wide drive to collect new and used baseball equipment for Dutch youth.

Promoting and directing the campaign to avert collapse of baseball in the little European country because of lack of equipment is an organization "Hankbal (Baseball) Headquarters, Inc." established here strictly as a good will venture.

The idea sprung from a letter written by the catcher of a Dutch amateur team who wrote that baseball, fostered in the Netherlands during the Second World War by Canadian and American soldiers, is about to die because of a shortage of balls, bats, gloves and uniforms.

Headquarters here will receive, sort, pack and ship the donated equipment to New York, from where United Service to Holland will relay it to the Netherlands.

Congress Turns Thumbs Down On Controls

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP).— New inflation warnings from the White House again ran into this blunt retort today from Republican members of Congress —thumbs down on government controls.

President Truman's council of economic advisers raised the alarm.

In a "guns or butter" economic report, the council analyzed the impact of United States economy of $6,000,000,000 in foreign aid spending, the 27-day-old coal strike and a proposed $3,000,000,000 outlay for defence. Then the President's advisers urged:

1. Administration power to say how scarce products will be distributed, plus indirect manpower controls to steer workers into vital industries.

2. New taxes to cover future boosts in government spending for military prepardness.

3. Enactment of the "standby" price, wage and ration authority asked last year by Truman, as well as power to control bank and consumer credit.

The reaction of representative Jesse Wolcott (Rep.-Mich.), chairman of the House of Representatives banking committee, was cold.

"It seems unnecessary," he told reporters, "to restore any controls until we see the impact on our economy of the military spending and foreign aid."

The council of economic advisers called for a "systematic and vigorous discipline" to meet the pressures on the economy. Its quarterly report was made public last night by the White House.

Italian Campaign Cools 32 Hours

ROME, April 10—(AP)—The cabinet today ordered a 32-hour political cooling-off period before Italians vote April 18.

In its last session before the elections, the cabinet ordered campaigning to end at midnight April 16. This gives a 32-hour respite before voting starts at 8 a.m. the following Sunday.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi, his bags packed for a last week of campaigning, presided over his anti-Communist cabinet.

In another election decree the cabinet ordered schools closed from April 12 to 22 so students can be used as election aides.

Members heard a report from Interior Minister Mario Scelba on security measures to preserve order during the elections. He has announced 400,000 poll watchers will be assigned to keep the peace.

Rome newspapers reported there may be sensational developments when Vice-Premier Randolfo Pacciardi holds a press conference tonight. He is leader of the Moderate Leftist Republican party.

Allied Control Council Delays Meeting

BERLIN, April 10 — (AP) — Gen. Lucius Clay announced today there will be no meeting of the Allied Control Council for Germany tomorrow, the regular meeting day.

Clay, United States military governor and council chairman for April, explained that none of the four occupying powers had asked for a session.

This development emphasized the new low to which four-power co-operation has fallen since the Russians opened up their recent campaign to crowd the western Allies out of Berlin.

The Control Council is Germany's top ruling body, made up of the British, American, French and Russian military governors. It has not met since the Russians walked out on the March 20 session.

Russian Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, March chairman, failed to call a meeting for March 30, the regular day. The chairmanship rotates among the four powers each month.

Finally Approve

Russian authorities today were reported to have approved finally the setting up of a Communist-controlled economic commission for their occupation zone embracing eastern Germany.

Top British, American and French leaders conferred yesterday on the idea of a merger of the French zone with the economically-combined American and British zones in the west.

High American officials denied today reports that final agreement on a merger had been reached.

Czech Plane Plot Known Before Flight

FRANKFURT, April 10 (AP)—The aerial flight of 20 anti-Communist Czechs into Germany was carefully plotted in advance, the fugitives related here today.

A Czech army colonel who once flew with Britain's RAF, organized the flight, they said.

Eighteen of the 26 persons aboard the Czech National Airlines plane knew of the plot before they took off from Prague Tuesday, ostensibly headed for Bratislava.

Two decided to join the flight when they learned that the plane had been diverted from its course in midair and flown to a United States Army base in Germany.

Only six insisted on going back to Czechoslovakia. They left Munich by train today en route home.

Ten of the fugitives are still in Munich. The other 10 came here by train today, hoping to get to London.

"We want to find some work to do there that will help free our country," one said.

They declined to give their names, since "some of us still have families in Czechoslovakia." They conceded the Czech police probably could identify them all, because they signed their last names on the passenger list, "but we don't want to help them identify us."

Gets Indefinite Term For Jabbing Baby

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., April 10 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Harper, 26-year-old mother who pleaded guilty to jabbing a safety pin into her baby's skull, today was sentenced to an indefinite term in the State Industrial Home for women.

Mrs. Harper pleaded guilty on Feb. 13 to a charge of assault with intent to kill.

A statement introduced at the woman's hearing in February quoted her as saying she pushed a two-inch safety pin into the head of her 10-day-old son last January because:

"I just decided that if I could not have the baby no one else could."

ARAB LEADER IN US—Jamal Husseini, vice-chairman of the Arab higher committee, is pictured as he arrived at La-Guardia Airport in New York from Damascus, Syria, aboard a Pan-American World Airways clipper. He will represent the Arab states at a special session of the United Nations general assembly to be held beginning April 16th. On that day the Palestine question will again come up.

Broken-Hearted Elephant Finding Joy In Companionship Of Pony, Not Elephants

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—Like any kid, it took a pony to make baby happy.

Not unusual— except that baby is an elephant. The two-year-old baby— only three feet high — was flown to Broomfield Zoo last summer from Siam.

She was given the run of the huge park but when winter came baby was placed inside for the first time.

Zoo Director Robert Bean disclosed today that then the happy little beast became sad.

He then put her in with other elephants. She didn't like them nor they her.

Bean put a pony in with her. When the two first met, baby squealed happily and rubbed against the pony.

The pony nipped the elephant playfully on her rump. That was two weeks ago. Since then, Bean said, it has been one big romp for the two.

Won't Cancel Tomato Ban

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP)—The Government has no intention of lifting the import ban on tomatoes to admit Mexican tomatoes, a spokesman said today.

He was commenting on a Toronto report which quoted wholesalers as saying Mexican tomatoes could be imported to sell at 29 cents a pound. Canadian hothouse tomatoes are selling in Toronto at 90 cents a pound.

When the import ban was imposed last November, it was stated that only vegetables considered "essential" would be considered as important factors in the food supply picture. Such items are potatoes, carrots, cabbage and turnips. Tomatoes, the spokesman said, are not considered essential.

Canada normally would import most of her tomatoes from the United States, he added. Because of international agreements, the ban must apply to all countries, and thus could not be lifted from Mexico and retained against the U. S.

Newfoundland was the subject chosen by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, Knox United Church, when he addressed the weekly dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club at the YMCA on Thursday night.

Mr. Douglas who had spent three years there in the United Church ministry gave a brief historical sketch of the country, and described the habits, customs and way of life peculiar to that island people.

He outlined the economic situation of the country and told of the industries and crafts located there. Included in his survey were the educational system and arts of Newfoundland.

The speaker was introduced by Gordon Morrison and thanked by Harry Powell. William Moorhead presided.

Another guest for the evening was Jack Dane, recreation director

"Good Inn Is Asset" Says English Bishop

COVENTRY, England, April 10 (CP).—There is no reason why anyone who goes to church should not also swear, drink and have a bet if he likes, Dr. Neville Gorton, 60, Bishop of Coventry, wrote in his diocesan leaflet.

Dr. Gorton said these habits are commonly believed to be the major sins which the church condemns, and those who take part in any of them cannot go to church.

"It wants to be said firmly this is just fanatastic nonsense," he saaid. "Perhaps the biggest mistake we have to correct is the idea that only a 'good' person can go to church."

Dr. Gorton, praising the village inn as a centre of social life, said: "A good inn, run by a good man, is one of the first assets of a good village life."

British Doctors Take 2nd Vote

LONDON, April 10—(AP)—Britain's doctors will vote a second time on whether to join the new national health service, following concessions by the Government.

The council of the British Medical Association announced today it will confer with Health Minister Aneurin Bevan and then submit his new proposals to the doctors.

The doctors recently voted overwhelmingly against joining the new state service, largely because of its provisions to pay them a basic salary. The BMA said it feared the salary would led to the doctors becoming civil servants, under government domination.

Bevan announced yesterday the health service law will be altered to let the doctors take the salary and small fees for each state patient, or drop the salary, and take slightly larger fees, as they wished.

NORTH BAY, April 10—(CP)—Traffic was resumed today on the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line in Northern Ontario, following a 20-hour suspension caused by a five-car derailment near Terrace Bay. The cars were part of an east-bound CPR passenger train which struck a broken rail.

Officials here said three passengers and a train baggageman suffered minor injuries.

The derailment occurred at Mileage 108, 10 miles east of where a CPR passenger train crashed into a freight Wednesday.

I want to know...

when should I buy TERM INSURANCE?

As a general rule term insurance is bought only when a man assumes some special financial obligation of a temporary nature, and wants additional protection for his estate during that period or requires protection when financially unable at the moment to buy ordinary savings-insurance.

Term insurance pays only in the event of your death within the limited term of the policy — just as a fire insurance policy pays only in the actual event of fire.

A Mutual Life of Canada representative will be pleased to show you how this kind of insurance can be fitted to your present plans if there is a need for it.

Everyone's insurance needs are different, and personal consultation with an experienced adviser is the only way to arrange a satisfactory plan. The Mutual Life representative has been trained to help you work out the type of insurance best suited to your needs. Call him today and arrange an interview.

Why Hint About It?

On Thursday night the Provincial Treasurer, the Hon. Leslie Frost, hinted in the Legislature that gas rationing might be imposed on the people of Ontario this year. Mr. Frost did not elaborate his suggestion, and we think that he was ill-advised to leave the matter as he did.

* * *

Every tourist resort in Ontario is putting forth its best efforts at this time to attract visitors from the U.S.A. and to create conditions in which tourists can be happy. The Provincial Government has spent a great deal of money and energy in assuring the people of the U.S.A. that we want them to come here for their holidays, and that we will look after them properly when they do come. The Provincial Treasurer's hint will do great mischief to the tourist trade.

* * *

We feel that Mr. Frost should have said nothing at all about the possibility of gasoline rationing, or he should have said that it was coming, and that it would either affect tourists or not, as the case must be. To leave the matter hanging in the air, is merely to start wild rumours among our American friends, who are now deciding where they will go during the summer.

Boom-Time Budgets

When he addressed the American Academy of Political Science in New York last week Mr. Abbott, the Canadian Minister of Finance, remarked that Canada is 'enjoying' a boom of unprecedented proportions even if the people do not seem to be aware of it. He said, "I shall be reporting to Parliament in a budget speech a few weeks hence another budget of such magnitude as to bring a glow to the heart of any Canadian minister of finance". The Minister of Finance's heart may glow more readily than the citizens'. We who pay the taxes did not burn with joy when the Ontario Provincial Treasurer announced a 25 million dollar surplus on April 2nd.

A Government budget is not like the profit-and-loss statement of a commercial enterprise. In business a surplus is a profit; in government a surplus means that more dollars have been collected in taxes from the people than were bargained for. Budgetary surpluses do usually mean that the state is in a thriving economic condition, though not always that the people are enjoying the fruits of the boom. The cost of living and taxes affect their situation.

On the whole we are inclined to look with favour on the huge Ontario surplus for it shows that the country is booming even if we individually are not blooming. Further, most of the surplus has been applied to the Province's Funded Debt which reduces not only the capital debts but annual interest charges. Nevertheless such a large surplus tends to give us the ague. Have we been paying too much in taxes? Is the Provincial Government so poor in bookkeeping and calculating the future that it gets a 25 million dollar surplus when it budgeted for a surplus of only 365 thousand dollars? Surely it should be able to guess closer than that. Our final tremulous reaction is this: Twenty-five million dollars is a lot of money to be floating loose from a budget. It might give the Government expensive ideas about spending. Will a Government with money like that in its coffers be sufficiently careful about embarking on large capital expenditures which might be crippling to the Province's economy in non-boom years?

The Investment Outlook

Private and public investment is of concern not merely to the people and institutions which have money to invest, for the rate of investment is indicative of the level of employment and income in the country. In past years high levels of employment and income have generally been accompanied by unusually large outlays on various types of construction and on machinery and equipment. If the country's economy is booming, capital investment is high. Domestic capital expansion is one of the two major stimuli of the whole Canadian economy, export trade being the other. Therefore the statistical survey in the pamphlet Private and Public Investment in Canada, Outlook 1948 issued by the Department of Reconstruction and Supply is of interest to the general public as well as businessmen and industrialists.

The grand total of new capital investment in Canada—by industry, institutions, governments, and individual farmers and housebuilders—for 1948 is forecast at 2.8 billion dollars. This is 17 per cent. more than the 2.4 billion dollars achieved in 1947. In addition there are repair and maintenance expenditures anticipated of 1.2 billion dollars. In dollar size this vast program is an all-time, peace or war-time, record. In physical volume, after allowing for price increases, the expansion is not so great. In these terms, construction will be up 5 per cent., machinery and equipment not at all, and maintenance and repairs will be down. In general, according to volume, the level will be only slightly above last year's record. Compared with the period 1935-39, when the annual average of investment was seven-tenths of a billion, the forecast of 2.8 billion dollars is a striking indication of Canada's post-war industrial expansion.

There are two qualifying conditions to the realization of the investment plans: the uninterrupted flow of necessary materials and the maintenance of industrial peace. Steel may be in very short supply because of the U.S. shortage, not because of the Abbott-Howe bill restricting imports to conserve American dollars. That is more likely to concern the composition of the investment program than its size.

The high investment outlook for 1948 is considered to be a favourable omen for the country as a whole. Since it is not appreciably greater in physical volume than last year's it will not have too great an inflationary effect. Nevertheless, the continuing strong demands will prolong the inflationary pressures now dominant. The Report states that:

> The current position . . . represents a level of investment not likely to be maintained indefinitely once the accumulated demands for both replacement and expansion of capital stocks are exhausted. It appears, therefore, that the present high level of investment activity foreshadows a period of under-employment unless compensatory demands arise or are created to take up the slack.

Public projects, municipal, provincial and federal, now being deferred, will provide one form of compensatory demand, though many of them (schools, for instance) cannot longer be delayed. The Report suggests that if private business were to adopt a similar pattern of timing its capital expenditures, less inflationary pressure would be created. It should be remarked that industry and business must have faith in the prospect of the next several years, for their expansion program, undertaken not merely for 1948's business, is very great.

How To Confuse A Foreigner

A few weeks ago the Russian Embassy published a notice in the foreign-language press of Canada urging all Lithuanians who were not Canadian citizens to register themselves at the Embassy as Soviet citizens. The Canadian Government quite rightly told the Lithuanians that they did not have to do anything of the sort. But this is the language in which they did so:

> The Canadian Government regards the registration of Lithuanian nationals in accordance with the decree of the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. as announced by the Soviet embassy in the Slavic-language press in Canada to be entirely a voluntary matter and recognizes no obligation on the part of any resident of Canada to register.

Now what is a Lithuanian—or a Canadian of moderate education, for that matter—to make of that? We suggest that it should have been worded something after this fashion: "The Soviet Embassy has said in the Slavic newspapers in Canada that Lithuanians in this country must register at the Soviet Embassy. The Government of Canada says that they need not do so". Or would that have been too blunt?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Low grade coffee is now said to make a good shampoo, but we hope you won't shame your usual restaurant by trying to force your head into your cup.

Green rain fell at Dayton, Ohio, on March 26. If this had happened nine days earlier there would have been no reason for comment.

The spate of cold weather which began here early Friday morning came from the Prairies. The West seems to be waging its own Cold War on the East. We really did not think that its disgruntlement over the new freight rates could become so vindictive.

Diary Of A Prevaricator

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: A small play-reading group of which I am but one met tonight and had a very good time with Goldsmith's "She Stoops To Conquer." Reading plays can be anything from the pleasantest to the most penitential of pastimes. Was reading in Thomas Davies' "Memoirs of the Life of David Garrick, Esq." a few days ago about one of King George the Second's exploits in this direction. The King had reached the age of seventy-seven and had ceased to go to the theatre, but he was keen to hear Macklin's farce "Love a la Mode," and Macklin had some hope that he might be asked to read his play to the King—presumably acting it out with great spirit. But, as Davies tells us, "'Love a la Mode' was read to his late Majesty by an old Hanoverian gentleman, who spent eleven weeks in the misrepresentation of the author's meaning; the German was totally void of humour and was, besides, not well acquainted with the English language; the King, however, expressed great satisfaction at the Irishman's getting the better of his rivals, and gaining the young lady." I have myself been present at play-readings which were not much livelier than this.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: Had my first experience of an "electric eye" today. I approached a heavy door with my arms loaded, and was astonished when it flew open before me: I stepped back to avoid a crash with whoever was on the other side, but there was no one! To my simple intelligence, this is as good as the Arabian Nights, and better. The magic door which amazed Ali Baba was worked, as I recall, by a donkey named Sesame; he called "Open Sesame," and Sesame worked a mechanism. But suppose Sesame were asleep? Or didn't feel like work that day? My slight experience of donkeys leaves me with a powerful conviction that the door which amazed Ali Marchbanks was more dependable than the one at which Ali Baba presented himself so confidently.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: Saw "Stairway To Heaven" this evening, and thought it had more imagination and dash to it than six ordinary films. It was based on the tried-and-true theme that Love Conquers All. Now this may be a fact; I have nothing against love, in principle, and am ready to credit it with remarkable powers. But I must say that when the movies set out to demonstrate the astounding puissance of Love they generally leave me with a conviction that Love is a mess, and should be forbidden by law. This film was a notable exception . . . I see by the papers that the champion milch cow of Great Britain drinks twelve quarts of stout a day and is habitually soused. Also, there is a cat in California which never drinks anything but Scotch, is 17 years old and has produced 111 kittens. These are fascinating bits of information, but I fear that brooding on them will only lead to the formation of socially unacceptable theories concerning Motherhood.

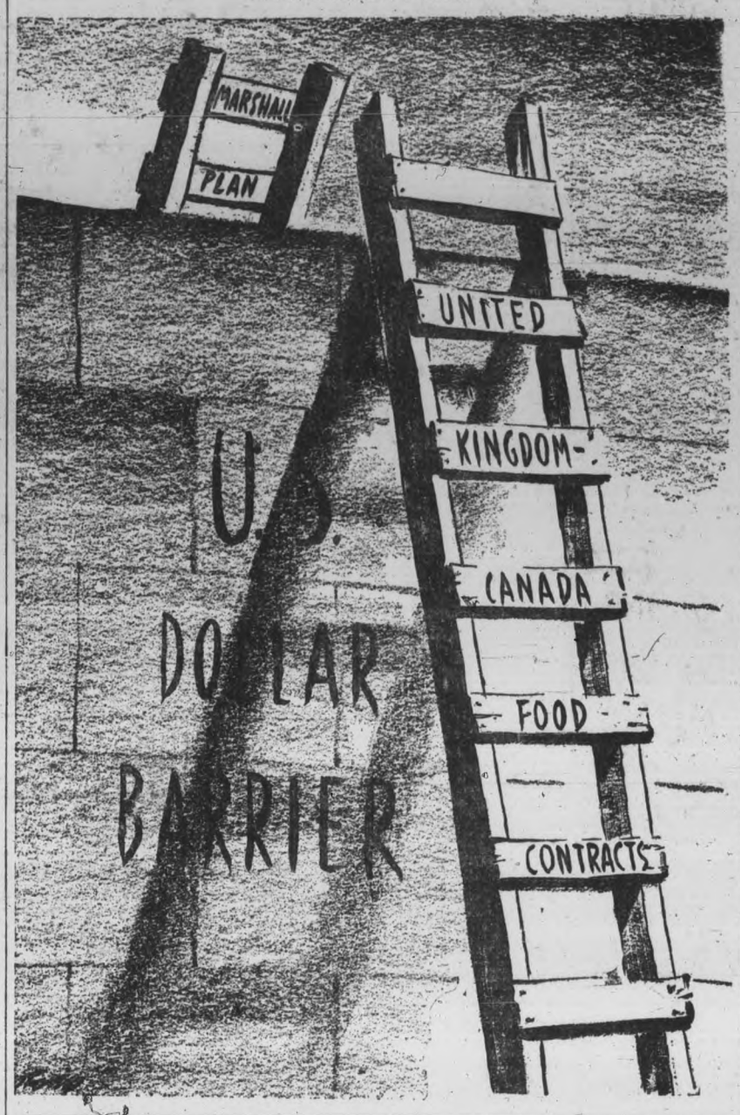
◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: Was leaving an hotel this afternoon just as three noble old Mothers in Israel tumbled out of the beverage room, arm in arm. Two of them had one eye tight shut, but all three wore enigmatical smiles, like the Mona Lisa. They eyed me with unabashed interest, and one of them gave me, quite unmistakeably, what Shakespeare calls "the leer of invitation." People have accused me of being a reactionary, but thank God I know how to behave toward my elders: I raised my hat politely. Two of the beldames bowed in return, but the third was awe-stricken: "Jeez, it's Saint Paul!" she gasped. At that moment a taxi man, who was waiting for her, seized her and bundled her into his cab. Her companions rolled toward the revolving door, got a compartment each and marched solemnly round and round; I joined them, and hurried the pace a bit, which caused them to grab the brass handrails and cry "Whoa!" I escaped from what seemed likely to become an endless and fruitless procession, and as I passed out of sight they were still spinning. "Like a white candle, in a holy place, So is the beauty of an aged face," I murmured, turning for a last look.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: Every day I see a dog which lies in wait for passing cars, and rushes at them, snarling. It is my theory that this dog is a reincarnation of a traffic cop. The belief of Pythagoras that the souls of men may return to earth in the bodies of animals, and vice versa, seems to me to be no more unreasonable than a lot of things we are expected to believe nowadays, and there is a good deal of circumstantial evidence to support it.

◇ ◇ ◇



FRIDAY: Was playing some gramophone records tonight, and one of them stuck in a groove, and before I could reach it played the same passage at least ten times. I can remember the days when this happened quite often, and records with two or three such faults in them were prized. The owners would put them on again and again, and howl delightedly when the repeats came. I recall one man who had a Harry Lauder record which did this at three separate points, and he never tired of it. But some of his friends did. Visited my doctor, who has been gazing into the crystal ball and informs me that I have strabismus of the epithalamium, and must undergo treatment for it. Passed a window on the way home which contained packages of Fowl Conditioner, and the wild thought struck me that I might cure myself with that, and make a name for myself in the medical histories.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: To the country with some children, to get pussy-willows. They asked me how the pussy-willows became woolly? Did not know, but made up some quaint lies which pleased them. Psychologists frown on such conduct, I know, but I can't help it. Sometimes, however, I wish that my only ability did not lie in the direction of concocting untruths of one sort and another. I wish that I were a great wood-carver, or a wonderfully minute jeweller, or a bookbinder—somebody who can make something satisfying and beautiful with his hands. In an earlier age I suppose I would have been a professional story-teller, sitting in the market place, spinning yarns and asking for alms—rightly despised by all the craftsmen who had tangible wares to sell . . . But one must not quarrel with one's fate, and as it has pleased Providence to make me a sort of accredited prevaricator I must be content.

"...THERE'S A WAY"

Barbara Ann And A Big Cheese

(W. J. NEALY IN THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

I MUST begin with a profound apology to Miss Barbara Ann Scott for linking her name with a cheese—the largest ever made. But the news pictures having made her so familiar a vision of beauty and grace to all the world that she is spoken of by admiring millions as Barbara Ann, she has become a greater advertisement for Canada than that huge cheese of threescore years ago was.

And the remarkable story of that Gargantuan cheese, which was one of the most extraordinary successful advertisements Canada ever had, began with an idea that occurred to her great-grandfather, Daniel Derbyshire.

Mr. Derbyshire lived in Brockville. He was one of the largest exporters of cheese, and was a close friend of Dr. J. W. Robertson, dairy commissioner for Canada, to whom he suggested one summer day in 1892 when he was in Ottawa that the largest cheese ever made would be a good exhibit from Canada at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893.

It was decided then and there by those two remarkable and energetic men that the place at which it should be made was Smiths Falls, the centre of one of the most important cheese-producing districts in Ontario.

A few weeks later I made one of a party of newspaper men who went out from Ottawa with Robertson, to see the container for it, which was made in a boiler factory in Montreal, set in place, see the first pourings into it, and start the publicity about it.

When all was ready, Derbyshire and Robertson went up ladders on opposite sides of the container to watch the pourings. The ladder on which Robertson was standing slipped, and he fell and suffered a broken leg. But he insisted on having that make no difference—the pouring should go on, he said, and as for himself he was fortunate not to have been more seriously injured. The story got out that he had fallen into the container. But to stick to facts, the big cheese was shipped to Chicago in May, 1893, and began its career as a huge advertisement for Canada by breaking through the floor of the building in which it was placed under a great glass dome.

The floor had to be strengthened, and the incident was the beginning of the big cheese's newspaper celebrity, far and wide. As the summer advanced, the increasing heat of the sun's rays playing upon that glass dome, made the cheese more and more redolent, a fact which added to its fame and aroused newspaper humorists to renewed efforts of jocosity about it.

After the fair was over, it was bought by a man, Lipton by name (he did not become Sir Thomas Lipton, Bart, until 1902), who took it across the Atlantic, mounted it on a gorgeously bedizened and placarded triumphal car and had it drawn by four big, beribboned horses, through the cities and towns of Great Britain, and then had it cut up and put on sale.

When the outside half-inch or so was pared off, it was cheese of superb quality. Towards Christmas, 1897, Lipton sent Robertson a goodly helping of it. He sent a share to Dan Derbyshire, from which a fine wedge came to me. More flavorful cheese, with a mellowed, savory sharpness, could not be wished for.

Barbara Ann's grandfather, Jack Derbyshire, I remember (I was living in Brockville then) as a hockey player on Saturday nights at the rink, and as one of the most graceful of the waltzers on the ice on Wednesday nights, when the Island City Band used to make music for the skaters.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. (Deut. 6:4, 5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you. Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.

Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert . . . And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness . . .

And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. (Isa. 35: 4-6, 8, 10.)

'Licorice Whisky' In Calgary's Early Days

(Letter to the Editor of the Calgary Herald)

As to the question why Canadians can't drink with proper restraint, we can't explain the matter for all Canada, but for Calgarians we believe it dates back to circumstances 40 to 50 years ago here. We have in mind the first, but until now unknown, instances of atomic fission that occurred at that time. We recall the days when the long bar and brass rail at the old Alberta Hotel was a well-patronized institution, watched carefully by the discerning eye of genial Bob Edwards of "The Eye Opener", who was the terror of the Ministerial Association and the Elbow Park crowd.

At the time when P. M. McManus ran his entrancing liquor emporium on the corner of 8th Ave. and 4th St. E., a fascinating brew was sold in one, two and a half and five gallon earthenware jugs for $1 per gallon. This delectable liquor was known as licorice whisky, and was greatly preferred by the more jet-propelled remittance men who camped in log huts on the surrounding prairie, between remittances, as well as by the odd proponent of greater sanctity during occasional lapses from virtue.

The strange characteristic of this brown fluid was its ability to knock the nuclei out of any known atoms, particularly the more virtuous ones. As is well known, nuclear fission gives off rays, which change the genes of human chromosomes in cellular structure. Since this liquor was famous for bringing about such changes in the genes of Calgarians, their descendants have never had an inheritance of the more virtuous types, which were at that time destroyed.

We can thus readily understand why Calgarians now experience cases of split personality while imbibing, or why they may be inclined to burn their wigwams and tomahawk their nearest Liberal MP's, while consuming the anaemic pharmaceutical solutions dispensed by the Alberta liquor stores.

Temptation Of St. Izaak

If the opening day of the trout season is truly cold and raw; if the angler has been numbly casting his artificial lures upon the waters to no avail, and even if he be the sworn foe of those who debase the sport by the use of live bait, there comes a moment when feeling his empty creel, he may think upon the possibility of turning over a few rocks by the stream's edge in search of a worm. The true fly fisherman sends so sinful a thought scurrying, but there have been those, improperly indoctrinated in the fine art of angling with feathers, who viewed the ends of fishing as being of greater weight than the means and who have been known to impale (furtively) a worm upon a No. 12 hook in order not to return home without a finny trophy. In defence of their deed these scalawags shamelessly refer their pure brethren to no less an authority than Izaak Walton, who, in "The Compleat Angler" (Third Day), (Chapter IV) has the Piscator say calmly to the Venator: "I caught my last trout with a worm: now I will put on a minnow."—New York Times.

With PETE McGILLEN

SPORTSMEN'S SHOWS in the United States continue to get packed houses. The auditorium at Cleveland seats 15,000 people and for three successive nights, there was not a seat left. On Sunday afternoon, they had to run a second performance at 5.15 to take care of the crowd. Enquiries at the Peterborough booth were numerous and specific. The people had heard about the Kawarthas and wanted to know what accommodation was available, how far to travel, the condition of the roads, the price, kind of fish available, and many other things. Others enquired about duck shooting, and deer hunting, and of course there were the usual number of questions from people who have no conception of distance. For instance, one adventurous character wanted to know how many gallons of gas he would have to take if he travelled the Alaska highway. Another was quite surprised when I didn't know his friend in Sault Ste. Marie.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

AMERICANS ARE price conscious. They are shopping around looking for bargains. They are beginning to learn that they can get a better buy for their dollars in Canada, but they are somewhat amazed at the difference in the cost of food in Canada and the States. The first question was "How much will it cost for a vacation in the Kawarthas?" All in all it is reasonable to expect at least as many tourists as visited the district last year. Bill Garner, advertising manager of The Examiner, and John Comstock visited the show and gave Pat Anglesey and I a hand in the book. The vacation editions were snapped up fast, and the Americans were surprised to get the editions free. Many came over and asked if they could purchase a copy. J. E. Sullivan, former Alderman, was in the booth from Wednesday of last week until Saturday, and left Saturday night when Alderman Anglesey arrived.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

IT IS EASY to sit back and criticize but this time I feel there is ample justification. Last year the Dominion Travel Bureau had the best display spot in the show. The Ontario Dept. of Travel and Publicity had the second best spot. Both did excellent work, and certainly the benefits must have been great. This year neither department had an exhibit, and to make it worse, Pennsylvania had the Dominion Travel Bureau spot. The location is practically a billboard because it is clearly visible to the 15,000 people occupying the reserved seats at every show. I don't know what brought about the change in policy, but I do know one of the two should have been there. We didn't attempt to give information about other districts, but referred the Americans to the Dept. of Travel and Publicity, Toronto, but in all cases where enquiries were made about districts that had booths at the show, we directed the people to those booths. In fact on the first day, I visited all the Canadian exhibits and made an arrangement with them along this line. This reciprocal plan worked very well.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

LAST THURSDAY NIGHT the three Russian bears were too heavy for the platform and it collapsed allowing the huge rubber envelope filled with 33,000 gallons of water to spill. That mishap cancelled an evening and afternoon show while the scrub gang cleaned up. One wag reported the Norfolk county apples were all salvaged by the firemen. In other words the apples disappeared, and this same joker suggested that Ohio apples replaced them. One woman was selling worms in cardboard boxes. The boxes went floating down the aisle on the flood, and were last seen as they paused momentarily at the check room. The seal act and log burling were both missing from the vaudeville act. Other attractions were 700 rabbits of every known breed, three Canadian beavers, a live snake exhibit including boa constrictors, an Eskimo family, Indian family, and the great movie horses, Flicka, Son of Flicka and Thunderhead. There were trailers and boats of every size and style, fishing tackle and gadgets galore, new cars, including racers, two casting pools, rifles, outboard motors, and live fish in tanks.

IF AS MANY PEOPLE were working to solve world problems as are engaged inventing new ways of prying money out of fishermen, the job would be completed in no time. The latest thing in fishing gadets is a line dryer. It looks like a miniature revolving clothes-line, and clamps to the fishing rod in front of the reel. After fishing, the angler winds the line on the dryer to dry it overnight. Another surprise was a stubby casting rod, about two feet long that has a steel loop in the centre. This is said to do everything a five foot steel rod does. Then, too, I saw a 3½ foot walking stick which could be converted into either a flyrod, casting rod, or nine foot still fishing rod. The whole thing weighs 13 ounces and the metal is magnesium. A new bait resembling the flatfish but with two underslung sets of treble hooks attracted much attention. It is not available in Canada, and is known as "Water-Lou." It didn't do the Canadians any good to get excited about all these new items because they can't be brought into Canada. No, not even a pack of cigarettes can get past the Canadian customs now.

HELP THE WOOD DUCKS. New Hampshire Fish and Game Commission has built new nesting boxes for wood ducks, and the data has been passed along by Austin Peters, past president of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. Previous efforts to attract wood ducks to nesting spots in trees have only been moderately successful, and predation from raccoons seriously reduced the hatches. The new plan is nesting boxes on poles in marshes. Ducks occupied more than 90 per cent. during the trial period. Cedar poles 4 to 6 inches in diameter should be driven firmly into the marsh bottom, projecting 6 to 8 ft. above the water. They should be not less than 30 ft. apart. The box measures 10" x 10" x 24" with one side projecting several inches to permit nailing to the post. Use only rough unplaned lumber and do not paint or stain. Nesting season starts in Ontario about May 10, and nests must not be disturbed once they are occupied.

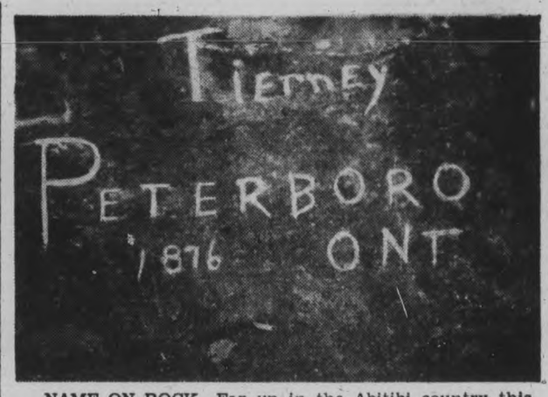
DRILL A HOLE four inches in diameter in the front of the nesting box, and about six inches from the top to allow the duck to enter. The top of box should be removable for inspection, and four small holes should be drilled in the bottom for drainage. Provide about four inches of dry pine shavings for nesting material in the bottom of the box. These nest boxes should not be located close to a cottage or resort as these birds frequent quiet waterways, and will not occupy a nest where there is noise. The local population of wood ducks is governed to a large extent by the availability of suitable nesting sites, so such a plan should work well along Pigeon, Rice, Buckhorn, Stony, Deer and Belmont Lakes. The method is most effective where suitable trees are not available for the natural nestings habits of the wood ducks. This is a sound conservation measure that should appeal to many cottage owners.

Peterborough Man Chiselled His Name On Rock In Abitibi Country 72 Years Ago

Chiselled in the perpendicular face of a rock formation far up in the Abitibi timber country is the name of a Peterborough man who, presumably from the evidence, passed that way 72 years ago.

The inscription is plainly: "E Tierney, Peterborough, Ont., 1876."

A photograph of his signature roughly cut in the stone surface was recently enclosed with a letter which Mr. G. Douglas Carlisle, Weller St., received from his son, Alex.



Bill Henderson, one of the engineers with the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, recently came upon this personal record dated in the dim past while portaging between Lac de Mille and Lac Shabandowan, which are lakes between waters flowing into Hudson Bay and those flowing into Lake Superior.

"He gave it to me, knowing my home is in Peterborough," Alex Carlisle wrote. "We have done some speculating about the possible circumstances attaching to it, and it must have been when soldiers from southern Ontario assembled at Fort William and then went up into that country on the way to quell the Louis Reil Rebellion. There were two hundred boat loads in all."

Tierney may have been a Riel rebellion recruit, or he might have been a prospector. Mr. Douglas Carlisle enquired of Mr. Fred M. de la Fosse for some possible explanation of the Tierney engraving in that remote country, and learned at least that in 1878 when Mr. de la Fosse was there some government engineers had been through the country.

Contemporaries of 72 years ago are nearly all gone from Peterborough. Queries here and there failed to obtain any identification of this man E. Tierney whose attachment to his home town so far away was written into the rock.

Apparently Alex Carlisle was the first Peterborough man to follow so long afterward in the Tierney footsteps. It may be that some reader of The Examiner may provide some definite information about this unique discovery.

NAME ON ROCK—Far up in the Abitibi country this name appears on a large rock apparently carved there 72 years ago by a Peterborough man who passed that way.

Norval Baptie Born In Bethany In 1879 America's Greatest All-round Skater

Norval Baptie of Washington, D.C., an old Cavan and Manvers township boy, has broken so many world speed skating records in his 58 years of skating that he can't remember all of them, but according to speed skating records, 10 of them still stand, some dating back to 1899.

He is one of the charter members of the ice fraternity and is also the designer of the tubular racing skate, used by many leading amateurs and professionals, and the one-piece figure skate. Baptie designed the one-piece job because he had broken too many of the old model blades.

Baptie is the son of late Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Baptie and is one of a family of ten: five boys and five girls. Jonathan Baptie was born at Ida, where his father operated the general store. There were four boys and one girl, all of whom are now dead, Dr. George Baptie of Ottawa, James of Springville, Alexander of Ida, Mrs. William H. Lough of Ida and Jonathan. At an early age Jonathan and James went to New York where they learned the harness trade. The two brothers returned to Canada where James became a prominent poultry fancier and horse breeder at Springville, and Jonathan went to Bethany where Norval was born 68 years ago; a year later the family moved to North Dakota to farm. Harold Baptie of Bolivar Street, Peterborough, and Roy Lough of Ida are first cousins.

More than 30 years ago, Norval Baptie produced ice shows with himself as the principal star. Over the years he has travelled through the United States and Canada and has taught thousands to skate. For a long time he toured the country betting the local talent he could skate faster going backward than they could going forward. Furthermore, in the vast majority of the cases he won his bets. Frank Menke's "Encyclopedia of Sports" calls him "the greatest of all-round skaters in the United States." He is now figure skating teacher and manager of the Chevy Chase Ice Palace in Washington.

Early in the present century Baptie came to Peterborough and many still recall the exhibition he give in the old Brock Street Rink. Baptie quit racing at the age of 50, after having won over 5,000 races. It was then that he considered it safe for him to start smoking and took up the cigar. He still skates every day but purely for the purpose of giving lessons, skating only occasionally for pleasure.

SIDELIGHT IN TROUBLED TRIESTE—The western bid to return Trieste to Italy has added a trump card to the hand of the anti-Communists in the current Italian election campaign. Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who is a leader of the Red satellites, offered to give up his claim to Trieste if Italy would give him Glorizia, border city just north of the free territory — an offer that was flatly rejected by Italy. These two young ladies, passing from Italian territory to Trieste, are having the documents examined by a border policeman at a road block. He found their passports in order and allowed them to pass.

Whose Job Is Loneliest! There Are Many In City

By RALPH GREENHILL

There is no loneliness like the loneliness of the city. We all experience it at some time, in a hotel room at night, watching the crowd passing by outside, the blazing lights and flashing signs of the stores, or standing on a street corner in some strange city, where nobody knows you and among thousands you are quite alone. For some of us in all cities loneliness is an everyday experience; it is part of our work. What is the loneliest job in a city like Peterborough?

The night watchman has the obvious example of a lonely job, as he makes his round of deserted offices or empty machine-shops, which during the day teem with hundreds of people, but at night are dark shadowy places, which echo his own footsteps.

A police officer admitted that his was also a lonely job at night, espcially in some districts, where you don't see a person after midnight and the only noise is a cat at it darts across the street, a dog stirring, or some traffic, which you can't see because it is several streets away. "But," he said, "what about a policeman's wife? My wife claims her work is a job. It's been so very dull and drab for her, I've had to get a dog to break the monotony."

Then there is the Hydro lineman. He would probably contend that his was the loneliest job of all as he patrols the streets at night checking the lighting system, repairing a broken line caused by a fallen tree, or replacing a defective insulator. Sometimes the whole crew has to be called out, but usually he is working alone in all kinds of weather.

"By golly, it's just an awful darn job," said a railroad gateman speaking of the midnight shift, "there's nothing apart from the yard, the morning mail and one other train." Except for four hours during the day, he sits alone in his little cabin, but few people every think of him, except possibly the motorist who swears quietly to himself, when he is held up at a crossing. "Sunday is an awful day too," he said, "and you can't go away, because you never know when a train's coming."

A hospital nurse said that hers was the loneliest job in any city, when making the round of the wards in the early hours of morning. "A patient has died during the night, and for some reason it weighs on your mind. There was nothing you or anybody else could do, and you realize how little human skill and science count, and among the sleeping patients you feel terribly alone."

Perhaps you think you have the loneliest job, but the loneliest job for one cannot surpass the other. When we are lonely, there are no degrees of loneliness; we are alone.

Certain Issues of the Bible Named After Errors Made In Printing Them

By MRS. W. E. BALL

Since the history of how we obtained our Bible is the subject for study for the Woman's Missionary Societies of all Protestant churches in Canada during the current year, beginning last Steptember and continuing until June, some facts, many unusual and but little known, may prove of interest.

"You may talk as you will of your multitudinous editions of popular novels", states a prominent New York bookseller, "but the Bible leads them all, year in and year out The English Authorized Version, or the "King James Bible" as it is often called, is the most widely-circulated book in the world. It comes off the presses in millions of copies, in whole or in part, annually, and as translations into new languages and dialects are being constantly added, the number published is being increased every 12 months."

However, it may not be general knowledge that there are issues of the Bible renowned for curious misprints; some of these are in the British Museum, are collectors' items of great value, and some were ordered destroyed completely. In fact, there was no second edition of any faulty issue.

For instance, there was "The Wicked Bible", a queer name given to an edition of the Authorized Version printed in London in 1631, by Robert Barker, the King's Printer, and Martin Lucas. It received its name from the fact that the negative was omitted from the Seventh Commandment; "Thou shalt not commit adultery", and according to William Kilbourne writing in 1659, the printers were fined two thousand pounds sterling for the carelessness that permitted such an error. This action was apparently due to the zeal of Dr. Ussher, and in the published works of Archbishop Laud there is a copy of the King's letter stating the fine was to be three thousands pounds. However, another authority asserts that the actual amount was fifteen hundred pounds, inflicted by the Archbishop "to be expended on a fount of Greek type." Only four copies of this Bible are known to exist, and the entire edition was called in as soon as the mistake was noted. The claim is made, though, that there is in existence a German Bible containing the same error.

Another of the curious Bibles is "The Persecuting Printers' Bible", the name coming from a misprint of Psalm 119:161: "Princes have persecuted me without a cause". As can be seen, the substitution of the word 'printers' for 'princes' is responsible for giving this name to the Bible in question. It would appear that all that is known of this edition is stated by Stevens in his "Catalogue of the Caxton Exhibition of Bibles", where he asserts that this exchange of words was put into a Bible printed before 1702.

Again, there is "The Vinegar Bible", containing "The Parable of the Vinegar", instead of "The Parable of the Vineyard." The latter name occurs in the heading to Chapter 20 of Luke's Gospel, and this heading is first found in an Oxford edition of the Authorized Version, published in 1717, and is said to be one of the most sumptuous of all the Oxford Bibles. The printing is very beautiful, some of the copies were printed on vellum, but unfortunately the proofs were carelessly read, and afterward the book was labelled "a basketful of printers' errors." However, this circumstance now causes it to be prized as a curiosity, and to collectors of rare books it is of great value.

"The Ears to Ear" Bible brings a smile for in it there is the expression, "Whoso hath ears to ear, let him hear," from Matthew 12:43, and this lapse into cockney dialect is found in an Octavo Bible published by the Oxford Press in 1810.

There is also "The Breeches Bible", where, in Amos 4:3, the wording is: "And ye shall go out at the breaches", the change in vowels leading to the unhappy error. It has been claimed that this misprint really occurred in Amos 6:11: "For, behold, the Lord commandeth, and He will smite the great house with breaches". At any rate, there is a copy of this Bible in the British Museum, and without doubt the error was made when printing the Book of Amos, the Prophet, and also the herdsman of Tekoa.

"The Place-Makers Bible" won its name from a misprint of the verse: "Blessed are the peacemakers", Matthew 5:9. This extraordinary mistake occurred in the second edition of the Geneva Bible, published at Geneva in folio in 1561-2. It was corrected and never again was there a copy of the scriptures bearing the verse: "Blessed are the placemakers."

In closing, it might be of interest to note that the tercentary of the "King James Bible" was fittingly observed in 1911. One writer mentioned at that time: "This is not the earliest of English Bibles. As far back as the fourteenth century, John Wycliffe gave the scriptures to his countrymen in that ancient, strangely spelled English which Chaucer wrote. In fact, the learned tell us that the beautiful, noble language of the Authorized Version is not the English spoken in the court, and camps, and market-places of King James' day. But it is a language of the Book itself traceable through many editions to Wycliffe's translation from the Latin Vulgate."

It is interesting to note, too, that booksellers, the Bible House in London, together with the Auxiliary Societies in Canada and the States, agree that nineteen-twentieths of the Bibles sold continue to be the Authorized Version, and not the revisions of the scriptures which have been published since 1611, when the King James Bible first appeared. Only minor changes occur in the later revised versions, and it is generally conceded that the Authorized is after all the finest translation in the world.

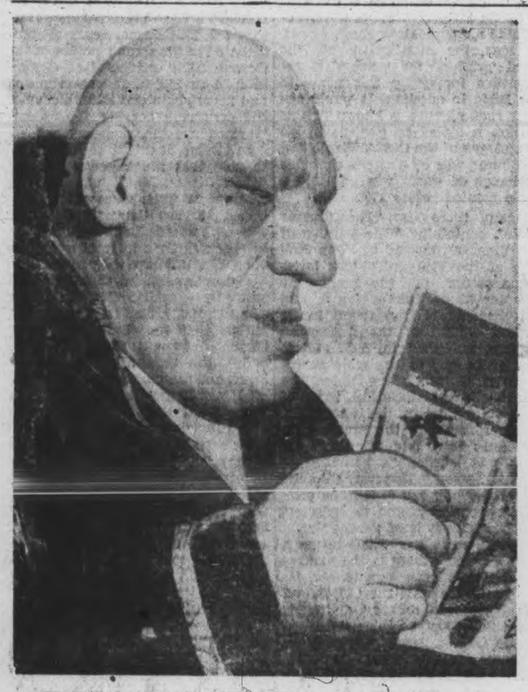
Johnny Greco Bows To Jack



MONTREAL, April 10.—(CP).—Beau Jack was the bouncing beau of old last night, throwing leather in a steady stream with the old bolo punch tossed in as he slugged his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over Canadian welterweight champion Johnny Greco in a bout that cracked the all-time record Canadian gate.

A near-capacity throng of 10,500 fans chipped in to a gross gate of $51,823 to watch the former world lightweight champ pound out his second decision in three starts against the Montrealer.

Greco had a slight edge after five rounds of close-range slugging, but the Georgia negro took over in the sixth, seventh and eighth heats to pile up a safe margin. The Beau also took the ninth by a shade and battled the Montreal Italian on even terms in the final session.

There were no knockdowns.

The big crowd, watching Greco lose his first fight in a Montreal ring in seven years, gave Beau Jack a loud ovation when referee Tommy Sullivan raised the former shoe-shine boy's hand.

Barrie Tackles Tough Montreal Team

MONTREAL, Apri 10 (CP). — Barrie Flyers and Montreal Nationales hook up in the first game of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals here tonight and fans are wondering if Montreal Nationales, Quebec champions, can advance another step in their bid to bring Canada's largest city its first junior crown.

Nationales, an all-French-Canadian team, have an impressive record and Coach Sylvio Mantha is hopeful that his charges will become the first Quebec representative to capture the Memorial Cup.

Second game of the best-of-five series will be played in Toronto Monday.

This is the Nats first big test as the Ontario champions usually dispose of the Quebecers in quick order. The Montrealers feel that if they can get by Barrie, the Western representatives — eithr Lethbridge Native Sons or Port Arthur Bruins—will not prove to be as tough an obstacle, especially since the finals are held in the East this year.

Happy Emms' Flyers have rolled up an equally impressive record as Nats mainly in the playoffs when they bounced Windsor Spitfires 4-2 in games in a best-of-seven series and then eliminated Porcupine Combines three straight in the all-Ontario final.

Flyers have been idle since they eliminated Combines more than a week ago but whether the rest hurt their chances remains to be seen.

Barbara Ann Booked To May 8

SCHUMACHER, April 10. — (CP).—Barbara Ann Scott said last night she will not sign any contracts for appearances in motion pictures or other forms of entertainment until she has completed her present commitments to appear in amateur skating carnivals.

"I'm booked up now until May 8," the world and Olympic figure skating champion said in an interview.

Earlier, a Toronto lawyer, R. V. Hicks, said Miss Scott had received several motion picture offers. All were being considered.

An Ottawa report last night said Miss Scott had been offered a chance to appear with dancer Fred Astaire.

The Sports Round-up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP).—A Columbia publicity handout mentions that 125 crew candidates are on the river these days preparing for a "stern opening test." ...That's the kind Columbia usually has—looking at the stern of every other boat in the race... But if Walter Raney, new coach from Washington, has developed enough enthusiasm to get a turnout of 125, maybe he also can develop enough ability to take a bow...Boston is getting hourly radio reports on Ted Williams' suspected appendicitis attack—or is it just a stomach ache? One report is that Ted outdid himself with a knife and fork in New Orleans...When Lloyd Mangrum set the record of 64 at the Augusta National golf course in 1940, he went right out to practise afterward, explaining he "didn't want to lose it." That same day Jimmy Demaret shot a 30 on the back nine.

One-Minute Sports Page

Byron Nelson is due here next week to speak at a luncheon gathering of business men who want to hear more about golf... Maybe it's the start of a new career for the Texas rancher... Jimmy Stout, the jockey, has a beauty parlor business as a sideline...The Los Angeles Rams have established a job placement bureau for their players who have decided to live in Southern California permanently...Gus Lesnevc, who has begun a lengthy exhibition tour, is slated to travel from Sioux City to Nova Scotia for similar appearances before leaving for England to fight Freddie Mills...Lands End, a two-year-old colt which won at $50 for $2 at Jamaica the other day, is owned by Alfred Vanderbilt's valet, trainer and stable foreman, who put up $3,500 for the colt at the Saratoga sales last summer.

Pure Corn

Wonder if any of the baseball experts who have been predicting that the Boston Red Sox and Braves will meet in the World Series has thought of calling it the "Hubway Series"?

Week-end Notes

Frankie Parker, who has been practising against Don Budge, plans to get in a week or two of tennis on eastern grass courts before sailing May 7 for the European tournaments. He'll open with the French championships in Paris...Joe Louis will be guest of honor at a "tea and crumpet" reception Tuesday...The champ probably would prefer a "tee off and crumple" party against Joe Walcott.

SHORT-PRICED FAVORITE — Citation, the Calumet Farm's brilliant colt, will go into the Derby as one of the shortest-priced favorites of all time. The bay son of Bull Lea, winner of eight out of nine starts ast year and all his starts this season, already is being compared to Man O'War. Citation made his first start at Havre de Grace on April 22 and won by half a length. He then went on to win every race except the Washington Park Futurity, where his stablemate, Bewitch, undefeated filly, romped home on top with Citation running an easy second. It was thought by many that Citation could have won this one, too. Citation won $155,600 last year and appears to be on his way to an all-time record.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Dit Clapper arrived home the other day for the summer and he is quite tickled to relax with his family and friends again after the long NHL campaign. Though he didn't say so, next winter may be his last as coach of Boston Bruins as the big fellow is in business here and his family is growing up. No doubt he could stay on with Bruins as long as he wished since Dit is most popular with the club and beantown fans. He disagrees with remarks made recently by Ted Reeve in the Tely that Goalie Brimsek is a bit weak going to the right and can be beaten there fairly regularly. After all, Brimsek wouldn't be starring up there this long if he had any real weakness. The Boston coach isn't making any alibis over Leafs' win against them—and he feels Leafs will take Detroit—but Bruins did have tough luck and too many injuries.

"Pro scouts work on hair-trigger existence," says the St. Kitts scribe, "and Bruce Sims was an example of swift work. Before he left Kitchener it was wised around that he was asked to aid Lions in the all-Ontario final. Earl Seibert, scout for Eddie Shore in the Inter-county, got in on the ground floor and tagged Sims. He came here. So did the news to Toronto Leafs. Bob Davidson raced from there to here last Wednesday noon, to find Lions had gone on the 1:40 train." The St. Catharines' juveniles were enroute to Timmins at the time.

Won't Eddie Scream!

He continues: "Davidson did 65 to 70 m.p.h. back to Toronto and caught Lions (and Sims) at Union Station. Rushed into a cosy corner, it took the Leaf scout only a few minutes to get Sims' name on a Leaf contract. How come, when he was already paid by Seibert for 'Mr. Hockey'. Simply because Seibert did not register Sims with NHL headquarters, so he was a free agent as far as Leafs were concerned. If you know Eddie, as we know Eddie, Babe Seibert will hear something nasty, for that first money went down the well!" To us the incident is highly humorous.

Just another little reminder of the swim meet at the YMCA pool this evening, starting at 8:15. Men and boys from various centres will compete for amateur Ontario championships. Over 60 outside aquatic aces and more than two dozen locals in the many events, plus the diving exhibition by the Canuck intercollegiate champion diver. Haven't got the complete list of events, but the competitors have been advised on entry forms and the public will be told what's what in every race. This city is attaining more and more recognition in a swimming sense, including the showings made by members of the girls' Ornamental Swimming Club, of course.

Fine League Finished

City Bowling wound up a long and successful season the other evening. Fashion-Crafts won the Duffus Trophy handily, with Ramblers the runners-up. Mel Akers finished in a blaze of glory with a 408 single, having nine strikes, sparing the 10th and coming back for another strike. In more of them than the coal miners! Ramblers rolled high pinnage of 3695, indicating the type of trundling seen all season in this speedy circuit. Vince Anthony's 823 triple led. The Clapper Cup went to Bill Martin for high average of the season with a nifty 252 in 90 games. Maurice Caccavella had a swell high single of 420 for the course, and Holly Mowry's 976 threesome was tops. They conclude things with a banquet at Kawartha Club next Thursday.

* * * * * *

There is a softball player in town, a recent arrival, who might be a big help to one of the City League clubs. He also does pretty well, we hear, in basketball and swimming—but softball is coming into its season shortly, so we speak of it. He is Johnny Nameth and he hails from Hamilton. No doubt, any club pilot who could help him out on his housing problem (so he could bring his wife here) could get Nameth's name on the dotted line pronto or even quicker. Though housing is still something of a local problem, eh?

* * * * * *

Over .400 His Habit

According to a Hamilton item written last February, Johnny is quite an outfielder and hitter in senior "B" and later senior "A" competition. Five times he won the loop batting championship in senior "A" play. For instance, he clouted the apple at a .472 clip for Hamilton P & G in 1941 when they went right through to the provincial title, beating Gordie Wright and Toronto Tip Tops for the Ontario crown. And with Slater's in 1944, he hit .432 for his fifth batting championship. Nameth was playing coach of this team the next year, and played the last two years with National Auto Body, a team which won the city championship in '46. Recently, his job brought him here and the veteran hopes to see softball action at the Bowl this summer.

St. Paul's Take Junior Title Over Electrics

St. Paul's nudged out a 19-18 overtime nod against CGE in the YWCA last evening to capture the junior championship of the Girls' Basketball League in a thrilling finish. It was their second straight win in as many starts of the two-in-three finals, their first game ending 26-18 a week ago. Nurses previously won the senior title and Normals the intermediate crown. The Nurses-Kawarthas' exhibition last night was called off when Nurses couldn't floor a team. The league banquet will be April 21.

Last night's tussle was quite even and speedy throughout between well-matched squads. CGE took a first-quarter lead of 8-4, but the Saints came back, spearheaded by Bev Pringle and Jane Abbott, to tie the fray up at 14-all at the halfway mark. CGE went slightly ahead again in the tight second half, but St. Paul's came back again to sew it up. They forced play in the final quarter, but missed several chances and couldn't forge ahead in regulation time. The five-minute overtime heat was see-saw with both working hard and showing fast play.

Single Point

Barb Deyell's free throw was the deciding point in the exciting game and the only score of the overtime stanza. It was a fine one to pull out for the Saints and a heart-breaker for the game CGE girls to drop. Prominent for St. Paul's were Barb Deyell on defence, and Bev Pringle, Jane Abbott and Dot Allan. Best for the Electrics were Irene and Betty Stewart and Marg Kennedy. There werent too many penalties called. The teams:

CGE: M. Perrin, Marj Perrin 2, I. Stewart 8, B. Stewart 4, M. Kennedy 4, T. Stewart.

St. Paul's: M. Beggs, B. Pringle 10, D. Allan, J. Smedmor, J. Smith, B. Deyell 1, J. Abbott 8, J. Hall, C. Raper, B. Luther, L. Coones, N. Mason.

Referee, Ed Nicholls; timer, S. Ecobichon.

The Olympic hockey champion RCAF Flyers—back from a 42-game 15,000 mile barnstorming of Europe—will face a powerful all-star opposition in a charity exhibition match at Ottawa tonight to complete the team's career.

Only one member of the champion team, Wally Halder, of Toronto, will be missing when the Flyers take on stars picked from the National and Quebec Senior Hockey leagues. Halder is out with an injured back sustained in a Mercantile league playoff game this week.

Facing the puck in the match for the benefit of the Canadian Appeal for Children will be Defence Minister Claxton. Members of the cabinet and high-ranking air force officials also are expected to attend.

Gus Bodnar, former Maple Leaf hockey star and now with the National Hockey League Chicago Black Hawks, was married yesterday at Toronto to his high school sweetheart Etta Macdonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roddy Macdonald of Fort William, Ont. Bodnar, who also comes from Fort William, had Maple Leafs' Wally Stanowski of Winnipeg as best man. Several Leaf players were among the guests.

The 1948 season of the Quebec Golft Association will open June 4 with the annual Quebec spring open tournament at Laval Sur-le-Lac, it was announced yesterday by H. R. Pickens, Jr., honorary secretary-treasurer. The Quebec open will be held at Ilsmere Aug. 13, while the Quebec amateur will be played at St. Lambert Aug. 25-27.

Billy Talbert, United States indoor tennis champion, defeated France's No. 1 player, Marcel Bernard, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, in an international tennis match at New York last night. In another singles engagement, Frances X. Shields of New York used his superior service to defeat Jean Borotra of France, 9-7, 8-6.

Say Movie Jobs May Be Tough, But Pay Well

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 10—(AP)—How tough is the job of being a movie star?

If you listen to some screen personalities, you'd think their work is only slightly less difficult than that of a sandhog or mule driver. Others, like Glenn Ford, admit that it's like falling off a log. Ordinarily, I would put in with Ford.

But this week I saw something that made me stop and think. It was on the "Julia Misbehaves" set and Cesar Romero was playing an acrobat. He had a guy standing on his shoulders. What's more, another guy leaped from a springboard to the top man's shoulders. There was Romero supporting two men feet-to-shoulder. And no hands!

Next, six acrobats, including Romero, were to form a human chain to a balcony where Greer Garson was languishing. Mrs. Miniver herself was going to climb down the chain and sent the acrobats tumbling.

Well, maybe we are hasty in our judgment of the breast-beating stars. Maybe they do work hard. After all, Gregory Peck just fractured a leg in practice riding for a horse opera. Gene Kelly snapped a bone while brushing up on his hoofing. And Esther Williams thumped an ear drum by diving too deep in a swimming scene.

Hard Life

There are other tiring factors in a star's life. Many, particularly the femme stars, rise before dawn while working (makeup, hairdressing and costuming can take hours). They often work a full day. Then there are the other time thieves—publicity interviews and pictures, haggling with studio and agents, playing benefits, attending to business matters, radio programs and others.

But I think either you or I could face the strain if we were getting a few thosand a week.

Orioles Find Pitching Most Uncertain

By C. M. GIBBS
Baltimore Sun

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., April 10 —(AP)—Baltimore has a better team than at this time last year, aside from its pitching which is uncertain.

The hurling department was strengthened somewhat when Cleveland Indians sent down Ernest Groth, a righthander, under a working agreement. The Indians also promised two more pitchers.

Groth won 13 and lost seven for Wilkes-Barre in 1946, and had a 7-11 record at Oklahoma City last year. The club is also counting on Johnny Wittig and Pete Center.

In addition there is George Hooks and Johnny Podgajny. The latter, the Orioles' famed fireman, hasn't shown much this spring.

The catching should be adequate with the return of Warren Robinson. Henry Ruszkowski and Milton Stockhausen are the other receivers.

In the outfield, Howie Moss, league home run champion last season, is back. Bill Martin may win the centrefield berth. Ken Mapes and Veteran Jimmy Wasdell have been alternating in left. Cleveland is expected to send Al Rosen, Texas League batting champion last year, to the Orioles. He will be used either at third or in the outfield.

Veteran Lew Riggs and Bill Hockenbury will battle it out for third base. Hockenbury was optioned here by Philadelphia Athletics.

At short is Bobby Wilson, moved over from second. Roberto Avila, another Cleveland importation will be the second baseman.

Herbert Conyers, who hit .337 and .357 the last two years at Harrisburg, appears to have won the first base job.

Adams Berates Smythe And The Leafs

TORONTO, April 10 (CP) — Unusually quiet after the opening game of the Stanley Cup finals, manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings broke out with an attack against both Conny Smythe and League officials on the eve of the second encounter tonight.

Adams objected to the Leaf manager's statement after last Wednesday's game, which Toronto won 5-3. Smythe was quoted as saying that "Wings did not go out to play hockey. It was chip, push and chop all the way."

Jolly Jack in turn charged that the referees failed to penalize Leafs to the extent they should.

The charge did not bother Smythe. "I still think it was a lousy hockey game Wednesday night," he said. "As for Jack Adams, he's a nice fellow in the summer time."

Adams charged further that there were plenty of examples of holding and interference in the first game which were not called by the officials. "But it was by the Toronto team," he added.

"Toronto has been doing this stuff all year and getting away with it. Three other teams, New York, Montreal and Boston complained during the regular season about the Leafs playing over the rules and the fact the referees didn't call it."

He said his team was not out there to smash around and they aren't rough and tough now, but added: "I just wish we had some of our old tough guys like Jimmy Orlando and Doug McCaig. As long as we are going to be accused we might as well be guilty."

Wings held a light drill at their Hamilton training camp yesterday with Forwards Ted Lindsay and Gordon Howe excused from duty. Coach Tommy Ivan is expected to make at least one change in tonight's line-up on his third line.

He will have to choose from among Max McNab, Jim Conacher, Rod Morrison, Fern Gauthier, Bep Guidolin, Pat Lundy and Eddie Bruneteau. Conacher and Morrison, who was recalled from Detroit after the first game, appear to be definite starters, with either McNab or Lundy as their pivot man.

At St. Catharines training site, Smythe watched his team go through a light morning practice and then said in an optimistic tone: "I feel better about our chances after watching the boys work this morning. I think they have finally shaken off the effects of a tough series with Boston."

WINGS AGAINST A WINDOW PANE — The robin shown above has been flying against a window glass for the past week in Dayton, Ohio. Residents of the house, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wallace, say the bird awakens them early each morning by throwing itself against the bedroom window. The attacks last about three hours each day, occurring at about 30-second intervals.

Permit Pupils To Use Library

The chairman John Marks, reported that he had discussed with O. Edgeley, the matter of students obtaining books from the public library. Mr. Edgeley believed that it was an advantage to the pupils. On motion of C. Copp and D. McNeil, the Board voted to pay $25 for a membership fee to the public library, making books available to the students of the high school.

On motion of G. Millett and W. E. Kavanagh, the matter of purchasing balls and bats was left in the hands of the purchasing committee, with power to act.

S. S. Breckon was present, and inquired regarding ventilation, in the high school library. He told the Board that the cadet inspection would be held on May 12 and invited all members of the Board to attend. He announced the high school formal would be held May 21.

Oldest Graduate Of Queen's 95 Years Old

OTTAWA, April 10—Looking back on a rich life dedicated to work of the church, Rev. James Rattray, longtime Eganville resident and the oldest living graduate of Queen's University recently celebrated his 95th birthday.

Retired from active church work fo rsome years now, Mr. Rattray is still possessed of a keen memory and displays a deep interest in Canadian and world affairs.

A native of Scotland, he was born in 1853 at Aberdeen and received his early education in Scotland before coming to Canada in 1881. He studied theology at Queen's and was graduated in 1887.

Ordained a minister in the Presbyterian Church, he has held charges at Tweed and Melrose in the Hastings district and at Eganville and Mattawa. Upon his retirement he resided in Perth for a number of years before moving to Eganville.

Mr. Rattray's first wife predeceased him and he was married again at Eganville. The second Mrs. Rattray is also alive and well today.

Judge Holds Fear Not Sufficient To Render Confession Invalid

MONTREAL, April 10—Fear that a prisoner might be given the third degree is not sufficient by itself in invalidating any confession he makes to the police.

A judgment to this effect was rendered by Judge Oscar Gagnon in the Court of Summary Trial where he sentenced Norman Perigny, 25, 1182 Ste. Elizabeth street, to two years in the penitentiary.

Perigny was tried with Muriel Auger, 22, on a charge of burglarizing the jewelry store of J. D. Vallieres, 6720 St. Hubert street. Three others held in connection robbery are awaiting trial before another tribunal.

Taking the stand in his own defence, the prisoner blamed his three confederates for the robbery, but in a confession given to the police he admitted he threw a brick through the jewelry shop show window from which $300 worth of clocks, watches and trinkets were taken.

"When you gave your confession to the police, were you threatened in any way?" inquired Judge Gagnon.

"They said I was guilty," explained the prisoner.

"But did they threaten you?" insisted His Honor.

"No, but I was afraid of the third degree."

The court held the fear was unjustified and that the confession was obtained in a regular manner.

This was somewhat confirmed by Miss Auger who related that on the night the burglary was committed she went for an automobile ride with Perigny and the three other accused.

"They went looking for a suitable jewelry store to rob," the girl pleaded. She said she did not want to accompany them on the trip since she was liable to become involved with the police. It was Perigny who broke the jewelry store window, she swore.

The court found the girl's story justified an acquittal and she was freed.

Science Studies Air Conditioning For Home Today

AUSTIN, Texas, April 10—Relief from summer heat, is the objective of an air-conditioning research project nearing completion at the University of Texas for the US Department of Commerce.

A three in one back porch unit that can cool three to five rooms simultaneously has been developed in the Bureau of Engineering Research, Dean W. R. Woolrich reports.

Under Associate Professor J. D. McFarland's direction, a "package unit" combining the use of ice, evaporative cooling, and a fan ventilating system has been set up for the research. When commercialized, such units can be purchased from the factories and installed by ice companies.

"Evaporative cooling is satisfactory for daytime hours in locations over 100 miles inland from the coast, and 80 per cent of the time usable in inland cities," Dean Woolrich explained. "The remaining 10 and 20 per cent of the time the air is too humid for effective evaporative cooling. Thus the unit developed will use ice when either evaporative cooling or fan ventilation is inadequate. Ice will be used, particularly, when there is a large number of people in the house."

Harold F. Tankersley, research assistant and graduate student from Austin, is conducting experiments with the three in one unit.

"For those small homes which cannot afford the luxury of a machine air-conditioning unit, this 'package unit' will be ideal," Dean Woolrich said. "Machine air-conditioning would average twice the cost of the three in one unit, if the entire house were being cooled."

Because the Department of Commerce is sponsoring the research and all results will be reported directly to it, reports will not be available to the public until released through the federal agency. The release probably will be some time next fall.

Russian Cow Sets Record

LONDON, April 10 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today that Russia has developed a new breed of cow which has no equal in any conutry of the world. The Russians call the breed "Kostroma".

The agency reported that a cow named Apynitsa, born in 1929, has yielded 22,000 gallons of milk and still gives 18 litres (18.9 qts.) a day.

Another cow, named Skhema, has broken all world butter production records Tass said.

The Soviet agency said 4,998 kilograms (10,995.60 pounds) of butter have been made from Skhema's output in 10 years. It said the previous world record, established in Canada, was 4,816 kilograms (10,595.20 pounds.

Two production records were claimed earlier this year for Canadian and American cows.

In London, Ont., a Holstein named Loneim Taxal Happy was crowned world's milk-producing champion by the Dominion Holstein Breeders' Association. In three years the cow produced 91,641 pounds (almost 12,000 gallons) of milk and 3,357 pounds of butterfat.

In New York, a world's record for butterfat production was Rose, a three-year-old Guernsey, for cows of her class. The animal produced 994 pounds of butterfat (the equivalent of 1,242 pounds of butter) in a 365-day period.

US Trains Young Experts For German Occupation

By JACK SMYTH

BERLIN, April 10 — (Reuters). —The United States military government in Germany is today training its own "career personnel" under a novel apprenticeship plan designed to develop a young but experienced service staff thoroughly familiar with the policies, procedures and methods of the occupation government.

Almost two years ago, military government officials foresaw difficulty in obtaining highly-qualified personnel willing to accept long-term jobs in the occupation administration. It was feared that many key men in each department would be called back to the United States by anxious employers and that United States experts in various fields would be reluctant to put aside their career to serve in Germany.

The army department therefore drew up the "interim plan" to produce its own experts.

Today, military government interns are familiar figures at all levels of operation and symbolize the intention of the United States government policy for assuring a peaceful and democratic Germany.

The interns, recruited largely from colleges and universities in the United States, are chosen from men and women applicants between the ages of 21 and 30 who have specialized in such subjects as economics, political science, finance and civil government.

Already 79 recruits have arrived here.

They have been given an initial professional rating, but are ineligible for promotion until the completion of their first year of training. Assigned first to the office of the personnel officer, they are subsequently attached to various divisions for training.

25 Now Permanent

Those who are married agree to remain in Germany for three years and those who are single, for two years. Twenty-five interns have already received permanent assignments and are working in every department of the United States military government in Berlin and in the bipartite control office in Frankfurt.

In general, the one-year apprenticeship period now follows these lines:

The first five weeks are spent in Berlin where the intern gains a general understanding of the functions and operations of military government. Then, after two weeks of lectures and seminars, the intern is assigned to one of the laender (German provincial governments) for five months. Here he attends denazification courts, studies local government and administrative problems, assists field inspection teams.

All interns are later sent to the European command intelligence school at Oberammergau where they attend a three-week course in military government policies, operation and documents, as well as general background material in the history, economics and psychology of Germany and Europe.

Interns who have completed seven months of the training program are eligible to work with the Allied Control Authority, American military government, a land headquarters or a bipartite agency.

These assignments are made in the expectation that interns who prove satisfactory will be permanently placed. When they have completed the entire program they are given efficiency ratings and professional or executive positions.

Marmora Ready To Launch Campaign For Rink on 22nd

MARMORA, April 10—(ENS) —The dinner meeting of the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce was held with president Alex Fraser as chairman.

There was an attendance of over 50. Included in the guests introdued to the gathering were Ian Bonter, Saskatchewan, Warden George West, Hasting county, and two others from Ottawa.

Guest speaker was K. L. Reid, Inspector of Income Tax, Belleville, who gave an informative talk on the work of his department, describing income tax as the prime pillar of government finance.

A. Ketcheson of the same office was present to assist the speaker at the close in answering questions.

A brief talk was given by Warden West, Bernard Hughes, chairman of the Rink committee received close attention of his hearers as he gave his report.

The committee has scouted the possibility of the community handling the erection of the rink. It had been ascertained that materials for its erection could be obtained in Marmora and donated voluntary labor was possible on a large scale. The committee he said, is now tackling the matter of construction under capable leadership.

Mr. Hughes named the subcommittees appointed for the campaign. He asserted that it was definite that Marmora could have a rink for next season. A canvass for funds will be launched with a rally in the town hall on April 22. The reading room of the Royal hotel has been offered and accepted for the campaign headquarters.

R. E. Boner, chairman of the Liason committee between the Chamber of Commerce and the Village Council told of attending the last session of the council which had promised action on the ladies' rest room for the village and also on lake levels.

Church Fund-Raising Pays 3-to-1 Returns

HAVELOCK, April 10 (ENS) To raise funds to be used for renovating the church, the Women's Parish Guild of St. John's Anglican church sponsored a plan submitted to them by the rector, Rev. F. Pitts.

One hundred and four members of the congregation were each mailed one dollar at the beginning of Lent with a letter requesting that they invest the dollar and bring back three dollars at a congregational meeting at the end of Lent.

On Wednesday evening this Lenten project was brought to a close when the congregation met ni the Sunnday school auditorium for a "pot luck" supper and social evening and to learn the amount realized on their investments.

With a number of returns still to be received the project was pronounced a decided success.

Following the supper a short program was presented, with Mr. Pitts presiding, during which each recipient of a dollar was called upon to explain how they had invested it to gain the requested increase. The prize for the most unique plan went to Mrs. L. H. Cooke, who made a pair of dressed stuffed dolls. Mr. Potts auctioned a water-color painting—his own handiwork—in aid of the fund.

A piano duet was given by Misses Dorothy and Shirley Holdcroft. Two dances were presented by little Shirley Jewel. Mrs. Donald Kirk was pianist.

Fight Liquor Battle

WINDSOR, April 10 — (CP) — A "pitched battle" between the Chamber of Commerce and churches of Aylmer enlivened today's session of the liquor authority control board in the county courthouse, when 52 applications for new liquor authorities in southwestern Ontario were reviewed. Judge was reserved on the Aylmer application.

Rev. David Cowen said the application for a new hotel authority in Aylmer had "wrecked" the town council and was in the process of wrecking the Chamber of Commerce. Frank Shaw headed the Chamber of Commerce delegation.

God's Message to a People in Exile

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Ezekiel 18; 34; 36:22-38; 37: 1-14

By Alfred J. Buescher

Ezekiel told his people that the Lord was displeased because the "shepherds" or priests of the exiled Israelites were grown rich, and let the "sheep" the common people, starve spiritually.

The good shepherd, Ezekiel said, seeks out his flocks where they are scattered through the high mountains, prey to every wild beast of the country, and feeds and cares for them.

The prophet cheered them by promising that God would take His scattered children back to their own land, would give them "clean hearts," and it would become as the garden of Eden.

Ezekiel was taken to a valley full of dry bones and commanded to prophesy over them, and they were assembled, given life, and became a great army.

MEMORY VERSE—Ezekiel 34:30.

Christ's Challenges Aroused Hatred of Ruling Interests

The Scribes and the Chief Priests sought how they might destroy Him.—St. Mark 11:18.

The Lord Jesus died on the Cross because he challenged the great interests of His day. Do these words stick in your mind, do they shock you: "The scribes were the Doctors of theology; teachers of the Law of Moses; the chief priests were by birth and family influence rulers of the Jewish Church. A great Prophet had arisen and their eyes and minds were blinded to His office.

He challenged the ecclesiastical interests. The clergy of the Jewish Church were almost to a man opposed to Him. He did not deny their authority. But the young Prophet asked them to do the hardest thing for the clergy of any age: He desired them to re-think their teaching. His teaching on the observance of the Sabbath was shaking the very foundations of their religion. He set up a new principle when He said: "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." Moreover the Prophet tried to break down class distinction when He taught the common people that the Samaritan could be kinder than the priest or the Levite. Revolutionary teaching. He must be silenced.

He challenged the political interests. The country was a Roman province governed by a man appointed by the Emperor. The Romans had a genius for ruling. They practiced large and astonishing toleration towards the conquered people; even paying large sums of money from the public purse towards the upkeep of their worship and religious views. The Romans allowed the great ruling families of the Jewish people to continue their rule of their own people with certain restrictions. These Jewish rulers were placed in a very delicate position. The young prophet was continually preaching about the Kingdom of God. Kingdom and King were dangerous words. The Roman officer of the secret service, standing on the fringe of the crowd, would advise the Roman authorities of the use of these words. Caiaphas was right when he said: that such teaching would bring disaster. "The Romans will come and take away our place and our nation." He must be silenced.

He challenged the financial interests. Jerusalem was the centre of the Jewish faith. At least three times a year multitudes came from the extremes of the Empire to sacrifice and worship. The birds and the beasts for sacrifice had to be bought in the Temple courts. To use a modern expression, the Roman dollar was good all over the Empire at one hundred per cent. The devout Jew, who had travelled hundreds of miles, discovered to his horror that he was only being allowed 80 cents for his dollar, or thereabouts. It was easy money for the money changers. They were robbing their own brethren and getting wealthy. He overturned the tables of the money changers. They lost money. He touched their pockets. He must be silenced.

The prophet died on the tree. He challenged the great interests. They killed Him. The purest and best of men died a shameful death. God did not interfere. God apparently had forsaken Him. God's honor was at stake. On the third day God raised Him from the dead. It is not coming back to live again and die again. The Spirit of the Lord entered into that dead Body and transformed it into the Spiritual Body, which could pass anywhere and through everything. By His resurrection He is proved to be the Son of God.

JESUS SAID: I AM THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE. HE THAT BELIEVETH IN ME, THOUGH HE WERE DEAD YET SHALL HE LIVE. AND WHOSOEVER LIVETH AND BELIEVETH IN ME SHALL NEVER DIE. BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

Homesick and Discouraged Ezekiel Tried to Cheer Jews

Scripture—Ezekiel 18; 34; 36:22-38; 37:1-14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Ezekiel's prophecies were written, it is thought, between 595 and 585 B.C., when he, his people and the king, Jehoiachin, were exiled in Babylon. All the people were homesick and discouraged. They needed cheering (even as we of today), but they also should look clearly at the facts and see where at least part of the blame for their condition lay, so thought Ezekiel.

Ezekiel evidently did not believe in vicarious righteousness, and placed his emphasis on personal responsibility. He told his people plainly that they needed "a new heart." That phrase has familiar ring. After the dropping of the atomic bomb, Winston Churchill is reported to have said that man must have a "new heart," and a well-known American to have remarked that the world's thinking must undergo a "cleansing and reformation" if we would survive.

Like all the old Testament prophets, Ezekiel repeated to his people only what the Lord told him. God came to him, he said and asked what the children of Israel meant by the saying that "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge"? All souls are mine, the Lord saith, "as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die."

If a man were just, doing that which was right and lawful, he would live, but he who oppressed the poor and needy, used violence in his dealings with his fellowmen, was a robber, a shedder of blood, etc., would surely die. No one, not even his father, was responsible for his wickedness.

"The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him; However, if the wicked turned from his sins, he would be forgiven, it was promised.

That too, is a message for us. We should not blame all the confusion and tragedy in the world on those who have gone before us, or on the wickedness of others. We should search our own hearts and see what we have done to help bring about these conditions. Are we broadminded? Do we look upon every man as our brother, and treat him as such? We hear many complaints of workers who demand large wages, but loaf on the job, with no sense of responsibility toward their employers. There are employers too, who pile up huge profits, but who shirk their responsibilities to their fellow beings. We too, need "a new heart." Acknowledgeing these faults, we can do something about them, and win forgiveness through reformation. These are errors that parents and teachers should emphasize in their guidance of children.

The Lord also called Ezekiel's attention to the conduct of the priests, the shepherds of the exiled Israelities. They waxed fat and clothed themselves in fine raiment. He complained, while those they were supposed to guide and comfort were neglected. The of wild beasts, while the shep-

Army Shooters Defeat Fish-Game Club

Sharpshooters of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers) RCA scored a win over the Peterborough Fish and Game Rifle Club last night at the Armouries by a margin of 37 points in two interesting rounds.

The artillery lads, more at home in their own indoor ranges and using army equipment, carded a sharp 795 out of 800 in the first round to take a 14-point lead over the rifle club, who were using army equipment for the first time. In the second round, the clubbers improved to 774, only 13 points behind army.

The two teams will battle again in the near future at the rifle club's home range at the Exhibition Grounds and a ding-dong battle is expected. Members of the visiting team were guests in the army mess following the shoot. Scores were:

Army—

Major M. E. Clarke, 100, 98; Capt. L. D. Foster, 100, 98; Lt.-Col. V. M. Eastwood, MC, ED, 99, 99; Gnr. Ireland, J. J., 100, 97; Gnr. Hughes, A. J., 99, 98; BSM Chapman, C., 98, 98; Capt. W. R. C. Perry, 99, 100.

TORNADO CAUSES WIDESPREAD DAMAGE — An unidentified woman (above) is shown standing amidst the ruins of her home at Porter, Indiana, after it was ripped apart by the tornado which swept through sections of Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky. Five persons were reported killed and many injured by the twister, which inflicted heavy property damage.

Plan Erection Memorial Gate At Morrow Park

Members of the Morrow Trust and directors of Exhibition Board discussed Friday night prospective improvements at Morrow Park which are expected to be completed in time for the revival of the Exhibition this year.

The directors are to obtain estimates of cost of changes which are needed for the accommodation of exhibitors and the public, and will submit them to the Trust for their approval.

Trustees intend to proceed with their plans for the erection of a memorial gate at the main entrance to the park, at the foot of George St. It will be erected in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Harold Morrow, in memory of his father, and it is understood that this permanent improvement will be an attractive feature harmonizing with the new wire fence which the directors propose for the Lansdowne St. front, from the grandstand to Lock St.

Move Two Barns

Two barns in the central part of the east half of the park will be moved to the east border, and a new barn will probably be built. A general job of painting is also planned, and the former shooting gallery of the military establishment will be converted into lavatories.

Hugh Stewart presided as chairman of the meeting, and the Trust was represented by Col. Frank Bradburn, R. M. Glover, T. J. Carley, K.C., and Herbert I. Bradburn.

Directors expressed their appreciation of the cordial spirit in which their proposals were received by the Trustees, and said they would proceed at once to get estimates of the expense involved in their present plans.

Increase Given Employees At Raybestos

Agreeing to the recommendations of the three-man conciliation board, a renewal agreement was signed on Friday between Local 527, UE-CIO, and the Canadian Raybestos Company Limited.

Chief provisions of the new contract are a 12-cents-an-hour wage boost for Raybestos employees effective from date of signature, and six-cents-an hour retroactive to November 4, 1947 when the old contract ran out. When the cost of living reaches 155:1 an additional four cents is called for. And night shift work will net a seven-cent bonus.

The vacation plan grants one week's holidays after a year's service; two weeks after four years, and three weeks after 20 years. Employees will be paid for eight statutory holidays in addition.

Other items include what the union described as "improved clauses on union security and senoority."

Negotiations between the union and management broke down when the old contract ran out in November. When no agreement could be reached the Ontario Department of Labor appointed a conciliator. When still no agreement was arrived at a three-man conciliation board was set up consisting of Judge E. R. Miller, Cobourg, Rev. Dr. Forster, Welland, representing the union, and E. M. Dillon, Toronto as management representative.

Creating Interest In Hobby Essential

"It is happening to you," was the subject of a speech by Fred G. McNeely at the Friday Night Club dinner at the YMCA. Mr. McNeely, who is with the Ontario Department of Welfare, is one of the founders of the club. The two others, G. H. Roper and D. A. Loomis, were also present.

"This is not a mysterious subject," he said, "for we are all growing old. We cannot say just where old age begins, but as defined by Dr. Reynolds, a man is old when those to whom he is important say he is old."

Mr. McNeely said that the average span of life is 62 years, but in India only about 26 years. Scientific and medical progress has extended man's age, but it only can be lengthened by cultivating an interest in something other than in one's work.

"When retiring from our job, we must have another interest or life will end within three years," he said. "We must create this interest in our youth or we shall never grow old."

Mr. McNeely was introduced by Mr. Roper and thanked by Rod Reid. Bob Cutmore played several piano selections. It was announced by chairman Rod Blackwell that the club's activities would close for this season next Friday evening with a ladies' night and a special program.

Home Hair-Do Not Worrying Beauty Operator

From the larger centres — particularly New York and to a lesser degree Toronto and Montreal —comes word that home-permanents are biting deeply into the business of beauty shop owners. For a maximum outlay of about $2.50 and thereafter at sharply reduced cost, many women are doing their own hairdressing at home.

This has become so prevalent in New York that the International Beauty Shop Owners are regarding it as a menace to their business. It is estimated by that body that 30 per cent of US women who were previously beauty shop patrons have now switched to the home-permanent method; and another 20 per cent are likely to do so in the immediate future.

In Peterborough, increasing numbers of the kits are being sold to those who balk at the idea of paying anywhere from five to ten dollars for a hairwave when they believe they can do it themselves, and at a much lower cost.

Do Better Job

Only one local beauty shop owner was openly antagonistic to this fast-growing competitor. Most of the others felt they could do a better job than the home-made variety and that the amount of money saved in the operation was not worth the risk. All of them said they believed customers would become dissatisfied with the results and would return to the beauty parlors to have their hair done.

One proprietress said she thought as high as 20 per cent of former customers were now using the home permanent. Others doubted this high proportion but admitted that it was becoming increasingly popular.

Factory girls were singled out as the ones who had adopted it most whole heartedly. "One girl tries out her home-permanent, and the idea spreads like wildfire," one operator said.

A touch of irony is injected into the situation when it is learned that one ladies' hairdressing shop in Toronto was forced to sell the home-permanent kits to remain in business. Another beauty shop operator thought it was a passing fed and would go the way of all fads. At best she would admit that "on some it looks grand and on others like straw."

Other proprietors had tales of "frizzled hair," "poisoned scalps" and even temporary blindness as a result of infection from the lotion and contacted through a cut in the skin.

Several girls who had tried this comparatively new method of hairdressing pooh-poohed the claims of the operators and maintained they were just running it down to regain lost business.

One young woman in an attractive hair-do said it was true that the curls were not as tight, but claimed that the rounder curls looked more natural that way in any case. She also said that the permanent probably wouldn't last as long as that in an expensive beauty parlor, but it could be cold-waved again when desired.

Housewives, working girls and other women who must budget carefully have been the greatest purchasers of home-permanent materials. Housewives contend they are able to do their work while waiting for the wave to dry.

To draw the customers, beauty shop owners in the United States have installed extra services such as a massaging machine which looks like a large bed and contains 270 rubber coils. Thus while the customer is having her hair done she is also enjoying a 15-minute massage.

In Peterborough the operators do not seem to be worrying about any adverse effects from this competition. They seem convinced that women will flock back to the beauty salons. But the women who have tried their hands at hairdressing and found it successful vow they are through with expensive permanents.

SET AGE LIMITS

Temporary top age limits for men seeking reserve force commissions were announced Friday by the army. For armored corps, artillery, infantry and army service corps units the maximum is 28; engineer, signals, ordnance and electrical and mechanical engineer units, 30; medical, dental, pay provost and intelligence corps, 35; chaplains, 50.

REGIMENTS AFFILIATE

Four Canadian artillery units have become allied with Britain's Middlesex Regiment. All from Ontario, they are the 21st Field Regiment, with batteries at Sarnia Watford and Strathroy; the 21st Anti-Tank Regiment, with batteries at Wingham, Walkerton, Goderich and Listowel; the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, Peterborough, and the 102nd Field Battery, Dundas.

THREE CHIMNEY FIRES

Sudden dropping of the temperature along with high wind resulted in furnaces being stoked on Friday and three chimney fires were reported. Shortly before noon there was one at the residence of F. Peryer, 714 Chamberlain St.; about an hour later another at residence of W. Russell, 298 Birdwood St.; and late in the afternoon a third was at home of T. Foster, 260 Reid St.

RUNS INTO EARTH PILE

Gordon Innes, Crawford's Grove, slightly damaged his car on Friday night when he ran into a four-foot high mound of earth near the middle of the road, on Aylmer St., across from the Utilities building. He was driving south on Aylmer at about 8.45 p.m when he struck the mound. He alleges there were no lanterns or other form of illumination on the earth-pile.

UNPREDICTABLE APRIL

The cold weather caught more than householders off guard. One well-known lunch spot on Water St. has been undergoing repairs for the past few days. Started during the warm spell of early April, the proprietor decided that "the time had come" to move the bulky oil stove from his establishment. He found this week that the time had not come. While the workmen tore up the old walling and put in the new, the owner shivered reflectively on the vagaries of the weather as the wind whipped around the building.

STORK WINS, TRUCK STALLS

Sam Currie's Tweed News records a stork race story that happened on Easter morn near Northbrook, down in the Land O 'Lakes country. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burgess of Denbigh were racing against time in the family truck from their house to a nursing home in Bogart. A baby boy of eight and one-half pounds arrived in the cab of the truck at the junction of Highway 41 near Northbrook. Father Burgess had the accelerator jammed to the floor shortly after the Big Moment when the truck ran out of gas near Kaladar, and a garage attendant was roused from slumber to supply gas, quickly. Mother Burgess, already the mother of seven, greeted the officials of the nursing home, when they finally arrived, with,

"How do you like my nice little Easter egg?"

Peterborough Women Buy Clothes For Their Menfolk

In the United States there is an increasing tendency for women to buy men's clothes, but in Peterborough the women have always bought the clothes even if the men wear them.

"It's always been the same," said the manager of one store, when asked if more women were buying or helping to choose men's clothes, that per cent. of shirts, ties and hosiery are bought by women. As regards suits, women have always helped to choose in 80 per cent. of cases, in the remaining 20 per cent., half have to refer to the wife to see whether she likes it or not."

"It makes it tough on the salesman. Why even when a fellow comes along who is single, he often has his mother or girl friend with him. Women shop around, argue for hours and then walk out with nothing, whereas a man makes up his mind fast. It is difficult for a salesman to satisfy more than one mind, with the result that he often chooses something to suit the taste of the woman, not the man."

Customers Women

"In the Christmas season," he continued, "it is pretty hard to tell whether this is a man's store or a ladies' store. The majority of our customers during the month of December are women."

He stopped to serve a customer—a woman.

"There you are," he said when he returned, "that lady just told me she buys all her husband's ties as he has such awful taste and he likes the ties she buys."

He told a story about one henpecked customer, whose wife disapproved of every suit he tried on, until at last the customer put on one suit and said he liked it. "I wouldn't wear it to feed the pigs in," said his wife, but the man didn't take any notice and bought the suit. His wife walked straight out of the store and has never came back, but the husband returns to buy his clothes unaided these days.

It was the same story at other stores in Peterborough. One salesman was very definite on the subject. "100% of women are detrimental to the cause," he said, "and I only hope you quote me on that." He explained by saying that a woman, if she is buying shirts for example, will turn the entire stock upside down and then choose the shirt she was shown first. "In half the cases, they don't even know the size they want," he continued, but at this point he was interupted by a telephone call from his wife. When he returned his views were even more vehement, but had little to do with clothes.

Most salesmen agreed that women were better shoppers than men in some ways. As one salesman said, "Women have very good taste. They know quality and value better than men and their ideas of color and styling are also much better." The women may be a nuisance, but they always know what to buy.

Peanut Vendor Returns To Native Land

Peter Cosieris, Peterborough downtown curbside peanut and popcorn vendor of many years, is on his way home to Greece. He had grown old here, and time laid upon him its inevitable penalty of debility. The Biblical warning caught up with him—for the night cometh when man can work no more. And when it came to Peter Cosieris it was as a shadow across his mind. His memory and judgment failed him, ordinary functions of intelligence.

He had found temporary haven at the House of Providence. Boarding homes could not take him in because he had become a mental problem. One day recently he set out in the routine of coming over town. Instead he wandered off down a road leading easterly from the city.

Six miles away he was recognized by a truck driver, who stopped and brought him back to the city. He could no longer remember the English words he had learned, but he would talk endlessly in his Attic tongue to other men at the Home as if they understood him. And so he became a nuisance to them and a worry to his national friends as they wondered how they could help him. They were apprehensive that in his mental confusion he might be struck down in the street and killed.

The only way out was to have him go back to his relatives in Greece. That course was followed. The other night the council acceded to a written request from Mr. N. Douros and refunded $33.34 of the peanut vendor's license. Inquiries were made in Toronto about details of airplane flights and of personal arrangements to look after him at La Guardia Field in New York, and successive landings in London and Rome and finally back home in Athens.

That was the last of Peter Cosieris as virtually a main streeter of Peterborough. He fell out of the procession as other men are, doing every day, are seen no more and too soon are forgotten. Possibly there will be a purchaser of the little handcart, and someone else.

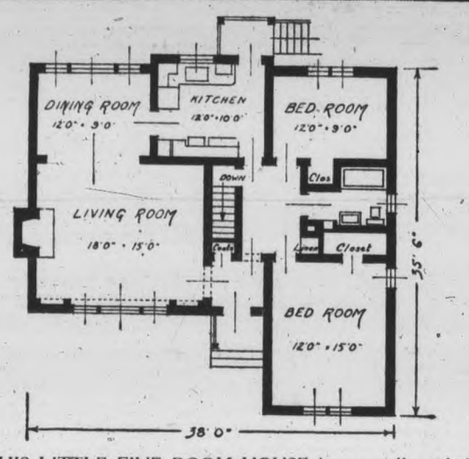
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Drew Defends Liquor System



TORONTO, April 10.—(CP).—Premier Drew acknowledged last night that laws alone would neveh solve the liquor problem. "No government has ever found the final answer to this extremely difficult question." He said in a speech prepared for delivery over a network of Ontario stations.

"True temperance is the result we all should seek,' he said. "Fundamentally, this is a problem of personal conduct based upon training, education and self-discipline . . . it is the duty of government to pass sensible and workable laws designed to regulate or control the time and place of sale, as well as the time, place and condition of consumption It is the duty of everyone to maintain proper standards of personal conduct."

Premier Drew discussed the role of the Liquor License Board, an administrative body entirely separate from the Control Board, and said its record was good.

"The system is not perfect," he admitted. "We have never claimed that it was.' He claimed it was an improvement over previous control methods.

THIS LITTLE FIVE ROOM HOUSE has a well settled, homelike appearance. Good evergreen foundation planting has done much to tie it to its site, and add a year-round touch of colour to the grey shingle facade. The tiny front porch is of red brick. Examining the floor plan we find two bedrooms on the right hand side, separated by the bathroom. An air of spaciousness is given the splendid living room by having a wide arch between it and the dining room. Each of these rooms has an abundance of windows. Not only is the kitchen bright and cheerful, but its arrangements is efficient. While it is located at the back of the house, there is direct access to the front door. This is a distinct advantage, since in many small homes all front door to kitchen traffic is through the living room or dining room. US Giving Highest Priority To Warplane Expansion

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) — Congress today geared up machinery to pump men, money and material into the broadening United States defence program.

Although major attention was centred on boosting the country's air power, other moves followed the lines laid down by Defence Secretary James Forrestal.

These were the light defence developments:

1. The House of Representatives armed services committee drew up a draft bill requiring registration of all men 18 through 30, but making only those 19 through 25 liable for two years' service.

Veterans with a year or more war service would have to register, but would be exempt; those with 99 days, but less than a year's service also would be exempt if they joined reserve units of the army, navy or air forces.

Forrestal proposed much the same legislation, but his called for registration of men up to 45.

2. The House Appropriations Committee raced into hearings on a bill to pour $725,000,000 in a warplane expansion drive. Forrestal put the "highest-priority" lable on these funds for the air force and fleet aviation.

3. The White House told the war assets administration to hold up final disposition of unsold industrial plants, machine tools and other equipment needed for war production. The stop-order was issued to permit the Munitions Board to survey the items in the next 30 days.

4. Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan said President Truman will ask Congress to boost merchant shipbuilding funds from $39,500,000 to $100,000,000.

5. Truman asked Congress to increase the export-import bank's lending authority by $500,000,000 to finance further economic development in Latin America.

Although Truman's message did not specify the types of projects contemplated for the loans, dispatches from the Pan-American Conference at Bogota, Colombia, indicated increasing United States interest in developing South American petroleum production.

Meanwhile Gen. Jacob Devers, chief of the army's field forces, asserted that a "fifth column" is fighting against adoption of national defence plans.

CAIRO — Abdullah El Wazir, who for four weeks sat on the throne of Yemen, was executed at Hogga, 50 miles north of Sanna, the Yemenite capital.

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—Amana isn't going to be left at the altar after all. The tiny Kangaroo flown here from Australia will meet her prospective bridegroom tonight right on schedule at the Byline Ball—but it will be New York's "Romeo," not Australia's "Bluey."

Flown from Australia for the 1947 Byline Ball, Bluey is suffering from sinus trouble, so sooner than disappoint Amana, Riverdale Zoo official negotiated with the Bronx, N.Y. Zoo. As a result Romeo will arrive in time for the announcement of his engagement tonight.

No cash was involved in the deal—just two swans and two baby baboons, which will change residence from Toronto the Bronx. Bluey had no comment.

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME, MAKES DOLLAR STRETCH

Planning and Planting Grounds Pay Dividends

Few things pay such great and continuous dividends of genuine satisfaction as well planted home grounds. There is the joy of creating beauty, the knowledge that the appearance of your home place is such that it will bear inspection of friends, neighbours and passers-by. Moreover, there is a tremendous satisfaction in knowing that your grounds give unmistakable evidence of good taste, culture and refinement. These, together with the joy of living amid beautiful surroundings, repay you a hundred-fold for the small investment of money and time required.

Even if you live in a city apartment there are many flowers and plants you can grow in tubs and boxes in windows, on the porch or even on the roof. And there may be some litle plot where you can have a little garden all your own.

It is interesting to know that, in addition to the enjoyment derived from well planted grounds, every tree, hedge, plant and vine you plant adds far more to the value of your property than its cost. In fact, you are actually paid for making your home attractive, not alone by the added pleasure and satisfaction of living in cheerful surroundings, but in actual dollars and cents. By making your property more attractive, you make it more valuable. Any real estate authority will tell you that a well planted place will bring far more money, if offered for sale or for rent, than the same place unplanted or poorly planted.

So you see, instead of being an expense, it actually pays you well to plant your grounds. Planting is a sound investment yielding continuous dividends.

With the great wealth of plant material which the nurseryman can offer to-day, you can be sure of achieving beautiful and individual planting effects.

The modern way of planning is to plant the whole grounds, not just the foundation alone. Where space permits, the lot is divided by planting into such portions as the front yard or public area, side yard or semi-public area, the rear yard or private area and the service area.

To plan the grounds in this way you should make a little sketch plan, for it is easier to make changes with an eraser than to move plants after they are established. It need be only crudely drawn, but let it represent your own idea of how your place may be developed. Later your ideas can be given to your nurseryman who will advise and assist you in achieving your ideal.

You will be surprised to see how much farther the dollar goes in buying plants for outdoor furnishings as compared to buying furnishings for the house.

Most houses appear bare and cold without the softening influence of planting about the house foundation. Use graceful flowering shrubs and other plants to take away the abrupt and harsh separation of house and grounds. The fragrance of flowers, the colour and texture of foliage, the contrast of twig and berry are but part of the beauty you will enjoy from plants in the foundation planting.

Consider first the entrance. It may well be accented by a balanced planting of evergreens or of shrubs; the finer textured and richer foliaged sorts should be selected. A higher growing plant in back and on either side will give accent to the doorway.

For under the windows your nurseryman will recommend low growing varieties. At the corners of the house use plants of taller growing nature, and make the planting bed wider at this point.

BUTTER STEALERS — This is where some of our butter has been going—down the throats of young calves being raised for veal. Farmers say this brings a better financial return than selling cream for butter fat. As calves are weaned, more cream will be available for butter makers.

Mayor Terms CGE Report Stimulating, Encouraging

"The Canadian General Electric Company's report to the community was as stimulating and encouraging as it was most commendable," said Mayor Wm. Ovens today in a reference to the company's full page advertisement in The Examiner.

It was a striking and impressive array of facts about the CGE business, its payroll, prospects and also its collateral contributions to the life of Peterborough.

"I think the people will appreciate the company's action in buying space to tell this important story," Mayor Ovens said. "Probably everybody was aware that the CGE is Peterborough's largest taxpayer, but I don't think it was generally understood that their postwar payroll exceeded their wartime peak."

The CGE statement condensed into compact and pithy paragraphs facts such as this: From June, 1945, to the end of 1947 the company invested in new and improved facilities of production the sum of $4,806,000, and this expenditure on plant and equipment will continue during 1948 and 1949 to the amount of $3,800,000.

This outlay and expansion is being distributed through practically every department of the Peterborough works.

The number of CGE employees in 1947 was 4,426 as compared with 1,728 in 1939.

Directly connected with that fact is this imposing contrast of payments to employees: The C.G.E. payroll in 1947 was $9,604,000 as against $$1,828,000 in 1939.

It has also been noted by some of those who have mentioned this advertisement that for the last quarter of 1947 the average weekly earnings at Peterborough works was $3.16 above the average for the electrical industry and $4.69 above the average for all manufacturing industry."

"It is most gratifying to know that the largest industry in our community is paying such substantial wages," Mayor Ovens said. "Another strong aspect about C.G.E. production in this city is that the company has consistently kept and enlarged in their local works the manufacture of electric generators and other heavy machinery.

It seems to me that it will be many years before this country has caught up with its harnessing of water power. That means continued demand for the huge machines for power producing that are made here. There is also a very considerable export business in those products. It strikes me that they provide a stand-by source of industry that will likely continue to be a backlog after the market for smaller products is supplied."

Mayor Ovens said he did not know exactly the foreign countries buying Peterborough generators, but the Examiner recalled to him the order for gigantic machines last year for New Zealand. They were packed in sectors for ocean transport.

His Worship said that "the human balance sheet" could not include all the instances of interest the company through its management and employees practically took in the welfare and well being of their associates. Pensions, life insurance, holidays, social and athletic affairs, Kawartha Golf and Country Club, were all agreeable details of the long story of the CGE, but nothing was more appealing than the personal concern of management, foremen and felllow employees for those members of the staff who have met with reverses, especially in health and being, and that could not be told.

"It is a fact," said Mayor Ovens "that activities of the company are of interest to most of the citizens, especially when the information is provided in factual form. On the other hand, the council appreciates the community interest shown by many of the people, including the C.G.E. and its employees. We know this that if they swing in behind some community project it is just about certain of success.

I am glad to say that Peterborough has had splendid support from its heads of industries and also from their employees. We had a wonderful record through the war. I sincerely hope that spirit will continue here. Peterborough is moving into larger civic development, and there is plenty of opportunity here for community spirit and effort."

Forestry Probe Cost $140,144

TORONTO, April 10— (CP).— More than $200,000 has been paid for consultant work by experts for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

This was disclosed yesterday in one of the replies tabled to questions in the Legislature.

The following amounts contributed to the sum: Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, $183,076; Clarkson, Gordon & Co. $25,403; and Harold Hobson, $8,369.

Reply to another question states that mothers' allowances range from $42 monthly for a widow with one dependent to $66 per month for a person with five dependent children.

It was explained that in each case the mother is eligible for $10 monthly addition based on need as well as fuel allowance during the winter. Limited medical service may also be provided under agreement with the Ontario Medical Association.

The Royal Commission on Forestry, including printing of its report, cost $140,144. The total expenditure for Ontario House in London, England, since establishment amounts to $615,151, of which $562,729 was spent in England and $52,422 in Canada. The Hydro Commission has spent $6,741,206 during the 1944-1947 period in development of the Des Joachims power site. There was $64,632 for the Chenauz development.

Western European Union Given Military Backing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) —The projected western European union now seems sure of strong United States military support as a way to strengthen the west against feared Russian expansion.

In the opinion of Washington officials, however, several major problems remain to be worked out, including the precise forms this support may take.

Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak, who has conferred here this week with President Truman, told a press conference that the European countries will asked for military as well as recovery help later on.

First, Spaak said, they want to consolidate the first stages.

Spaak was one of the prime movers in a five-power meeting at Brussels a month ago which drafted a treaty for economic, political and military co-operation among the western states.

The five countries which did the drafting were Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxmbourg.

The United States, in statements by Truman and State Secretary Marshall, is on record as approving the formation of this western bloc.

Promised Support

Also, as Spaak reminded reporters last night, Truman told Congress March 17 that the United States intends to back up the free countries of Europe in their struggle to maintain their freedom against Communist Russia.

Two main lines of action are foreseen.

One is for the United States to undertake the arming of western European forces, the other is in the form of an outright military alliance which the American government might make with the western bloc as a unit.

Not all the decision, however, have to be or can be made here. American officials say privately that they would like to see the original Brussels group of five countries expanded to include various other European countries which might want to come in.

Mrs. A. W. Pae Guest Speaker St Paul's Thankoffering

Mrs. A. W. Pae, secretary of missions for India, was guest speaker at the thankoffering meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary WMS held on Friday afternoon, and gave a very interesting address on "A New Emphasis in Our Missionary Work." She made reference to the book, "Tomorrow is Here," the story of Whitby conference, and said that Canadian churches must take their place in that tomorrow, with the other churches of the world. Missionary work has changed very rapidly and the church in India, or China, does not mean missions in those lands. The later have grown up and become units in themselves, but still need guidance and support.

In British Guiana there is a church composed of Negroes. East Indians and natives, but which lacks trained leaders to prepare natives to take over the work themselves in the church and school. In Formosa the church still exists, but needs rebuilding with trained personnel. The use of so many languages has greatly increased the difficulties for Christian workers in that land. Mrs. Pae felt that this was the time for helping, as any considerable delay would make the aid useless. In India, politically upset, the need is even more urgent. The government has plans for schools, but they need two million teachers, and at present their only source of supply is the Christian schools. The same is true with the plans for health centres, which cannot be put in operation until they have many more doctors and nurses. For about five years there will be an opportunity of co-operating with the other Christian churches to make this effort a very far-reaching one. Radio workers, moving picture equipment, and above all Christian literature, are needed to offset the Communist pamphlets, now so freely distributed.

Two beautiful solos were sung by Mrs. James Goldie, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. McNeill. Mrs. J. J. Craig conducted the devotional period. Mrs. Pae was introduced by Mrs. Wilson Gemmell, and appreciation to soloist and speaker was expressed by Mrs. C. G. Boyd. Tea was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Fred Hills, Mrs. W. A. Hinds, Mrs. W. J. McNeill, Miss Helen Munro and Mrs. H. Eastwood.

Water Show To Feature Midway Freaks

The annual water pageant presentation of Peterborough YWCA Ornamenal Swimming Club will be presented at the YMCA pool on April 16 and 17. "A Day at the Fair" will take the audience on a midway tour where they see "Fat Emma" and also "Thin Alice," 16 feet long and 25 inches at the waistline. Amid pinwheels and whirls they will glimpse the "Wild Woman" and the "Hawaiian Dancer" and there will be a lone and lovely Indian Princess. Continuing among the side-shows they will find the attractive "Bubble dancers" and across the way the "Doll Dance" ladies are "out front." Remembering the exhibitors, who, after all, are the reasons for the fair, there will come a parade of vegetables and an all-Canadian flower show.

The show is entirely done by swimmers under direction of their coach, Mrs. James Forbes, originator and author. For the opening scenes the girls will wear new bathing suits, especially designed for this event. For the rest of the acts they wear character costumes designed by Mrs. J. Young, assisted by Mrs. F. Gant. Backdrop settings of colored foil are designed and built by Mr. C. N. Munro, club manager. Assisting with posters and personnel work are Misses Helen Weddell and Victoria Gray.

The swimmers taking part are Isabelle Crary, Doreen Graham, Marguerite Buck, Joan Patterson, Norma Gant, Beverley Rumary, Jillian Groombridge, Maralyn McInroy, June Storey, Iris Rielly, Jean Millard, Connie McKelvie, Joan Coombes, Betty Dorsett, Mary Cockeram, Sally Weese, Mary Heffernan, Betty Mathers, Elaine Humphries and Vera Tasker.

Highlight of the presentation will be the "Human Wheel of Chance" and the lucky ticket holder will receive a handsome prize.

The bride was dressed in a brown pin checked suit, brown accessories and corsage of Talisman roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. E. E. Brown, wore a turquoise suit, navy accessories, and a corsage of Ophelia roses. Mr. A. J. Massey, of Toronto, was groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Hearthstone Tea room.

Lillian M. Curtis Weds Donald R. Goheen

Shaded pink snapdragon decorated St. George's Anglican Church Friday afternoon for the wedding of Lillian Marguerite Curtis and Donald Robert Goheen with the Rev E. C. Moore performing the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Curtis, 307 McGill St., and the groom is a son of Mrs. R. S. Goheen and the late Mr. Goheen. During the signing of the register, Miss B. Curtis sang "O Perfect Love." Wedding music was by Mrs. A. Watkins.

Attired in a suit of turquoise wool with navy accessories the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a shoulder bouquet of deep pink roses. Her only attendant, Miss Irene Dolman, wore a fuchsia suit with grey accessories and her corsage was of Talisman roses. The groomsman was Mr. Wally Harrison.

A reception was held afterward at the bride's home. Mrs. Curtis chose a dress of grey crepe for the occasion and Mrs. Goheen wore a blue trimmed with black. Each had a corsage of pale pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Goheen left afterward on a trip to Ottawa.

Wools Receiving Notice In New Season's Wear

NEW YORK, April 8 — The sheer wool crepes, shantung types and changeable worsteds that have the appearance of taffeta are making headlines for spring. Never have there been so many wool crepe dresses and dressmaker suits.

In soft pastels, in checks, plaids, stripe and check with muted over-plaid, there is great variety. The short jackets, with peplums which sometimes become important, and with added length and less flare, are actual tunics to be worn with full skirts.

Great designers like Irene present classic striped eggshell and grey jackets with a dash of mustard, worn with a slim eggshell worsted skirt with a deep mustard yoke.

The skillful hands of New York's best designers have disciplined the "New Look." They have retained the freshness of new lines but have hewn them down to the "American Look" which no French dressmaker can ever change.

Well-dressed Americans do not like to look preposterous, ridiculous or frumpy. They will never want fat hips and a look at our best-dressed women finds them wearing fulled and flared skirts, but with great restraint, pencil-slim skirts at the becoming calf length and either the always popular bolero or fitted longer jackets. No mature woman looks well in a bouffant dance dress designed for sweet 16. Flannel suits with unpressed pleats front and back have straight little-boy jackets, wool weskits to match and pique-collared dickeys.

There is the soft woollen dresses with little flared hip-length coats a very definite fullness but the unpressed pleats manage to be confined in a yolk-like fashion so that the fullness breaks below the hip line. Soft fleece and cameloid top coats in pastel colors, white and beige, are luxurious and elegant and can do double duty worn over pastel gabardine suits or soft organdies and silk for evening. Sheer wool dinner suits solve the air condition problem for theatres and restaurant and the best of the lot are slim and cool and soigne.

Wool is now a year-round fabric with many new weaves, textures and weights.

Of Interest to Women

Woman Must Make Sacrifice For Good Things Come High

All the good things in life come high. Life runs no bargains counters; and if we get what we want, we have to be spendthrifts and pay for it without counting the cost.

Dorothy Dix

Many women, for instance, fail as wives because they count the cost. Somehow, every wife deludes herself into the belief that whatever it may be for other women, matrimony is going to be a soft snap for her, and that she won't have to make the slightest effort to keep her husband eating out of her hand and glad he married her.

Every wife desires to have a husband who will remain the perpetual lover, who always sees her as young and beautiful and alluring, and who never even wants to wander away from his own hearthstone in search of feminine companionship. Well, the dream can be realized, but only by those wives who do not count the cost of keeping their husbands fascinated, It takes endless thought. Endless diplomacy. Endless self-control. Endless self-sacrifice. But the wife gets what she pays for.

Every woman wants her children to turn out well and to grow up into being fine men and women, but mighty few of them are willing to pay the full price of motherhood, which is why there are so many delinquent youngsters.

Strenuous Job

Now being a mother is the most strenuous job that any woman ever undertakes. It is never-ending and nerve-wearing and the trouble with a lot of women is that they welch on it when they find out how hard it is. They pass the buck of training their children to nurses and governesses and school teachers. They begrudge the time they have to give to their youngsters and they hustle them out on the street so that they can get away to their own diversions.

It is the woman who does not count the cost of motherhood who rears the children who are a crown of glory to her. She knows that it is in the cradle that characters are formed, and it is her firm and gentle hands which shape the lives that she has brought into the world. True, she has to deny herself many social pleasures that she would enjoy, but she keeps her youngsters under her eyes and knows who associates are, and she forms their habits and ideals. True, she has to make many sacrifices for them, but she is repaid by not having to spend the balance of her life shedding tears of shame and remorse over them.

Every woman would like to have friends. Every woman craves affection. Especially as she grows older and her children marry and leave her, does she feel the need of the companionship of women of her own age interested in the same things that she is interested in, and who have the same background of memories and habits that she has. Yet there is no plaint that you hear oftener from elderly women than that they are lonely, and that no one pays them any attention.

But these women are friendless because they have never been willing to pay the price of friendship. They have gone their own selfish way through life, disregarding everything that did not minister to their own comfort and well-being. They have bound no heart to them by ties of gratitude. They have taken, but never given.

It takes trouble and thought and unselfishness and love to make and keep friends, and you can either take it or leave it, but there is never any reduction in the price. Yet having good friends is worth all it costs us.

Navel Salads Tempt Appetites

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, April 9 — (CP). — Fresh fruit and vegetables may be at a premium these days, but if mother is wise she will see that her family has a daily salad in some form or another.

And grown-ups and children who don't like some vegetables cooked plain, often can be lured into eating them if they are blended with other vegetables and tossed with some favorite mayonnaise or dressing.

Cooked Dressing— Ingredients: Three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one tablespoon sugar , one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one cup milk, one egg, three-quarters cup vinegar.

Combine and cook the first six ingredients the same as for a white sauce. Beat the egg and then gradually add the cooked sauce to the egg, stirring well. Cook until the mixture thickens, stirring continually. Add vinegar and cool.

Vegetables may be scarce, but here is a salad that requires eggs instead of vegetables as its main ingredient.

Moulded Egg Salad — Ingredients: One tablespoon plain gelatin, one-quarter cup cold water, 1½ cups boiling water, two tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon salt, hard-cooked eggs, sliced, one tablespoon chopped parsley, three tablespoons chopped pickle, one tablespoon grated onion, one tablespoon chopped pimento.

Soften the gelatin in the cold water. Add boiling water, vinegar and salt. When the gelatin mixture begins to stiffen add the remaining ingredients. Pour into wet moulds and chill. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise.

Jelly Roll Dessert — Is quite easy to make—Ingredients: Two raspberry jelly rolls, one butterscotch pudding mixture, one pint whipped cream, maraschino cherries, chopped walnuts.

Line a bowl with wax paper, and then line the bowl with thin slices of jelly roll. Fill the bowl with alternate layers of jelly roll and pudding mixture, ending with a layer of jelly roll. Cover with wax paper, then place plate over it and weight it.

Let sit for 12-14 hours in a cool place or refrigerator, before serving. When ready to serve, remove from mould and ice with whipped cream. Garnish with nuts and cherries.

Household Hints — When ironing starched clothes, wax the bottom of the iron to keep free from starch.... To remove ink stains from cloth, soak in milk.

Salt in the rinsing water will keep clothes from sticking to the clothes line in cold weather.

For Sunday, April 11

Sunday's horoscope holds release from previous high tension and activity to a day of rest, relaxation and diversion, pursuit of sabbath or cultural pastimes of a serious or profound nature. Health and nerves may call for complete surcease, particularly since there is danger in travel, strife, accident or other physical pressure.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be disposed or enforced to "take it easy," either because of a flagging of the spirits, energies or sustained by some sort of depression, obstacle or stagnation in business or practical affairs. A static condition, with the attention centred on studious mediation rather than outward and aggressive action is forecast. These involve danger, with quarrels, bad temper, rash moving-about or uncontrollable menace from fire, accident or calamity. Seek security; sidestep all perils.

A child born on this day, while serious and generally introvert in disposition, may have flashes and flares for the wild, reckless, and aggressive, with personal danger and disaster.

For Monday, April 12

Monday's astrological forecast is for a dynamic turn of events, with thrilling and stirring adventure or opportunity, highly excitable because of a unique experience or contact, perhaps with a personality of outstanding importance or spectacular renown. Such event prudently handled could rise to dramatic heights. Romance and strange opportunities could turn the tides of destiny.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a year of sudden and spectacular experience and contacts in which the trends of fortune and destiny may be singularly radical and soul-stirring. The faculties are turned to the inventive, original, ingenius and creatives in outstanding accomplishment, in which there may be public acclaim or sensational associations. In emotional and unique adventures, there could be dramatic or breath-taking events, "devastating" and geographically uprooting. This ingenuity and creative urge should be made realtistic and "capitalized" in a gladsome way.

A child born on this day is splendidly endowed in a creative, inventive, scientific and dynamic way, likely to rise to sensational or dramatic denouements "in the public eye."

POPULAR PRINT DRESSES—If you dote on frocks of colorful printed fabrics gracefully handled, this is certainly the best season in many years for this favorite fashion. Above is a real beauty, in an interesting monument print. Setting off the deep, scooped-out neckline is a shirred chiffon yoke on a bodice that has a semi-bloused back. A gracefully flared skirt, and an interesting shoulder line are other details.

Senators Blank Tigers 8 to 0

OTTAWA, April 10 — (CP). — Lanky Legs Fraser, Ottawa Senators goalie, chalked up his third shutout this season when Victoriaville Tigers were white washed 8-0 last night to give the Senators a hoist into the Eastern Canada Allan Cup playoffs.

The final in their best-of-three series, Ottawa Senators skated easily into the third round to take the series 2-1 and prepared to meet the Hamilton Tigers on Ottawa ice next Monday.

Led by Lude Check, Senators fired home three first-period goals, added two more in the sesecond and counted three in the third.

As Check paced the Quebec Senior Hockey League champions with two goals and three assists, Senators knocked in the remainder of the eight through Butch Stahan, Eddie Emberg, Emile Dagenais, Jackie McLean, Jack Irvine, and Ray Trainor.

Victorfaville's bold and rough defenceman, Phil Vitale, drew two penalties, but his bulk could not prevent Eddie Emberg from scoring midway through the first frame. The second goal in the frame, it did its best to house the visitors' fighting spirit, still keen from a 5-1 victory in the series opener a week ago..

New Milk Control Act Gets Second Reading At Toronto

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP).—Ontario's new Milk Control Act was on its way to becoming law today after successfully hurdling CCF and Labor-Progressive opposition to pass second reading.

The legislation, which removes control of consumer milk prices and places them back on a competitive basis, was approved in the Legislature yesterday by a vote of 53 to 10. Eight CCF and two LPP members formed the opposition, while the Liberals voted with the government.

W. J. Grummett, CCF House Leader, had moved that the bill be sent to the standing committee on agriculture for further study and discussion by interested parties. This was defeated by the 53 to 10 count, the same figure by which the bill passed second reading.

Mr. Grummett's opposition was that the bill removed any protection the consumer had been given from controls on retail prices. He also contended that the bill just "trims" the top off the recommendations made by the Royal Commision report on milk.

J. B. Salsberg (LPP-Toronto St. Andrew) said the current high price of milk is the cause of reduced consumption. He called for subsidies which would reduce the price to 13 cents a quart and suggested that the government pay these subsidnes from liquor profits.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy, moving second reading, declared that more milk is being consumed in Ontario today than in 1947 or and previous year.

Supports Bill

He contended the bill does just "what the industry and the people of Ontario want today." It proposes, he said, to let milk find its fair price from the distributor to the consumer. It also provides for setting up marketing agencies to promote business of the farmers and to carry on their marketing.

Second reading was given yesterday to 19 other government bills, including one which continues suspension of Ontario's authority to retain five per cent of income tax collected in Ontario by the Dominion.

Four private bills dealing with the Belleville Hospital, Ottawa Ladies' College, United Co-operatives of Ontario and City of Toronto were read for the second time.

However, Attorney General Blackwell gave notice that there would be amendments to the City of Toronto bill when it reaches committee stage.

The amendments, which may affect any Ontario municipality which seeks a smoke control by-law, provide for exemption of cetrain companies from regulations. These includes plants used by refining smelting of ores or minerals or manufacture of cement, brick, tiles or private dwellings.

In the municipality, council may notify these concerns that they are to come under provisions of the law. If the concern offers no oppostiion within 30 days they they will henceforth have to abide by smoke control regulations. If they offer opposition the case will be heard by the Ontario Municipal Board. There is provision for appeal within 30 days after results of the hearing are made public.

Without opposition the House passed another bill which will exempt gas wells from paying royalties where the royalty amounts to less than $250. It also approved a measure to give the provincial fuel controller full control over gas to be produced by artificial gas plants due to be constructed at Windsor, Port Stanley and other centres.

Mines Minister Frost said there are still "interesting possibilities in the oil business in south-western Ontario." He noted that Imperial Oil is spending considerable money there. Union Gas and Dominion Natural Gas Companies had large gas-finding programs. Many other "small fellows" were looking for and producing gas.

Winnipeg Holds Ballet Festival

WINNIPEG, April 10.—(CP). —Factory workers, clerks and even a butcher may help create a national ballet organization if plans of David H. Yeddeau, manager of the Winnipeg Ballet Company, materializes within the next few weeks.

Already a certainty is Canada's first national ballet festival, to be held here April 29-May 1, with the butcher one of a widely-assorted number of performers from all parts of Canada due to perform.

On the outcome of his three-day festival Mr. Yeddeau is basing his hopes for establishment of a national ballet movement. His contention is there are sufficient people in Canada interested in ballet—good ballet—to warrant formation of a Dominion-wide organization to encourage and promote this interest along concrete channels.

The coming festival, Mr. Yeddeau said, will be proof of his belief that there are people in all walks of life, not only butchers but factory workers, clerks, stenographers and others, who are willing to spend long and strenuous hours training for ballet performances.

More than 100 performers will take part in the Winnipeg festival, presenting 10 full-length and three miniature ballets with attendance assured from major companies in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Grass Fire At Apsley

APSLEY, April 10—(ENS)—A grass fire at the north end of the village of Apsley burned a few small trees and several lengths of fence before being brought under control by a volunteer village brigade. Their prompt action prevented a baze that might have been quite serious.

"NEW LOOK" IN HATS? — Model Jean Murphy, models the cup-and-saucer hat which is called the "coffette" hat. The hat was introduced at the international beauty show at New York's Grand Central palace, and is an enlarged replica of an actual cup and saucer, with the cup handle of coffee-color ribbon. Whispy maline, at the crown, gives the illusion of vapor rising from the cup.

Do YOU know the Answers

Question: What is Cancer?
Answer: Cancer is a disorderly growth of cells which does not respond to the laws that control activities of normal cells.

Question: Can Cancer be cured if detected in its early stages?
Answer: Statistics show 3 out of 10 of those doomed to die can be saved if the case is detected and treated in the early stages.

Question: Is Cancer more commonly prevalent in older people?
Answer: Cancer strikes most frequently between the ages of 35 and 60. However, Cancer respects neither age nor sex, and until man has finally conquered Cancer we must always be on the lookout for it.

Question: Do fear and ignorance play a part in the Cancer mortality rate?
Answer: Yes, most people have an inherent fear of the effects of Cancer, or are not aware of the early signs and symptoms. Therefore, because of this fear, ignorance, or both, they delay consulting a doctor until the case is too far advanced to be arrested and cured.

Question: Is there a source where I can secure up-to-date information on Cancer?
Answer: Yes, become a member of the Canadian Cancer Society (Ontario Branch). The main function of this organization is the distribution of educational material on Cancer. Be sure to see your family physician for more details.

* "C" Day represents the day when man has finally conquered Cancer. Everything and anything that is done, individually and collectively, to bring "C" Day one precious second nearer means countless millions of lives will be saved.

A drive for 150,000 new members for the Canadian Cancer Society (Ontario Branch) is being conducted during the month of April. This minimum goal MUST BE REACHED!

Funds derived from this membership drive will be used to distribute literature, films and educational material that will awaken the public to a new awareness of Cancer—and fight the fear of Cancer with knowledge. If detected and treated in the early stages, Cancer can be cured in 3 out of 10 cases—and recognition of Cancer's danger signals can only be established through adequate education.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

RUN THAT LONG SUIT

ALL OF the top-ranking players consider the possibility of running some long suit as a means of discarding losers, instead of adopting a ruffing procedure, when they happen to be declarer in a trump contract. In the great rank and file of average players, however, a majority seem to enjoy ruffing losers with small trumps—so much so that they show a preference for that type of play on many occasions when the contrary is sounder.

	♠ K Q 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ 6 ♦ 10 ♣ J 9 8 5
♠ A 4 ♥ K 10 ♦ A J 9 8 5 ♣ K 10 6 3	N W E S	♠ J 10 9 6 ♥ Q 9 7 4 3 2 ♦ Q 4 2 ♣ None
	♠ None ♥ A J 8 5 ♦ K 7 6 3 ♣ A Q 7 4 2

(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♦
2 ♥	3 ♦	4 ♣	Pass
5 ♣	Dbl

That contract was reached at a sizeable proportion of the tables in a social duplicate, but only one declarer, Cyrus B. Austin, of New York's University Club, made it. The reason the others failed was their liking for the technique of ruffing.

Let's take what happened at two tables where the spade A was led, the club 2 of course trumping it. In one instance South noted the two red singletons in the dummy and departed on a cross-ruff. It takes little imagination to see that this proves ineffective, as it will cause the loss of two trump tricks to West plus one to the diamond A.

Mr. Austin noted that he had an ideal situation for dummy reversal play, setting up the spades. So after ruffing the spade A, he reckoned that West would not have led that dummy's suit unless he had either great length and hoped to give his partner a ruff or else shortage and expected to ruff himself. To test the situation, he laid down the club A, whereupon East's discard of a heart told him the story. Next he led the club Q to the K, watched West score the diamond A, took the returned diamond with the K, then led the club 2 to take the marked finesse with the 9. To establish the spades, he led the 3 and trumped with the club 7. Now the club 4 to the J cleared trumps and he had nothing to do but run the dummy's spades to the end, where he scored the heart A.

Your Week-End Question

What is the fundamental factor that makes it sound to lead away from non-touching honors in your long suit against a No Trump contract, but renders it unsound to do likewise against a trump contract?

6—In Memoriam

READER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ephraim Reader, who passed away April 11, 1944.
Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen,
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be
But in His wisdom He has planned
Beyond our power to see.
—Sadly missed by his loving wife and family.

READER—In loving memory of Ephraim Reader, who passed away April 11, 1944.
However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.

WIESBADEN, Germany — Fire, believed caused by a short circuit, destroyed the American aircraft control tower at Vienna's Tulln air base.

OTTAWA — Ways and means of getting assistance from Hollywood for easing Canada's dollar problems are being considered, and an initial progress report has been given Trade Minister Howe by representatives of the film industry. A greater use of Canadian films in the United States and an effort by Hollywood to shoot more movies in Canada were the main steps outlined.

SINGAPORE — Siamese Premier Khvang Abaiwongse said he had announced the resignation of his cabinet "because we were unable to control the situation" following last November's coup d'etat.

GENEVA — William Benton, former American assistant secretary for public affairs, accused the official Russian News Agency, Tass, of "shockingly one-sided malicious reporting" of the United Nations conference on freedom of information.

TORONTO — Michael Peter Georgas yesterday filed an appeal to block winding up of affairs of the Silver Rail cocktail lounge and restaurant on downtown Yonge street. An Ontario Supreme Court justice ruled Wednesday that between Georgas and his partner, Louis D. Arnold, there was a deadlock "of such completeness as to warrant the winding up of the company."

WINDSOR—Police guns blazed today when a prisoner made a break for freedom from the Essex county jail but no one was hurt, and James Homer Richard was returned to custody. The Maidstone township man, committed Thursday for trial on a charge of armed robbery with violence, fled from the front of the jail and was recaptured by two constables.

OTTAWA — Production of nails is increasing steadily and last month was 30 per cent higher than in March, 1947, Trade Minister Howe told G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) in the Commons yesterday. Mr. Fraser had asked what is being done to increase the production of four-inch nails.

TORONTO — Will R. Bird, Halifax novelist and short-story writer, has been elected president of the Canadian Authors' Association, William Arthur Deacon, Toronto, retiring president, announced yesterday. Mr. Bird won distinction as a short-story writer when attached to the Canadian expeditionary force during the World War. Later his native province of Nova Scotia was the inspiration for many stories such as "The Movies Came to Gull Cove."

VANCOUVER. —Explosion of an anti-aircraft shell last night killed John McKay, 40-year-old ex-army ordnance expert, and wrecked the rear of his Victoria drive jewelry store. McKay, attempting to melt the shell with an acetylene torch, suffered multiple intestinal perforations and died four hours after he was taken to hospital. Police said the shell was given to McKay by an unidentified friend who wanted it made into an ashtray.

TORONTO —Thomas G. Martin, 40, charged with distributing and possessing drugs, was remanded until April 16 and bail was set at $15,000. William Kelly, 36, jointly charged, was remanded to the same date with bail set at $3,000.

WARSAW — Stanton Griffis, United States ambassador, has protested to the Polish government against the recent detention of two American assistant military attaches. Griffis said that Lt.-Col. Frank Jessic, and Capt. Nicholas Rudziak were taken into custody April 1 while on an automobile trip in lower Silesia. Both carried diplomatic passports.

EDMONTON—A United States army four-engined EC-4 made a forced landing with wheels down at Reed Lake, Man., 64 miles northeast of The Pas. No one was injured.

LONDON.—John Mills, star of the British movie, "Great Expectations," succeeds James Mason as Britain's No. 1 film actor in the third British national film award, announced last night. Margaret Lockwood tops the poll as best actress for the third successive year. The best movie was voted "The Courtneys of Curzon Street."

QUEBEC.—The body of Msgr. J. Omer Plante, 81-year-old titular bishop of Dobero who died Monday, was buried in the crypt of the Basilica here yesterday after hundreds had crowded into the Basilica for the funeral rites. The solemn, requiem high mass was chanted by Msgr. Maurice Roy, archbishop of Quebec.

A vote for a man's beverage room last November in Tweed was defeated by a narrow margin of six. At a council meeting Harry Parker, chairman of the Tweed committee for Legal Sale, requested that another vote be held at an early date. Reeve McCarey suggested that a letter should be directed to the Town Clerk who would communicate with the Liquor Control Board to determine the legality of the matter after which the necessary by-law could be passed to create a secondary vote on the issue.

EMMETT SHEEHY — Barr

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

James D. Moore Quits Ontario Agricultural Extension Service For National Boys and Girls' Club Work —John D. MacLeod Retires From Ontario Department of Agriculture.

This was one of the facts learned by Elgin county Holstein breeders on a three-day trip into western New York. The centre is conducted in co-operation with the dairy cattle research department of Cornell University, and houses 109 bulls of which 47 are Holsteins, 21 Guernseys, 18 Jerseys and 12 Ayrshires. In its operation last year 87 percent of inseminations were successful.

A report of the tour includes this observation: "The tendency of many of the largest breeders does not appear to be toward artificial insemination. The service is popular with smaller herd owners who cannot afford to keep top grade sires. A dairyman in New York State pays five dollars for a life time membership, one dollar for each cow enrolled, and five dollars a service."

Swank Cow Barn

Construction details of a modern cattle barn at the experimental and research farm of Beacon Milling Co., near Cayuga, were: "Provision for maintaining uniform temperature the year round, with ventilating and pure air system as good as that of a new hotel; storm windows, fluorescent lighting, walls and ceiling sealed with gray-toned asbestos board; outside walls insulated, moisture collectors suspended from the ceiling; radio receiving sets to soothe the cows' nerves . . . Crop rotation is practiced. New pasture mixtures are being used to determine the best long term mixtures. The Elgin men learned that silage is fed almost the year round at the Beacon and some other farms. It is favored during July and August when pasturage is low. Corn silage appeared to be used almost exclusively although there are experiments with green clover silage at Beacon."

Millet and Soy Beans

At Cornell the party saw in operation a new type gutter cleaner built on the endless chain carrier system. J. R. Wait at Auburn follows a regular practice of planting soy beans with millet for green feed at midsummer. He said his butterfat tests at that time were the highest of the year.

James D. Moore, BSA, agricultural representative in Brant, has been appointed public relations officer with the Canadian council on boys' and girls' work. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore of Smith. In his new appointment he wil be associated with the general secretary, A. E. MacLaurin, in the council's activities of coordinating junior farm work throughout Canada.

Junior club work attracted Mr. Moore in his school days, and from that experience he went on to Kemptville Agricultural School. He was president of the KAS Royal Show, and grand champion showman in 1939. Mr. Moore broadened his studies at the Ontario Agricultural College from which he was graduated in 1944.

At Guelph he was president of the College Royal and winner of the McTaggart and Cohoe trophies for championships in livestock and grain judging. While an undergraduate he was assistant agricultural representative in York, and returned to that position after his graduation. In 1945 he was appointed agricultural representative in Brant county.

BRANT JUNIORS TOUR

Fifty-four junior farmers of Brant recently made a day's tour of 200 miles visiting farms in York. At Edgeley they saw a herd of more than 100 Jersey cattle at the farm of Alfred Bagg & Sons, and at Concord the Guernseys of Fraserdale Farms, owned by Jack Fraser, Toronto men's wear retailer.

The W. J. Russell farm at Buttonville features Shorthorns, including the 1,600-pound bull bought in Scotland last year for $20,000. The splendid herd of 90 Holsteins at the farm of Hon. George S. Henry was another attraction. The visitors were greeted by, George W. Henry, son of the owner of Oriole Lodge Farm, who incidentally expressed regret that James D. Moore, recently resigned as agricultural representative, was not with the party.

"Jim Moore is a fine judge of cattle, and an asset to the livestock world," Mr. Henry said.

The splendid Wynyates Farm, owned by Col. W. E. Phillips at Lansing, displayed a superior herd of Ayrshires. Its huge barn of latest design is insulated with fibre glass, and is equipped with an automatic stable cleaner.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grandy, formerly of Peterborough, celebrated this week at their farm near Brooklin, the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Grandy was at one time a director of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

With them for their golden wedding anniversary were their son and daughter, six grandsons and many friends who joined in extending their congratulations to the bride and groom of half a century ago.

"It was love at first sight that has lasted 50 years and will last to the end," said Mr. Grandy in acknowledging the felicities of the company.

Mrs. Grandy recalled that she was born in Indiana. She came to Canada a little more than 50 years ago, and met Mr. Grandy in Dakota. She smilling mentioned the daily letters she received from him on her return to her home State.

"I don't remember how he proposed," Mrs. Grandy said. "It was very plain, likely, but I accepted, and we were married in Toronto."

"There was no honeymoon," Mr. Grandy said. "We came to our farm in Manvers township. There was immediate work to do. It was a pretty hard grind, but people were more satisfied than they are today. They seemed to get more real enjoyment out of life'."

Mrs. Grandy, 68, paid this tribute to her husband, now 82 years of age: "It has been a wonderful 50 years, hard at times, but my life with Dad has been a very happy one. I would love to live it all over again."

Mr. John Grandy, only son of the household, has had for years the responsibility of direction of the farm work. His sister is Mrs. G. Crabb of Noranda, Que., who made and decorated the wedding anniversary cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Grandy lived for several years in Peterborough, moving into the city from their farm west of Springville, where they moved from Manvers township. Mr. Grandy was known for years a a leading breeder and importer of Clydesdale horses.

JOHN MacLEOD RETIRES

Henceforth, John D. MacLeod will confine his warring on noxious weeds to the family in Glengary. The director of the crops, seeds and weeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture is quitting the provincial leadership in that perennial campaigning. Toronto reports say that hsi resignation was accepted with regret by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture. His successor is Arthur H. Martin, director of the extension branch of the Department.

Mr. MacLeod will be missed among provincial public servants whose work is among farmers. He was a recent visitor to Peterborough during Farmers' Week, and spoke at one of the sessions of the Eastern Ontario Thresher-men's convention. Mr. MacLeod cited the results of the 1947 seed drill survey. Of 880 samples which were taken at seeding time on Ontario farms: 32 per cent graded No. 1; 12 per cent No. 2; 14 per cent No. 3; 42 per cent were rejected for weed seed content only. Most of the weed seeds in the lower grading samples could have been removed by efficient cleaning. All of the lower grades of grain could have been improved as seed by removal of undersized and light kernels, leaving for seed the plump, healthy grain necessary for highest yields. Six years' experimental work at OAC showed an advantage of 15 bushels an acre in large plump seed over small kernels.

Mr. MacLeod has been secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association since 1938. Altogether he was the earnest, industrious type of department official who has done so much to promote farming in this province. He should be gratefully remembered for the excellent record he leaves to his credit in the Department of Agriculture.

Seed Grain Mixtures

In aiming at increased feed grain harvest, Mr. MacLeod recently advised that tests of an oats-barley mixture gave a larger yield than when seeded alone. The addition of flax, wheat or buckwheat did not give profitable increase in yield or food value of the mixture.

"The recommended rate of seeding is 50 lbs. of oats and 50 lbs. of barley, mixed, per acre. This is approximately the same as 1½ bushels oats and one bushel barley, or 2½ bushels of the mixture to the acre. Varieties of oats and barley that mature at the same time are essential to the success of growing mixed grains.

The following combinations are recommended Alaska, Cartier or Ajax oats may be sown with OAC-21 or Barboff barley; Erban, Beaver or Beacon oats with Galore, Byng, Montcalm or Velvet barley."

LIVESTOCK PRICES FIRM

Ontario farmers report strong prices for dairy cattle going to the United States. Breeders in Halton, Lambton, Ontario, Grenville and Stormont are some of those who have found recently that demand is just as firm as at any other time in the last three years. Peterborough is in that company.

There is also renewed interest in Yorkshire pigs. Sows sold in Perth county for the US have brought up to $100. Lambton reports "good prices" for Yorkshire breeding swine.

Cattle prices are holding up well as shown at auction sales in Middlesex, Victoria and Frontenac. In Ontario county "sows and feeder pigs are selling well at auction sales". Livestock prices at Victoria sales recently were: horses from $100 to $175; beef cows $100 to $150; dairy cows $125 to $175; two-year-old dairy heifers $100 to $140; sows $80 to $100; sheep $16 to $20.

WAR ON WARBLE FLY

Ten spraying machines went into operation against warble fly throughout Bruce county this week. This attacking equipment was considered adequate to spray the 100,000 cattle in the county. Six townships in Huron have completed a similar campaign which is being duplicated in Haldimand township, Northumberland. This war on the warble has been actively promoted by Farm Forums.

PAY GRAIN FREIGHT

Dominion government is continuing until July 31, 1949, its assisted freight rates policy on feed grains from western Canada for delivery into the eastern provinces. Ontario farmer have been asked to increase their grain acreage this season to reduce their dependence on western feed for livestock. Early doubts about attaining that objective have been expressed recently from evidence of considerable winter killing in wheat fields sown last fall.

JAMES D. MOORE has resigned as agricultural representative in Brant to become public relations officer with the Canadian council of boys' and girls' work. His headquarters will be in Ottawa, and his field will be the entire Dominion. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore, Smith township.

The ceremony took place in London, England.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT GRANDY celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding at their home near Brooklin in Ontario county this week. They are former residents of the city of Peterborough, and had previously lived in Cavan township, west of Springville.

Russian Ships Are Held Immune

WASHINGTON, April 10 — (AP).—The government has given in to Russia's claim that a Russian ship is immune from damage suits filed in the United States.

State Department officials said today that a note to Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin conceding the point permitted the passenger vessel Rossia to sail belatedly from New York.

The American note said United States Supreme Court rulings upheld the Russian position set forth in Panyushkin's protst last month.

As a result, suits filed by two passengers claiming $75,000 damages for injuries on the Rossia' voyage to New York were dismissed by federal district courts.

The ship sailed last Wednesday for Mediterranean and Black Sea ports minus 5,000 bags of mail which Longshoremen refused to load.

Panyushkin contended that as the Rossia was government-owned it enjoyed diplomatic immunity and was not subject to damage suits. The Justice Department dug up decisions dating back to 1946 backing his position. They apply to government-owned ships of other countries as well.

STRIKE ENDS, MINERS GET PENSIONS

REVOLT CRUSHED IN COLOMBIA—Diplomatic relations were broken with Russia today following arrest of two Russian agents in connection with the revolution which killed 300 and forced a revision of the government. At Left are President Perez and his wife. At Right, is the capitol building in Bogota, around which fighting raged. (International)

Bogota Appears Blitzed City

By JOSEPH F. McEVOY

BOGOTA, April 12—(By Telephone to New York) — (AP).—The situation in this capital still is critical today after revolutionary riots which killed 300 persons, smashed at least 1,000 stores, set ablaze 40 major buildings and damaged many fine churches. The problem of getting food and other supplies is serious. The main bulk of food supplies must be brought in from outside this capital city, and transportation facilities are in a snarl. Supplies are very limited.

The situation has improved slightly, however, from the virtual anarchy which prevailed for a time. Army troops are on patrol, with orders to shoot looters on sight. Rescue squads are picking up corpses amid heaps of rubble up to 10 feet high.

Many women with baskets on their heads were looking for food. There were men going to work or to see if the places where they worked still exist.

An army control point has been set up at a corner by the United States embassy. Soldiers search all passersby for weapons.

Many persons approaching the army control areas hold their hands above their heads and wave white handkerchiefs. There is no vehicular traffic.

Everything Damaged

Probably never before in this hemisphere's history has there been a revolt which brought such fighting, looting and burning. The heart of Bogota was reduced to a smoking ruin. Hardly a public building escaped damage, and stores everywhere were sacked by mobsters wielding knives and machettes.

Today I was able to walk from the U.S. embassy, where I had been since Friday night, to the Hotel Granada. There are no taxicabs or buses. Every trolley car in sight is a wreck. This hotel has no lights.

But I have just eaten my first solid meal since Friday.

Although no large groups of revolutionists can be seen, it is thoroughly unsafe to walk the streets. There are some people moving about the centre of this city of 400,000. They tary to stay under cover as much as they can.

The hospitals, I am told, are overcrowded with the wounded and homeless, seeking food and refuge. Planes hum overhead, apparently on reconnaissance, trying to spot small bands moving through the city.

Jews Recapture Kastel Arabs Denounce Massacre

JERUSALEM, April 12—(AP).—Kastel, the Hilltop village which commands part of the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway, is in Jewish hands. This was confirmed today by a party of press photographers. Escorted by Hagana fighters, they went up the rocky hillsides to Kastel and reported:

"Except for sniping, it was quiet there this morning and last night."

The mountain stronghold has changed hands almost daily for the last 10 days. Hagana, the Jewish militia, re-entered the town Saturday night.

Eventually the side which holds the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway probably will determine whether the 100,000 Jews in Jerusalem remain unconquered. Food convoys to the Holy City pass over the highway before Kastel.

After a sharp mortar and machine-gun duel with Arabs in Kamatol, south of Jerusalem, at dawn today, Hagana forces advanced and occupied several houses used by Arabs as strongholds, Jewish sources said.

Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern gang—Jewish extremist groups—still hold the strategic village of Deir Yassin, which they took on Friday. Deir Yassin is near Kastel.

Both Arabs and Jews describe the extremist attack on the village as "a horrible massacre."

A Red Cross check showed many women and children were among the 254 Arab dead there.

The Arab committee's general secretary, Dr. Hussein el Khalidi, said: "The only ones who managed to escape were the young men. After that massacre in which some 250 were killed by guns and grenades the remaining 150 women and children were dumped into trucks, paraded through Jewish areas, spat on and stoned."

A Jewish agency spokesman said Hagana members in Jerusalem rescued a number of the Arab women and children, and turned them over to British authorities.

Italian Reds Call Strike

ROME, April 12 (AP)—A country-wide, Communist-called, one-hour general strike went off as ordered in Italy this morning. First reports, however, indicated the work stoppage fell far short of achieving the general paralysis predicted by its instigators, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (C.G.I.L.). The strike was called to protest the slayings of 35 Sicilian labor leaders during the last two years.

The pro-Communist newspaper Il Paese reported, meantime, that new pre-election violence has been instigated by the "Fascist terror" in the south.

Dispatches to the paper said two persons were killed and 22 injured when a bomb was tossed into the midst of a Communist-dominated popular front rally at Lizzanello yesterday.

Fear Mystery Plane Lost Over Quebec

QUEBEC, April 12 (CP)—Fate of an unidentified aircraft, reported last night flying about the Riverside village of Les Eboulements in thick weather, remained a mystery today.

The plane was heard around Les Eboulements for 2½ hours between 7 and 10 p.m. and villages thinking it was in distress reported to Bagotville airport, 80 miles to the north near Chicoutimi and the only flying field in the district.

News of the plane's wandering was flashed from Bagotville to air traffic control at Montreal and also to radio operators at Quebec airport. No identification of the aircraft was possible.

The plane was thought to be lost because of the stormy weather around Les Eboulements which sits on the north shore of the St. Lawrence, about 80 miles below Quebec.

Hydro Changes Unsound—OMEA

TORONTO, April 12 (CP)—Opposition to Hydro frequency-conversion plans has been expressed by a committee of the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities and the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

The committee said the change-over from 25-cycle to 60-cycle current in sections of southern and southwestern Ontario in its opinion "is not economically sound in relation to the benefits to be gained."

Three committee members—J. Clark Keith of Windsor, Art Bromley of Kitchener and J. A. Williamson of Niagara Falls—indicated they disagreed with the committee's majority findings.

"A larger share of the cost of changing over consumer equipment should be charged to industrial and lighting concerns to cut the total cost because these two customers obtain a major share of the benefit from the change-over," the committee said.

Vets Break Up Meeting

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 12.—(AP).—About 100 war veterans yesterday broke up a Communist meeting and burned a tableful of Communist books and pamphlets. Police said the booing, jeering, banner-carrying veterans paraded for 90 minutes in front of Ukrainian workers' hall, where the meeting was held, before entering the building.

Shoot Down Jewish Plane

JERUSALEM, April 12—(Reuters).—British troops trying to prevent a general flare-up in Palestine's civil war today shot down a Jewish reconnaissance aircraft flying over a Jew-Arab gun battle, an official army source reported.

A patrol of "The Blues"—crack British Life Guards Regiment which is part of the Royal Household Cavalry—shot the plane down near the Jewish settlement of Kfar Ozion, in the Hebron area of southern Palestine.

Jews in the settlement had opened fire on two trucks of King Abdullah's Transjordan Arab Legion, which radioed for help. A Life Guards' patrol was rushed to the spot and fired on Jewish armored vehicles and on the attackers in the settlement.

As the gun battle raged a low-lying Jewish "air observation post" trying to direct the settlements' fire appeared overhead and started to circle the Life Guards.

The British troops then opened up with automatic weapons and sent the plane crashing to the ground.

Police Believe Mother Throws Baby In Stove

KIRKLAND April 12 —(CP)—Mrs. Lucille Lamarche, 21, quoted as telling police "The baby burnt," today faces a murder charge in the kitchen stove slaying of her two-month-old son, Lawrence.

Police said they believed the lumberjack's wife threw the baby into the stove early yesterday in a fit of rage after the child started to cry.

The baby still was alive when police found him wrapped in charred, filthy rags on the kitchen table. But he died 20 minutes after admission to hospital.

A neighbor called police to the four-room Lamarche apartment in the heart of this Northern Ontario gold-mining community.

In the kitchen reeking with the smell of roasted flesh, burned cloth and scorched paper, Sgt. Narcisse Danis found the young mother sitting with her head bowed in her hands. She gestured feebly toward a table and said:

"The baby's burnt."

Still Alive

Danis unwrapped the child and heard faint heartbeats. He told Kirkland district hospital to stand by for an emergency case.

But help came too late for the tiny infant, so badly burned he was unable even to whimper. Little Lawrence died 20 minutes after admission to hospital.

Percy Lamarche, the baby's father, said he was asleep at the time the baby was burned. So were the couple's two other children, Paulette, five and Raymond, four.

A 17-year-old baby sitter, Joyce Pickering, told police the couple appeared to have been drinking when they returned shortly after midnight from a Saturday night outing.

Police said Mrs. Lamarche gave them a statement. They kept its contents a secret.

The woman is expected to appear in Magistrate's Court Thursday, the next regular court day here.

Britain's Memorial To FDR Dedicated By King George

LONDON, April 12. (CP). — Britain's memorial to President Roosevelt was unveiled by his widow and dedicated by the King today—the third anniversary of the United States president's death.

The Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack hung side by side in thousands of windows as the King and his people stood at salute in Grosvenor Square in grateful memory to the president.

His Majesty, asking Mrs. Roosevelt to unveil the 10-foot bronze statue of the late president, assured her on "behalf of the peoples of the whole British Commonwealth" that they would regard it as a fitting memorial to "a great man and a great friend."

London wore its best graces as the royal cars swept into the square and the royal standard rose to the top of the flagstaff before the statue. The sun beat down on glittering bayonets and the buttons of United States and Royal Marines who faced each other with the memorial between.

Norman Robertson, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, sat with other diplomats. Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Governor General of Canada, had a place in the royal pavilion.

Snaps to Salute

Marine rifles snapped to salute when Mrs. Roosevelt took her place in the pavilion, and before the ceremony she chatted with Prime Minister Attlee, Conservative Leader Winston Churchill, and Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury.

The King and Mrs. Roosevelt walked alone to unveil the statue on a white base rising high above them and draped in two Union Jacks. Mrs. Roosevelt pulled a silver unveiling cord as the King, in naval uniform, snapped to salute and the American National Anthem was played by the Royal Marine Band.

In inviting Mrs. Roosevelt to unveil the monument, the King told British listeners it would be a "permanent reminder of our comradeship with the American people in the dark days of the war."

"It will remind us of the importance and value of that comradeship," he said. "We shall, as we look at it, renew our pledge to continue to share with that people the ideals of peace and freedom for which President Roosevelt strove with such untiring faith."

Lewis Still Faces Trial For Contempt

$100-A-Month Plan Aids Miners 62; Use 10-Cent Royalty

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP). — John L. Lewis got a pension plan for his United Mine Workers (Ind.) today and gave them the word to go back to work, but this failed to save him from an order to stand trial for contempt of court.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough ruled Lewis must come into court Wednesday at 10 a.m. to face a contempt charge for allegedly ignoring an April 3 court order to call off the strike over a pension dispute.

Welly K. Hopkins, counsel for Lewis, argued in vain that a telegram Lewis sent the miners shortly before Goldsborough's court opened was "full faith" compliance with the stop-strike order.

That telegram said:

"Pensions granted. Agreement honored."

The mine workers leader sent the telegram after accepting a plan for $100-a-month pensions at age 62 for miners with 20 years service who retired after May 28, 1946.

Union Benefits

That was the date a mine workers welfare fund was set up. It is financed by 10-cents-a-ton royalty on each ton of coal mined.

Members of the United Mine Workers otherwise eligible for the pension will get it even though they worked in mines which have not paid the royalty.

This plan was proposed by Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N.H.) as compromise of Lewis' demand for pensions for all miners age 60 with 20 years service regardless of the date they retired. Ezra Van Horn, representing the mine operators in negotiations with Bridges and Lewis, opposed the Bridges plan but was outvoted.

All this was concluded before Goldsborough's hearing on an order for Lewis to show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

Then came the judge's decision that Lewis must stand trial Wednesday.

Before Goldsborough acted, there had been every indication that the miners would go back to work. But the news that Lewis would have to stand trial raised a question with some labor observers here whether the miners might decide to stay out a while longer.

The mine owners accepted the agreement for the welfare fund last year.

The Bridges plan was approved by a 2-1 vote of the welfare fund's trustees. Bridges and Lewis voted for it.

Colombia Severs Relations With Russia; Arrests 2 Soviet Agents

Blame Communists For Insurrection Which Wrecked The Capital; Report Food Supply Critical In Bogota

By The Association Press

Colombia has broken diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, the government radio said today, following the arrest of two Russian agents in connection with the revolution which devastated downtown Bogota, killed more than 300 Colombians and forced a revision in the government. The government declared a "Communist insurrection" had brought about the mob fury which ruled Bogota and other large Colombian cities for two days and disrupted the Inter-American Conference.

In calling home their diplomatic representatives to Russia, the Colombians took the same action that had been ordered last October by Brazil and Chile.

The official Bogota radio said 15 foreign agents in all had been found, some of them alive.

The broadcast announced that the Inter-American conference will resume in Bogota "so that Communism could not triumph over Colombia and the rest of the nations of the hemisphere." Possible joint action against Communism by the American countries is one of the problems slated for discussion in the sessions.

Under Control

The government declared the revolutionary effort was ended and it controlled the situation today. As in confirmation, a dispatch filed through the United States State Department said the Bogotans at dawn today began coming out of their homes in numbers unequalled since Friday night.

They saw a city wrecked as if in an air raid. Public buildings, Roman Catholic churches and stores had been burned and looted. Army troops, firing at snipers, had blasted the spire off Santa Barbara church.

The whole country was under martial law and a state of siege imposed by the new coalition government

7 Railways Settle Trainmen's Dispute

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP). — Labor Minister Mitchell today announced settlement of a dispute between seven railway companies and their employees, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The minister said he had received a report from the Conciliation Board established to deal with the dispute and that the parties had "arrived at a mutually satisfactory settlement of all matters in dispute, the terms of settlement being embodied in a collective agreement."

Railways involved were the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Pacific Railway and their subsidiaries and jointly-owned undertakings; the Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway Company; Ontario Northland Railway; Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway; Essex Terminal Railway Company, and the Sydeny and Louisburg Railway Company.

The dispute was concerned with a number of revisions in operating rules. The question of wages was not involved.

Freight Inquiry Ready

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP).—Canada's general freight-rate inquiry will open as soon as the interested parties are ready to go ahead, the Board of Transport Commissioners announced today.

The board, which will conduct the investigation ordered last week by the Cabinet, also declared the inquiry would call for public hearings to be held "throughout the country."

Besides the railways, it was expected, the chief among the parties concerned would be the seven provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—which opposed the railways' application for general 30-per-cent. increases in the rate case concluded by the board a fortnight ago.

Decision of the board in that case—the award of a 21-per-cent. increase—touched off the forthcoming inquiry which is expected to produce an overhaul of the whole rate structure of the Dominion.

Radar Fence Discussed For Dominion

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP). —Building a truly tight radar "fence" to warn the United States and Canada of enemy air attackers is being talked. It may cost several billion dollars and requires thousands of men to operate it.

These, it was learned today, are only two of many problems encountered by military and civilian experts studying the requirements for an adequate air raid warning system.

But, military leaders say, an "early warning" must be had if defensive fighter plane and ground anti-aircraft organizations are to be of value. They must be put on the alert in time to repel attack.

The estimate by some that the cost will run into billions is based on two points: (1) Radar sets are intricate and expensive; (2) many stations would be required to establish an effective screen with no loopholes.

The first stations of the warning system are being built by the air force in Alaska after a survey started over a year ago. Similar efforts in Northern Canada are being carried forward as a joint Canadian-United States enterprise

But, so far as is known, the stations in operation are few and, of more concern, far between. The range of existing radar is about 200 miles.

Police Find Abortion Clues

TORONTO, April 12—(CP)—Police said today they believe Mrs. Jane Gordon made the appointment last Thursday which resulted in her death from an abortion.

This was the latest development in the investigation into the death of the woman who borrowed $500 from a friend Thursday and was found dead in a ditch on a suburban road 12 hours later. The money was still in her purse.

This morning, police said they planned to investigate information they have received from a friend of the dead woman about her activities during the early part of last week.

The man who loaned Mrs. Gordon the $500—an unnamed real estate salesman who lives in suburban Leaside—has declined to answer all but two insignificant questions of a long list submitted to him, police said. He said he had driven her to a North Toronto intersection—at Yonge and Imperial Sts.—at 10:45 p.m. Thursday.

Shipping Strike Ends In Eastern Canada

MONTREAL, April 12. (CP)—The six-week-old strike by officers of East Coast vessels ended today and a joint statement by the Shipping Federation of Canada and officers' representatives said it was believed a settlement would be reached similarly on the west coast.

The statement said the settlement terms are "the full implementation of the (Mr. Justice D. A.) McNiven report . . . and non-discrimination by both parties."

Officers are being notified immediately of the settlement so ships with cargoes on hand "may sail at the earliest possible date."

Waterworks Threatened By Explosion

MONTREAL, April 12 (CP)—Montrealers had the jitters for an hour last night when an explosion that shook the western part of the city was reported by police and fire officials to have wrecked the main pumping and filtering station of the waterworks system.

The explosion and the ensuing fire razed a 150-foot two storey building adjoining the pumping plant on Joseph street in suburban Verdun, but did not cause any damage to the pumping station itself.

The structure was leased by the Atlas Construction Company from the city to manufacture tubes and mains for the waterworks system.

Reports that the explosion had wrecked the pumping station also gave anxious moments to the 150 firemen battling a three-alarm fire in a five-storey warehouse on Commissioners street on the waterfront.

Cause of the explosion in the tubing plant was not known but fire officials said that a compressed air tank blew up shortly after the first fireman got on the scene. The noise and the ensuing inferno brought hundreds of calls to fire and police departments in Montreal and suburbs.

Waterworks officials said that the water supply of the metropolitan area would not be affected as the pumping station was untouched.

The flames were brought under control within an hour before they could cause any damage to the pumping and filtering plant. Warehouse damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Ross Harrison Reeve Of Smith

Municipal acclamations in Smith Saturday promoted Deputy Reeve Ross Harrison to the reeveship and Councillor Robert Tully to the deputy position, and also approved the nomination of Alan B. Mann to the vacant place in the council.

These changes were effects of the death of Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl whose memory and service to the township were gratefully recalled by the ratepayers at the nominations meeting at the Court House.

A formal record of sympathy to the family of the late Mr. McIlmoyl and also appreciation of his many contributions to the township was moved by A. B. Mann and seconded by Cephas Bullock.

Mr. Harrison was proposed for reeve by E. W. Cockburn and J. Wesley Bell. For Deputy Reeve, Mr. Tully was nominated by Robert McAdam and E. W. Mahood, and Mr. Mann for council by H. Olver and A. R. Nicholls.

Wallace Shearer, a former reeve of Harvey township, was also named for council but declined to accept nomination. Sympathetic references to the late Mr. McIlmoyl were expressed by Gordon Fitzgerald, Milton Clark, A. E. Middleton, and others, especially by those who were nominated.

Need Food

A new Conservative-Liberal cabinet headed by Liberal Dario Echandia as minister of government was formed Saturday and took office yesterday. The government claimed last night to have control.

Barranquilla, Cartagena, Medellin and Cali were among cities outside Bogota reported to have suffered from rioting.

The capital itself was short of food for its 325,000 or so inhabitants and for conference visitors from 21 American republics. It waited to see whether workers, after a relatively quiet Sunday, would stay out today in a general strike begun with the rebellion.

The visitors, among them State Secretary Marshall of the United States, all were reported safe, many of them in Bogota's little disturbed residential sections.

But some, mostly women, already have been flown out of the stricken capital because of the food shortage. Two U.S. four-engined transport planes returned to Albrook field in the Panama canal zone last night with 86 passengers from Bagota.

Reliable sources at the field said Marshall's personal plane and six other troop carriers would leave for Bogota early today, weather permitting, to bring back Marshall and others.

The latest pooled dispatch from correspondents in Bogota said, however, that Marshall was reported "determined to stick it out to the end."

Circumstances affecting the fate of the conference were that the site, Colombia's capital, had been invaded by rioters, the interior wrecked and conference records destroyed.

The government radio said two Russian agents were among those arrested in connection with the revolt and Gaitan's assassin had been inked with Communism. It charged that international Communism "has done its utmost" to hamper the conference.

The Communists spread handbills through Bogota calling for support of a strike against "reaction and Yankee imperialism." These said the president's blaming the rebellion on the Communists copied Hitler's tactics of blaming the Reichstag fire on them. They said an "official agent" killed Gaitan.

Plan To Unify West Germany

WASHINGTON, April 12. — (AP).—Over angry Russian protests, Britain, the United States and France have decided to go ahead at once with their own plans for unifying western Germany economically.

They may decide to set up a separate political regime as well.

The decision to hold another three-power meeting in London to blueprint Germany's future was reported authoritatively today as the conflict between the Soviet and the west entered a critical week.

Gets Seven Days For Drunk Driving

Joseph Fisico, 599 Park St. South, was "reluctantly" found guilty of drunk driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in court today. He was sentenced to seven days in jail and order given for the impounding of his car for three months.

The charge rose from an accident on McKeller St. on March 27 when the accused's car drove into a ditch on the north side of the road. One wheel of the car was in an open sewer hole.

PC's C. J. McGillen and Sherman Kelleie, who had gone to the scene, each gave evidence that Fisico was in a "drunken condition." Marks on the light snow showed that the accused's car had been "all over the road," said P.C. McGillen. P.C. Allen Edmison also testified as to the man's condition on his arrival at the police station.

In his own evidence, Fisico told the court that he had had two pints of beer that evening. The part of the road where the accident had happened had a partial barricade, which had no signal lights on it. Seeing the road block suddenly, he said, he had applied his brakes, the car had skidded on the soft earth and had ended up in the ditch by the road.

An indication of the support expected is shewn in the Watch Department of the Westclox. Without canvassing, all 60 members of the department have signed pledges, indicating their willingness to back the project financially.

Faces 2 Charges

Douglas Self, 220 McDonnel St. was remanded for sentence for one week when he pleaded guilty today in court before Magistrate Philp of attempting to take a taxicab without the owner's permission. He was also fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

Two Pay Fines

Bruce Parker, 903 Monaghan Rd. paid fine of $25 and $22 and costs of $2.50 on each when pleas were accepted this morning on two charges of exceeding the half-load limit on the highways. F. Baillargeon, St. Costant, Quebec, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs for speeding.

Gets 3 Months

William Clinton, 231 George St., was sentenced to three months in jail when he was found guilty as a third offender of being drunk in public. The accused pleaded not guilty. P.C.'s Harold Mesley and M. Bassett testified as to Clinton's condition on the night of his arrest. Clinton, in his own defence, said he had only "a few beers" that night.

Lindsay Man Fined Twice On Liquor Counts

LINDSAY, April 12 (ENS)—"If you were only an occasional caller here it would be different," Magistrate Gee told Garfield Sproule, 30-year-old Lindsay laborer, when he appeared in court Monday on an intoxication charge. Sproule being an interdicted person, was also charged with illegal consumption of liquor on April 9. He was ordered to pay fines of $25 on each charge, plus $5 costs or in default 30 days in jail. Harry O'Neill, aged 47 of Ottawa was arraigned on three charges. They were intoxication, having liquor in other than in his own home and supplying liquor on April 9 to Sproule an interdicted person. "I'm a stranger in town and didn't know Sproule was on the Indian list", O'Neill stated. For this reason, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan withdrew the latter charge. Accused pleaded guilty to the other two counts and was sentenced to ten days imprisonment. O'Neill, whose right leg is amputated, said he had just been released from Guelph hospital and was going home to recuperate from an operation. He told the court he was hitch-hiking to Ottawa, and on arriving at Lindsay met Sproule, whom he had known previously when the latter was in the army at Kingston. "We just did a little celebrating", he said. O'Neill said he was on a strict diet and that jail food didn't agree with him. Magistrate Gee said he would be attended by a doctor.

Gale-Topples Many Buildings

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 12 — (AP)—Strong south winds subsided today after whipping Central and Northern New York yesterday, causing thousands of dollars damage.

Gusts up to 55 miles an hour toppled several buildings in the Syracuse area, ripped the roofs from other structures and smashed plate glass windows.

To the north, winds reached 60-mile-an-hour velocity at Watertown. Gusts blew several automobiles from the highways, felled trees and damaged several homes.

Communications and electric lines were snarled and many communities were without lights temporarily.

There were some power interruptions at Buffalo but no serious damage was reported. Winds reached 44 miles an hour there.

Mrs. C. P. Edwards Dies In Ottawa

After a long illness death came Saturday to a widely known Ottawa lady, Ethel Maude Edwards, wife of Lt. Commander C. P. Edwards, Deputy Minister of Reconstruction and Supply and formerly Deputy Minister of Transport.

Born in Ottawa, Mrs. Edwards was a great-granddaughter of William Merrick, a Loyalist who came from Massachusetts in 1794 to settle in the Grenville area and give his name to the present town of Merrickville. Her father, the late M. G. Dickieson, a Prince Edward Islander, held an important position in the Dominion Auditor General's Department.

Mrs. Edwards was an exhilarating hostess and had many cultural interests. She was secretary of the Ottawa Drama League for several years and was one of those primarily concerned in the purchase of the Little Theatre. A former pupil of Dr. Puddicombe, she was an accomplished pianist—had a remarkable musical memory and was an expert at improvisation. A graduate of Macdonald College, she was distinguished in the artistry and mangement of her home.

Mrs. Edwards was a member of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club and the Ottawa Chelsea Club. She leaves one sister, Mrs. J. H. Thompson (Ella) of Ottawa, a brother, A. Logan Dickieson, of Peterborough, a niece, Ann Thompson, and a nephew, Peter Thompson.

Five Cars Derailed

NORTH BAY, April 12 (CP)—Main line traffic on the Canadian National Railways was restored to schedule yesterday afternoon following an interruption caused by the derailment of five cars of a southbound freight train at Waubamik, north of South Parry on the Sudbury subdivision, Saturday night. No one was injured. Transcontinental passenger trains Nos 3 and 4 were detoured via North Bay.

Urge 2-Year Ban On Moose Hunt

TORONTO, April 12—(CP).—A two-year ban on moose hunting in Ontario was recommended today by the Legislature Committee on Fish and Game. The suggestion will be considered by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Moved by William Docker (CCF—Kenora) the suggested ban was approved 15 to 5. Its aim is to close all moose hunting in the province until a survey to provide information on the moose situation is completed.

The Department started the survey about two years ago and expects it will be finished in another two or three years.

Other recommendations considered by the committee were that the moose season be closed for one year, that it be opened this year and closed in 1949 and that it be closed on alternate years.

The committee voted unanimously to recommend that the open seasons on deer hunting be left as they are. The whole deer hunting setup is under consideration now by the Department and it was the opinion that no action be taken to change the seasons until after the Department has finished the examination.

Prohibition of angling for trout during the spawning season was also approved. A resolution to this effect was moved by Mr. Docker and seconded by Victor Martin (Lib—Nipissing).

Secret Police Strengthened By Russians

BERLIN, April 12 — (AP). — Allied intelligence reports said today that the Russians have been increasing their strength in Germany, mostly with secret police units.

An informed United States source said these increases had been "by no means en masse but they have been noticeable."

It was believed the police (M.V.D.) increases were in connection with Russian tightening of their occupation zone's borders with the western zones.

The control measures also have been linked with new travel and freight restrictions imposed by the Russians on the western Allies in Berlin.

German reports have claimed that some new troop units have appeared in the Russian zone. The Socialist press said considerable number of Mongolian troops had been brought into Leipzig.

Russian authorities requested yesterday that the British and Americans close their automobile aid stations on the Berlin-Helmstadt highway. American officials said their station would be closed in two weeks. British officials said they would draw up a reply.

Both aid stations are on the 125-mile stretch of roadway between Berlin and Helmstadt in the British zone. It is the only road connection of the western powers with Berlin.

Halt Trains

British and Americans have halted passenger-carrying military trains to and from Berlin on the ground the recently imposed Russian inspection demand would violate their sovereignty.

The Russians also have moved to curtail aircraft flights by proposing a ban on commercial airliners, night flying and instrument flying between Berlin and the western zones.

In addition, the Russians have asked withdrawal of maintenance men on western Allied communications wires leading through the Soviet zone to Berlin.

Strong Western Oils Trade On Exchange

TORONTO, April 12. (CP) — Strong Western oils and active base metals feature trading on Toronto Exchange today. Western oils moved up substantially, for several favorites but base metals were irregular, opening strong to ease off in later trading. Golds were moderately firm but industrials turned easy.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,011,000 shares, about 578,000 more than Friday's similar period.

Heaviest traders in base metals were Sherritt down 13 and International Uranium up 3. Others in the list ahead were Smelters ¾, East Sullivan 9, Falconbridge 10, Waite Amulet 10 and Quebec Manitou 5. God's Lake headed golds on more than 100,000 shares but eased 2. Ahead in the list were Aunor, Bralorne, Campbell, Canadian Malartic, Cochenour, Delnite, Giant, Lake Shore, Macassa, Malartic, O'Brien, Sylvanite and San Antonio.

Industrials were mixed narrowly although a few issues showed moderately good gains.

Trailer Clips Elderly Man

J. E. White, 71 McDonnel St., a man more than 80 years of age, received minor injuries Friday evening when he was knocked down by a car driven by V. T. Griffith, 583 McCannan Ave. The accident happened at the corner of George and McDonnel Sts., about 9.30 p.m. The Griffith car, towing a trailer, was turning from George St. into McDonnel when the rear wheel of the trailer hit the elderly man, spun him around and knocked him down. Injuries which are not believed serious, are a sore leg, bruises on the leg and hip and scratches.

PC Stanley Kellele investigated.

E. Devitt President Of Recreation Group

OSHAWA, April 12.—Ed Devitt, Waterloo, was elected president of the Ontario Recreation Association as its three-day conference was concluded here yesterday. Other executive officers will be named from a 25-member administrative council named by the delegates and including representatives from all parts of the province.

The association also framed its constitution and voted to hold the 1949 conference at Kitchener.

G. Ott Romney, former Red Cross recreational director for the American armed forces, paid tribute to the welcome he had received.

"Canada is a wonderful country. Many of her resources are as yet untapped, but the greatest of all is her people. You are now getting more new citizens and you must assimilate them through the universal language of recreation. Nothing is more effective in bringing people together," Mr. Romney declared.

DIGGING IN AT A TROUBLED BORDER — Children look on as British soldiers pitch a tent after setting up a trench mortar, right, off the Trieste-Pola highway, in back of civilian frontier guards on the "Little Morgan Line." Shooting incidents, the last occurring against a British observation post, brought a sharp warning from the U.S. to Yugoslavia.

Salvation Army Still Gaining Capacity Crowd Told At Temple

Despite dark skies and a chilling rain, the Salvation Army Temple was filled with worshippers on Sunday afternoon for the Citizens' Rally. Distinguished guests, including the special speaker, Commissioner E. I. Pugmire, commander of the Salvationists in the U.S.A., and Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., who presided were present to help the Peterborough Corps celebrate the 63rd anniversary of its founding here by Captain Esther Mills.

More than 70 Orangemen marched to the service accompanied by the Peterborough Temple Band, and as many members of the Canadian Legion paraded to the Simcoe Street Temple led by the Peterborough Pipe Band.

Ladies from Eastern Star Lodge, the St. John's Ambulance Corps, and the Elizabeth Smellie branch of the Canadian Legion attended Another guest organization was the St. James' Bible Class.

Commissioner Pugmire said he was pleased to be back in Canada after an absence preceding the First World War and said the large turnout was an indication of the esteem in which the local corps is held by the citizens of Peterborough.

His address "The Flag Still Flies" was a summary of the work of the Salvation Army in various parts of the world. "The flag of the Salvation Army is flying in a great many parts of the world notwithstanding what is happening in these days of wars, ideologies, and dictatorships. Despite dictators who are trying to run out those agencies that are opposed to them, the flag remains something to be proud of."

A Detroit historian writing of the movement described it as possessing "an unsuspected vitality." And this terse description was pronounced accurate by the Commissioner.

He spoke mainly of the work of the Army in the United States from its audacious beginning 70 years ago when a man and seven young women landed on U.S. shores "and claimed it for Christ."

As an illustration of their work in the United States he told of the difficulty of becoming accepted and securing converts among the mountain folk of North Carolina. Of Anglo-Saxon stock, these people were isolated from the rest of the country and wished little communication. So bitter were the feuds in that region, he said, that on one occasion a member of a congregation kneeling at prayer was shot and killed by a gunman in the nearby woods. The congregation continued at prayer when the body was removed.

Survived In Germany

In Germany, Salvation Army members have outlived the persecutions of two wars. In Norway and Sweden it was going ahead; and in the latter country he said he saw the finest Army anywhere.

Under the protection of General McArthur the Salvation Army was organization again in Japan; similarly in Indonesia where 15 officers were said to have died during the war due to malnutrition and ill-usage during the Japanese occupation.

He told of the thrill he experienced in London at seeing St. Paul's Cathedral standing almost alone and unharmed amid acres of rubble and general destruction. The cross on the top "of this noble monument" he said was symbolic of the triumph of good over evil. "Because the cross shines through the fog in Peterborough is still flying."

The speak was introduced by Brigadier Newman and thanked by Hon. G. N. Gordon. Mr. Gordon spoke of the great work done by Major Charles Watt, commanding officer, in assuring the success of the Citizens' Rally, and also of the past services of R. C. Braund whom he described as a "great believer and admirer of British institutions, as well as a devoted Salvationist."

Brigadier Newman led in the Rededication of the Temple which had recently been completely redecorated. Added color was given to the interior by numerous flags and baskets of flowers.

Mr. Fraser said the Salvation Army "does not only help when skies are bright, but also when they are dull. It is always ready to help. That is why in 63 years it has prospered and helped to make Peterborough what it is today." And he said this was true in the building of Canada as well.

Mayor Ovens welcomed Commissioner and Mrs. Pugmire on behalf of the citizens of the city and said the local corps "from a modest beginning has grown like the City of Peterborough, and will continue to do so."

The opening prayer was read by Rev. I. C. Morgan, and Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, read the Scripture passage. Rev. C. G. Boyd gave the benediction.

Special musical selections were presented by the Temple Band and the Temple Songsters.

Civic Holiday In Cobourg 4-Day Affair

COBOURG, Apr. 12—(ENS).—A tentative program for the civic holiday week-end this year has been drawn up by the committee. Starting on Friday, July 30, the program will continue to August 2nd.

It was planned to hold motorcycle races on Saturday afternoon in McClelland Park. However, Bert Naylor of the Kiwanis Club informed the committee that the club, who operates the park, felt that holding the motorcycle races would draw the crowd from the Kiwanis carnival which is being held the same day, and also Monday, in Victoria Park. A hardball game in McClelland Park on July 31 was scheduled, but Stan Williams told the committee that it might be possible to change the game until Monday, in order to accommodate the motorcycle races.

History Of Cobourg

Marking the 150th Cobourg Civic Holiday celebration, the Business and Professional Women's Club is putting out an extensive history of Cobourg, the most complete bound volume of its kind to date. The tentative program is as follows:

Saturday, July 31—10.00 a.m., swimming, followed by the soap box races at 10.30. Saturday afternoon, baseball game in McClelland Park; 8.00 p.m., Legion softball. 9.00 p.m., dancing, variety show.

Sunday, Aug. 1—2.00 p.m., parade line-up for drumhead service at the bandshell with bands in attendance. 4.00 p.m., water skiers. 8.15 p.m., band concert. 12.01 (midnight), dancing at the pavilion.

Stop Sign Down Two Cars Collide

An accident at the intersection of Charlotte and Rubidge Sts., is blamed on the absence of the stop sign at the north-west corner there. It was reported that the sign had been knocked down before the accident happened. The truck of John Merncinger, RR 3, Indian River and the car of Carl Brown, Canton, collided near the centre of the crossing. Because there had been no sign, both vehicles had proceeded.

Damage to the truck was a cut and crumpled fender and a broken headlight. A dented door, broken glass and crumpled and torn fender were the damages to the Brown car.

PC C. J. McGillen investigated.

Truck Driver's Jaw Broken In Collision

COBOURG, April 12—(ENS)—A car driven by Don Shepherd and a light truck driven by William Thompson, both of Cobourg, collided four o'clock Sunday morning at the corner of Walton and King streets. Mr. Thompson received a fractured jaw and had to be taken to a Toronto hospital. Don Shepherd received superficial cuts and the other passenger, Violet ("Bubbles") Shepherd, sustained a sprained ankle, a cut on the knee and had a tooth knocked out. Constable H. Pearse investigated.

Pupils Favor Penny Bank

Peterborough is one of the two centres in Ontario where school children have an opportunity of learning to save through the facilities of a penny bank. Since the first school began the saving plan last October, some 3,500 public school children have banked more than $20,000.

At one time the Penny Savings Bank of Ontario looked after these deposits, but during both wars it discontinued to allow children to invest in war savings stamps. And it did not start again when the Second World War ended.

The Grey and Bruce Trust and Savings Co. is now looking after the penny bank with the approval of the Board of Education. Both say they are amazed at the results.

Owen Sound is the only other Ontario community where there is a penny bank.

Cobourg Rotarians Vote Centre $3,000

COBOURG, April 12—(ENS).—The Rotary Club of Cobourg voted at its weekly luncheon to donate the sum of $3,000 to the construction of the recreational centre. This amount will be made up from $2,000 in reserves invested in bonds and $1,000 from the general funds.

Harold Stassen's Victory In Wisconsin

The result of the Wisconsin Republican primary was expected to add uncertainty to the contest for that party's Presidential nomination by giving a majority of the state's convention votes to General MacArthur. The result did make the race more uncertain by giving Mr. Harold Stassen nineteen of the votes to General MacArthur's eight —and by shutting out Governor Dewey of New York with none. It was a result not even hinted at as a possibility by the great majority of United States political observers; the best they gave Mr. Stassen was second place when the only other candidate was Governor Dewey. When General MacArthur entered the field, Mr. Stassen was almost unanimously dropped to third place.

• • •

In fairness to the political prophets who predicted a victory for General MacArthur, it must be admitted that the reasoning influencing their selection appeared to be eminently sound. It must also be admitted that Governor Dewey's sweeping victory in Wisconsin over the late Wendell Willkie in 1944 made him the logical choice for second place over Mr. Stassen. But sound reasoning and past performances are traditionally unhelpful in selecting the winners of either elections or horse races.

• • •

Many reasons will undoubtedly be offered to explain the surprising result of the Wisconsin primary. One will be that Mr. Stassen was early in the field and campaigned intensively in person, whereas Governor Dewey was late in appearing and General MacArthur was an absentee. Another will be that two of General MacArthur's supporters — Col. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune and William Randolph Hearst—are considered serious handicaps to any political candidate. These and other factors probably had a part in the result, but an even more influential factor may have been provided by Governor Dewey's attempt to take votes away from General MacArthur by warning his audiences that United States foreign policy was being dominated by military men. This, a typical Henry Wallace charge, was broad enough to include Secretary of State Marshall, and it left the impression that Mr. Dewey was accusing General Marshall and other military men of leading the United States into war.

• • •

The effect of the Wisconsin result on the three candidates will only be known as the race for nomination progresses. Mr. Stassen's position is unquestionably improved, at the expense of the other two candidates. Whether the result means that General MacArthur's campaign has been ended before it was well begun, as some believe, remains to be seen. Whether it means that Mr. Dewey will not even be a strong contender for the Republican Presidential nomination, as some observers now predict, also remains to be seen. Additional evidence for political observers will be provided by the primary to be held shortly in Nebraska, and the most interesting evidence concerning Mr. Stassen's chances may be provided by the Ohio primary. Mr. Stassen will contest that election against Senator Taft in the latter's home state — a daring move, but one which appears in a new light following Mr. Stassen's sweep in Wisconsin.

The Alberta Conspiracy Fiasco

The case brought by the Province of Alberta against the publisher of New Liberty, Jack Cooke, the writer Harold Dingman, and Dr. Charlotte Whitton, an investigator for the I.O.D.E., in which these three people were charged with having conspired to publish a libel, has been dismissed and the accused have been acquitted. The whole affair seems to have been a farce from start to finish. It looks as though the Alberta authorities thought that they had done a very clever thing in producing a charge of conspiracy to libel, which enabled them on a technicality to take Cooke, Dingman and Miss Whitton to Alberta for trial. But it appears to a great many people who do not live in Alberta that the legal authorities of that province had behaved very stupidly, stretching their authority farther than it was ever intended to go, and ending their trial with a fiasco and great loss of face.

Everybody connected with the case has been put to heavy expenditure and the accused persons have been unwarrantably annoyed and hindered in their work.

The law, like anything else, gets out of hand when it is administered by unwise and vain men. By foolishly overreaching itself the law in Alberta has brought discredit on the law in general. This Alberta action has been the cause of a petition to the Dominion Minister of Justice, Mr. Ilsley, that Section 888 of the Criminal Code be amended so that nothing of this sort may happen again. We hope that Mr. Ilsley will see fit to deal with this matter before Parliament adjourns.

Examples Of Bureaucratic Propaganda

Two bureaucratic booklets came to our office in Friday morning's mail which are more interesting than the usual stuff we receive. One is Britain's Battle of the Gap, issued by the United Kingdom Information Office; the other issued by the Foreign Trade Service of the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce is called Canadian Export Timbers. It has been prepared for distribution at the Building Trades Exhibition being held in Manchester (England) this fortnight. It has a Canadian list price of 25 cents.

The contrast between the British publication and the Canadian is evidence that the British have not lost their subtle skill as propagandists and that Canada is still roughing it in the bush. The British tell the story of that nation's economic plight in large type on uncrowded pages. The facts are given with a bare truth that gains force through not being over-stated or emotionally emphasized. The text is complemented by large, clearly reproduced, excellent photographs. No one will pick up the booklet without looking at all the pictures and reading all the text and feeling that Britain is hard at work fighting the Battle of the Gap in a way that deserves all support.

The Canadian pamphlet has a less dramatic theme and is addressed to a more limited audience. Nevertheless, special audiences are not necessarily more patient than large ones, and must be appealed to as artfully. Since it is about timbers, the designers of the brochure have given it a cover that is supposed to represent the colour and grain of finished wood. It looks like the insipid brown cover of a five-cent scribbler. The print is clear but there is too much of it; the compilers seem to have been unable to decide whether they were putting out a botanical treatise for students or a sales talk for Canadian lumber. The illustrations are copious, small, crowded together—sometimes eight to a page—and dull, vaguely gray, though the paper on which they are printed is of the same high quality as the British booklet's. The writing is uninspired and sometimes bad, as in this ungrammatical sentence: "Air view of timbered territory...where grows the Douglas Fir, Sitka Spruce and other species". Here is the quaint, flat-footed caption to one of the illustrations: "White Pine and Yellow Birch combined to make an attractive staircase in a high-class home". (The italics are ours.)

We have viewed with favour the picture of Britain today and without enthusiasm the turbid exposition of Canada's export timbers. The Foreign Trade Service is not to be congratulated on its booklet.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Double-yoked eggs selling on the local market at 60 cents a dozen on Saturday were not going fast. Apparently the hens' extra effort is not sufficiently appreciated.

In Colorado, we learn, men who look after sheep are called "sheep-herders". Strange that a nation so eager to coin new words should not know the good old short word "shepherd".

A Los Angeles man is trying to divorce his wife in order that he may marry his mother-in-law. Wives, this is menace from a new direction!

Many of us tend to think of the Black Market as a foreign wicked thing. When, however, we offer to pay more than 71 cents a pound for dairy butter—foolish butter-hounds were offering as much as a dollar on Saturday, so we hear—we are creating a Black Market on our own door-step.

"Of Cabbages and Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

ALAN Moorehead's biography of Bernard Montgomery was the cause of much controversy among the English reviewers. The book was published when a rift started to appear between Britain and the United States and American writers—Ralph Ingersoll and Capt. Harry Butcher in particular—took occasion to criticize Britain's stormy Field Marshall.

WHEN Monty's gorier days were over after 1918, he was invited to lecture at the Military Staff College at Camberley on his favourite topic—infantry tactics.

Outwardly at Camberley, the staff and the students did not find much change in him. He pursued his work with a more remorseless interest than ever. The more exuberant students found him dry, hard and much too severe. They complained that he was 'inclined to be bossy' and that he 'rammed facts down their throats'. There was a sharp quarrel with a full colonel who was senior to Montgomery on the staff.

❖ ❖ ❖

INDEED Montgomery's mannerisms were hardly endearing at times. Even his kindly gestures tended to be emphatic. Mayor-General Sir Charles Gwynn, who was in charge of the Staff College, remembers opening his front door one day and finding Montgomery on the threshold clutching a radio set.

"You have no wireless set," Montgomery announced, coming inside. "Here is one and" glancing narrowly around the room "that is the place to put it."

The General protested mildly that he did not want a wireless, and if he did have one he would not put it in' that particular spot. Montgomery enthusiastically pointed out how wrong the General was about the whole thing. In the end the set was accepted, placed to Montgomery's liking and he left.

AMONG a thousand stories of Montgomery which were current at the end of the war (most of them exaggerated or wholly wrong) there are none which give a more accurate flavour of his acquaintance than this passing incident at Camberley with its ingredients of simple kindness, of slight crankiness and the air of convinced rightness with which he went about.

One gathers that many people were slightly frightened of him; one could laugh lightheartedly with Mrs. Montgomery, but when her husband came into the room there was a pause, a slight air of restraint. Once when the Montgomerys were guests at a house party in Italy, a fancy-dress dinner party was arranged. Montgomery (as it was expected) refused to put on a costume, but his wife appeared wearing his evening clothes, a moustache painted on her upper lip. With one accord the guests glanced apprehensively at Montgomery to see how he would take it. Betty Montgomery alone appeared to be at ease. Lifting a glass she cried, "The ladies—God bless em", and the party relaxed.

MONTGOMERY was always at his best when he had responsibility and in many ways it softened him. It was at these times that that streak of patriarchal kindness came out most strongly. Because he loved a younger brother, he was now paying for the boy's education, and this was not an easy thing to do out of a Lieutenant-Colonel's pay.

In Alexandria, too, many of his dealings were happier. There was the matter of the ceremonial church parade, always an irksome thing with the soldier not overly devout and certainly not anxious to give up valuable leisure time in going to church. Montgomery ordered the ceremonial parade to be cancelled. Irritable men, he argued, were in no condition to meet their God. In future they could go in mufti as civilians. He himself would read the lesson. The service was at once a success, but the inevitable reprimand came down from headquarters in Cairo. Who had given Colonel Montgomery the arbitrary power to do away with the ceremonial parade? Montgomery fought it. And this time he won.

❖ ❖ ❖

EACH Easter, for several years, Dr. Johnson had observed a poor man at the Sacrament, and at last he asked the man to come home with him writes Hugh Kinsgmill in his excellent biography of Samuel Johnson. The man turned out to be a Methodist, full of texts and lacking in intelligence. Johnson began to feel irritable, and his irritation was so much increased by the man twice refusing, doubtless with a painted air, to take wine, that he ejected him ("Suffered him to go") without the dinner which had been prepared for him. "I am sorry to have been so much disappointed," he notes, and resolves in future to be more tolerant to mean persons who, in spite of indeterminate notions and perverse or inelegant conversation, may, perhaps, be doing all they can.

❖ ❖ ❖

JOHNSON'S eccentricity in the company of others often sprang from a sudden impulse to throw off the oppression which weighed on him in solitude. In 1764, during this period of usual gloom, he visited his friend Bennet Langton in Lincolnshire and one day they walked up a very steep hill. On reaching the summit Johnson said that he was going to take a roll down. Langton tried to dissuade him, but he insisted that he had not had a roll for a long time and meant to have one now. Emptying his pockets of their contents, he laid himself parallel with the edge of the hill, pushed off, and turned over with increasing velocity until he reached the bottom.

ONCE, in his late fifties, as he was walking with some friends in Gunisbury Park, one of the party pointed to a group of lofty trees and said that when he was a boy he made nothing of climbing the largest of them. "I can swarm it now," exclaimed Johnson, and climbed half-way up before the protests of the others could persuade him to desist. Even more remarkable was the race he ran with a girl during his visit to Devonshire. There was a large lawn outside a room in which he was sitting. Someone observed that it would be very suitable to run a race on. A girl who was present said she could outrun any of the company, and Johnson rose at once and challenged her. "The lady at first had the advantage," Miss Reynolds narrates, "but Dr. Johnson, happening to have slippers on much too small for his feet, kicked them off up into the air and ran a great length without them, leaving the lady far behind. And having won the victory he returned, leading her by the hand, with looks of high exultation and delight."

IN LONDON some years ago (recalls Seymour Hicks in Between Ourselves) a man dressed as a clergyman haunted the West End, making a practice of whispering in people's ears such remarks as "Are you saved? Hell is waiting for you" mixing startling questions with positive assertions of the most frightening kind. He was a gaunt figure, and the police did not interfere with him, looking upon him merely as a harmless lunatic. But he sometimes made many an inoffensive citizen jump by the suddenness of his appearance and the rapidity with which he passed on, for he never stopped to wait for a reply.

One night, as Henry Irving was walking towards Bond Street, this individual stepped suddenly out of the darkness and whispered in the great actor's ear, "Have you found the Lord?" "No" said Irving, "Have you lost him, because if you have I shall be delighted to join in the hunt!"

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO CONTENTED HOUSEWIFE

Sir: I would like to have space in your valuable paper to answer this letter of this Contented Housewife.

And for the price of sugar and butter going up and the Union had nothing to do with it. And as she says she could talk for hours. I have been around and met them kind of people who talk for hours and cannot make head or tail of anything. I would like this so-called housewife to put her name in the paper so the people would know who she was and could judge for themselves.

I would like to see some other housewife put their point of view in the paper about this letter. Sure, some people can make ends meet but they only have the clothing on their back and that's all they own. And a lot let their kid run around with hardly anything to speak of. This so-called housewife never put in what money her husband was making, maybe he is in the big money, how do we know when they do not put their name in, to verify their statement. And I wonder what she will do when she gets in her old age, if she can just make ends meet now.

And we would like to live, not barely exist, or just barely make ends meet. She sounds to me like somebody who has been kept in all her life or sponged on their parents. There is a lot of that done. And as for the one-track mind and deaf ear, to my opinion she must be blind if she can't see the cost going up and the wages at a standstill or has she got a part-time job to make ends meet.

Thanking you for this space in your paper.

Thank you,

CLARENCE NEILL.

GEOPOLITICS

I, for one, am tired of those people who keep tolling the knell
Of dear old England, and all the rest of Europe as well,
People who think that there is only one side to the Atlantic, and this is it,
That the right way is our way, and what was the use of us inventing Europe,
If it refuses to get along the refrigerator and the car way?
Well, they can go right on talking, but the more the eagle screeches at the bear,
And the more super-atomic weapons they keep inventing here and there,
The more I think it would be a wise thing to book passage well in advance
Of the next air-borne disturbance, on a nice little boat bound for England, (or possibly France.)
Why, I can just see the limey porters waiting on the pier
"Well—'ere comes a boat load of them poor refugees
From that there war-torn continent of North Americer".

A Bible Message

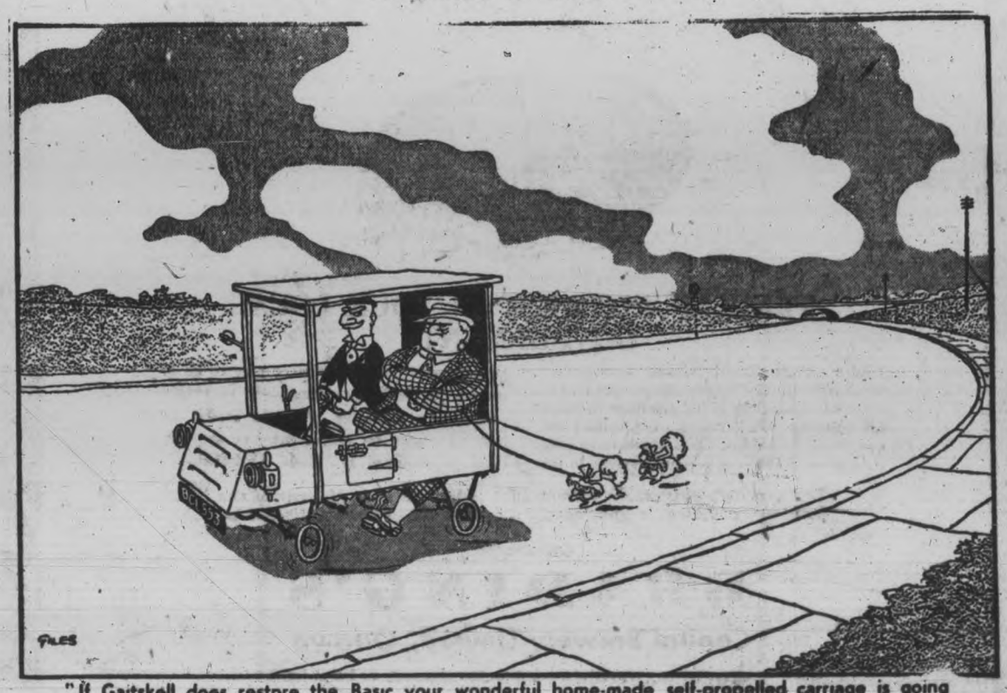
(From the Authorized Version)

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, saying....My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered upon all the face of the earth, and none did search or seek after them.

Therefore, ye shepherds, hear the word of the Lord....For thus saith the Lord God: Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out....And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant David; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd. (Ezek.: 34: 1, 6, 7, 11, 23.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And Jesus walked in the temple in Solomon's porch. Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.



Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me. But ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.

My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand.

I and my Father are one. (John 10:23-30.)

British-Irish Bandy Words Over Paintings

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, April 12 — (CP) — An old Anglo-Irish controversy has been re-opened and hot words are being bandied over the validity of an unwitnessed codicil and the question of whether 39 French paintings should be permanently housed here or in Dublin.

The complex story back of the squabble begin at the turn of the century in the swanky Jermyn Street showrooms of art dealer Hugh (later Sir Hugh) Lane, English-born, French - educated nephew of the famed Irish woman of letters, Lady Gregory.

Lane, a dandified familiar of most of the important figures in the contemporary Irish literary and artistic renaissance, founded a municipal gallery in Dublin in 1907 to show Ireland the work of modern painters. He collected 39 samples of the French impressionist school—some were given by the King and Queen — and turned them over to the gallery.

His next scheme was to build a new gallery on a larger scale, but Dublin authorities told him they would countenance "no manument to Lane at civic expense."

His motives suspect, he angrily lent the 39 pieces of canvas to London's National Gallery, and in 1913 executed a will leaving them to the National Gallery.

By mass meetings and resolutions passed in Senate and Dail, Eire has tried to influence the United Kingdom Government to turn over the pictures. Lane died in the 1917 sinking of the Lusitania.

Last February, T. C. Skeffington-Lodge, Labor member of the House of Commons for Bedford, asked the Prime Minister to reconsider handing the pictures over to the Eire Government. Atlee replied that the matter had been considered by successive governments for 20 years and he was not able to make a further statement.

Meantime the collection, conservatively valued at about £200,000 ($800,000) is still on view to Londoners.

"Joey" went to the swamp with her, but left for home when hungry. Later he heard his father and uncle discussing Shirley's whereabouts, and told them Shirley had been with him. The girl was lost for more than 12 hours.

Base Metals Show Strength

(By The Canadian Press)

The effect of the proposed United States re-armament and stockpiling program is well illustrated by the strength of base metals.

In Saturday's short session in Toronto they advanced 2.51 in the exchange's index to reach 91.26, their highest in more than a year and a gain of 13.59 since March 16.

The combined effects of rearmament proposals and the European recovery program, have to an extent taken attention away from an industrial cloud which will affect them and industry in general for months to come.

This is the coal strike which the magazine Steel Cleveland says has cost the U.S. 44,000,000 tons of coal and more than 500,000 tons of steel. The magazine adds that unless coal shipments are resumed quickly production will be reduced to a trickle in a matter of weeks as coal stocks are nearing exhaustion.

It does look, however, as though the strike may be called off today, and on the strength of such reports New York Stock Exchange staged a late rally Saturday. At close The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 at 66.1, a high since Oct. 28, and a net advance for the week og .8.

Sea Cadets To Have Cruise

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP). — A training ship for Ontario Sea Cadets, the "Oriole IV," will cruise the Great Lakes this summer, Gordon C. Leitch, chairman of the Ontario division of the Navy League of Canada, announced here Saturday.

"The ship will have a permanent crew under Lieut. P. M. Pangman, R.C.N. (R.), of Toronto, to be supplemented during the summed by Sea Cadets, Mr. Leitch told the division's 30th annual meeting. Delegates from 180 branches and committees and from 38 Sea Cadet Corps attended the meeting.

A special committee was established to take charge of the "Oriole IV." Headed by Col. E. B. McPherson of Toronto, it comprises Capt. F. M. Jeffrey, R.C.N. (R.), Charles Bourke and Lieut. William Gooderham, R.C.N. (R.), all of Toronto.

"In sponsoring the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets the Navy League has given a program of helpful training to many thousands of boys and men," the chairman said.

Expenditures of the Ontario division this year will probably top $285,500 finance chairman H. A. Burgon reported. The expenses were increasing but the increase was justified 'in view of present-day conditions."

"Our Sea Cadet training program is designed to instil the spirit of true loyalty, develop initiative, self-respect and self-discipline and teaches a cadet to accept responsibility and to respect the rights of others," he said. "These qualities are important essentials to a true democracy and an effective offset to the encroachment of subversive elements."

14 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

What police described as the kitchen stove slaying of a tiny baby topped the list today of 14 weekend fatalities reported in Eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press survey showed two other persons died from burns, seven lost their lives in traffic mishaps, two were asphyxiated, a boy was drowned and a man suffered fatal injuries when a horse bolted.

Mrs. Lucille Lamarche, of Kirkland Lake, was charged with murder in the death of her two-month-old son, Lawrence. Police charged her of throwing the baby into a hot kitchen stove after the child started to cry.

Burns proved fatal to Mrs. Carolyne Hodgson, 74, of Collingwood, a one-time circus aerial performer. She became enveloped in flames after a cigaret spark set fire to a blanket.

The third burn victim was Lazare Marchand, 57, of Mont Carmel, Que. He was trapped in a fire which destroyed his home and two garages 50 miles from Three Rivers.

Gordon Evans, 29, and Gordon Etty, 21, Hamilton deaf mutes, were killed when struck by a car on a Hamilton street. After striking the men, the vehicle collided with another car and injured four persons.

CSU Will Sue Shipping Firms

CORNWALL, April 12—(CP)— Harry Davis, of Montreal, national president of the Canadian Seamen's Union said yesterday at a public meeting the C.S.U. will proceed with the prosecution of shipping companies failing to recognize his union as bargaining agent for seamen.

Permission to prosecute five steamship companies was granted the C.S.U. Saturday by the Wartime Labor Relations Board. These are: Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd.; Sarnia Steamship Ltd.; Colonial Steamships Ltd.; Northwest Steamships Ltd.; and the Transit Tinkers and terminals Ltd.

The C.S.U. charges that, in signing a contract with the Canadian Lake Seaman's Union, the shipping companies violated agreements with them. They also allege that the companies violated provisions of the wartime regulations by failing to bargain in good faith.

"The dispute between the shipping companies and the C.S.U. is not an isolated one, but part and parcel of a design to squash organized labor," Mr. Davis declared. 'We will not be pushed around or be intimidated and will not betray the interests of seamen."

An Ontario Swim Championship Captured By Jack Boorman Of 'Y'

The three Ontario swim championships at the local "Y" pool Saturday night were split evenly among the rival clubs, Toronto West End "Y," the Lakeshore Swimming Club and the local YMCA. Jack Boorman of Peterborough won the championship for the 100-yard free style event (11 years and under) with his club mate, Scott Pearton, runner-up in a race keenly contested by 17 swimmers. Boorman's time was 1 minute 17.1 seconds, remarkably fast time for an 11-year-old. Pearton broke his time placing second in 1:23.8.

In the 13 years and under event, Lakeshore's Fred Smith earned the championship in the fast time of 22.2 seconds. George Spalding of Peterborough "Y" was second and Murray Grafstein, of the local club, who won his heat, was fifth in the final.

The 11 and under 160 yards free style relay was close, with Toronto West-End Y edging out the home team of Scott Pearton, Jim Heffernan, John Cusimano, and Jack Boorman. Lakeshore was third. Bob Howe and Ron Wood of YMCA placed second and third in the 100 yards free style for 15 and under, with the winner, John Bates of West-End, Gordon Buck of YMCA came third in the junior men's 100 yards back stroke.

Al Marshall

The senior men's 100 yards breast stroke race was featured by Al Marshall, Peterborough's 200-yards Canadian record holder in this stroke—swimming for U. of T.—coming within two seconds of the present Dominion record for the distance as he stroked a swell race. At that, he was pushed all the way by Gerald Fraser of West-End, with Ken Stacey of Peterborough third.

Ken Tully, Canadian intercollegiate diving champion, gave a fine exhibition, including a full gainor half twisting forward somersault dive. Five-year-old Davie Hughes of Lakeshore Club swam several lengths with different strokes and competed in the 9 year and under free style event. The results:

Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings was suspended indefinitely by President Frank Calder of the NHL, and Red Wing players Eddie Wares and Don Grosso were fined $100 each six years ago tonight after a fistic assault on referee Mel Harwood during the fourth game of a Toronto-Detroit Stanley Cup series. Adams was reinstated the next season, but the pilotless Red Wings lost the series.

Are You Courting Cockroaches?

Hardly anyone cares for cockroaches but some people coddle them and don't know it. At night roaches have their day.

We're just telling you in case all of a sudden you should see a creature that's hard and brown; shiny and looks as big as a Buffalo. You'll see him scuttling around the pipes of your kitchen sink. He deserves to die because he's dirty and carries disease. Crush him if you can.

Steady, Lady . . . maybe your house is very clean but roaches can come in with groceries or sneak up from your cellar. Where do they come from? From a long line of ancestors, even as you and I.

Home cures are seldom adequate . . . usually roaches keep on coming. There is only one thing to do. Tell your troubles to your local Rest Control Operator. He'll do the work right!

A cricket on the hearth is said to be lucky, but the cockroach on the sink . . . that's ouch!

A mat monstrosity is offered in the main grapple bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night. We refer, of course, to Maurice Tillet (the French Angel), a shuddery specimen to view. The 290-pounder is built along odd lines indeed with barrel body, huge head, long arms and short bowed legs. He will never win a beauty contest. The Angel will meet John Katan and for once we feel sort of sorry for the rough Katan, himself not exactly a matinee idol. Well, it should be an interesting scrap, in any case. And the Masked Marvel, around again after a bad injury, comes here for the semi-final against Joe Page. Haven't heard what pair go in the prelim, but it's sure to be a lively card.

Our congratulations to St. Paul's on capturing the colleens' junior cage title. They had to go overtime to eke out a 19-18 win in the last tilt against the game CGE-ers but they made sure of it. Barb Deyell, Bev Pringle, Jane Abbott and Dot Allan played solid ball for the Saints; while Irene and Betty Stewart with Marg Kennedy were best for Electrics. Nurses had won the senior section and Normals the intermediate, so they're all finished now after a good season. They wind it up with a league banquet in the YW on April 21.

Big Swimming Meet

Three Ontario championship events were settled in the "Y" pool Saturday eve, and the YMCA aquatic aces took one as Toronto West End "Y" gained another, and Lakeshore Swim Club the other. Jack Boorman upheld Peterborough water reputation by taking the 100-yard free style race for 11-year-olds and under in the fine time of one minute 17.1 seconds. His club mate, Scott Pearton, was second. Other local swimmers turned in good showings, too, in an entertaining program before a goodly gallery. Al Marshall, busy studying the past month at Varsity, was a bit out of practice but came within two seconds of the Canadian 100-yard breast-stroke record.

Lakeshore Baseball League officers for 1948 are: President, Roy Dodge of Cobourg; vice-prexy, Sid Little of Bowmanville; and secretary-treasurer, Al Brown of Port Hope. Sid Little will attend the OBA annual this week-end in London. Sure entries in the loop are: Oshawa, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg and Bowmanville. There is a chance Whitby and Newcastle (possibly bolstered by some local players) will enter at the schedule meeting on May 6. The Petes plan to stage some big exhibition games, too, as well as enter the Congress tourney and then the OBA senior playdowns.

Minors Getting Set

Annual re-organization meeting of the City Baseball League will be held this Wednesday night at seven in the YMCA. An open session to elect officers and make general plans for the 1948 season. Service clubs are requested to have representatives on hand, and others interested are also invited. Lots to be done for the youngsters and it'll take several weeks to get everything lined up for the peewees, bantams, midgets, juveniles and juniors. The OBA annual, which we said was April 10, is not till this week-end, and the loop may be represented.

It costs do-re-mi to operate any club, of course, but the junior puckists usually prove quite expensive. They don't draw too well, even though they turn in fine games. We imagine it cost the IOOF-ers plenty the past season, and we note where Lindsay's junior "C" club which made a fine showing and had a good home rink in which to play dropped $260. As their scribe says: "To run a junior 'C' hockey club these days the receipts must total at least $1,500." Yet the Scugog squad cleaned up on its group and was only ousted in provincial playdowns by Gananoque, which lost out in Ontario finals recently to Thorold. Bill Parker of Omemee was selected as the most valuable player on the Lindsay team and he will have a trial next fall with Philly Rockets at Belleville.

Wings Being Clipped

Wonder if it would be too late now to switch and select Toronto Leafs for the Stanley Cup! The Wings are letting us down, though it isn't their fault. They're trying hard but the classy Leafs have too much condition and hustle for 'em. Coasted to a 4-2 win in Toronto on Saturday and had a late edge in a good game last p.m. in Detroit's Olympia to take a 2-0 verdict. Even the fact that Jack Adams once played for Peterborough doesn't seem to help the Wings' cause at all. So they swing back into action in Henryfordsville on Wednesday with a fifth, if necessary, in Toronto on Saturday. Wings may prolong it a bit yet, but they're only postponing the inevitable.

By The Canadian Press

Opposition to the proposed 20-per-cent Ontario government amusement tax on amateur sports was strongly expressed at a meeting of the Intercounty Baseball Association executive yesterday.

A motion was passed to be forwarded to the Ontario Baseball Association which opposes the tax on amateur sport. Bill Taylor of Kitchener said that if the tax is put into effect it would mean "the death knell to sport." Others agreed that the 20-per-cent proposal was "ridiculous" and said that it would have to be passed on to the paying fans.

Backing the decision were representatives from Guelph, Brantford, Stratford, London, Kitchener and Galt.

The old Canadiens-Maroons feud, the old-timers bolstered by a generous contribution of present-day players, was renewed at Montreal yesterday and the outcome was a 5-5 tie. The game netted $5,781.80 for two children's hospitals in Montreal.

Butch Bouchard captained the Canadiens team and Kenny Reardon headed the Maroons. The old-timers included Nels Stewart, Hooley Smtih, Russ Blinco, Paul Haynes, Archie Wilcox and Dave Trottier of the old Maroons and Pit Lepine, Wildor Larochelle, Armand Mondou, Albert (Battleship) Leduc, Armand Raymond and Georges Mantha of former Canadiens' team.

RCAF Flyers, Olympic hockey champions, made their final appearance Saturday before disbanding and moving to various parts of Canada. They dropped a 6-3 decision to a group of all-stars composed of NHL and QSHL players. A crowd of 5,100 attended the benefit match, proceeds of which went to the Canadian Appeal for Children

Barrie Whips Nationales In First Game

By WALLY IZSAK

TORONTO, April 12 (CP). — Barrie's aptly-named Flyers continue to surprise fans and opposing teams alike with their speed, hard-hitting and comeback ability as they move along the Memorial Cup trail.

In particular, their knack of coming from behind has been one of the principal reasons they have progressed so far in their quest for Dominion junior hockey laurels. They showed it again Saturday at Montreal when they overcame a two-goal first-period deficit to whip Montreal Nationales 4-2 in the opening game of the Eastern Canada junior finals.

The second game of the best-of-five series, the winner of which will meet either Lethbridge Native Sons or Port Arthur Bruins in the cup final, will be played at at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto tonight.

Earlier in the playoffs, in the last game of the Ontario Hockey Association finals against Windsor, Barrie at one stage trailed 3-0 but came through finally with a 6-3 victory. Again in the first game of the all-Ontario finals, Porcupine Combines led 2-0 after a period of play but Flyers won the game by a wide margin.

Hard-Hitters

Against Nationales on Saturday the Flyers' hard-hitting defence battered Nationales' rushers into submission and then the flashy-skating Barrie forwards drove in for four straight goals to wipe out that 2-0 lead Nationales had taken in the first period.

Nationales went into the lead midway thsough the initial frame on Claude Dolbec's goal and then Gerry Desaulniers hit for the second goal in the final minute of the period.

Flyers roared back in the middle session and in just 11 seconds Jerry Reid blasted the rubber in for his team's first goal. Rusty Aikin notched the equalizer and then with Mousseau put Barrie into the lead just before the end of the period.

The final frame was all Barrie as they skated Nationales into the ice. Goalie Gaetan Desforges played neat hockey in keeping Flyers down to one goal, by Gil St. Pierre who scored on a solo effort.

Large Turnout At Soccer Go

The "fitba" season opened on Saturday afternoon in the city with about 40 players participating in the opening practice at King Edward Park, in ideal weather. The grounds were fine, with the exception of two large poles that had not been taken down along with the skating rink.

Canadian General, last year's champions, were out in full force, in fact, all previous players with the exception of Harry Pyle and A. Featherstone who were absentees because they are no longer employed at the big plant. Two newcomers were present, one from Ilford, England, and one from Hamilton, Scotland.

George and Asa Downer, late of the Canada Packers, were in attendance along with other players associated with them last year, but no definite information was forthcoming.

All Teams

Canadian Legion and O'Hallorans were well represented, and Spartons had more than their quota of players all eager for the opening tilt.

Ben McMaster and Tommy McPhate, along with some older players didn't take any active part although E. G. Hardie couldn't resist playing for a while.

After an absence of nearly 12 years, Jimmy Quinn, who played with the CGE in 1936, has returned to the city but will not play. He was in the navy in the first war and in the latter war was an employee with the Vickers Company in the Old Country. He reports that George Lovett, who went home with him to England, is no living in New Zealand.

Royals Outfield Weakest Dept.

VERO BEACH, Fla., April 12—(AP).—The backbone of a strong pitching staff already moulded, Montreal Royals need only a little more aid from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers to become a strong factor for the International league pennant this season.

Except for the pitchers and catchers, the team still needs replacements, but this is expected to be taken care of by the Dodgers before the season gets under way April 22. The Royals could use another infielder and a couple of hard-hitting outfielders.

Five pitchers will bear the hill burden this year. They are Hank Behrman, Dwain Sloat, Donald Newcombe, Frank Laga and Clarence Podbelian. In addition it is almost a certainty that Dan Bankhead willl be sent down from Brooklyn.

Cliff Dapper, voted the most valuable player in the Southern Association last year, heads a strong catching staff.

The infield is undecided as yet. Kevin Connors and Lou Ruscher, a pair of rookies, are battling for the first string job at first base. Jimmy Bloodworth, a veteran major league second baseman, has the keystone sack all to himself.

Bob Morgan, who drove in 102 runs for Spokane last year, appears set at third base. The shortstop job is a toss-up between Jack Lindsay, from Greenwood of the Cotton States league, and holdover Lou Welaj.

The outfield is the weakest department.

Braves, Giants And Cardinals Picked To Head National Loop

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP).—Billy Southworth, smart little leader of Boston Braves, is like the horse which has drawn the No. 1 position at the getaway post. He is in an enviable spot.

While Leo Durocher of the defending National league champions, Brooklyn Dodgers, and Eddie Dyer of last year's runner-up St. Louis Cardinals are busy matching each other, the canny Southworth is in position to sneak right past those two to give the Braves their first league championship in 34 years.

There is no doubt the Braves are an improved club over the 1947 third-placers.

Not only are the Dodgers and Cardinals in danger of being bypassed by the Braves but may find themselves looking up into the heels of the murderous-hitting New York Giants. In fact, after touring the Florida regions with most of the clubs for a month, this observer believes that the Dodgers will be hard pressed to stab off Cincinnati's bid for a first division berth.

Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Chicago should engage in a wild scramble to stay out of the cellar. The Cubs, with their aging players, might gain that dubious honor.

In our opinion the national league race shapes up like this:

1 Boston, 2 New York, 3 St. Louis, 4 Brooklyn, 5 Cincinnati, 6 Pittsburgh, 7 Philadelphia, 8 Chicago.

Makes Changes

Why can the Braves finish on top—something they have accomplished only once since 1900? Here are the reasons:

1. Southworth is probably the greatest handler of ball players. Getting the most out of Bob Elliott, Red Barrett, Frank McCormick and Bill Viosella are some examples.

2. A pitching staff that may be the best in the league. It contains the only two 1947 pitchers on one club to reach 20 or more victories. Southworth thinks Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain, 21-game winners last year, will be even better this season.

3. A vastly-improved keystone combination. Second baseman Ed Stanky and rookie shortstop Alvin Dark figure to be much stronger than last year's double play combination.

4. The addition of a power hitter in outfielder Jeff Heath, and the development of another in first baseman Earl Torgeson. Heath, obtained from St. Louis Browns, whacked 27 four-baggers last season.

Katan To Tackle The French Angel

The French Angel will meet John Katan in the main wrestling bout at the Brock Arena on Wednesday. Katan who just about "murdered" Dr. Meske here last week told manager Jim Laidlaw that he would take on the horrible looking French grappler. "I'll make him look just the opposite to an angel," said Katan. If Honest Masked Marvel John can convince himself to that effect right up to ring-time the result should be one wild mat encounter. The grotesque wrestler from France who has earned the strange nickname of Angel by looking like a bad dream, is also a very effective wrestler.

The equally notorious Masked Marvel will be back. The mysterious matman who has been laid up with a broken arm will meet the dashing newcomer Jack Page of California. One other bout is being arranged.

BENTLEY BAGS HIS SECOND—Harry Lumley's head turns for a peek at the puck nestling in the cords. A split second before it had clung to the stick of Max Bentley, left. It was Maximilian's second goal of the game, gave Leafs a 3-0 lead near the end of the second period. Four Studios Offer Barbara Roles

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, April 12 (AP).—Barbara Ann Scott may follow in Sonja Henie's ice tracks. The Canadian ice queen has had offers from four major studios, says dance director Leroy Prinz, who is her adviser on movie matters. If the Ottawa champion does turn professional, the first order of business would be a United States skating tour....

(Last week Miss Scott said that she would not sign any movie contracts until she has completed her present commitments to appear in amateur skating carnivals She said she was booked up until May 8. An Ottawa report said that Miss Scott had been offered a chance to appear with dancer Fred Astaire.)

Michael Kirby, who languished at MGM for two years, is definitely signed as Miss Henie's co-star in "The Countess of Monte Cristo." He is also her current skate partner....

Along the Movie Beat.

Charles Boyer has recovered enough from his bursitis attack to travel and he leaves this week to attend the New York premiere of "Arch of Triumph."....

Maria Montez, who has been off the screen too long for the good of her career, will get into action soon. She will do some added scenes of the long-finished "Atlantis" and then start an independent film, "Last Year's Snow".....

Bing Crosby finished his chore in Disney's "Two Fabulous Characters" and heads East. When his boys do their acting jobs for the film next August, they will be the first to use Walt's new sound stage, which he claims is the world's largest. The story has the boys at a Hallowe'en party on a rainy night. Instead of going out they listen to a radio personality named Crosby recite the Ichabod Crane yarn. After that, they are too scared to go out.

Odds and Ends

Shirley Temple is another star heading for New York. It will be one of her few trips to the big town....

John Garfield hopes to lure Faye Emerson back to pictures for his "Tucker's People." She is now playing in "The Play's the Thing" with Louis Calhern..... Rita Hayworth took a two-month lease on a Palm Springs house, so she will do no globe-trotting. She is still trying to shake a cold.

Esther Williams is taking vocal lessons. She will sing a couple of songs in "Neptune's Daughter" in which she will portray a swim suit manufacturer....Walter Pidgeon of St. John, NB, will be a grandpa in two weeks.

Harmon Wins Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 12. —(AP).—The 12th annual masters' golf tournament is over, but not the memory of dark-horse Claude Harmon's victory with a record equalling 279.

For Harmon, a stock professional, the triumph yesterday was worth $2,500. His 279 tied the master's record set by Ralph Guldahl in 1939.

The 31-year-old Harmon came in five strokes ahead of Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., who was second in the field of 57 of the world's best golfers.

Harmon's winning score was 36 strokes ahead of the most famous of them all. Bobby Jones, making his annual tournament appearance, registered another 79 for a 72-hole total of 315, his worst competitive showing.

In third place wtih 287 was Chick Harbert of Detroit.

Leafs Whip Wings Twice Lead Series Three Games

DETROIT, April 12—(CP).—Three up and one to go—that was the happy position of Toronto Maple Leafs today in their best-of-seven final against Detroit Red Wings for the Stanley Cup and the world's professional hockey championship. The Leafs won 4-2 in a bruising game at Toronto Saturday and came right back at Detroit Sunday for a 2-0 shut-out. The first game at Toronto last Wednesday was a 5-3 win for Leafs.

That means the Toronto team that edged Detroit for the National Hockey League title before opening the cup playoffs can take the historic trophy by winning the fourth game here Wednesday night. One more victory for Leafs, and the Wings are finished. Not even the most optimistic Detroit supporters had any hopes of Wings taking four in a row to beat the Leafs for the cup.

Big Harry Watson, formerly of Detroit, and Vic Lynn, both left-wingers, scored the only goals last night as Walter (Turk) Broda in the Toronto nets turned in one of the finest games of his career to earn the shut-out.

Watson scored in the dying seconds of the middle period on a pass from Bill Ezinicki, and Lynn scored on a pass from Kennedy with the last period three-quarters gone.

The Wings never gave up trying cheered by a home-town crowd of 14,165 with a desperate third period offensive that saw Broda unbeatable.

A Tough Game

"That was a really tough game, a really tough one," said the burly Toronto goalie after he scored his first shut-out in eight playoff games.

Jack Adams of Detroit was amazingly judicial after he saw his Wings pushed to the brink of elimination. "We played well," he said. "It looked like we gave them everything we had, but it just wasn't enough. It was a good, hard hockey game and I couldn't ask for more."

Both Wings and Leafs agreed Sunday's game was even tougher than the second game at Toronto, marked Saturday night by a series of fights.

In the first game Max Bentley of Leafs scored the only first period goal and Ezinicki and Bentley made it 3-0 before Pete Horeck scored for Detroit, with Watson beating Lumley again to make it 4-1 for Toronto going into the last period. Fernand Gauthier got Detroit's other goal.

Gauthier and Bill Barilko of Toronto drew majors for fighting in the first period. Howie Meeker of Toronto and Gord Howe started swinging in the second period and both earned majors for the melee in which Meeker nearly lost his sweater.

Then after the final whistle Joe Klukay of Toronto tangled with Jimmy Conacher, and the rival goalies joined the argument with fists swinging. That outbreak brought misconduct penalties for the heavily-padded netmen, and being imposed in the last 10 minutes of the game, the penalties carried an automatic $25 fine, which didn't cheer Broda any.

Stops 26 Shots

Broda however forgot about the $25 here last night as he stopped 26 Red Wings shots. Lumley at the other end had 19 saves plus the two he missed.

The second period had only 18 seconds left when the scoreless tie was broken by Watson, who came in fast to pick up the pass dropped neatly for him by Ezinicki only 19 feet from the Detroit goal. Toronto's other goal was also a picture play as Lynn raced in to the corner of the Detroit cage and made no mistake on Kennedy's pass, while Lumley was out of position for the shot.

Cleveland Wins Calder Cup

BUFFALO, April 12.—(AP).—Cleveland Barons today held the American Hockey League playoff championship for the fourth time in the circuit's 12-year history.

The Barons clinched the Calder Cup last night with a convincing 6-2 victory over Buffalo Bisons. It was the Barons' fourth straight victory in their best-of-seven playoff series.

Leftwinger Church Russell chalked up two goals to spearhead a third-period goal Baron attack. The rally came after the teams tied with a goal apiece in the first and again in the second period.

George Allen scored unassisted to break 2-2 tie about eight minuter after the final period started. Russell took a pass from Gordie Davidson and drove it into the net and less than four minutes later scored on a power play set up by Fred Thurier and Jack Lavoie. Lavoie then racked up the final Baron goal.

The Bisons had the game's first goal on Jerry Brown's blast, but Allen made it 1-1 before the period ended.

Les Douglas put the Bisons ahead 2-1, in the second period and Thurier netted a shot to deadlock the game again.

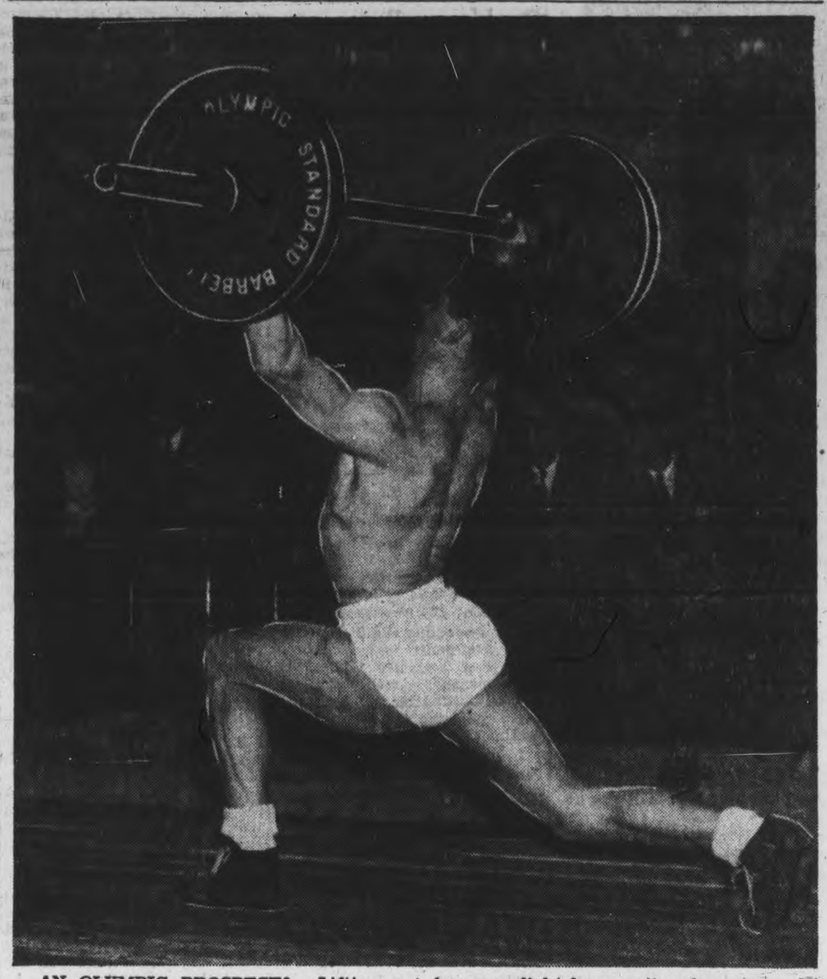
CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSES

Work on two building projects on the site known as the "Hamilton Corner", George and King Sts., is getting well underway this morning. Wreckers are already tearing down implement partsbins above the Baker Printing plant and there are several pile of brick and foundation tie-rods stacked at the rear of the Hamilton residence. The proposed site for the office block further south on George St., is being excavated by power shovel and one-third seems to be already dug.

Borden Choir Noted For Brilliant Tone

On Saturday night the Kawartha District Police Association presented the Borden Golden Crest Male Choir in a concert in the PCVS auditorium Alderman Doug. Miller welcomed the audience and the choir on behalf of Mayor Wm. Ovens, who was unable to be present.



The choir, which has been in existence since 1930, has developed an individual style and a light, brilliant tone. The conductor, Mr. Albert Farmer, rarely asks his men for a great volume of sound, and has concentrated upon careful pianissimo effects; the long life of the choir, and the fact that it still contains some of its original members, may be attributed in a high degree to Mr. Farmer's careful use of their voices. The program consisted of partsongs and arrangements of popular compositions, and it was performed with admirable skill and address.

Five members of the choir added solos to the program. It was particularly interesting to hear Mr. A. Fisher, who has a fine basso cantante—a type of voice very uncommon in Canada, or anywhere else. Mr. R. Staples sang two comic songs very amusingly, and Mr. G. Occhipinti played the piano-accordion with great dexterity.

The program was performed without an interval. The audience received the program with enthusiasm, although the auditorium did not appear to be more than half filled.

Health authorities stress the importance of natural feeding for infants. Milk from human mothers was rushed to the Dionne quintuplets from far-off points soon after their birth.

AN OLYMPIC PROSPECT?—Lifting a total of 640 pounds at the recent weight-lifting championships here, Ab Blondin—shown above—took the middleweight championship and hoisted more poundage than the heavy or light-heavy city champions. His feat, which compares well with any in the country, stamps the Peterborough middleweight lifter as a possible Olympic prospect. Blondin has been a consistent winner in local meets for some years.

Noted Zionist Lashes US For Opposing Partition

Bitter denunciation of the United States Government for its decision to oppose partition of Palestine featured an impressive address by Mr. Joseph Goldberg, noted lawyer and Zionist of Worcester, Mass., addressing the Peterborough Lodge, B'nai B'rith on Sunday night.

It was the annual installation of officers of the lodge, and Beth Israel Synagogue was crowded to capacity with members of the Jewish fraternity, their families, friends and prominent Gentiles. The installation ceremony was conducted by Leon Weinstein, Toronto, assisted by Harry Cherney, Peterborough.

Mr. Goldberg was introduced by Jacob Low, and prefaced his address with a reference to the fact in Canada and the United States Catholic, Protestant and Jew lived in harmony and peace, while in other parts of the world barbarianism flourished and minorities were bitterly persecuted.

"I am an American and have the right to criticize my government for certain actions which either wittingly or unwittingly it allowed to come to pass. I feel deep resentment, am amazed and bewildered at this development which affects the Jews in Palestine and the Jewish remnants in Europe. I am afraid that the United Nations is on the verge of being destroyed.

"If the United States had had the vision to become a member of the League of Nations, we might never have had a second world war. We thought the League of Nations would be an agency for peace. The United States didn't join—but took the lead in forming the United Nations. This agency we look to as our only hope for world peace. I hesitate to think of a third world war with its horrors and destruction.

"I am so upset by the decision of the United States Government to reverse the decision to partition Palestine, because I am afraid the UN will have no substance.

No Concession To Jews

"This declaration was formulated by 33 countries and now is nullified by threats of the backward, illiterate countries of the Near East.

"The only thing the United Nations did was to re-affirm a lifelong claim of the Jews to Palestine. We did not want partition; we accepted it as the last chance. To say the UN is making a concession to Jews in partitioning Palestine is a lie."

Mr. Goldberg said deliberate

Brant Indians Honor Jas. D. Moore

Mr. James D. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore of Emith township, has attained the dignity of honorary chief of the Cayuga tribe of Indians with the name "Da-ka-wee-Kah" or "Rising Son".

Elliott Moses, widely known in the Provincial Plowmen's Association, said at the meeting in Brantford Friday night at which Mr. Moore was honored by representatives of the Six Nations Indian Reservation and 15 Brant county farm associations, that there was no more sincere way in which the people of the reservation could express their appreciation of the fine work of the retiring agricultural representative.

The custom was established many years ago, and was based on friendship. Not only kings and queens had been honored, but also persons from all walks of life. Class made no difference in the Indian's idea of friendship.

Mr. Moore is leaving Brantford this week to begin his new duties in national boys' and girls' club work, with office in Ottawa. He has been agricultural representative in Brant for two years and a half. Mr. Moore said it had been a great privilege to serve the people of the reservation, and asked Chief Little Bear to convey his thanks to them.

As a gift, Mrs. George Green (Princess Waiting by the Village) presented the new honorary chief with a lapel badge bearing a pair of moccasins and bead work made by herself.

Mr. Moore received from the farm organizations a beautiful silver tea service. In his thanks he said the occasion would always be a memorable evening. "Working with such a grand group of people as I have met in Brant county has been most enjoyable. If I ever return to the representatives' service I hope I am appointed to Brant."

James A. Gardiner, Toronto, director of agricultural representatives branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, brought the best wishes of the Minister, Col. T. L. Kennedy.

Mr. I. McClure, president of the Brant Federation of Agriculture, said Mr. Moore had been a credit to himself, the county and the Department of Agriculture. From the first day he arrived he had been popular with both the older and younger people.

Among those present at the meeting were "Miss Dorothy Clark, Peterborough, fiancee of Mr. Moore."

GETS APPOINTMENT — Harold Burley, station manager of CHEX for the past two years, is leaving on Tuesday to accept a position with the Thompson Co. Ltd., newspaper publishers. He was prominent in the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Sales and Ad Club.

Former Resident Of Peterborough Dies Of Burns

A former resident of Peterborough, Mrs. Carolyn Hodgson, 74 years old, died from burns at her home in Collingwood Saturday morning. With her husband Fred Hodgson, who was in the billboard business here from 1920 to 1925 and was once a circus owner, she lived at the southwest corner of Charlotte and Rubidge more than 20 years ago.

A one-time aerialist and a writer, Mrs. Hodgson was fatally burned when the chair in which she was sitting took fire.

She had been an invalid for some years. It was believed she dropped a cigaret on the blanket as she sat in her chair Friday afternoon. A neighbor detected smoke and investigated. He smothered the flames with his coat, and Mrs. Hodgson was taken at once to hospital.

Her husband, a circus owner and promoter, died more than 20 years ago.

An active woman, she was a leading figure in social work until a few years ago when she became partly paralyzed. She is survived by one son, Fred in New York, and a daughter, Jessie, at Collingwood.

Harold Burley Leaves Radio Joins Newspaper

Harold Burley, manager of radio station CHEX, is leaving Peterborough after a two-year stay to return to the publishing business. He is leaving the city on Tuesday to join the Thompson Company Ltd., newspaper publishers throughout Ontario.

During his stay in Peterborough he has been active in community service; an organizer and director of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the Sales and Ad Club.

He is no stranger to the publishing business as he worked for 10 years on the Toronto Evening Telegram in sales and advertising.

In 1941 he entered the field of radio as salesman and commercial manager of CKRN, Rouyn; then as announcer, salesman, and manager of CKVD, Val d'Or. Later he went to CKWS, Kingston, as commercial manager and then to Montreal as national representative of Northern Broadcasting and Publishing Ltd., which includes CHEX.

He entered the RCAF in June, 1943, and trained as a navigator. After serving overseas he was discharged in March, 1946, with the rank of Flying Officer.

After his discharge he was appointed to the post of station manager of CHEX.

Mrs. Burley and his two daughters, Beverley-Anne, 6, and Joanne, 4, will remain in the city for a short time longer.

Mr. Burley said he valued the many friendships he had made while here. Peterborough and its inhabitants left him with many happy memories, and he said he would be a booster of the Lift-Lock city wherever he went.

CCF Candidates Named April 19

Mr. Joseph Noseworthy, ex-M.P. for South York, will be chairman of a meeting of the CCF Monday, April 19, for the purpose of nominating both provincial and federal candidates.

This meeting is being held in the K. of C. hall, Simcoe St. Recent reports from several of the members indicate lively interest in the nomination for both fields. Peterborough CCF decided to prepare for action on both fronts, influenced by reports that elections may be held this year. In any event it was regarded as desirable that candidates should be nominated early in order that the ample time for organization would be available.

300 Hear Recreation Experts At Oshawa

Recreation Dubbed a Positive Force In Curbing Delinquency

OSHAWA, April 12 (Special)—Three hundred professional and lay recreation workers from all parts of Ontario met for a three-day provincial Recreation Conference here from Friday to Sunday. Highlights of the conference, which featured a number of top-ranking recreational experts, included the formation of the Ontario Recreation Association, to incorporate all interested people in the province to work together for their common aims.

Four from Peterborough, who took active parts in the program were: Mrs. R. Whalon, Edward Murphy, Jack Dane and Quirt McKinney.

The banquet on Friday evening was addressed by Premier George Drew. Stressing the theme of the conference — living together—the premier pointed out the need to start laying th foundations of a peaceful society with the young people. The spirit of the playground, he said, could spread throughout the world and make peace for mankind. The prevention of crime by a full recreation program was also emphasized by the speaker.

Prof. Ott Romney, Dean of Sociology of the University of West Virginia and Dean of the School of Physical Education there, in his address, outlined the part of the people of a community should play and the interrelationship of the public as a whole and professional recreation workers.

A Positive Force

"Recreation is not a negative thing, but a positive force," he said. The positive approach to the question brings out it's value, he said. The movement should grow from the residents of a community and their desire for it. Working in harmony with trained officials, a progressive program can be instituted.

Saturday afternoon, the conference was split into smaller discussion panels on various phases of the work. Eddy Murphy led the group in discussion of what phase of recreation should first be undertaken by a newly-formed Recreation Commission.

Mrs. R. Whalon was a member of a panel discussion on the best ways in which a Recreation Commission and community projects may work in unison.

Jack Dane, Peterborough Recreation Commission Director, was a member of a group discussing the use of school playgrounds for community recreational purposes.

Saturday night, the conference moved to neighboring Whitby where chief speaker was Dr. Harold D. Meyer, president of the American Recreation Society and Dean of Sociology at the University of North Carolina. His address was directed chiefly along professional lines to recreation officials. He spoke on the position of these workers with the community at large and the interested lay workers who helped put over their programs.

During the Friday night banquet, Quirt McKinney, Peterborough, gave an effective demonstration of parts singing. In 15 minutes, he was able to lead the 250 guests—divided into four groups—in harmonized singing.

Other parts of the evening's entertainment were an exhibit of folk dances by John Madson, Unionville and square dancing, conducted by Wes McVicker of the Central YMCA, Toronto.

Besides the formation of the all-inclusive Ontario Recreation Association, the conference was also marked by the formation of an organization for professional recreation workers, named the Recreation Directors Federation of Ontario.

Campbell Asks 10 Circuits Go Professional

HALIFA, April 12.—(CP). — Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, has submitted a memorandum to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association which may create professional Leagues out of top senior amateur circuits in Canada, the Halifax Herald said in a sports page story today.

In a dispatch from Sydney, N.S., the Herald said the Campbell proposals would wipe out all vestiges of amateur control in leagues which adopted the plan and that they went further than the CAHA plan for placing 10 players on each club under contract.

The newspaper said it had learned that the memorandum had been revealed in a letter sent out by George S. Dudley of Midland, secretary of the CAHA. It probably would be a main topic at the annual CAHA meeting April 23 to 27.

The general outline of the Campbell plan was:

1. The professional hockey leagues would extend protection for a reserve list of not more than 20 active players and two goalkeepers for each team in each senior amateur league, providing that such players were signed to a standard players' contract containing the usual reserve clause "assignment and option to renew).

2. The professional leagues are not prepared to extend protection for "territorial rights" at this time.

3. The senior leagues would have to agree to salary limit to be negotiated if this proposal were put into effect.

4. The senior leagues would have to agree to a "draft" by all three professional leagues at an appropriate figure "commensurate with the calibre of the league making the draft."

UNSANITARY LODGINGS BRING CONVICTION — Keeping these houses in such ill-repair had its court sequel for the owner in Montreal. The Be-St Realties Corporation, after two unsuccessful appeals against the jurisdiction of the Recorder's Court, was sentenced to pay fines totalling $840, plus the costs of three cases opened on March 21, 1946, charging the company with tolerating slum conditions in five buildings owned by it in Montreal. The picture shows the front entrance to Chateauguay street "duplex." Each of the four dwellings included in this building consists of four rooms, but some had to be blocked off because of lack of a floor or holes in wall.

Religious Play Presented By Knox Group

Knox Theatre Group presented the one-act religious play "Thirty Pieces of Silver," by Dr. C. Stewart Black, on Sunday at Mark St. United Church. The action takes place at a small inn outside Jerusalem, where two of the disciples, Matthew and Philip, are staying after Christ has been taken by the priests in the Garden of Gethsemane. It is at this inn that Judas Iscariot has arranged to be paid by the Pharisees for his betrayal of Jesus.

The atmosphere of the play, the feeling at first of complete hopelessness on the part of the disciples at the loss of their leader followed by the realization of the significance of the Cross by Philip, and the attempt at self-deception by Judas, who tries to convince himself that, Jesus will not be killed, followed by his breakdown after the Crucifixion, when he fully realizes what he has done, was well conveyed. However, some of it was lost through poor delivery. There was a tendency to rush the words resulting in a loss of meaning and consequent loss of atmosphere.

The production and direction of Peter McCombe was extremely competent, and Ray Gillies, the stage manager made good use of the limited space available, overcoming the difficulty of presenting the play in a church.

Judas Iscariot was played by Victor Potter, Matthew by Edward Potter, Philip by Norman Hughes, Esther by Betty Starsmeare, Issacher the Pharisee by John Donaldson and Ephrahim the Innkeeper by Ganton Clarke.

The play opened with the choir singing the Passion Chorale, "O Sacred Head Now Wounded," by Bach arranged by Stainer, followed by John Donaldson singing "He Was Despised," from the "Messiah" of Handel. It closed with Jean Jackman singing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," also from the "Messiah."

"Protocol M" Branded Forgery

NEW YORK, April 12—(CP)—The New York Times said yesterday in a dispatch from Genoa, Italy, that "Protocol M," allegedly containing Communist information bureau instructions for action by German Communists, has been proved a forgery.

Attributing the information to a reliable source, the dispatch said that the British intelligence service, originally hoodwinked into believing the protocol genuine, discovered that it actually was prepared by an anti-Communist German.

The author of the document was tracked down and arrested and is understood to have confessed, the story continued.

The protocol was first foisted upon British authorities last winter. Convinced that it was genuine, they released it for publication.

The dispatch added that a network of forgers and falsifiers are busily peddling allegedly secret documents to embassies, intelligence officers, ministries and newspaper correspondents. The market for such "phony" documents is probably better today than ever before.

The new hospital cabin has already been laid out at the camp and equipment for it has been received.

All Machinery Organized For Election

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP).— Whether or not it calls one, the government will have the machinery oiled up for a general election this year.

While voluminous amendments to the Dominion Elections Act will have to be passed at the current session of Parliament, the administration has arranged it so that the electoral equipment will function as smoothly as though nothing had happened.

On instructions from the government Electoral Ofifce officials have brought all their material up to date on the basis of 10 or so amendments pending before Parliament but not yet passed. Many of these are necessitated by last year's redistribution of constituencies.

When these are adopted, along with some further but minor amendments expected to develop before the House Elections Committee, all that will be necessary will be to whip the prepared material off to the printers.

Because of this advance work, an election will be possible well within three months of passage of the Election Act amendments. Greber.

Parliament will get its first full look shortly at plans that are shaping up for the beautification of the Capital area.

Jacques Greber, the French town planner who has been piloting the preparations, is scheduled to appear before a Senate Committee April 21, armed with the charts and blueprints.

With him will be E. F. Bronson, chairman of the Federal District Commission, the body most directly concerned with implementation of the plans.

They will appear before the Senate's Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds which was directed some time ago to inquire into the report upon Mr. Greber's plans, on the motion of Senator Norman Paterson (L-Ontario).

Justice Minister Ilsley Plans Overhaul Of Libel Law

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP). — Justice Minister Ilsley is planning an overhaul of Canada's libel law to prevent a possible recurrence of the Cooke-Dingman-Whitton indictments, an authoritative source said last night.

The source said Mr. Ilsley will introduce in the Commons within the next few days a bill amending the criminal code to provide that persons charged with libel or "counselling, aiding, conferring or conspiring" to libel be tried only in the province in which the libel allegedly was committed."

It is understood the bill is designed to halt any possible repetition of the libel case in which Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of New Liberty magazine, Toronto; Harold Dingman, New Liberty writer in Ottawa and Dr. Charlotte Whitton, welfare outhority, Ottawa, appeared in the Supreme Court of Alberta on charges of "counselling" and conspiracy" to commit a defamatory libel.

Mr. Cooke was charged with "counselling and conspiracy" while Mr. Dingman and Dr. Whitton were charged with "conspiracy" to libel in connection with an article in the Dec. 27 issue of the magazine entitled "Babies for Export." The article was alleged to have defamed the Alberta Child Welfare Commission and its members — chairman C. B. Hill, Alexander H. Miller, C. F. Willis and Clara Frizzell.

On the "counselling" charge, Mr. Cooke was acquitted. The common indictment on "conspiracy" to libel was "stayed" last Monday at the request of the Crown.

Government Faces Big Test On Freight-Rate Issue

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP). — The government is expected to face a major test of strength on the freight-rate issue Tuesday. Some Liberal members of the Commons are worried about the result.

The test will come on a non-confidence motion moved by the C.C.F. when the government declined to delay enforcement of a 21-per-cent increase in the freight rates. The increase, authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners, went into effect Thursday.

The C.C.F. is ready to fight a general election on the issue.

The Progressive Conservatives — the official opposition — have not decided how they will vote. The question will be settled at a caucus.

As one member said, both the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are on the "hot seat."

A Progressive Conservative member said he was sure the majority of his party agreed with the government that the railways needed higher freight rates for successful operations. However, the C.C.F. motion was ticklish.

It asked the House to express the opinion that the government's failure to delay the rates was inimical to the best interests of the state. It also asked that the government withhold the increase until the Maritime and western province could appeal the decision of the transport board.

Makes It Clear

While the motion was couched in usual parliamentary language, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, backed it up with the statement that he wanted it considered as a vote of non-confidence in the government.

This posed the stickler for both the Progressive Conservative and Liberal members. The Progressive Conservatives — unless the unexpected develops — support the increase. But—the Progressive Conservative member spelled out the word in capital letters — the official opposition has no confidence in the government. Therefore, he said, "we will support a non-confidence motion."

The vote is a major issue for the Liberals from British Columbia, the Prairies and the Maritimes — the provinces most affected by the freight-rate increase. They feel they would be sounding their own political death knell by supporting the increase. They would be doing the same thing by voting non-confidence in the government which they support.

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP).—A plea for clemency in the case of William Deacon of Winnipeg, sentenced to be hanged for the slaying of a taxi driver in 1946, has been refused, Justice Minister Ilsley said Saturday.

Driver Ditches Car To Avoid Collision

Samuel Baglier, 36 Scarorough Rd., Toronto, escaped without injury and with slight damage to his car when he drove into the ditch on Highway 28, near Kenley.

Charles Beldam, Scarborough, who was driving north on the highway in front of Baglier, suddenly stopped to pick up two pedestrians. Baglier was about to pass when he noticed a southbound car appear over the crest of a hill a short distance away. Rather than risk a head-on collision or run into the stopped car he steered into the east ditch.

The car tipped over on its left side which together with a portion of the top were the only damaged parts of the vehicle.

Provincial Constables Lloyd McClure and Emmett Crough investigated.

NEW YORK, April 12.—(AP).—Comedian Jack Benny's program was cut of the air last night for a brief period because of line trouble, the National Broadcasting Company said. NBC said the program was interrupted throughout its network for two minutes and five second shortly after the broadcast started. A later NBC program, the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy show, was cancelled because of line trouble at Claremont, Calif., the network said.

Artistic Floral Arrangement Highlights Kinettes' Tea

Spring presented a Saturday, resplendent with sunshine, for the Kinettes' annual tea and home cooking sale in the YWCA. Many friends and supporters of this organization attended, and the event proved to be one of special merit. Mrs. Roy Phillips, president, and Mrs. Tom Williams, vice - president, received the guests.

Much charm was displayed in the tasteful arrangement of the home cooking table, which was adorned with lilac "trees" and bowls of "make believe" lilacs. Mrs. Stanley Gilmore and Mrs. Fred Ash were responsible, and their assistants were Mrs. Wm. Vanstone, Mrs. Verne Selkirk and Mrs. Wm. Osborne.

A lovely Madeira cloth gave allurement to the tea table, at which Mrs. Jim Wharry, Mrs. W. J. Gordon, Mrs. Adam Sands and Mrs. Chas. Graham poured tea. Gleaming silver candelabra with tall pink candles picked up the touch of spring from the low bowl of mixed flowers which graced the centre.

WMS of St. James' Church Takes Charge of Service

"At the close of the last Great War, General Douglas MacArthur declared that military force had failed, and that it was now up to Christian church to save the world," said Mrs. F. W. K Harris in introducing her inspiring challenge to the congregation of St. James' United Church at their annual WMS service on Sunday morning.

Assisting in the service was Rev. F. W. Craik, the pastor, and Mrs. E. G. Johnston, president of St. James' Auxiliary of the WMS, who read the scripture lesson from St. Luke's Gospel 24:44 to the end. She also introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Harris, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch of the Women's Missionary Society, and warmly welcomed her to the Easter thank-offering meeting.

Mrs. Harris traced the beginning of the missionary movement for women in Canada with an initial group formed in Prince Edward Island in 1825 for prayer, giving and study. This led to an interdenominational society formed in 1841 to work among the French Canadians of Montreal. It was not until 1881 that the Women's Missionary Society was organized by a small band of women with very little money. But as the result of their devotion, today the society numbers over 191,000 women, contributing in 1946 over $875,000.

Continuing, she outlined the many different departments and types of work carried on by the WMS in Canada.

Referring to the tide of immigration in the early 1900's, Mrs. Harris told how these Canadians settled in groups, where there were no schools and few opportunities for children. Realizing the need, school homes or boarding schools were established by the WMS throughout Canada. Interesting illustrations were cited of the work with French Canadians, and community missions in all the large cities, as well as fine medical work being done in the twelve hospitals with a staff of fifty-six.

She emphasized the fact that each of these types of work has begun because of a definite need, and through all of it the gospel of Christ is being proclaimed. This great work is made possible through the sacrifice and efforts of small groups of local women who are devoted to the last command of Christ. In conclusion, Mrs. Harris mentioned briefly the overseas work being carried on and made an urgent plea for young people to give their lives to the work of the Christian church.

Special missionary music was arranged by the organist, Cecil Lapp, with the anthem "That Sweet Story of Old" by the choir, and solo part by Henry Turner. A solo by Mrs. L. McLaren, "There Were Ninety and Nine," was in keeping with the theme.

SHARP WHITE COTTON SHIRT—A good cotton feminine shirt of commensurate tailoring and cloth quality with a good cotton man's shirt is not so easy to find without a large price tag. This model, however, made of pedigreed white broadcloth, is mildly priced and precision made with pleated bosom, pearl buttons, club collar, cuffed sleeves.

June Marie Primeau Wed With Three in Attendance

Immaculate Conception Church was the setting for a lovely wedding Saturday when June Marie Primeau was united in marriage to Frank Morrow by the Rev. Charles Greenan. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Primeau of Peterborough and the late John Primeau, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morrow of Tweed. During the ceremony Mrs. D. Campanaro sang "Ave Maria" and other hymns, and at the signing of the register her solo was, "Mother at Your Feet is Kneeling." Mrs. Cyril O'Donnell was at the organ.

Wearing a wedding gown of white jersey, with full length veil of embroidered net, trailing gracefully, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Jack Primeau of Cobourg. The tight-fitting bodice of her dress had a round neckline, outlined with rows of fine lace forming a flat collar and long pointed sleeves, and the skirt was quite full with peplum at the back. Her headdress was of lace in heart shape and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Attending as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Thos. Jackson, who was frocked in green taffeta with fitted bodice and fish-tail peplum on the full skirt which fell in a slight train. She wore a hat and gloves of the same material and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Rita Scott was wearing a dainty bridesmaid's dress of yellow sheer with ruffles trimming the bodice and forming a cascading peplum on the full skirt. She had gloves and headdress to match and her Colonial bouquet was of pink roses. The bride's niece, Dianne Kitchen, was her flower girl and she was prettily dressed in pink taffeta with mittens and headdress of the same and her nosegay was of cream roses.

Mr. Anthony Thomas of Peterborough was the groomsman. Ushers were Ted and Billie Primeau, cousins of the bride.

The reception afterward was at Hooper's palm rooms. Mrs. Primeau had chosen a suit of black and white check for the occasion and wore black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Morrow was wearing a brown and white ensemble and her corsage was of pink roses.

On their wedding trip the bride and groom will visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls and other points. For travelling the bride will wear a turquoise gabardine suit and fuchsia accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow will live at 7 Charles St.

Of Interest to Women

Personal Care of Children Is First Duty of Mothers

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a son 15 years old and a daughter 13. I worked at a job until two years ago, when I decided my children needed me at home as our house seems to be the meeting place for all the neighborhood children.

Dorothy Dix

My husband makes a fairly good salary and we spend it carefully, but can't do more than pay the necessary bills now that living expenses are so high. As normal children, they need and want things that we cannot buy for them and my husband wants me to go back to my old job.

Should I go back to work and leave my youngsters alone, or I stay with them?

A WORRIED MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I do not think that there is any gift in the world that a mother can bestow upon her children that is one millionth part as necessary and valuable as is her own personal supervision, and nothing short of actual starvation justifies a mother in leaving her children to turn wild while she earns a few dollars clerking in a store.

But Prices is High

Of course, every mother would like to give her children pretty clothes and bicycles and baseball equipment and money for cokes and going to movies and all the the other things that the youthful heart craves. But when the price she has to pay for indulging her children in these luxuries is depriving them of a mother's watchful care, her discipline and her starting them on the right road in life, it costs too much. It is not nickels and dimes she uses as currency. It is blood money.

There is no one who does not know that the juvenile delinquency that is such a terrible problem just now is largely due to the lack of mothers who give their time and thought and labor to the rearing of their children. They let their youngsters grow up on the street, with the manners and morals of the street, and then when little Johnny turns out to be a hoodlum and little Mary becomes a street-walker, they beat upon their breasts and wail out that they don't know how it happened.

But there is no mystery about it. When Mother was off having a good time, or making the money to buy herself some finery, the children were on the loose. Rearing children to be good citizens is a big job, and it takes all of the time and strength and wisdom that any woman has to do it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: You get so many letters from girls complaining that they don't have dates. Well, I was one of them. I wasn't glamorous and the wolves passed me by, but I was a good student, which some of the popular girls were not. Then when I was 22 I met a chap who was very intelligent, good-looking and who appreciated the fact that I knew a few things that made me an interesting companion and so-o-o-o he fell in love with me and we got married, and we are very, very happy.

So I would say to these girls that a marriage that is built upon common interests and intelligence has a very good chance of becoming a happy relationship, not to be excelled by popularity or beauty. Therefore, study hard and some day an intelligent man will recognize your good qualities and education.

ANSWER: This is good advice that should cheer up the girls who think that the reason they don't have any dates is because they are not Miss Americas. As a matter of fact, there are many things that men rate higher than looks in girls, which is abundantly proven by the fact that most of the married women you know could never have taken a prize in a beauty show.

Boys like girls who are intelligent and jolly and entertaining and easy to get along with, and who don't ask too much of them. These qualities, plus tact, are bait to which the good catches always rise.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married a year and my wife is still working at her old job. I would like to know if it is right for me to help her with the dinner dishes while she is still working, and if I should assist her with the housework.

J. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You eat the food your wife prepares for you, don't you, so why isn't it just as much your duty to wipe the dishes as it is hers to wash them? There should be some reciprocity in the matter. When a husband and wife both work outside of the home, it is only fair for the husband to help with the cooking and all of the housework.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 13

Some very shrewd and sagacious procedures, backed up by confidence, determination, sound and reasonable plans, may have power to bridge over a critical point or some threatening gap effecting the life in its business, social and affectional relations. A modicum of idealism, plus finesse and tact, should be fortified by far-reaching aims. Quick wits and sustained attack on long-range prospects, thrive.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have promise of a year of excellent prospects for working out of certain difficulties, by particular shrewdness, acumen and far vision, augmented by plenty of common sense, industry, well-planned and executed idea of more than ordinary cleverness. There may be curious or unique situations or persons to deal with, but stable and crystallized efforts should bring exceptional culminations. In this, personal and romantic ideals, augmented by clever strategies, should prove of far-reaching value.

A child born on this day is blessed with much versatility, with uncanny insight into strange situations, which may be worked out by shrewd and diligent tactics, for lasting good and happiness.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I seem to have a lot to ask you about. I hope you won't mind.

I would like a recipe for Peanut Butter Muffins if you have one. Also I made some macaroons with oven popped rice cereal and peanut butter. The flavour of them was very good but they went rather hard and flat. What can I do to improve this? Along this same line could I use cake flour in cakes calling for ordinary flour? If so in what proportion would I use it?

When I was young my girl friend's mother used to make individual meat pies. I think they were made from pork. There was a crust all the way around them as if she had lined small dishes then filled them with meat and put a crust on top. I don't think there was any vegetable or anything else like that in them. She was an English lady and she really knew how to make them. They were delicious. At the time I was too young to think about getting the recipe and now they have moved away and I don't know where. They had a crust something like the ones you buy from a bake shop but the filling was a better flavour. If you have a recipe for these I would really appreciate it.

Thanking you for your very much appreciated help. I hope this letter isn't too long. Red Rose.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Peanut Butter Muffins

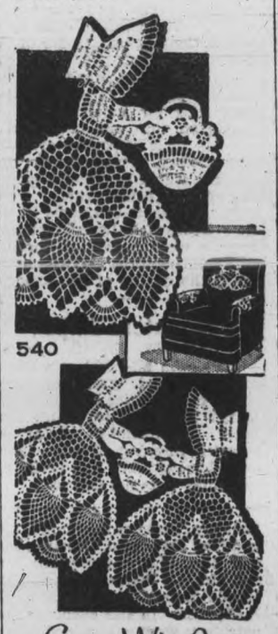
Sift together 1½ cups unsifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Cream very well 1-3 cup peanut butter and when soft and creamy looking add ¼ cup sugar, and mix very well. Add 1 egg well beaten, then sift in the flour mixture alternately with ¾ cup milk. Mix quickly, and bake in buttered muffin tins at 375 deg. Fahr.

Do not use peanut butter in macaroons. The egg whites are too delicate to raise it in the oven and to support it after baked. Try this macaroon recipe:

Puffed Rice Macaroons

Beat 2 egg whites with ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt until very stiff—this takes about 10 minutes. Fold in 2 cups puffed rice and ½ cup cocoanut. Drop mixture from tip of teaspoon on a well-greased tin sheet about 1 inch apart and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until delicately browned. (You may substitute cake flour for all-purpose flour, but sift it before measuring.)

English Pork Pies



Use hot water pastry for this: Pour ½ cup boiling water over 1 cup lard or shortening and cream these together until blended. Then add 3 cups flour and 1½ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon baking powder. Mix well, form into ball, cover well and chill. When cold through, roll out on floured board and cut into rounds to fit individual pie tins or large muffin tins.

Filling: Boil 1 to 1½ lbs. pork shoulder meat which has some fat on it in water to cover for ½ hour. Drain and put through ¼-inch plate of meat grinder. Return meat to cooking liquid of which there should be at least 2 cups. Mix together 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons potato flour, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, and either 1 tablespoon grated raw onion, or 1 teaspoon onion salt, add ¼ cup cold water to make a paste and stir this into the meat over medium heat until thick. Put about 2 tablespoons of this meat mix into each little pie, cover top with pastry, crimping edges well, and slashing top to allow steam to escape. To give them a nice glaze brush top with egg white, or egg yolk or milk. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 to finish baking.

If you would like to add a little sage or marjoram to the meat filling do it very sparingly.

Write again when I can help you.

Lewis. The charges, which will be filed with the National Labor Relations board, will ask for court action against the union. Moody said that in the negotiating session Lewis again challenged his presence and refused to bargain.

Critics Divided About Macbeth

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, April 12—(CP)—"Macbeth," as playedv by Michael Redgrave and Flora Robson, found New York's critics sharply divided, some enthusiastic, some disappointed, some divided.

Brooks Atkinson of the Times had warm praise for the production of the Shakespeare tragedy which came to the National Theatre here after a tour which embraced four cities in Ontario and Quebec.

John Chapman of the News said: "Shakespeare's surest-fire thriller is being given a sure-fire performance, thanks mostly but not altogether, to the playing of Michael Redgrave and Flora Robson."

But Louis Kronenberger of PM was disappointed in both the leading performances. He contended that Redgrave's Macbeth "is a sort of deep-throated, violent, increasingly immoderate barbarian" who "butchered" most of his principal speeches. As for Miss Robson, she "is less impressive than one hoped she might be."

Mixed Reception

Robert Coleman of the Mirror termed it "a workmanlike production," but felt that the cast under Director Morris Houghton "hasn't mastered all its stops."

Richard Watts of the Post found the production "lacking in stature and distinction."

To this reviewer, it was an impressive and satisfying production.

Three Canadian actors acquitted themselves well in minor roles. Thomas Palmer, a native of Toronto, appeared as Caithness. Paul Mann, also Toronto-born, played Menteith. Blair Cutting, originally from Peterborough, was cast an an old man.

DECORATED — D. C. Coleman, CMG, (left) director and former chairman and president of the CPR, and Maj.-Gen. C. P. Fenwick, CBE, MC, ED, chief of medical services for the CPR, were among those decorated at an investiture recently at Rideau Hall, Ottawa. His Excellency Viscount Alexander conferred the Order of Companion of St. Michael and St. George on Mr. Coleman, and on Gen. Fenwick, a veteran of both world wars, that of Companion (Military Division) of the Order of The Bath.

Britain Keeps Money Control

LONDON, April 12 — (CP). — The treasury said today that until the exchange situation eases it is unlikely that emigrants will be able to move all their capital from the United Kingdom even after they are resident in Canada four years and classified by Britain as non-residents.

(The Canadian Press said erroneously April 8 that there would be no limit on capital withdrawals after four years' residence. The treasury said there would be no limit on income withdrawals after four years' residence.)

In the Commons Thursday, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that he was cutting the maximum amount of capital withdrawal of £5,000 ($20,000) spread over four years, to £1,000. Thereafter, emigrants would be able to have their "full income" transferred.

"Movement of capital after four years will still depend on exchange control," a treasury spokesman said. "Whether an emigrant is allowed to move more than his income will be governed by the exchange situation."

But an emigrant may sell his capital assets to the amount necessary to provide the full £1,000 in four years. He also may be able to draw instalments higher than £250 in a year within the £1,000 limit if necessary for his plans.

BELGIUM HONORS UNKNOWN SOLDIER — Prince Charles, regent of Belgium, is shown as he presented U.S. President Truman with the Belgian War Cross to be awarded to the American Unknown Soldier of World War II, who is yet to be chosen. The decoration was delivered to the chief executive at ceremonies in th White House, Washington.

1947 Butter Supply Double Present Stock

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP) — The Bureau of Statistics reported today that stocks of creamery butter at this time last year were almost twice the size of stocks today—15,358,200 pounds in cold storage, dairy factories and in transit on April 1, 1947, compared with the same 1948 date.

The bureau reported that production of creamery butter for the first three months of this year were down 7.6 per cent from the same period of 1947.

Manitoba Sees Surplus In '48

By The Canadian Press

The Manitoba budget introduced Friday at Winnipeg forecast a 1948-49 surplus of $114,142 and mentioned possibility of taxation changes affecting mining and amusements.

Premier Stuart Garson, in his capacity as provincial treasurer, said in his budget address that ordinary expenditure for the fiscal year had been estimated at $33,659,131.

He said the province expected about $390,000 through the tax changes. The 25-per-cent amusement tax would be applied to admissions of 25 cents and up as soon as the Dominion vacates the taxation field. The new tax would replace the present federal tax of 20 per cent and a provincial levy of 10 per cent.

A bill before the House providing for imposition of a tax on "income derived from mining operations" would return approximately $140,000.

Nova Scotia's bill aimed at open sale of beer and wine was criticized as "vague" and "lacking in policy." The criticism came from Russel Cunningham, leader of the CCF Opposition.

Introduced last week, the bill would provide for municipal plebiscites for municipalities to decide on open sale of beer and wine in their respective areas. It does not say in what manner the measure would be effected should the vote be affirmative.

Budget debate continued in the New Brunswick Legislature and appeals were heard for improved health services and efforts to raise the quality of fish exports.

Ice Threatens Ships

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 12 —(CP)—An all-night rain and a southeast wind yesterday combined to drive ice in upper St. Mary's River out to within four miles of Whitefish Point to threaten shipping. The ice, however, honeycombed and broke up and ships were not delayed.

Look Closely at the Trademark of the bicycle you buy...

TO DO THIS is of vital importance to you for the C.C.M. trade mark indicates the value and service you will receive from the bicycle you buy.

If you follow the lead of 8 out of 10 cyclists, you will be very sure that the bicycle you buy bears the C.C.M. trade mark.

There are many many reasons why Canadians prefer this made-in-Canada bicycle — here are four of them:

1. C.C.M. Bicycles have been completely built in Canada for nearly 50 years which means there is a wealth of experience in the "know how" of bicycle building which spells long years of trouble-free cycling to the lucky owner of a C.C.M.
2. The three fast-moving parts of a C.C.M. Bicycle—the front wheel hub, the crank and sprocket assembly and the rear wheel hub including the coaster brake, are accurately made from special steels heat treated and finished to within a thousandth of an inch. It is because a C.C.M. is micro-bilt in this way that it is so easy to pedal and runs so smoothly.
3. C.C.M. Bicycles are finished with several baked-on coats of lustrous, weatherproof enamel.
4. The owner of a C.C.M. Bicycle can obtain service, parts, accessories and a high trade-in value for his C.C.M. from among the 3,000 C.C.M. dealers throughout Canada.

So — when you buy a bicycle for yourself or as a gift to another, be very sure it bears the C.C.M. trade mark.

C.C.M. HANGER
The parts of this most important section of a C.C.M. bicycle are machined, hardened and finished with extreme accuracy so that you may get the most out of your pedalling action.

C.C.M. STRONG FRONT HUB
Built of hardened steel with stout axle and accurately machined and hardened ball-races to give years of smooth and easy running.

C.C.M. COASTER BRAKE
An improved brake by C.C.M., faster in forward clutch-action, more powerful in its smooth, quick stop than any of its predecessors. Built of super-strong, hardened steels to meet the needs of today's cyclists.

USEFUL AT NO TRUMPS

LEADING away from non-touching honors is usually unwise against a suit contract because there are seldom more than two or three high-card tricks taken in any side suit against a trump contract and therefore the jeopardizing of these constitutes net loss, with no compensating gain. Against a No Trump contract, however, it may pay to waste one or more of those high tricks if by so doing you establish one or more lower cards as trick-takers.

West allowed South's No Trump bid to scare him out of leading his diamonds. A lead of that suit would be likely to present South with a trick, he reckoned, and so he chose instead his club 6. East won with the A and returned his diamond 10, which South covered with the J and the Q could win. West reckoned, however, that this would kill the whole suit, so he ducked. His hope was that East could get the lead again and have a chance to lead through South's marked K.

South seized upon this opportunity to finesse the club 10, cash the K and then run three tricks in each major to have his game.

The contract would have been ruined if West had made the sound lead of his diamond 4—especially sound because his suit was of five cards. South could have taken a cheap trick there with his J. But in order to get nine tricks he would have had to seek a couple in the minors, more particularly in clubs. As soon as he did this, East would win with the A and counter with a diamond. That would have trapped South's K and enabled the defenders to take four tricks in the suit, beating the contract by one.

How should South play to avoid loss of a trick in each red suit after West leads the spade 9 against 6-Spades?

misinformation is being circulated to the effect that this was an Arab land. This he denied, then went on to prove the Jews' right to Palestine, historically, Biblically and legally.

"Has the world forgotten so soon that Europe was a dungeon of horror where six million Jews perished for no other crime but that of being born Jews. Do you not know that the displaced persons camps of Germany and Austria are still bulging with Jews? Is it wrong for them to want to go home, where they can rebuild their broken down lives?"

Mr. Goldberg said that not a single Arab nation had assisted the Allies during the last war, and when Palestine tried to form an Arab-Jewish Legion, no Arabs could be found to enlist. Finally he said 180,000 Jew volunteered and fought with the Allies at Crete and Greece.

"While this was going on, the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem was openly aiding Hitler.

"That is why I feel certain that your Mr. Pearson, along with Australian and New Zealand delegates took the lead in seeing that the UN favored partitioning.

"2,000 Jewish women were the first women to take an active part in the war. They drove tanks filled with drinking water to the Allied troops opposing Rommel's force at El Alamein. Palestine was an arsenal and a bread basket for the Allies.

"But what happened?—as the war neared its end, the Near Eastern countries jumped on the band wagon, declared war on Germany and won for themselves seats on the United Nations Assembly."

The speaker said emphatically that there is no union among the Near Eastern nations, nor are they strong enough to defy the UN. He described them as illiterate and backward, and mentioned Egypt, Yemen, Trans-Jordan and Saudi-Arabia.

"Grand Mufti of Jerusalem has gone into these countries and recruited the scum of the Arabs to do his dirty work. This same trouble-maker by threats of assassination has forced 20,000 wealthy Arabs to leave Palestine and go to Europe.

"If this Grand Mufti was arrested and sent to trial there would be no bloodshed in Palestine.

"Power politics aimed at saving the oil in Iraq for the Allied nations is resulting in appeasement to Arabs and this encourages them to make war. What good is that oil if Russia is the enemy?"

The thanks of the gathering was extended by Irving Moldaver. Isadore Black, outgoing president, spoke briefly in tribute to several of his committee chairmen. Four, Isadore Botnick, Harry Swartz, Aaron Black and Maurice Black, were awarded certificates from the Grand Lodge in recognition of outstanding work.

Rabbi Renov, Kingston, was a guest along with Mayor W. G. Ovens, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, H. L. Garner, and Rev. M. J. Aikin. Lions, Kinsmen, Y's Men and Soroptimists were also represented.

Mayor Ovens paid generous tribute to the club for its work in starting Turner Park for children.

Harry Yudin, the incoming president, added his welcome to that of Mr. Black, and asked for the same fine spirit of co-operation that always existed between the various service clubs in the city.

Blind Actor To Take Part In Shakespeare Festival

BY MICHAEL O'MARA

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, Warwickshire, England, April 12 (CP) —Looking dimly into Shakespeare's garden from hotel suite here, actor Esmond Knight, fighting his way back from total blindness, is content and confident on the eve of his first Shakespeare Festival.

His actress wife, Nora Swinburne, and this year's leading lady at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre here, Diana Wynyard, have taught him his part by reading to him lines he cannot see. He now is letter-perfect in rehearsal as Gratiano in "The Merchant of Venice."

Knight was blinded in H M S Prince of Wales 1941 action against the Bismarck. Surgeons removed his left eye and told him he could never see again. But he refused to give up hope of returning to the stage.

At last, through heavy glasses off stage and a contact lens on stage, he can tell night from day and material things from shadows. Here in Shakespeare's country, with its quiet, storied atmosphere, he feels he has found a satisfactory journey's end.

Going Concern

Knight and his fellows have made a going concern out of the theatre here. Already 50,000 seats £10,000 ($40,000) are sold for the first 13 weeks of the seven-month season opening April 15.

The main 1948 squabble may come from a production of "Hamlet," which, it is understood, will be staged in anticipation, proclaiming:

"Whatever else Shakespeare meant 'Hamlet' to be, he did not write it--this vast, far-reaching search into the hearts and motives of men--as a versal stuffed dummy for a clever costumier . . . Shakespeare himself once said something about tickling the groundlings; but this, surely, is tickling the airy-fairies."

No matter how the expert receive what the theatre produces, it's sure to be packed at almost every performance, bad weather or good, by students, artists, and Britons who have travelled by motor-coach and excursion train, some for hundreds of miles, on pilgrimages to the idyllic land of Shakespeare's birth.

ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE OF VIMY RIDGE — An ex-Minister and colleague took several "cracks" at the Minister of Finance, Hon. D. C. Abbott, on public taxation, when Hon. C. G. Crippled Freighter Taken Off Shoals

CLEVELAND, April 12—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Steamship Company reported Saturday night its crippled freighter William P. Palmer had been taken off White Shoals, where it ran aground in Lake Michigan Wednesday night.

A company spokesman said the freighter was enroute to Mackinaw City, Mich., where officials would inspect her today.

The 7,602-ton vessel ran aground as she left the Straits of Mackinac headed south for Chicago. Her hull was split along one-third of the starboard side below the water line.

She was at the mercy of 16-foot wave Saturday and had been reported in danger of breaking up, but her crew of 3 remained on board. A coast guard cutter hovered near the freighter but the heavy seas subsided.

Farmers On Land Below Hastings

Spring appears to have come quickly to the Hastings district this year. Because of the rolling nature of the country the farmers are able to get on the land sooner than in most sections. The inevitable back-breaking chore of clearing stones from the fields was going on at several farms and one or two fields were being cultivated.

A few drifts were rapidly melting into full ditches and swamps that were filled with the shrilling of frogs. Farm people apparently take great pride in their buildings for many barns shone with new aluminum roofing, bright red doors and newly-whitewashed foundations.

The Trent river at thee "bridge" was running full and cascading over the cement government pier beside the War Memorial pylon and several cottages seemed perilously close to the flood. There is a splendid display of white water east of Campbellford at the power house dam, and the river ran through the town close to the tops of the dike detaining walls.

Committees Are Swamped By Details of ERP Plan

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—ERP was the pet of the week in a capital that has yielded broadly to the habit of beating the monstrous terminology of 20th century government into initialled simplicity. It also gave every indication of sticking at or near the top for a long time in a league that is littered with such cosy collections as FILA, CPSC, DVA, NRC, CCC, and much etc.

A hierarchy of committees streamed out behind the Cabinet group under External Affairs Minister St. Laurent that concerned itself with laying down the broad policy under which Canada will play her large part in the operations of the plan.

They penetrated offices in the Departments of Trade and Commerce, Reconstruction, Agriculture, External Affairs, Finance, Fisheries; filled brief cases with plans, figures, background, surrounded tables, busied telephones, harried secretaries in a flush of conferences.

The first big event in the reign of ERP will be the departure of a delegation to Washington to place Canada's proposals for participation before Administrator Paul Hoffman.

That was expected to happen relatively soon, possibly next week.

International Communism Blamed By Marshall For Colombian Uprising

Charges Revolt Follows Pattern In Italy To Interrupt Conference; Bogota Still Paralyzed As Snipers Roam

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 13—(AP).—State Secretary Marshall of the United States last night blamed international Communism for the abortive revolution which ravaged Bogota and disrupted the Pan-American Conference. Marshall told reporters and conference delegates that the revolt followed the same pattern as outbreaks which have provoked labor troubles in France and pre-election unrest in Italy.

Delegates are expected to ratify today their determination to continue the conference here, despite the riots.

Marshall is the first conference delegate, outside the Colombian government, publicly to attribute the revolution to world Communism and indirectly to Russia.

(In San Francisco, Antonio J. Gaitan, brother of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, Liberal leader, whose slaying Friday touched off the revolt, said the assassination was the opening move in a plot intended to "reach" Marshall.

More Propaganda

(Communists in Panama City circulated flysheets last night saying that Marshall had fled Bogota and taken refuge in Panama. This was an obvious falsehood.)

"This situation, (the revolt)," Marshall told reporters, "must not be judged on a local basis, however tragic the immediate results to the Colombian people. The occurrence goes far beyond Colombia."

Marshall made it plain without saying so that he thought Communists deliberately planned the revolution to disrupt the conference, which was considering adoption of an anti-Communist resolution, to embarrass the western world and to influence next Sunday's Italian elections.

Informants said the delegates' reported decision to remain in Bogota was based mainly on two considerations.

1. Assurances by the Colombian government that the delegates would be protected, fed and given communications and transportation and have direct access to the Colombian president.

2. The knowledge that in case

CNR Reports Deficit Of $15 Million

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP) — The burden of heavy costs caused the Canadian National Railways to slide down into a $15,885,000 deficit in 1947, parliament was told yesterday.

Despite the greatest peacetime traffic in history, the CNR's deficit increased $7,000,000 over the $8,961,000 loss reported in 1946. It compared with the surplus reported in 1945 of $24,675,000.

A bright side to the annual report of the company by President R. C. Vaughan, tabled in the Commons yesterday by Transport Minister Chevrier was also noted, the railway's gross revenues last year rose to compare with the wartime peaks of 1945 and 1944. Revenue from freight was at an all-time high.

But the jump of about $38,000,000 in railway operating revenues was more than counter-balanced by a rise of almost $40,000,000 in rail-operating cost. It was increased charges in labor and materials since 1946 that was pulling the company into the red, Mr. Vaughan reported.

Total railway operating revenues were $439,197,000 compared with $400,586,000 the year previous. At the same time, railway operating expenses leaped from $357,236,000 to $397,122,000.

Net operating revenue—rail revenues minus expenses—was $41,075,000. Deductions for taxes, equipment, rents and other items reduced this to $23,710,000 as the net operating income from the rail system. "Other incomes" from hotels and other operations augmented this amount by $7,334,841. There were miscellaneous deductions of $3,106,000, leaving $27,939,000 available for payment of interest which totalled $43,823,000.

Shoots 4 Children

PITTSBURGH, April 13—(AP)—Police reported today that Mrs. Margaret Louise Morcroft, 32, had shot and killed her four children and herself in their suburban Bellevue home last night.

The coroner issued a preliminary verdict of murder and suicide in the revolver deaths of Mrs. Morcroft, and her children Gilbert E. Jr., 10; Susan Toy, 7; Douglas Cunningham, 3; and Nancy Hughes, 8 months.

Keep Sterling Area

LONDON, April 13 (Reuters).—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said today that Britain intends to maintain the present sterling area system. He had been asked in the Commons for an assurance that the Government would not relinquish the position by which Britain acted as receiver and distributor of all dollars acquired or required by countries within the sterling area.

Dies Out Hunting

ARDEN, April 13—(CP).—Fred Knight of Arden walked 12 miles on a hunting expedition near this Frontenac county village and died from a heart attack a few minutes after he complained of tiredness and sat down. His brother-in-law, William Hayes, was unable to bring a vehicle to the scene so he carried the body the 12 miles on horse-back for the funeral service.

Helplessness Pensions To Be Doubled

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP). — Veterans Minister Gregg announced today the government has agreed virtually to double helplessness allowances for pensioned veterans, such as paraplegics, who need the help of other people in their daily lives.

He told the Commons Veterans Committee at the same time that the government could not agree to any further raise in basic pension rates from the 16 to 20 per cent it already has proposed.

Mr. Gregg announced that the helplessness allowances would be increased from $250 to $480 a year as a minimum and from $750 to $1,400 as a minimum.

The announcements provoked confusion because the committee had not completed its study of them and still has two motions before it.

The government, Mr. Gregg said, "cannot see its way clear at this session of parliament to go further than their present proposal"—a 16 per cent increase for disability pensioners and war widows and a 20 per cent hoist for the children of widows and the wives and children of disabled pensioners.

The committee, resuming its sessions after Easter, still had before it motions for increases of 25 and 33⅓ per cent.

Two Factions

Led by Howard Green (PC—Vancouver South), one faction pressed for continued hearing of evidence in an effort to convince the public if not the government that the cabinets proposals were inadequate.

Another, led by A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal), called for an immediate vote on the two motions. Said Mr. Brooks: "We have heard plenty of evidence already to show that the government's proposals are inadequate. We'd still vote the same way after two more weeks of evidence. We all know the situation."

Hartley Labor Act Ruled Constitutional

WASHINGTON, April 13 — (AP). — A special three-judge court today ruled constitutional two key provisions of the Federal Taft-Hartley Labor Act — those requiring union officers to swear they are not Communists and unions to file financial statements.

The provisions apply only to those unions which want to make use of the National Labor Relations Board's machinery. But unions which do not go to N.L.R.B. cannot get legal status as exclusive bargaining agent in a plant.

Snow On Prairies Brings Feed Shortage

REGINA, April 13 — (CP). — Heavy snow lying over most of Saskatchewan's farmlands may dangerously delay spring seeding operations and already has worsened a serious fodder shortage, it was learned today.

Farm officials said spring seeding in Canada's greatest grain-growing province may be delayed another month — past the seeding date which experience shows gives the biggest yields. Deep snow has kept cattle from grazing lands and forced farmers to fall back on slim feed-grain stock piles, at low levels as a result of widespread crop failure in Saskatchewan last year.

Provincial government officials said the government was moving emergency feed supplies into the Saskatoon - North Battleford - Prince Alberta triangle, hardest hit by crop failure last year, where feed grain was scarcest.

Will Set Up Jewish State May 16

Hagana And Irgun Have Military Accord, Won't Brook Delay

JERUSALEM, April 13—(AP). — The Zionist General Council intends to proclaim an independent Jewish state in the Holy Land May 16, the day after the British mandate ends.

The decision was made yesterday after an all-night session of the council at Tel Aviv. An internal authority may be set up which eventually would become the provisional government of the Jewish state. Consideration of this plan continued.

Members also approved the long proposed military accord between Hagana, the Jewish militia and Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground group.

The alliance was a military accord only and the two differing political programs of the groups sty the same.

Under it, Irgun Zvai Leumi keeps its military make-up, but is under command of Hagana, and will take no independent military action. This could mean that Irgun Zvai Leumi will not make any more independent attacks on British forces.

Won't Stand Delay

The Jews will oppose any plan to prevent or postpone setting up a Jewish state, have rejected flatly any proposal to set up a trusteeship, and have agreed recognition of the Jewish provisional council of government by the United Nations committee is necessary. The provisional government will start to work immediately after the ending of the British mandate.

Jewish forces appeared to be in control of a 20-mile stretch of highway in the Judean hills. It is along this Tel Aviv-Jerusalem road that Arabs have blasted Jewish food convoys bound for hungry Jerusalem.

(Reuters News Agency said a Jewish convoy of 10 vehicles attempting to reach the Hebrew University and Hadassah hospital on Mount Scopus in Jerusalem today was heavily attacked by Arabs, and a number of casualties were reported.

Doctor Gets Life Sentence

MONTREAL, April 13—(CP)—The murder verdict and death sentence imposed last October on Dr. Charles Molleur in connection with an abortion death were reduced to manslaughter and life imprisonment today by the Court of Appeal,

Mr. Justice Paul Cassy read the decision, from which Mr. Justice Antonin Galipeault dissented, believing a new trial should be be ordered.

Lucien Gendron, defence counsel, maintained in the appeal that the trial jurors were confused in their minds between a murder verdict, with its mandatory death penalty. He believed the verdict was reached in confusion as a compromise.

BARRED FROM GYM CLASSES because she wouldn't wear shorts, Helen Myers (right), 15-year-old Macon, Ga., high school girl, is tutored at her home by Rev. J. R. Hunt, who reared her. Hunt said that last October he forbade her to wear shorts in the gym as he considered it indecent and immodest.

Allied Railway Traffic Said Normal

VIENNA, April 13 — (AP). — British and American rail traffic through the Russian zone of Austria was reported normal to-day. Military trains of both countries cleared Russian check points with little delay.

Road traffic between Vienna and the British zone still is being delayed, however, by Russian insistence that all military personnel above the rank of corporal show identity cards. One colonel was refused permission to cross the border on the strength of his Four-Power grey card. The cards have been in use 2½ years.

British authorities have said they would remain firm in their refusal to show identification cards of military personnel at check points.

A British source said Russian guards at Semmering Pass railway check point, 50 miles from Vienna, made their usual demand to see identity cards of all passengers. Train commanders refused to show more than grey cards for military personnel and the guards did not insist.

Two British trains were detained for four hours and one hour respectively yesterday at Semmering Pass.

There was no demand to see any identity cards on two American military trains at Ennsriver Pass check point. Both trains passed the point within five minutes after their arrival.

Informed sources believe the Russian backdown is due to Britain's firm stand, based on an Allied agreement of 2½ years ago.

Can't Reach Agreement

Try Door-To-Door Canvass Seek Murder Clinic Witness

TORONTO, April 13—(CP).—A door-to-door canvass of North Yonge Street was conducted by police today in an effort to locate an eye-witness of Mrs. Jane Gordon entering a suspected "abortion clinic" in which she is believed to have died. Detectives believe an illegal operation was performed on the pretty 29-year-old woman in the North Yonge Street district between noon and two o'clock last Thursday afternoon. Her body was found on a roadside in suburban North York early last Friday morning.

Last night police said they had learned the licence number of an automobile which may have been used to transport Mrs. Gordon's body. The vehicle was seen some two hours before the body of the woman, believed the victim of a "murder clinic" specializing in $500 abortions, was found.

Police have checked the licence department of the Ontario Department of Highways but all registrations for this year have not yet found their way from sub licence depots to the head office. Police said it may be days before they can verify the number.

Earlier police said they believed Mrs. Gordon made the appointment last Thursday which resulted in her death.

Believes Food Imports Continue

LONDON, April 13 — (CP). — Food Minister Strachey said today that he believes Canadian food imports will be continued without interruption although the agreement covering financial arrangements ends to-morrow

"I believe and trust that the end of the financial agreement with Canada to-morrow will not mean reduction in Canadian food imports," he told the Canadian Press at a press conference.

"I believe three-cornered arrangements will be come to in time to prevent any interruption of supplies—at least I trust so. But these arrangements must be made it is true."

Other sources said that Britain has sent a list of proposed North American purchases in the next three months to European recovery program authorities in the United States. This list included food purchases in Canada. Britain would be informed later what assistance in financing these imports would be available.

30,000 Queries Flood Tax Office

OTTAWA, April 13.—(CP). — Thirty thousand enquiries have flooded into tax offices across Canada since the refundable portions of 1942 income tax were mailed out in the last two weeks of March.

The revenue department gave that estimate today and said that three out of four of the queries were from people who had no refund coming to them, anyway.

It said its offices, chiefly those at Montreal and Ottawa, had received 11,500 phone calls, 10,500 personal visits and 8,000 letters.

"The most common misunderstanding was from the taxpayer who had taxes deducted from his salary in 1942 but, because he worked only part of that year, was not taxable and had already received his full refund for 1942," the division said in a statement.

Other callers found that they had refunds coming for 1943 or 1944. They will be paid in 1949 and 1950 respectively.

More than $60,000,000 was sent out by the division in 1,178,000 cheques.

Say Attack Caused Over Child

Report McCoy Punched In Nose By Prisoners, Injuries Not Serious

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP). — Edward McCoy, a prisoner at Kingston penitentiary, has been treated for nose injuries following an altercation with fellow prisoners, Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, said today.

Gen. Gibson said he received a report on the incident from the warden at Kingston penitentiary and that it was "one of those things which occasionally happen."

He reported there had been "no organized attack" on the prisoner, who was sentenced recently to a three-year term for brutal treatment of a four-year-old.

"There was an argument and one of the prisoners punched McCoy in the nose," he stated.

Fight Over Child

It was understood the argument concerned the beating given the youngster. McCoy was sentenced at Napanee by Judge W. S. Lane who said the child, son of a woman with whom McCoy was living, had been living "in hell" for months.

Medical evidence at the trial was that the boy's eyes had been blackened, his left hand burned to the wrist and had burns on his right hand. Four fingers on his left hand have since been amputated.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Wheeler, was sentenced to two years, less one day, in reformatory, after the judge criticized the pair for "inhuman cruelty" and said the treatment of the boy had been calculated.

Improving Parks

Clues Prove Useless

PEMBROKE, April 13 — (CP)—Possibility that three men held by Montreal police might be involved in the murder of James Edwards, Pembroke taxi driver, near here March 14 dwindled today with the return from Montreal of Inspector R. H. Wannell of the Ontario Provincial Police, in charge of the investigation. Police said Inspector Wannell's investigations in Montreal indicated the three—arrested for offences in Montreal and not in connection with the Edwards case—probably were not in the Pembroke area at the time of the slaying.

Italian Communists Appear To Be Losing Some Ground

ROME, April 13 (AP)—There are increasing signs in Italy today that the Communists are losing ground in the April 18 election campaign, and that the opposition is cashing in.

For one thing, the Communists have quit talking about arms and insurrection if the parliamentary elections don't go their way.

And Communist Chief Palmiro Togliatti has taken a different tack on the Marshall European aid plan. Up until now, the Communists have contended aid from the United States was meant only to enslave the Italians.

Last night at Parma, in Italy's leftist north, Togliatti said:

"The Communist party does not purely and simply reject American aid, but asks that it does not compromise our independence."

A one-hour country-wide strike yesterday, called by the Communist-dominated Italian Labor Confederation, was pretty much of a fizzle.

Little Violence

There was only one report of violence in yesterday's campaigning, and that was against the Communist-led Popular Front meeting at Lizzanelli in southern Italy. A man was killed and 21 persons were wounded.

As Communist strength appeared to be waning, the Christian Democrats put on an even more vigorous drive.

Premier de Gasperi told a cheering crowd of some 100,000 persons in Florence, where the governor is a Communist, to turn in their weapons "on the altar of democracy." He agreed to debate with Togliatti in Naples Friday.

The Communists have not abandoned their battle against the Marshall Plan entirely, and it still is one of the major issues of the election. Yesterday Turin's Communist mayor told residents of that northern city the Marshall Plan would bring misery and unemployment.

Little Amana Won't Be Blushing Bride Sweetheart Bluey Dies From Sinus Trouble

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP). — Bluey, the world's most-publicized kangaroo, is dead.

The little blue-grey animal, flown here for the Byline Ball in June, 1947, succumbed to sinus trouble. He had been treated with penicillin for months at the Riverdale Zoo and underwent one operation to relieve the condition.

Death came to Bluey today, 36 hours after his engagement was scheduled to have been announced at Saturday night's Byline Ball. Amana, his bride-to-be which was flown from Australia this month, made her ball appearance alone.

A few weeks ago when it was disclosed that they planned to become engaged the North Bay Old Home Week committee invited Bluey and Amana to spend their honeymoon in that northland resort centre next August.

Since last June plans were made to obtain a mate for Bluey, only kangaroo at the Riverdale Zoo, when Bluey's condition became serious sponsors of the Ball obtained "Romeo," a healthy male kangaroo which arrived by air from the Bronx, N.Y. Zoo last Friday.

Romeo's Bronx behavior proved too rugged and his meeting with Amana at the Ball was postponed. He went wild and took kicks at everybody within range at the ball but mild-mannered when he met Amana at the Zoo yesterday.

COBOURG, April 13.—Badly burned when an electric heater ignited its bassinet, the 4-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lang, residents north of here, died in Cobourg hospital.

The parents heard the child cry and went in to find the bassinet on fire. The husband beat out the flames but the baby received serious burns from which it died two hours after reaching the hospital.

Will Nominate Key Men To Direct Marshall Plan

PARIS, April 13.—(Reuters). — Key men in the permanent European body to administer Marshall plan aid will be nominated here tomorrow when the foreign ministers' deputies meet.

The new organization, it was learned today, will consist of a council—a plenary gathering of the member powers — a steering committee with appropriate working sub-committees and a secretariat. It will embrace the 16 Marshall plan powers and both parts of western Germany, and also plan self-help among the signatories.

The deputies, who will clear up outstanding points before the final draft of the 16-power agreement comes up for signature Friday, will make nominations for the key offices of secretary-general and chairman of the committee.

It was learned that duties of the new organization will include:

1. Examination of production reports and estimates as needed.

2. Consideration of the best uses of productive and man-power possibilities.

3. Promotion of consultations for international payments and the freest movement of labor

4. Employment of the most efficient use of all external aid and ingenious resources.

5. Preparation of reports as needed for any further assistance required.

The 16- power treaty itself will consist of three parts, it was learned.

First will be a preamble restating the aims originally laid down in the general report of the committee of European economic co-operation, published last September.

Second will be a charter outlining the reason leading up to the decision to create a permanent organization.

The third section will deal with the actual structure of the new organization and its principal officers.

Ontario Gets $21 Million Power Plant

Windsor Chosen Site Of New Venture; Take 2 Years To Finish

TORONTO, April 13.—(CP).—A brighter electrical supply future glowed today for the industrial and auto-making centre of Windsor with the announcement of a projected $21,000,000 steam plant for generating power.

To be built on Windsor's outskirts it will be Ontario's first huge venture in obtaining electricity from steam. The largest such plant in Canada, it will produce 60-cycle power to conform with the decision of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to change its equipment to that frequency.

The plant is expected to act as a major power source for southwestern Ontario, said Hydro chairman R. H. Saunders in announcing it last night. Speaking over a CBC Ontario network, he said the plant will be located opposite the Detroit Edison Company plant on the Detroit river, permitting an easy exchange of power in event of emergency.

While Mr. Saunders estimated two or thee years for the plant to begin operation it was said later that delivery of 60-cycle generating equipment takes 36 to 42 months and this may be speeded up. Hydro officials said that while Windsor will feel the immediate benefits from the construction, power from the plant will be distributed throughout Kent and Essex counties and into Middlesex. The plant's ultimate capacity will be almost five times the amount now used in Windsor.

Ultimate Capacity

Ultimate capacity will be 320,000 horse power. The construction of the plant and installation of the first two 80,000 horse power units will cost $21,000,000 but completion of the project is expected to take millions more.

Hydro oficials said the selection of Windsor as the site for plant was based on two factors. Coal can be brought cheaply by water — the cheapest method of transporting it in bulk. Also, it will give the auto city an assured supply of power at all times.

Many Problems

The problem of remaining is complicated because the capitol building, where the conference convened, was one of the structures looted by the rioters. Conference records were torn and burned. Furniture was destroyed and typewriters thrown from the windows.

Bogota still is paralyzed. Banks and stores are closed. There is no transportation and some places are without lights. There still are a number of rebel snipers loose. Widespread shooting broke out again yesterday in the charred capital.

The city's 406,000 population faces a serious health problem. Hospitals crowded with wounded have sent out appeals for serum. Corpses still litter the streets.

Salvation Army 4-Day Rally Very Successful

At a grand final rally on Monday night the Peterborough Corps of the Salvation Army brought its four-day celebrations to a close. The Salvationists were marking the 63rd anniversary of the founding of the Army in Peterborough.

More than 50 delegates from the Toronto and Oshawa district gathered during the afternoon session at the head officers councils conducted by Col. and Mrs. William Dray, chief secretaries for Canada. They were assisted by Brigadier and Mrs. H. Newman, division commanders.

Chief topic of discussion was world problems and the position of the Salvation Army in various nations.

The final rally on Monday evening packed the Temple to overflowing. Delegates from Trenton, Lindsay, Campbellford, Cobourg, Port Hope, Belleville and Fenelon Falls were among those present.

Brigadier and Mrs. Wolbourne who have recently returned from the mission field in Manchuria, and Major and Mrs. H. Wells, who were prisoners of the Japanese while Burma was occupied were also participants in the service.

Coal Production 75 P.C. Normal

PITTSBURGH, April 13—(AP). —Soft coal production spurted today with operations estimated as high as 75 per cent. of normal in some areas.

As diggers, at work again after their 29-day pension walkout, returned to the pits, the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators' Association said at Pittsburgh that at least 26 mines were back in production.

The association said the mines, which normally employed about 10,000 men, were operating with 75 per cent. of personnel.

Coal diggers at three H. C. Frick Coke Company Mines did not answer the summons to morning shifts. These mines included the huge Robena pit, world's largest soft coal mine. The mines, operated as a United States Steel subsidiary, employ nearly 2,000 men on day operations.

Montour No. 10 mine of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, world's largest commercial producer, also remained idle. This pit at nearby Library, Pa., employs 850 miners in highly-mechanized operations.

Here and there, principally in western Pennsylvania, a few locals of the United Mine Workers (Ind.) indicated they would wait and see what happens to their leader, John L. Lewis, before they return to work. Lewis, under a Federal Court contempt citation, is scheduled for a hearing Wednesday.

Operators and United Mine Workers officials gave estimates last night which indicated at least 100,000 men would be in the mines on the various shifts today

Urges School Board To Bar LPP Meetings

WINDSOR, April 13.—(CP).—T. Roy Noble, business administrator of the Windsor Board of Education, said today he would recommend to the Board that the Labor-Progressive party be refused permission to use school facilities for their meetings.

The Board meets tomorrow night to discuss the issue which came to a head after the student raid on the LPP headquarters last week.

The Board has maintained that as long as the party is legal there are no grounds to refuse them the use of school facilities.

However if the Board acts on Mr. Noble's recommendation, an LPP meeting slated for April 30 will not be held on the grounds that school property is "endangered."

May Charge Father In Burning Of Baby

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 13—(CP)—Police declined today to say whether Percy Lamarche would be charged in connection with the death Sunday morning of his two-month-old son for which his wife has been charged with murder.

The father has been held as a material witness, and Chief Constable Reginald Pinegar said today the decision as to whether he will be prosecuted rested with the crown attorney W. H. Walter.

Lucille Lamarche, 21-year-old mother charged with the kitchen stove murder, appeared today to be taking matters more calmly.

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., April 13.—(AP). — The first five planes of a large flight of B-29's arrived here today without incident from Kansas on the inttial leg of a training flight to Germany.

United States air force officials, describing the movement as "a routine training mission," said it would be the longest peacetime hop of such large numbers of B-29's in air history.

40-Hour Week Bill Defeated In Legislature

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP). — Three Opposition bills, including one which would have set a 40-hour maximum work week, were defeated in the Ontario Legislature last night.

All went down on recorded votes. The maximum work week bill would also have provided for at least two weeks' vacation with pay, have limited overtime to eight hours in any one week and provided for time-and-a-half for overtime. Sponsored by the CCF, it was thrown out on a vote of 56 to 9 on second reading.

The two Labor-Progressive members voted with the CCF.

Other bills defeated were a CCF measure to make it more difficult for injunctions to be used in a strike lockout, downed 53 to 9; and a CCF bill to facilitate establishment of plans for municipal health services. It was defeated 43 to 16, with the Liberals supporting the measure along with the LPP.

A number of bills were given first and second reading. One measure would allow mortgages on new houses to be more than the present maximum of 80 per cent of their value.

Known as the Statute Law Amendment Act, the bill will enable joint stock and cash mutual insurance companies to lend on real estate more than the present limitations.

Demand Representation

Demands for consumer representation on the Ontario Milk Control Board were voiced.

Two LPP members, J. B. Salsberg (Toronto St. Andrew) and A. A. MacLeod (Toronto Bellwoods), made the suggestion with Mr. MacLeod asking that the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves be given the opportunity to submit a recommendation for the choice of the representative.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy told Mr. MacLeod it was a reasonable suggestion. The discussion arose during committee consideration of the Milk Control Act which passed without amendment.

Main provision of the Act is that it places the price of milk to the consumer back on a competitive basis and no longer under the Milk Board.

Alberta Won't Revive Conspiracy Charges

EDMONTON, April 13 (CP). — Attorney-General Lucien Maynard said today that the Alberta Government will not proceed with charges against three Ontario persons of conspiring to publish a defamatory libel.

A week ago the Crown entered "stays of procedings" in Alberta Supreme Court in connection with the charges against Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto, publisher of New Liberty magazine; Harold Dingman, the magazine's Ottawa editor, and Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, a welfare worker.

The charges, laid in connection with an article in the magazine criticizing child welfare administration by the Alberta Government, could have been revived. The announcement today by Mr. Maynard makes it definite that the province will drop the charges.

Three days ago in Alberta Supreme Court, Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride acquitted Mr. Cooke on a charge of counselling to publish a defamatory libel. The prosecution had proceeded with this charge after entering stays in the conspiracy counts.

Freight Rates Controversy

The increase of 21 per cent. in the freight rates on Canadian railways which became effective on Saturday has brought vigorous protests from seven Canadian provinces. They are anxious that the Government should postpone any increase until they have presented appeals against it. Obviously it would take many months, and perhaps years, for seven provinces to say their say on such a question; indeed, it would be to their advantage to prolong their appeals indefinitely, in order to keep the freight rates at their present level. We think that the Government has acted properly and courageously in refusing any such postponement. Any one of the seven aggrieved provinces could have applied at any time during the past ten years for an investigation into the alleged discrimination in the freight rates, but they did not see fit to do so until now. Their present outcry, we feel, is brought on by a desire to make political capital out of a Dominion Government move.

◇ ◇ ◇

During the past twenty years there have been many instances of a growing desire on the part of the provinces to interfere in what are clearly federal matters, and to stick a spoke into the federal wheel. This freight-rates rumpus, and the wild talk of secession which has arisen from it, is part of this inflation of provincial importance. Nothing could so quickly destroy the power of the Canadian federation (and Canada's power abroad and influence in the world) as this continued insistence on the rights of the provinces as opposed to the rights of the Dominion.

◇ ◇ ◇

The decision on freight rates which has been put into effect was made by the Board of Transport Commissioners, a group of able men from every section of Canada who worked on the problem for eighteen months; how can the dissenting provinces weigh the work of eighteen months in a few days? And why does the West, of all places, have the face to complain about freight rates as a cruel injustice, when Western farming is subsidized to the tune of millions of dollars every year, paid out of taxes laid by the Dominion on the whole country? The appeals against the rates will be heard, but we are glad that the Dominion Government has not delayed the imposition of the new rate until those hearings are complete. To wait for an end of Western and Maritime groans about the iniquities of Eastern Canada would be to wait until the millenium.

National Disunity

The relations between various provinces on the one hand and the Dominion government on the other are disrupting the country. The situation is reaching an impasse which can make government for the general welfare impossible. The recent tiff between Mr. Howe and Mr. Drew is indicative of more than personal rancour between two strong-minded politicians. It is a jockeying for power. Mr. Drew's game is of the same kind as Premier Duplessis' in Quebec. Many serious observers are alarmed at the threat to national unity which these two provincial leaders represent.

The threat is given legal validity by our outmoded or too restrictive federalism established by the British North America Act of 1867. The handicaps of the system were pronounced during the years of the depression. During the war the normal division of power between the provinces and the Dominion was suspended so that the country's affairs could be dealt with efficiently and nationally. In an attempt to prevent a return to the bickering confusion of the mid-thirties, a Dominion-Provincial conference was held. It broke down, owing to the attitude of the Ontario and Quebec governments, the two most important. Now in these critical post-war days the urgent problem is to devise machinery by which the regional differences may find expression without disrupting the Dominion and by which co-operation for the general welfare can be achieved. The obstacles are the B.N.A. Act and the pretensions of various Provincial governments.

The B.N.A. Act gave jurisdiction to the Provincial governments in specific, provincial matters. National and the unspecified matters were assigned to the Federal government; in other words, the dominant voice was federal. During the last fifty years the trend of judicial interpretation of the B.N.A. Act has enlarged and protected the provincial authority. The result is that new social and economic situations which appear to be Dominion-wide are falling exclusively into Provincial hands and the provinces are insisting on maintaining and extending their authority.

The need for constitutional reform is great. Though Canada has really no written constitution (the courts use the term ultra vires according to the British practice rather than "unconstitutional" as do the Americans) the B.N.A. Act has become a constitutional bogey. The Federal Government has now actual authority to amend the B.N.A. Act but in practice amendments not acceptable to all the provinces are exceedingly difficult to procure.

There must be some major changes. (For instance, as Mr. Ewen Irvine has recently pointed out in the Montreal Star the Dominion Government cannot now approve a U.N. declaration of human rights or devise a Bill of Rights of its own without invading provincial jurisdiction.) The legal tangle must be resolved so that the Federal Government is not tied by legalism at every turn. Finally and primarily, Provincial governments will have to curb their appetites for power and stop trying to control matters which are not solely provincial.

Preserving Famous Gardens

The Royal Horticultural Society of Britain has announced that it will take steps to preserve the United Kingdom's gardening tradition, and has set up a Gardening Committee of the National Trust for that purpose. The duty of this Committee will be to preserve and maintain all gardens of historical or horticultural value which come under the care of the Trust.

Now that it has become so difficult for private persons to keep up fine homes in Britain these homes and their beautiful gardens are coming under the care of the National Trust in great numbers. And here is the strange aspect of this matter: when they were kept up privately these fine gardens were, with hardly an exception, open to the public. Now that the National Trust controls them the gardens will still be open to the public and, furthermore, the public will pay for their maintenance.

Socialism, like most things, works two ways. It is odd to think that the people of Britain will now pay, through taxes, for the pleasure of looking at gardens which they used to look at for nothing, because somebody paid for their maintenance. And, as before, they will be requested politely not to pick the flowers.

Forlorn Hopes For Finland

The treaty of "friendship, co-operation and mutual assistance" which a Finnish delegation has signed with Russia is written in terms which make some concession to Finnish sensibilities. It is noted, for instance, that Finland wishes to remain neutral in any great struggle of nations unless Finland itself is attacked; the Finns are committed to fight only in defence of their own soil, and Russian troops are not to come to their aid unless the Finns consent; Russia undertakes to leave the Finns full sovereignty and independence, and is not to interfere in Finnish affairs. Nevertheless, we are sure that the Finns know that this is just the sort of treaty which Russia made with Lithuania in 1939, and the Finns also know that Russia has never honoured a pact with Finland at any time in history. Finland has been gobbled up, committed to oppose E.R.P., and delivered into the hands of the Russians for use as an outpost whenever it may be convenient.

These are grey days for small democracies. Finland has struggled since 1920 to make a place in the world independent of her old masters, Sweden and Russia. The small nation has accomplished mighty things. But it does not lie within the range of possibility that a small nation should know real independence when it stands on the border of Russia. The majority in the Finnish Parliament is against the Russian pact and has not yet ratified it, but there is little doubt but that this will be done, for Premier Pekkala is convinced that appeasement is the only course for his country. And so Finland has a Russian pact, nicely sugared with fine words and promises. The lookout for Finland is poor indeed.

Backwoods Memories

By FRED M. DELAFOSSE

A FEW days ago I was seated at my window taking my ease in my arm-chair and, watching the strange turns and twists that the snow was being forced to take by the fierce gusts of wind that had lately arisen. The early afternoon had been warm and sunny but a sudden drop in temperature had altered the whole aspect of affairs. A quick clouding of the sky, followed immediately afterwards by a small hurricane of a snowstorm was causing city-goers and home-goers alike to rush for shelter. From my coign of vantage I watched the storm with great interest for it recalled to my mind as clearly as if it had only happened yesterday a very similar occurrence which I witnessed in a northern district of Canada in the early spring of 1881, two or three years after I had travelled from England to reside in this wonderful province.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT was a backwoods district, forty-five miles distant from the Northern Railway, which at that time only ran to Gravenhurst, fifteen miles from a church and about the same distance from a doctor. I was not, to the manner born, a thorough-paced backwoodsman and it was only destiny in the shape of guardian's that had sent me to the woods of Ontario to endeavour to master the secrets of successful backwoods farming. I was not yet eighteen years of age at the time of my arrival and I found people quite interested in me when I arrived. They seemed to regard me with a sort of whimsical wonder. One old native took such an interest in me that he took me aside and offered me some gentle but gratuitous advice. He was chewing tobacco, a habit which I cordially detested and in order to get closer to me put his hand affably on my shoulder. "Sonny", he said, "yer too innercent-looking to have robbed a bank or anything like that, but take my advice and get to hell out of here as soon as yer knows how, yer so green that the cows will eat yer hup". I was more than nettled, I was affronted, and shaking his hand from my shoulder I remember turning to him and saying loftily, "Sir, I wish you to understand that I have come out here to learn farming". He really looked quite abashed and turning away with a very audible inward gurgle, managed to gasp out "My God!" and left me. This had happened when I first came out and now, three years afterwards, I had grown not only stronger in mind and body but absolutely in love with the life.

THERE were settlers living on every lot and in our own home there were two other pupils and our instructor and his wife, and another gentleman, a friend of theirs from Toronto.

On the particular morning that I have in mind the sun had risen gloriously. There was not a cloud in the sky and I had prepared to spend a day of hard work in the woods with my dear old axe, for I simply loved swinging an axe. Fully equipped with all the appurtenances for a day's camping I had started off. The day was in the early part of March and there was at least eight or ten inches of substantial ice covering the lake together with a slight coating of snow. Slinging my haversack over my back I began my journey to my embryo farm.

◇ ◇ ◇

MY route lay right up the centre of the lake and my destination was about a mile from where I was living. I remember how happy I was on that morning, so happy that I began to roar out to the eternal silences, "We don't want to fight, but by jingo, if we do, we've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too". All Nature seemed to be in love with me and I with Nature.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVERYTHING went along merrily until I noticed that the scene was altering. Black clouds were sailing down from the north and the beautiful blue of the sky had completely vanished. Before I had time even to think, the wind began to whistle ominously through the trees and almost immediately a tremendous blizzard was raging. I was hardly able to stand on my feet but the snow came so thick and fast that it covered the land entirely from sight and compelled trudging heavily with the pack on my back. The cold was simply piercing and getting more uncomfortable to stand every minute. But still I had to walk on not knowing in the least in what direction I was heading. All of a sudden I was rendered more uneasy by a prolonged roar, sounding like nothing else on earth which seemed to pass close under me. At first the noise it made seemed to start from the other end of the lake and then made the ice tremble as if some giant, unseen hand were striving to lift the whole solid flooring I was standing on. Then, following its course, in a sinuous fashion the roaring got louder and louder as if all the fiends of Hell were out for a holiday. I knew very well what it was for I had had an experience of its powers every winter. It was the pent-up air bursting its icy fetters and using its mighty power to show what Nature was capable of accomplishing. It had made a fissure in the lake, how near or how far I could not guess and had stopped its mission only somewhere in the upper regions of the lake. It gave me an uncomfortable feeling for I did not know whether at any moment I might find myself submerged in the icy water. I had no wish to come on it and find a long detour necessary to get to the land side of the opening.

◇ ◇ ◇

HOWEVER, I never found where the fissure was and in about half an hour the land was visible again. I found when I regained my bearings that I had travelled aimlessly much farther from my destination than when I had started and it was fully three quarters of an hour before I reached my desired haven. I was tired enough, but young and strong, and it didn't take me long to tear pieces of birch-bark from the trees and dig a hole large enough to light a fire in. With my kettle and pan sizzling I began again to enjoy myself. My clothing being frozen and rattling like a hundred castanets did not bother me a bit, nor did my moccassins, frozen stiff to my socks. But the cold did not matter now, nor the discomfort and I ate and drank heartily and well and all Nature seemed blissful again.

◇ ◇ ◇

WHEN I returned home that evening nobody seemed to realize the trouble that I had experienced and it was not particularly necessary to tell them. The lady of the establishment was the most concerned and busied herself about making me get out of my wet garments and gave me a hot posset of some agreeable mixture which did me more good than anything else, and the episode was over. I was told by my friends that the thermometer had gone down 73 degrees in an hour and a half that eventful afternoon.

MARKING TIME

Letters To The Editor

THE RUNNING TAB

Sir: Through her winning ways both on, and off, the ice, Miss Barbara Ann Scott has won the acclaim of millions. Upon her recent return to Canada, asked, "What single episode had given her the greatest thrill?" She is reported to have exclaimed, "When the flag of Canada was unfurled at St. Moritz, denoting that a representative of our country had won the Olympic Crown."

In another sphere, Canada is fast approaching another, but less enviable, record. Do you know while nearly every other country has shown a decrease in the consumption of alcoholic beverages a recent survey has shown that Canada's increase in 'intake' is fast heralding her as one of the most alcoholic nations of the world. Do you know that while the purchasing power, due to the higher cost of living, was less, Canadians last year paid out over five hundred million dollars for drink, an increase of thirteen per cent. or forty million dollars over 1946. With a planned expansive programme, by the brewing and distilling interests for higher sales of watered booze, and the Provincial Government's increasing removal of restrictions on freer sale, the trend of drinking is increasing by leaps and bounds.

The Drew Government's recent liquor control legislation, involving increased outlets and cocktail lounges, was supposed to provide an incentive to lower consumption, and moderation, in drinking. The Provincial Budget just recently brought down by Provincial Treasurer, Mr. Frost, shows a return of thirty-four million dollars from government taxes on liquor sales, an increase of seven million, six hundred thousand dollars ($7,600,000) over the Government's forecast earlier. Now, with hundreds of additional outlets promised—eighty applications in Toronto alone—we are asked to believe by the Provincial Treasurer that liquor sales in Ontario will be forty million dollars less in the coming year. Are we gullible? In a mental institution a patient's insanity is said to be tested in this way: If a patient continues to mop up a flooded washroom leaving the tap still running, he is judged insane. Instead of opening more outlets, for the increasing flow of drink, Mr. Drew, would you not be well advised to first turn off the tap?

Sincerely,
G. A. BRETHEN.

APPRECIATES EXPLANATION

Sir: As I am the publicity member of the Peterborough Riding Association of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, I would like to express my appreciation and thank yourself and your staff for the courteous manner in which you have always received me. The staff have been an assistance at several times and have been a great help.

I really appreciated the explanation you made on April 8th edition regarding the error in the reporting of the Norwood meeting, as you explained clearly, that it was no fault of the correspondent, thus exonerating me.

I always sign my name to any letter I write and in this way the public will not have to do any guessing as to whom to attach a letter to.

Sincerely yours,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease.... These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel ... Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give....

Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves ... And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved ...

And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. (Matt. 10: 1, 5, 6, 8, 16, 22, 38.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities. (Matt. 11: 1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him ... Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was restored whole, like as the other.

Then the Pharisees went out, and held a council against him, how they might destroy him. But when Jesus knew it, he withdraw himself from thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all. (Matt. 12: 10, 13-15.)

Publishing Costs Doubled

Further increases in Canadian advertising rates were predicted by Floyd S. Chalmers, president, Periodical Press Association, in a recent Toronto address. Mr. Chalmers pointed out that the moderate increase in advertising rates in recent years has not been nearly sufficient to absorb extra costs. He argued that more flexible advertising budgets were necessary so that publishers would be able to adjust rates to rising costs "as quickly as in any other business."

The speaker estimated that the cost of turning out a publication had doubled since before the war and cited these specific increases since 1940 for one large publishing company:

Paper	76%
Pressroom	93%
Bindery	108%
Composition	110%
Mailing	140%

Practically everything the publisher must purchase is subject to price increase on short notice, Mr. Chalmers stated. By the time he gets delivery on a press the price may have advanced from ten to 25 per cent. and this increase, under the original contract, must be paid. In less than two years there have been six increases in paper prices. Engraving costs, wages and salaries have moved up steadily. Under such circumstances, the rather wide-spread practice of guaranteeing the advertising rates up to twelve months in advance cannot be considered sound business.

Cancer Society Plans Drive To Obtain 5,000 Membership

To educate the public on the facts about cancer, the advantages of early treatment, and the need for cancer dressing and transportation projects, the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society will begin an intensive drive beginning on Friday night for 5,000 dollar-or-more memberships.

It is hoped to contact by mail more than 7,100 families in the city as well as those in the surrounding districts.

This ties in with an Ontario-wide plan to enrol some 150,000 memberships to aid in cancer education and service.

Headed by the newly-elected president Douglas Anderson, the drive will get off to a flying start at a special dinner to be held at the Kawartha Club on Friday evening when heads of industry, service club representatives and other community leaders will be invited to attend.

Dr. R. K. McGee, Peterborough, chairman of the Cancer Committee, Ontario Medical Association will be guest speaker.

By the end of April it is hoped that the number of memberships subscribed plus outright donations will furnish enough money to set up a headquarters depot in Peterborough similar to those now existing in London and Kingston, where dressings, information and assistance can be given to indigent patients.

No Canvassing

There will be no door-to-door canvassing in Peterborough or on rural routes. Literature and membership blanks will be dispatched this week by mail giving everyone the opportunity of contributing before the end of the month.

If anyone is missed on the mailing list he may send his donation to Box 1067, Community Chest Office, 332½ George St., which is the headquarters during the campaign.

Cancer is the No. 2 killer in Canada. It claims the lives of more women between 35-55 than any other disease. And it is estimated that in 1947 nearly 15,000 Canadians — men, women and children — or an eighth of the population, died of this disease.

Yet between a third and a half of these deaths could have been prevented by early diagnosis and treatment, medical authorities point out.

To combat its effects people in 17 Ontario centres have formed an active unit of the Canadian Cancer Society. The Society re-emphasizes the reasons for its existence: to educate people to the fact that early discovery of cancer can mean recovery, and to provide free dressings and other services to cancer sufferers unable to finance a long illness.

Fear is said to be one of the greatest bars to the effective combatting of cancer. According to Cancer Society findings, many people who suspect they have cancer are afraid to have their fears confirmed by medical diagnosis, chiefly because they do not believe that it can be cured or controlled.

Apart from early treatment the chief hope for cure lies in the work of the research laboratory. Not so long ago, there was no hope for cancer at all. Now authorities say they can control it in many cases, provided they catch it in the early stages.

President of the local Cancer Society is Mr. Anderson. Other committee members include James Hamilton and Fred Overend, publicity; James Dutton, Sr., speakers' committee, and J. E. Girven, in charge of the Friday night dinner. Also active on the exectuitve are Miss Ehel Miller, secretary; Norman Bingeman, treasurer, and Miss Myrtle Sargent, 1st vice-president.

James A. Fletcher Resigns County Post

James A. Fletcher has resigned from his office of County Engineer, effective May 31. His letter of resignation was handed to the County Council last Friday. There is no indication that his move was caused by any disagreement with that body. It is expected that a special sitting of the Council will have to be held to consider the Chemong Causeway project some time before the scheduled sitting in June. At that meeting arrangements for the appointment of a successor to Mr. Fletcher will likely be included on the agenda.

GOVERNOR THOMAS E. DEWEY, of New York, actively campaigning for the Republican Presidential nomination, stops briefly in Cleveland on his way to Nebraska. Big Industries Face Problems

By The Canadian Press

The problems of the big industries, which are basic in carrying on business, promise to hold attention for a long time to come.

These include the railways, including freight rates, in Canada, and coal in the United States.

Canadian rails and freight rates include a ticklish political situation in Ottawa, on which more light may be thrown today. Even if this passes without major results, the entire freight rate structure is scheduled for investigation. Current also are requests for increases by rail employees.

In brief, a major part of Canada says the rate situation is inequitable, the railways say they are not getting enough money, and employees ask for higher wages.

A lot of sparks will be struck before all that is ironed out.

The U.S. coal strike seems to be over with the granting of pensions to miners, but with John L. Lewis still facing contempt of court charges there still is some uncertainty about what the miners will do. At any rate, coal stocks are down to a dangerously low level and in poor shape to face any further industrial set back which may arise later. The slowdown in steel production caused by the strike will be felt for the rest of the year.

St. Peter's, Cobourg Receives New Rector

COBOURG, April 13 (ENS).—Succeeding Rev. R. L. Seaborn, who went to Quebec City, Rev. H. Bedford-Jones has arrived here to assume his duties as rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church. He was introduced to the congregation last night by H. O. Taylor, after which a social hour was spent, and refreshments served by the Parish Guild. The new rector was formerly in charge of St. Mathias' Church in Toronto, and earlier curate at St. Simon's in the same city. He is 35 years of age and was born at Brockville, his father being the rector of the Anglican Church there. His grandfather was an archdeacon.

Donald J. Hawthorne Given Promotion

Donald J. Hawthorne, who in 1926 was superintendent of Western Clock Company, Limited, Peterborough, Ont., has been elected to the newly-created post of executive vice president of general Time Instruments Corporation, it was announced today by Arnold J. Willson, president.

Re-election of John H. Venor, general manager of the Peterborough plant, as a vice president of General Time also was announced.

Mr. Hawthorne, who since February, 1947, has been general manager of the Seth Thomas Clocks Division, will be succeeded there by Charles E. Somers, Jr., vice president and general manager of Stromberg Time Corporation, another General Time subsidary. Harold S. Armstrong, Eastern division sales manager for Stromberg, succeeds Mr. Somers.

Mr. Hawthorne, a native of La Salle, Ill., and a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., became associated with Western Clock Company, La Salle-Peru, predecessor of Westclox, in 1925. In 1926 Mr. Hawthorne was made superintendent of the Peterborough, Ont., plant and in 1932 became works manager at La Salle. In 1938 he was named assistant general manager, the following years he was elected a vice president of General Time, in 1940 general manager of Westclox and in 1945 vice president in charge of manufacturing and engineering. He will continue to direct the latter operations for the corporation. His home is in Greenwich, Conn.

Lindsay Speeds Artifcial Ice Plant

LINDSAY, April 13 —(ENS)—Lindsay's Town Council voted unanimously Monday night to request the authority of the Municipal Board to issue debentures in the amount of $37,500 to be used for installation of artificial ice in the Community Arena here. This was done at the recommendation of the Artificial Ice Committee. "If immediate action is taken, it is quite probable that Lindsay will enjoy artificial ice for the 1948-49 season", stated S. R. Pitts, chairman of the committee, in presenting the recommendations to council.

Installation of artificial ice was endorsed by property owners at the last municipal election.

"The committee has three tenders for artificial ice in the arena", Mr. Pitts stated, "and we hope to proceed with the work as soon as possible. Compressors and other equipment are available but piping is in very short supply". He said it was possible rink piping would be available in September, and it would take another month to complete the installation. "We feel that installing a 20 ton commerical ice plant, while a paying proposition, would bring the expenditure too far out of line with the original $30,000 estimate endorsed by the property owners", he continued.

"The cost of such a plant would be about $20,000 and the committee agreed this was too high". Referring again to the arena project, Mr. Pitts said the figures sent in by all three firms submitting tenders were "within a few hundred dollars" of $29,000 plus the 25 per cent government excise tax bringing the total to about $33,000. Added to this will be the cost of cement work, wiring etc., bringing the total cost to $37,500.

"The committee feels that with proper management the project will pay its own way within a few years", he concluded.

Asks Less War Talk

K of C Receives 60 Candidates

COBOURG, April 13—(ENS).—An exemplification of the three degrees of the Knights of Columbus was held here, a class of 60 being received, with 18 of the candidates from Cobourg. The first degree was given by the Cobourg team, the second degree by Peterborough and the third degree by a Kitchener team. Two hundred Knights, not including the candidates, attended the proceedings.

At the banquet held in the Baltimore Hotel, the guest speaker was Judge Frank McDonagh of Toronto, who spoke on patriotism.

"We have been far too modest here in Canada about our own achievements and our place in the sun," the speaker said.

"More vocal praise by Canadians about Canada could be sung. Our Canadian citizenship is the envy of people living in other lands. Canadian policy should be framed and made right here in Canada and it should be framed by Canadians. Lord Tweedsmuir said 'our first loyalty is to Canada'," Judge McDonagh said.

"The inspiring romance of our pioneer days is not referred to enough or taught enough in our own schools. We are living in challenging times and we have subversive forces at work right here in our own country. This fifth column has a loyalty other than that of Canada. We are lulled to inertia by that dangerous and false theory that it can't happen here. We want the freedom we possess and enjoy to be enjoyed by those who come after us," the speaker asserted.

Grace and the prayer for the Pope were said by Rev. G. J. Maher. Chairman was Ernie Wolf., district deputy, who introduced the guest speaker. Seated at the head table were: Very Rev. Dean J. V. McCauley, Lindsay; Dr. Gerald Lunz of the Supreme Board of K of C; John T. Butler, Grand Knight, Cobourg; Joseph Delanty of Cobourg, chairman of the initiation committee; Bernard Costello, Kitchener; Vincent Cote, state warden, Lindsay; J. J. Dorris, Peterborough. Gene Hurtubise spoke for the candidates.

Charges Kindy Convicted On Circumstantial Evidence

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP). — The fate of two boys who face the gallows for the rifle murder of 57-year-old James Bell in Stamford township last September, remained in doubt today after the Ontario court of appeal reserved judgment yesterday.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for Norman Kindy, 16, of Stamford township, told the court that evidence on which his client was convicted in Welland was circumstantial and "based on pure guess work." Col. H. A. Rose of Welland appeared for 20-year-old Edwin Farrington, of Glendale, R.I., convicted with Kindy last February.

Crown Counsel William Common admitted circumstantial nature of the evidence but said "there is no other interpretation than that the accused were responsible for the death."

Th two youths were arrested early in October in Tulsa, Okla., and were charged jointly with the fatal shooting of Bell, an alleged bootlegger who was found shot through the head on the threshold of his home Sept. 24. Kindy and Farrington were convicted before Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly in Welland and were sentenced to be hanged April 28.

At the appeal hearing Mr. Robinette said there was "grave suspicion" the boys had committed robbery, but the question of murder was "pure speculation."

Stranger Brings Trouble

He stated thtat Kindy had lived with Bell for 13 years and no violence had occurred until the appearance of Facrington, a stranger to both.

Evidence submitted at the trial showed that Farrington had been on a motor trip in Canada when his automobile had broken down. He had no money so Bell gave him lodging on the night before the shooting.

Neighbors testified they had seen Kindy and Farrington leave the house the next day about 3.20 p.m., 40 minutes before Bell's body was found. Police found the pockets of the dead man turned out and the contents removed.

"You can't hang a man on suspicion," said Mr. Robinette. He contended that all the evidence submitted at the trial was circumstantial and that the charge to the jury made no distinction between the cases of the youths."

Packers Hold Slim Lead In YM League

Canada Packers hung onto their slim two-point margin in the YMCA Men's Bowling League although losing to Quakers by a 4-2 count last night.

Artists subdued the second-place Commercials 4-2 to leave that outfit two points down on the Packers. Artists moved into third place, two points behind Commercials and two ahead of Tip Tops.

Tip Tops lost a little ground when they were defeated 4-2 by the B'nai B'rith. In the only other contest Aberdeens defeated Jay Bees 4-2.

With only one more week's bowling and no playoffs, the battle for the first four positions will be decided next Monday.

Pat Blodgett had both high three and high single with 751 and 337. Frank Worsencroft was the only other bowler to top 700 with 731. Wes Brown with 695 and Benny Swartz with 694 just missed. Roy Courneya with 489 and Aaron Black with 479 were excellent efforts for two games.

Packers had high three team score of 3215 and high single game of 1224.

Player Interested In Loop Executive

Dear Sir:

Being a constant reader of your column I am turning to you for a favor, not just for me, but a lot of young fellows like myself.

As the coming baseball season is just about here, and the organization of the minor league is about to commence, there is a question of executives. The past executives have remarked on many occasions, last season, that they do not want office this year. This makes some of us turn to you for help.

On your staff at The Examiner is Fred Scates, a man with experience in sport and a responsible man. After a recommendation from a former ball player and now a resident of this city, his name was suggested. This got some of us thinking about him as president of our league. We were wondering if you might put a paragraph now and then in your column to encourage him to at least attend the opening meeting. If he could be persuaded you would be doing us a great favor.

We took into consideration that the past executives had tried hard but ran into many snags. See they are not too anxious to accept the president's job we thought you might get him interested for us.

Thanking you and looking forward to your help for a lot of fellows who like the game as much as I do.

Yours truly,
BART GRAINGER.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

This from Dan Odette of the Kitchener Record: "A body blow will be struck some sports by the 20 per cent amusement tax legislation passed by the Ontario Legislature recently. This was levied by the federal government during the war on PROFESSIONAL sports. The Dominion government is now vacating that field but the provincial government is stepping in to carry out the levy against ALL sports. Returns will be used to meet rising hospital costs, it is said. Admissions to amateur sports events, we are informed, will be taxable. Under the terms of the bill, exemptions will only be allowed where they will reach religious, charitable or educational purposes. If the Ontario government insists on all teams living up to the letter of the law, then they had also better plan on building bigger and better jails as well as hospitals."

* * * * * *

The various sports' associations should protest this plan, which may go into effect any time now, immediately and strongly. Why should athletes and their followers (and not everyone) be taxed in this manner to aid in meeting rising hospital costs? Why should minor amateur sports—going in the hole season after season—take a further financial beating on a nuisance tax several years after the end of the war? Why should the provincial government jump in to grab a little loose lettuce when the federal government has halted this amusement tax? Imagine what 20 per cent off the "take" would do to junior baseball, rugby or hockey games around here. Or intermediate or senior basketball, football, softball and other contests.

* * * * * *

Lot of amateur sports would just have to fold up in time, no question about it. Many barely stagger along now with handouts, draws, etc., to break even or with a few simoleons over. The odd one actually makes enough for the players to get a split, but these few are the exceptions in a big field. Nor will sports' fans be too happy about it if their admission price is upped to take care of such a tax. The "gates" will fall off naturally. No, let's kick strenuously about this proposal and do it right away. Send in organized squawks to the provincial government and tell them to lay off amateur sports and give the youngsters an even break. Other centres are starting to do it and Peterborough should fall in line.

Annual meeting of the City Baseball League is at seven p.m. tomorrow in the "Y" and service club delegates and others interested in minor baseball promotion are urged to attend. Former officers are expected, too, even if some can't take as active a part as in the past. There's a letter from a player in elsewhere tonight suggesting Fred Scates as president of the '48 loop and the hard-working Freddy would be a good choice. There are others, too, and we'd lean to someone like Phone Brioux—vice-prexy last season—if he'd take this responsibility as well as managing one of the minor clubs. Lot of good chaps around (with Freddy a perfect example) if you can get them interested.

Says the Quinte columnist: "Peterborough seems to be a lone wolf in all kinds of sport. Their hockey teams played without a rink last season and now it seems the baseball buckaroos of Perdue's hamlet are without a senior league to play in. They tried to crash the Toronto Viaduct League, but the city slickers said no soap. Now, the Petes, who are fully organized, have joined the Lakeshore League with a bye into senior playdowns. Comes word from the OBA that executive member Ken Colling of London will not run for office at the coming elections." Sorry to hear that as Ken was a fine worker for ball in Eastern Ontario.

Annual meeting of the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club was an enthusiastic one last evening in the Chamber of Commerce. Active officers named were: President, Gordon Monkman; secretary-treasurer, A. H. Radford; captain, Frank Dyer—for his 18th consecutive term; vice-captain, H. B. Pyle; management committee, F. C. Roberts, A. H. Radford, F. Dyer, H. B. Pyle, J. Wild and H. Steele. Reports were presented and it was decided to seek entry in the Toronto District Council to ensure sufficient matches for the season. Plenty of players are available now in Peterborough but it wasn't easy to arrange matches last season, and a Toronto setup would take care of this—even though longer trips are entailed. The club is now completely amalgamated and will continue to be known as the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club.

President Bill Bennett advises that the annual meeting of the Girls' Softball League will be held this Thursday night at 7.30 in the YMCA. An open affair with everyone interested invited. They expect to present reports, elect officers for the coming season and make general plans. 'Tis hoped all prospective clubs will send delegates to this important first meeting so that this softball ship may be properly launched upon another summertime cruise. (Ha, nautical, eh?) No kidding, these girls' games in the Bowl d'Ashburnham of a warm summer's evening are right interesting to watch and provide the colleens with fun and healthy exercise, as well as keen competition quite frequently. And now they're getting set for another season.

Soccer League Will Open On April 24th

The official date of the opening of the Peterborough and District Football Association season was decided at the meeting on Monday evening in the YMCA. It will be Saturday, April 24, when Canadian General will meet the Sparton Soccer Club eleven in a league encounter, with O'Halloran's playing Lindsay in Lindsay on the same date. On Saturday, May 1, Canadian Legion will play against the contemplated Canadian Packers team on King Edward Park. Both games are scheduled for 2.30 prompt.

Affiliation Discussed

It was agreed that the secretary write the Toronto and District Association for full information relative to the affiliation of the local association with permission to use the official registration forms with inter-change of scheduled games.

Draw Schedule

Three members of the board, President William Gracie, Robert Strong and Stroyan Leith were appointed as schedule committee with authority to draw up a double schedule stipulating the first portion be completed before the holiday season.

Canada Packers requested another week before definitely deciding the question of entering the league. If they do not it will be the first time in 20 years that they have not participated. The executive are desirous that they enter so as to get the games started immediately.

Spartons are holding a special practive tonight at King Edward Park at six o'clock. They will hold a meeting thereafter at the home of Eddie Woodcock. Then on Thursday evening another practice game has been called.

Returned Men

All returned men anxious to play with the Canadian Legion are requested to report to Manager Jack Adams at King Edward Park on Wednesday evening at 6.00 o'clock. All former players please note.

No team will be allowed more than 15 players and all managers with a surplus of players are to co-operate wtih the other teams.

Dr. Bell and Dr. Ralph Clark were officially appointed as soccer physicians, with all players reporting to them.

On Saturday, April 17 two teams have agreed to play an exhibition game on King Edward Park at 2.30 prompt.

Feel Publicity Hurts Golfers

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—In appointing the new non-playing tournament committee for the Professional Golfers' Association, President Ed Dudley warned the playing pros that "statements to outsiders" (meaning the press) have been harmful to association and must cease . . . But wasn't it the publication of such critical remarks which resulted in a cleanup within the PGA, which has been widely applauded? . . . If everybody had kept quiet, the abuses probably would have continued indefinitely . . . Aaron Robinson, traded by the Yanks to the White Sox, tells interviewers: "The Yankees won't win a pennant this or any other season with Yogi Berra as a regular catcher. He just isn't capable of catching for a championship club." . . . Sounds like the makings of a first-class feud.

Cleaning the Cuff

Maurice McDermott, Boston Red Sox rookie southpaw, once fanned 25 batsmen in a seven-inning game. The catcher dropped the third strike four times . . . George (Bonus) Zoeterman, the much publicized Chicago youngster who finally signed with the Cubs' chain, has been training in Selma, Ala., with the Decatur Three-I League club and one observer reports: "He has a good fast ball but hardly knows how to stand on the rubber. He is as green as Erin's flag." . . .

Harriers Entering For 3-Mile Event

A large entry has been received for the Peterborough Harriers first annual 3-mile road race. Many local and district runners have entered including Dean Reid, Bill Crowder and Gerald Ivey, who placed first, second and third in the Y.M.C.A. indoor marathon race and Jack Martin and Bill Thistlewaite who were first and second in the Peterborough to Lakefield 10-mile road-race last summer.

The race should be fast since all these boys are good long distance runners. No favorite can be determined, since some of the middle distance men and sprinters have entered and may prove to be dark horses. Entry blanks may be obtained from the Examiner or the 'Y' desk till April 16.

Donald Wolfit Weds

LONDON, April 13.—(Reuters).—Donald Wolfit, Shakesperian actor, and his leading lady, Rosalind Iden, are to be married April 20, Wolfit's 46th birthday. The marriage is Wolfit's third. Both previous marriages were dissolved. For Miss Iden, who is 36, it will be her first marriage.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox manager, Ted Lyons, says Bill Wight may develop into a better pitcher than Ed Lopat. Wight, Fred Bradley and Catcher Aaron Robinson were traded to the Sox by New York Yankees for Lopat.

"Wight is younger than Lopat and he's faster," observes Lyons. "He has poise and he has the best move toward first base I've seen in my 25 years in the game."

Manager Zack Taylor of the St. Louis Browns has announced the following players will probably appear in the opening day line-up: Chuck Stevens, first base; Gerry Priddy, second; Eddie Pellagrini, short; Bob Dillinger, third; Whitey Platt, left field; Pete Layden, centre; Ken Wood or Al Zarilla, right and either Les Moss or Roy Partee behind the plate.

Catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees is back on the sidelines again.

The long-ball hitting receiver had the middle finger of his right hand split by a foul tip in a game against Birmingham, Ala., yesterday.

Berra was out of action for a spell in March due to a foot injury. His latest mishap is expected to bench him for at least 10 days.

In No Hurry To Strengthen Chief Forces

By LAWRENCE J. SKIDDY

SYRACUSE, April 13 (AP), — It is about time for president Warren Giles of Cincinnati to don the long, white whiskers and play his role as Santa Claus for Syracuse Chiefs, waiting for Red discards to brace their forces for the International League pennant race.

Gone from the Chiefs this year are Hank Sauer, home run clouter; Al Mele and his .300 batting average; shorstop Claude Corbitt, and ace pitchers Howard Fox and Herman Wehmeier.

It was the fine work of this quintet that enabled the Chiefs to finish third in the regular season and win the Shaughnessy cup playoff.

Few steps have been taken to strengthen the 1948 club. Austin knickerbocker and Bob Usher, good outfielders of International League experience, have been obtained on option. Jodie Beeler, a .218 hitter last year, and Frank Davis, a rookie, round out the outfield.

Other Players

In the infield, the Chiefs have two first sackers in Ed Shokes and Charlie Kress. Frank Drews will play second again. With Al Rubeling, last year's regular third baseman still holding out, it appears that Bobby Carson, a substitute last year, will take care of third base. Harry Donabedian, up from Providence of the New England league, and Woody Williams, a veteran from Syracuse, will battle for Corbitt's shortstop post.

Dick West and Ted Bosiack, both holdovers, are the catchers with the Reds certain to furnish another receiver.

Old Alex Mustaikis and Millard Howell are the top pitchers among the holdovers, along with John Bebber and Mike Schultz. This is not too imposing a pitching staff.

Frank Seward, a free agent released from the Pacific Coast League, and Jim Wallace, a Boston Brave option, are the new faces of experienced hurlers. Hal Erickson and Bill Gates, bench warmers last year, also are on the staff.

Wants Seniors To Stay Amateur

WINDSOR, April 13 — (CP).—Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, said yesterday he would prefer that Canadian and United States senior amateur hockey leagues retain their amateur status, but if not, they would be accepted into professional ranks.

He suggested the senior leagues establish a "profession" contract which would include a maximum salary rate. This would prevent senior teams "from bleeding themselves white by trying to outbid each other for good players." He said the present system was inadequate.

The professional leagues are not bidding for the senior amateurs, Mr. Campbell said.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the American Hockey Association were notified officially by Mr. Campbell that senior amateur leagues would be accepted into the pro ranks if they could not make some settlement within their organizations.

A conference between professional and amateur league officials was planned to be held in Toronto next week.

The proposal would affect the Western Canada Hockey League, the Ontario Hockey Association senior A loop, the Quebec Senior Hockey League, the Pacific Coast League, and the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League.

Gordon Monkman Is President Of Peterborough-Whitaker Club

Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club met at the Chamber of Commerce on Monday with a fairly good attendance.

Gordon Monkman, president, was in the chair and the following executive was appointed:

Hon. President, Dr. Hammond; hon. vice-presidents, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, the Hon. Harold Scott MPP, Gordon Langley, G. Whitaker, R. Whitaker, A. P. Whiteley and B. Whitaker, the last four of Bradford, England; president, Gordon Monkman; secretary-treasurer, A. H. Radford; captain, Frank Dyer for the eighteenth consecutive year; vice captain, H. B. Pyle; committee of managemnet, F. C. Roberts, A. H. Radford, F. Dyer, H. B. Pyle, J. Wild and H. Steele.

The report on last season's activities showed seven matches played, three won, three lost and one draw. The wins were over Grove School, Lakefield, TCS, Port Hope, and Welland Co.; losses to Oshawa, two, and Wentworth County in the County championship final; game drawn with Toronto CC.

Contrary to recent seasons there were many players available, but it seemed impossible to get opposition.

Scoring Small

The scoring was small and the averages low. Only Toronto CC and Wentworth County scored 100. In batting H. B. Pyle, a newcomer from Newcastle-on-Tyne was easily first, scoring 89 runs, average 17.80. A hard-hitting left-handed batsmen his 89 included 6 sixes which must be a local record. In bowling the veteran Frank Dyer again heads the list with 23 wickets, average 6.26, closely followed by Pyle with the same number of wickets averages 8.27.

A full discussion took place as to the future and it was finally decided that the secretary should write to the Toronto District Council asking whether they would consider accepting the club as a member. It was considered that this would solve the question of getting games, but it should be borne in mind it means the long trip to Toronto every other Saturday.

Also from now on the constitution of the club is changed. Originally it was a pooling of resources due to wartime conditions. In the future it will be a complete amalgamation in every way, just one club bearing the double name partly as a matter of sentiment and in future each player is to pay a membership subscription of $3 to help meet heavy running expenses.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one, confident as to the future and they now await to hear the result of the application to Toronto.

The hand torches which will bring the traditional Olympic Flame from Greece to London for the Olympic Games left Portsmouth, England, yesterday on the first stage of shipment to Athens. The first torch will be lit on Mount Olympus. The torches will be borne by runners and the flame passed, one to the other, until it reaches England. In London, the last runner will light a large, fixed torch that will burn atop the Wembley Stadium, the headquarters for the Olympics, throughout the Games from July 29 to August 14.

Dates for the Intermediate A Eastern Canada hockey finals between Georgetown and Dolbeau Castors, Quebec titleholders were announced last night by the Ontario Hockey Association. The first two games of the finals will be played at Oshawa, April 16 and 19, and the other three at St. Joseph d'Alma Que., April 23, 25 and 27. The Eastern winners will meet Western representatives in the first Dominion Intermediate A final.

Hamilton Aerovox came from behind a two-goal deficit at Hamilton last night to edge Toronto St. Michael's College Buzzers 3-2 and take a two-game lead in the best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association Junior B final series.

Masked Marvel On Card With The French Angel

Tomorrow night in the Brock Arena ring that strange wrestling character Maurice Tillet who is better known as the Angel, will try his weird mat stuff on John Katan. The Angel is the ugliest and most mis-shapen matman to ever appear here (or anywhere else as far as is known). Standing a mere five feet nine inches the squat Frenchman weighs around 290 pounds and has a head about twice the size of the average wrestler. Nevertheless the grotesque French wrestler can wrestle most efficiently and even surly John Katan is going to find out he has bitten off a large and choking mouthful when he tries his seamy tactics on the Gargoyle of Rheims.

JOHN KATAN

Adding to the excitmeent in store for the fans will be the return of the Masked Marvel who meets a handsome and capable athlete in young Jack Page. If Page wins he is sure of top billing around these parts.

In the opener Fred Wright, another fine-looking young athlete from Chicago, will oppose Charley Harbin of Georgia.

Arena Manager Laidlaw is putting in extra seats to accommodate the crowd.

Tigers Notch Another Win, Edge Senators

OTAWA, April 13.—(CP). — Hamilton Tigers notched themselves another victory on their way to Allan Cup laurels when they defeated the Ottawa Senators last night 5-4.

The hard-fighting Ontario senior hockey champions, showing plenty of zip and punch plus a big stop-gap in the nets, took the opener in their best-of-five Eastern Canada championship series and gave the Quebec senior champions thieir first trouncing on home ice in the playoffs. It was a see-saw battle all the way.

Although George Greene, Ottawa's forward opened up the scoring early in the first period, Hamilton's centre, Clare Shillington, countered in just two minutes with a hard one past the Senators' goalie, Legs Fraser. Sixty seconds later, Connie Tudin landed one despite the miraculous saves by goalie Art Childs and made it 2-1 for the Senators at the end of the first.

Tommy Smelle's goal made it 2-2 early in the second but Ottawa's Tudin put the Senators ahead shortly after. Ab Conick tied the score at 3-3 minutes later and the period ended that way.

On Their Toes

Shillington took his second goal in the third frame when the Senators buckled down to some hard punching against the Hamilton defence. He opened up at 2.02, Ottawa's Lude Check came back at 4.02 and Hamilton's Tommy Smelle cinched the game with a neat placer at 5.22.

From that time until the end of the game the Senators fought hard, fearing their first playoff loss on home ice. Legs Fraser, Ottawa goalie, handled himself well, pushing back 27 shots on the ice and failing on five. But the Bengal's net-tender, Art Childs, did him one better, lost only four shots on goal and pushed out another 38.

Disney Plans Picture About Alaska

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, April 13 (AP). —Walt Disney is planning to show the world the untold wonders of Alaska. For two years, the cartoon wizard has been gathering material on the Northern territory. Last summer he made a thorough tour of Alaska, even into the Arctic Circle, and he has posted a man to gather material there the year round.

"Few people realize the immense possibilities of Alaska," Walt said. "It will be an easier land to settle than was the American West, because there are no Indians."

Walt said he plans to use the material as "factual entertainment," similar to the subjects he has made on South America. "I plan to show what is there, plus the fable and legend of the land," he explained. The films will combine live action and cartoon. As yet, he doesn't know whether the film will take the shape of features or of short subjects.

Youthful Pair Take Ice Crowns

DETROIT, April 13.—(AP). — Two youthful speed artists—a 20-year-old sporting goods proprietor and a 21-year-old stenographer won the senior crowns last night in the North American indoor speed skating championships.

Al Broadhurst, co-owner of a Roslindale, Mass., business, staged a neck-and-neck race with his 19-year-old brother, Frank, in the four men's events last night. He finally finished the two-mile closing marathon a slim 10 feet ahead of Frank to take the title by 10 points with 80.

Loraine Sabbe of Detroit, had an unexpectedly easy time in the women's competition, winning all four races. Betty Mitchell of Winnipeg, North American outdoor women's champion who was expected to make it a close race with Miss Sabbe, failed to live up to advance billings and took only one third place.

Miss Sabbe, with 120 points, doubled the total of her runner-up, Marian Hanely of Oakhurst, N.J. Defending titlist, Elaine Gordon of Chicago, scored only 10 points.

Huskies Game Short Of USHL Title

MINNEAPOLIS, April 13. —(AP).—Houston Huskies are one game short of adding the United States' Hockey League's playoff championship to their laurels following their 3-1 victory over Minneapolis Millers last night. They now lead two games to one in the best-of-five series.

Minneapolis took an early 1-0 first period lead on Nick Tomiuk's goal, but Leo Gravelle and Hub Macey connected for a pair in the second and Ken McKenzie finished the scoring in the final period with Houston's last goal.

The fourth game of the final series is scheduled tomorrow night here.

Leafs Unworried About Upset; Enjoy Spring

DETROIT, April 13.—(CP).—The poets who talk of winter lingering in the lap of spring would have had swell material for another 14 stanzas if they could see the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey club today.

The Toronto hockey team is not only lingering but is basking serenely in the suburban sylvan surroundings at Dearborn near here, waiting for Wednesday's fourth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final series against Detroit Red Wings.

The Leafs' repose wasn't even disturbed by any caustic comments from managing director Conn Smythe, ice general extraordinary and boss of Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto who has hardly ever been known to smile.

The reason was that the Leafs had won the first three games of the best-of-seven series, and need only one more victory to retain the Stanley Cup they won a year ago in the final with Montreal Canadiens. Even Conn Smythe succumbed to the springtime atmosphere, helped of course by the knowledge that no hockey expert this side of Murmansk has even mentioned the possibility of Wings winning four in a row to cop the title.

It's a possibility, of course. But not a probability.

Stewart Threat

What Smythe said last night was that, win, lose or draw, the Leafs would not leave Detroit until Thursday morning. If the Wings turn around and beat Leafs Wednesday night, then a fifth game wil be played at Toronto Saturday night. If this happens, Leafs will go from here to their St. Catharines training camp.

But if Leafs make it four straight tomorrow night, then they're entitled to return to their homes, another National Hockey League title under their belts.

The complacent atmosphere surrounding Leafs' camp was disturbed only by one vague breeze. This was the word that tough Jack Stewart, bruising Detroit defenceman, would be back in the line-up Wednesday. Stewart suffered a twisted knee in the second game at Toronto Saturday night, and was limping around the dressing room, off the line-up, in the third game here Sunday. He was expected to be ready to start again Wednesday night.

Stewart's re-entry could make quite a difference.

Barrie Repeats Triumph Downs Montreal By 8-3

By WALLY IZSAK

TORONTO, April 13—(CP)—Barrie Flyers, a mixture of speedy forwards and rugged defencemen, did it again last night before 12,048 fans. They came from behind to move within one game of the Memorial Cup finals.

Flyers came through with a repeat performance of their first Eastern Canada junior hockey final series game by hanging up a convincing 8-3 victory over Montreal Nationales after spotting the Montrealers a 3-2 first-period lead. In the first game at Montreal last Saturday, Barrie came from behind a 2-0 first-period deficit to move ahead and win 4-2.

The two clubs now return to Montreal for the third and possibly deciding match of the best-of-five series Thursday.

Pivot man Jerry Reid and Winger Whit Mousseau spearheaded the Barrie offensive by sniping three goals. Shifty Paul Meger and Rusty Aikin hit for singles.

The three Montreal markers came off the sticks of Claude Dolbec, Bernie Geoffrion and Gerry Desaulniers.

Take Early Lead

Meger put Barrie into the lead in just 56 seconds of play. Nationales then drove in for three straight goals by Dolbec, Geoffrion and Desaulniers. Reid added another for Barrie before the end of the period.

The middle period was all Barrie as Whit Mousseau broke loose and counted twice while Reid connected for his second goal of the game. In the third stanza, Reid and Mousseau scored their third goals each while Aikin potted a single.

A feature of the game was the standout work of rock-ribbed Ray Gariepy on the Barrie rearguard as he repeatedly cut down Montreal rushers with his deadly body checking.

Tempers, barely under control during the first two periods, flared in the third and eight penalties, including two majors, were called as several fights broke out.

Slaying of D'Arcy McGee Took Place 80 Years Ago

By DR. LUCIEN BRAULT
Honorary Historian of Ottawa.

The only assassination which occurred in Canada for political reasons took place 80 years ago on Wednesday.

In the early morning of April 7, 1868, there was committed in Ottawa, on Sparks Street, a murder which stirred deeply the whole of Canada. The victim was the Honorable Thomas D'Arcy McGee, native of Ireland, member of Parliament, newspaperman, author and distinguished orator.

In his earlier days, this gentleman had been a sympathizer with the Repeal Party in the country of his birth. Coming to the United States, he naturally became in sympathy with the anti-British Party of that country. Some time afterwards, he made Canada his home. On account of his high-class lectures and great literary talent, he was admired by all.

"He was invited to enter the Canadian political arena, where with maturer years and good treatment he soon became a patriotic Canadian and a thoroughly loyal British subject." During and after the Fenian Raids in Canada he made a few strong speeches to disapprove them.

A conspiracy was then formed to put him to death as a supposed renegate from the Irish cause. Though McGee never ceased to be a staunch friend of his native land, he wisely believed, later in life, in the policy of using only constitutional means to alleviate the wrongs of Ireland.

Respected By All.

While Mr. McGee was not a citizen of Ottawa, he was known to hundreds and greatly respected by all. The assassination therefore shook the Capital to its foundations.

At the time, the first Canadian Parliament under Confederation was in its original session. Owing to pressure of the business, the debates were often prolonged until after midnight. On the night of April 6, an unusually animated discusion had taken place, which lasted till shortly before 2 a.m. the next day.

Immediately preceding the adjournment, Mr. McGee made one of those brilliant and telling speeches for which he was famed, in other words, his song of the dying swan. On his way to his boarding-house, in the Desbarats Block on Sparks Street, where the Bryson-Graham store is now situated, as he reached the doorstep, he was fired at and died instantaneously.

Hearing the pistol shot, his landlady, Mrs. M. A. Trotter, looked out into the street just in time to see the assassinated statesman falling helpless to the ground. In a few moments a woe-stricken group gathered about the body of Mr. McGee.

Political Murder

As in private life he had neither an enemy nor ever gave offence to a living man, the motive for the murder was at once judged to be a political one, for in public life he had bitter and ruthless foes.

Thomas D'Arcy McGee had a short but brilliant political career. In 1863 he entered into the administration of Sir John A. Macdonald, and subsequently, into that of Sir E. P. Tache, with whom he remained until Confederation. During the last year of his life he was an active opponent of the Fenian movement started in the United States.

There is good reason to believe that a Fenian congress determined on his assassination, since warning to that effect had been given him months before his death.

The funeral which took place in Montreal on McGee's 44th birthday, April 13th, formed the most imposing pageant ever witnessed in the country. In its solemn ranks were found members of every national, religious, benevolent and public body existing in the Metropolis. Business was entirely suspended throughout the city on that day and along the route of the procession almost every building was draped in black. The entire military force of the city lined the streets, and amid the booming of minute guns and the tolling of the city bells, the dead statesman was laid to rest.

$20,000 Reward

In the course of a few hours rewards for the assassin were offered by the Ottawa city council, the Dominion government and the city of Montreal, the whole amounting to $20,000. The murderer was arrested within 24 hours. Tried in September and condemned to be hanged, he was executed on Feb. 11, 1869. It was the first of three executions in Ottawa in 122 years.

George S. Desbarats, in whose building the slaying had happened, had a tablet placed on the wall of his house, at the spot where Mr. McGee fell. But the whole edifice, including the large establishment of the Queen's Printer was, about a year afterwards, totally destroyed by fire. When the massive limestone walls crumbled to atoms the tribute to Mr. McGee, raised at Mr. Desbarats' personal expense, was destroyed.

To commemorate the life of this statesman, who lost his life defending his political principles, the federal government erected on Parliament Hill, at the west side of the parliamentary library, a monument, the work of George William Hill.

Cast in Belgium, this monument could not be sent to Canada before the German invasion of Belguim during the war of 1914-18. In case it would fall into German hands, it was buried many feet under ground, until the end of hostilities, when it was shipped to Ottawa, where it was unveiled in 1919.

Grass Fire Set Damages Cottage

LAKEFIELD, April 13—A grass fire in the cottage area in the centre of Lakefield Park got out of control Saturday afternoon and set fire to the dry leaves underneath a small cottage belonging to Miss Elsie Kidd. The village fire department sent both pumper units and the volunteer force succeeded in drowning out the blaze which caught onto the joists and flooring.

The insurance adjuster, after a preliminary survey, estimated that damage to cottage was approximately $500. The contents, furnishings and two boats were removed from the cottage by willing helpers. The village fire department made a very creditable showing and caused very little damage to the structure in its attempt to flood the inside to put out the flames.

If you have children—consider this

Many men are now buying Insurance Policies for their 'teen age children and for children even younger. They buy them to provide money for children's higher education or to provide capital for the starting of a modest business; as well as for protection.

Sometimes there is an understanding between father and son that when the son earns enough to pay all or part of the premiums, he will do so. This compact between father and son works out well. It teaches thrift to the young man and strengthens his sense of responsibility.

Licensing Bylaw For Electricians Has Opposition

Request of contracting electricians for a licensing bylaw was referred by the finance committee of the council Monday night to its legal committee for a meeting with representatives of the petitioners and the Electrical Maintenance Club.

Ralph Standish, solicitor for the contractors, said they were asking only for regulations that would be a means of guaranteeing competent work to the public who paid for it. Bylaws have been passed in Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto.

"The contracting electricians of this city are not trying to create a monopoly or discrimination," Mr. Standish said. "Certain exceptions were provided. Among those who would be exempt were employees of telephone and telegraph companies, power and municipal corporations; nor would there be anything to prevent companies from doing work on their own premises."

Mr. Standish also said a man could do electrical work on his own premises. He spoke of maintenance men with the large industrial companies, generally well qualified men, some of whom worked privately after hours, and in competition with the contractors who paid various taxes, licenses, purchased stock and equipment.

"The contractors feel they should not have to meet competition from the electrical employees of large industries. These maintenance men earn good salaries, and it is contended that they should be content with that."

Another clause of the proposed bylaw would apply at license levy on electricians coming into Peterborough from other places.

"When our men go to other cities they have to take out licenses," Mr. Standish said. "We feel that it should work both ways, and outsiders should pay a similar license if they come here to work. But, we are not greatly concerned about that. We are looking to regulations that will give assurance of good work to the public and not disgrace the trade."

Carlo Jensen told the committee the Electrical Maintenance Club was formed years ago, sponsored by ex-Ald. R. S. Cotton. The members were employed in factories like the CGE, Quaker Oats and so on, and were daily doing important electrical work.

Rate Themselves High

"We have nothing against licensing electricians," Mr. Jensen said, "but this bylaw proposal was sprung on us suddenly. We got an invitation to a meeting of the contractors Friday night, but all we got out of it was a few rumors. We consider ourselves as competent as the contractors. We feel there is no better electrical standards than those of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and we stick to that. The whole affair left us wondering what is behind this move."

Mr. Jensen said that some of the maintenance men no doubt did work after their regular hours, to put something aside for sickness and necessaries, and "probably they do jobs a little cheaper than the contractors. If this bylaw is passed that would shut our members out of that work."

Discussion indicated three grades of electricians, apprentices, journeymen and employing contractors.

Mr. Arthur Wagstaff said men were supposed to work four years on apprenticeship, "but as it is today, anyone can come off the street and take a job; then the first thing you know you've got a place on fire."

No Price Fixing

Mr Standish said the contractors were not trying to set up a price-fixing measure. "Our main concern is that the citizens of Peterborough get a fair deal in all their electrical work. They want to give electrical contracting a sound, business status, closely resembling a profession."

One of the questions raised in the discussion was directed at the proposal that the bylaw should be retroactive to Jan. 1 last and that all electricians be licensed as of that date. Subsequent applicants would have to pass examinations."

"You have to start somewhere," said Mr. Standish. "That is the only reason Jan. 1, 1948, was mentioned. All the contracting electricians are willing to take the licensing tests if that is decided."

The discussion with the council ranged over other aspects of the proposed bylaw, but it was finally decided that it be referred to a meeting of three or four representatives of each group. Mayor Ovens said he understood provincial legislation was being planned to provide uniform regulations in the electrical trade.

Cottage Burned At Lovesick Lake

A fire of undetermineed origin burned one of a group of four cottages one-quarter mile west of the Burleigh-Oregon Trail Highway intersection on the shore of Lovesick Lake, Monday evening at 9 p.m. An alarm went out to Young's Point volunteer brigade half an hour later and several carloads of men responded and by using the South Beach hotel fire pump, owned by T. J. Lawlor, they succeeded in keeping the fire from spreading. The Lakefield fire department arrived later and found difficulty in reaching the lake water supply with their hoses.

The cottage colony, known as the Strickland cottages, is under the care of John Johnston, who was unaware of the fire until awakened by local residents. The building which was destroyed measured approximately 30 by 40 feet and the owners, who live in Toronto and Streetsville, are the only ones who know the exfent of the property loss.

He urged every citizen to regard it as his or her personal responsibility to see that these two great fresh water fish are given the maximum amount of protection.

"It is not enough for you to be honest and conservation-minded. You should also spread this doctrine of sound conservation among your neighbors," Dr. Harkness said.

The speaker also gave an outline of the various divisions within the department, and the duties of each. He paid generous tribute to the work being done by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, and said the Department encourages such organizations, not only because of the work they do, but because they serve as an excellent medium for getting the orders and regulations from the Department before the sportsmen and the citizens. The thanks of the gathering was extended by Pete McGillen.

The electric lights in the Utilities plan are mostly in the south and southwestern sections of the city, on streets of the areas annexed from Monaghan.

Council Members Hesitate To Support Union Ideal Of One Job For Firemen

"Let's try things the way they are for a year," was the sentiment expressed by the finance committee of the council Monday night on the Firemen's Union request for a closed shop. Such details of principle and practice as bargaining agency, check-off, and other features of union-management co-operation, have been written into an agreement between the council and the firemen, but on this final proposal the attitude of the council combined doubt and hesitation.

The main effect of the closed shop was in a transfer of discipline to the union. City Council had objected to some members of the department working during their off-shifts in competition with other citizens. One man-one job, was the union ideal invoked. The union was willing to co-operate, but it had no authority. Persuasion did not go far enough. The closed shop would require a man to join the union after a stated period of probation, and in turn the union would have disciplinary power.

An Able Negotiator

If an order was issued forbidding work for wage in the off shift, the union could issue a warning and finally dismiss, if the regulation was ignored.

Captain Garnet Brown, whom the committee rates one of the ablest negotiators the council has met, was accompanied by several of the members of the fire fighters in presenting this request to the finance committee. After they had retired, and the matter had been discussed the answer was phrased in a motion "that the council cannot accede to the request." Four months of the year are gone, and it was felt that the council might as well "let things hide as they are" and "we'll see how things work out."

The council recognizes that the union "denies themselves the right to strike," that they have sound leadership, that firemen who get benefits should pay dues, that the union is numerically strong, with every eligible member of the department signed up, but there was a disinclination to give assent to the union idea of the closed shop.

It would require membership in the union. The committee was not opposed to the union, but the question of "the peculiar fellow" who might not wish to join, even if he was willing to accept all the advantages of organization, halted the council's approval. They said they did not like that element of compulsion.

"What about any chaps who may be working in their off shifts now?" Ald. H. Dodds asked.

"If it can be proved, he should be dismissed," Ald. Anglesey suggested.

On the other hand, members admitted that they did not like the prospect of Chief Smith "snooping around" for evidence.

Otonabee Wants Fire Protection Seeks City Aid

Councillor Dick Stewart of Otonabee and Thomas Weir, municipal clerk, relayed to the city council last night a petition for fire protection from residents of two sections of the township, one in the vicinity of Curtis brickyard and the other at Downer's Corners.

Otonabee suburban dwellers are asking for an arrangement similar to those existing between the city and the townships of Douro, Smith and North Monaghan.

"We have heard that the city is considering the building of a water reservoir at Downers Corners," Mr. Weir said. "People living nearby in the township have been wondering about the size of it and whether arrangement could be made for service to their homes. Some of the names on the petition are from people living quite away out in the farming area We think we should be concerned about those living close to the city."

Mr. Stewart said "a lot of property has been changing hands just outside the city in the last year, and they are going to be built on. We have had fine co-operation from the city, but as it is now a lot of valuable time is wasted when a fire breaks out and we have to get official permission for the city department to respond."

Ald. Swanston suggested that Otonabee council prepare a map showing the areas that are being considered. From that basis there could be discussion of arrangements for fire protection. The deputation agreed to do so.

Edward Curtin, 284 McGill St., one of the five other passengers injured, is still in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Industry Taking Best Research Brains

Speaker Claims Universities Should Retain Top Men As Teachers

"A man cannot be told to work on a problem to get a certain result if his research is to be really free and independent," said Dr. George E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, addressing an open meeting of the University Women's Club of Peterborough Monday night.

Canada's youngest university president, Dr. Hall urged that the brilliant young men and women of Canada be encouraged to stay at the universities and work on fundamental research. Today's trend, toward industrial research, was not right, he maintained. There is now about one-third of the fundamental research in North America being done in the institutions of big industries.

"We in Canada are no facing a challenge in medical research. It must be free. Men qualified to do research work must be encouraged to be open-minded, independent."

Dr. Hall explained the two major divisions of research: applied, in which answers to specific immediate problems are found for immediate application, a work in which U.S. industries have made great strides; and fundamental or basic, a research which has no immediate visible application, but in the future, combined with the results of other fundamental researchers, may be given an application.

Lured By High Salaries

Most of this type of research, the speaker said, should be carried on in universities. Industry has been taking researchers away from the universities with the lure of high salaries. We must have good men and women in our universities or the standards of research will fall, he said.

"Shortsighted" was Dr. Hall's term for industry's methods of taking from the higher schools. They should invest in university research work, and thus insure a continuing supply of trained young experts. Almost 20 per cent of graduating science experts from Canadian universities today, the speaker quoted, are leaving Canada for the United States—because there is not enough money in the universities to hold them.

"We are exporting our brains," he said.

In a concise outline of the development of medical research, Dr. Hall said that, contrary to the belief of many, he did not feel that the Greeks were the first researchers—they were just curious. They came to no conclusions from the observations they made on the data they collected.

The Renaissance, in the 17th century, was the first great period of research after the Greeks "collections." Some of the factors which accelerated research at that time were: the invention of printing, the discovery of America, the amassing of fortunes in commerce, and the influence of great medical men who tried to instil a desire among researchers to take nothing for granted. Science really started then, he said.

Actual science—drawing conclusions from the observations of their work and that of others—moved swiftly during the 1600's. Bodies such as the Royal Society in London began to compile a continuous record of past research. Scientists began to separate their thinking into departments—chemistry, physics, biology, and others. Later, these bodies and men became attached to universities and there carried on the dual role of teachers and researchers.

3 Responsibilities

The speaker said that there are three main responsibilities of a university: (1) to teach knowledge, impart information (2) to advance knowledge by research, stimulate a desire in the students to follow that work (3) to develop men and women as educated citizens ready to take their part in their country.

As an illustration of the benefits of so-called "fundamental" research, he outlined the manner in which the miracle of penicillin was developed from pure observation and research.

Many years of patient work are behind the spectacular advances of the past decade, he said.

Unlimited financial backing made possible the practical application of past research during the war.

Claim Decline Noticed

"If this can be done in such a crisis, certainly it can be done in peace time." The speaker said it is unfortunate with so many "top-notch" researchers in Canadian universities that there is not the money to insure the continuity of their work.

There is a decline right now, Dr. Hall said, in the desire of our young people to do research, as small stipends cannot attract smart young men and women faced with the offers of industry "where the great big dollar sign means so much."

"Keep research out of the hands of those who will dominate it for themselves. Make our research independent and it will come back to the benefit of all of Canada."

Dr. Hall was introduced by J. G. Wharry, and the thanks of the meeting were expressed by Mrs. Gordon Langley. Chairman of the meeting was Miss Gladys Moore.

These grotesque bits of framework are all that remained after firemen brought the stubborn blaze under control. The plant was engaged in the manufacture of pipes.

Many Canadians Duped Into Supporting 'Reds'

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP).—The Commons yesterday heard a charge that many Canadians are "duped" into supporting organizations which are "fronts" for Communistic activities.

The charge was made by E. G. Hansell (SC, Macleod) during a debate on human rights and fundamental freedoms. He said some Canadians have allowed their names to be mentioned as supporters of the Committee of Bill of Rights, whose address is Toronto.

"I fancy some of them at least thought they were supporting the preservation of our freedoms against Communism, and, being unaware that the reverse was the truth, they willingly lent their names and support to a sponsorship that would steal our freedoms from us," he said.

Reading from the list of the committee's supporters, he mentioned Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta.

"Nothing the matter with him" interjected D. J. McCuaig (CCF-Maple Creek).

"The man is a Communist if ever one did live," retorted Mr. Hansell.

"I mention him as one. If Dr. Sidney Smith (president of the University of Toronto) wants to have his name associated with him, it is here."

Cleverest Fall

F. S. Zaplitney (CCF, Dauphin) asked in which category the speaker was placing Dr. Smith.

"Dr. Smith is a very clever man, but I am going to say that the cleverest of men have fallen for this Communist front," said Mr. Hansell. "Did not the spy report indicate to us that the Canadian-Soviet Friendship League was a Communist front? May I say to the member from Dauphin that his own leader (M. J. Coldwell) was one of the prominent men in that organizaion. I will ask him, was he a Communist or was he duped into it?"

"So was the Prime Minister," interjected Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre).

Mr. King rose to his feet and askeed if his name appeared on the list which Hansell was quoting from. Mr. Hansell said it did not.

"What the member for Winnipeg North Centre reminded me of was that the Prime Minister supported the Canadian-Soviet Friendship League, which was a Communist front," said Mr. Hansell. "His name was prominently advertised in that connection."

Defense Minister Claxton interjeiced that the organization was "not a Communist front at that time."

"When they were in the organization the Communists were clever enough to put it over them and make it a Communist front," replied Mr. Hansell.

28,000 Ft. Walk Lindsay Program

LINDSAY, April 13.—(ENS).—Monday night the Lindsay council instructed the town clerk and engineer to prepare information for the Ontario Municipal Board, in order to get authority to issue debentures covering expenditures of the sidewalk building program planned for this year. Three firms submitted tenders for the sidewalk work and that of local contractor P. J. Tully was accepted. Town Engineer C. E. Cobb said 16,000 square feet of sidewalk were laid last year, and plans are to lay 28,000 square feet in 1948. Cost of this program has not yet been estimated.

No Equipment Insured Council Told

LINDSAY, April 13 —(ENS)—There is not sufficient good hotel accommodation in Lindsay", Ald. C. E. Ferguson told Monday's council meeting "and for this reason a certain amount of trade is passing the town. Commerical travellers are going through here and travelling on to Peterborough because they get better accommodation there. We need a good hotel in the town".

Ald. J. C. Kingsborough said he had been approached by one hotel man who would build a 50 room hotel in Lindsay providing the town could give him a suitable site. "But there's only one site the man liked, and that is the land right here on which the town hall is standing."

At Monday's meeting, town council agreed to insure all town equipment and the Board of Works shed in which it is housed for $15,000. The move follows the discovery some weeks ago that none of the town equipment was insured. Ald. J. Nesbitt said equipment had been itemized and its value estimated at $21,532. But he said this does not include some equipment that is not stored in the town shed owing to lack of space. "It's bad business on the part of the town to let equipment lie around", Mayor Lamb stated. "The sooner we take inventory and keep it under lock and key, the sooner we will save hundreds of dollars. We need a night watchman". "We had a night watchman last year, and things still disappeared", said Town Engineer C. E. Cobb. "Last year two wheelbarrows vanished right off the job".

Hope Russian Treaty Ease Finnish Distrust

MOSCOW, April 13— (AP). — Prime Minister Stalin said last night that the new Russian-Finnish treaty should break down distrust between the two countries which has existed for 150 years.

Moscow newspapers to-day printed a Stalin address delivered at a banquet in honor of the April 6 signing of the mutual assistance pact between the countries. They made no editorial comment on his talk. Stalin remarked that when Finnish independence was proclaimed in 1917 it did not break down mistrust, and that because it did not, Russia and Finland fought two wars.

"I want to proceed to a new period in our relations....to a period of mutual trust," Stalin said.

Penalize False News

GENEVA, April 13.—(AP). — The legal committee of the United Nations conference on freedom of information yesterday approved the principle of penalties for false and distorted news. In the first such step since the conference opened the committee adopted an Indian amendment to the draft convention on human rights, implying that penalties for false reporting were permissible.

Routed By Tear Gas

LONDON, April 13—(CP). — Tear gas hurled through a window last night brought Kenneth Croft, 22, crawling from his home where he had barricaded himself and defied police efforts to arrest him. After the tear gas forced him out he was arrested on a charge of pointing a rifle at his wife and nine-year-old son.

British Army Having Trouble Finding Spot To Fire Guns

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The British Army and R.A.F. are having a hard time finding places where they can fire practice guns and drop bombs.

During the war, battle training areas and bombing runs were established wherever military authorities thought most suitable .If necessary, whole villages were evacuated.

But since the war ended people so affected have been clamoring to get back home. Sometimes their requests have been heeded but often the army has clung to its territory.

Thus, several rural localities and picturesque little villages now are nothing but butted cottages, around which troops lurk and skirmish in realistic battle training. Large areas of moorland and coastal strip have been torn to pieces by shells and tank treads.

The War Office always tries to choose a training area with the object of inconveniencing as few people as possible. But those affected don't hesitate to raise their voices and they always find supporters.

Intermittently since the end of the Second World War, the correspondence columns of newspapers have been crammed with complaints about the army's refusal to release some "beauty spot" or agricultural area.

Army-Civilian Feuds.

Scene of one of the latest army-civlian feuds is Robin Hood's Bay, on the east Yorkshire coast, and recently in the news because of a police hunt to find the source of "poison pen" letters which residents have been getting off and on for 20 years.

Causing almost as much consternation in the picturesque old town is a War Office proposal to establish a permanent artillery training centre over 30 square miles of the nearby north Yorkshire moors.

The area once was recommended for a national park and is known to thousands of holiday-makers. It was used during the war and there are still many warning signs of "unexploded bombs."

Citizens claim that the gunsite would drive away tourists and retired people looking for a quiet place to settle down and would affect the town's business because one of the main roads leading to it would have to be closed during the firing.

Other spots already affected — and even to a worse degree—include the ancient village of Imber, in Wiltshire, whose 200 inhabitants, moved out during the war, have been told that they cannot return.

The government estimates that a total of more than 1,000,000 acres is needed by the various services, mostly for training. This is 10,000,000 acres less than required during the war.

Allege Airman Stole Car From Oshawa

OSHAWA, April 13. — Magistrate F. S. Ebbs yesterday reserved judgment after hearing evidence on a car theft charge against LAC Arthur R. Maynard, 34-year-old airman, stationed at Trenton. Maynard pleaded not guilty and denied being in Oshawa on the night of March 25 when the car was stolen from a theatre parking lot. The car was later recovered in a service garage at the RCAF station in Trenton minus licence plates and serial number and wearing a fresh coat of black paint.

Maynard told the court he had been approached in the station stockroom by a civilian who asked him if he would do a repaint job on a car for $50. Maynard said: "I agreed to do so, although I had every suspicion it was stolen," and added that it was a common practice for RCAF personnel at the station to paint and repair privately owned cars, to make an extra dollar.

Says Dominions Need New Planes

WELLINGTON, N.Z., April 13 —(CP).—A warning against continuing to use obsolete aircraft in Dominion air forces has been given by Air Marshal Sir Keith Park, noted British leader of the Battle of Britain and the defence of Malta, who has arrived to live in New Zealand on his retirement from the Royal Air Force.

"Some of the Dominions—and some of the larger Dominions too —are making a brave display on paper with air equipment that is not the best,' he said. "They give themselves and the rest of the Empire quite a false sense of security. They are mounting their magnificent pilots on a lot of old junk.

"It is not even good training to mount young men on obsolete aircraft and to train the air force organization in outdated equipment. It would be far better to have a small force mounted in jet fighters and otherwise handling fully modern equipment."

Steel Production Soars In Britain

LONDON, April 13 — (CP) — Britain chalked up a record in February when steel production equalled an annual rate of 15,049,000 tons. The previous record was January's production which equalled an annual rate of 14,589,000 tons.

Steel output for the first two months of the year has been above the level needed to meet the government's 1948 target of 14,000,000 tons even after allowing for a production drop during the summer-holiday period.

Couple Share Bed With Alligator Pal To Keep Him From Freezing To Death

BERLIN, April 13 — (AP). — In the Reichelt family, they sleep three in a bed—Poppa Reichelt, Moma Reichelt, and Max, who happens to be an alligator.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Reichelt have other pets—dogs, cats, rabbits, snakes, and monkeys—but it was only the six-foot, 150-pound alligator that slept with them every night last winter.

The 25-year-old Max was singled out for this privilege because otherwise, say his owners, he would have died of the cold.

"He is a most reliable alligator," says Reichelt. "He is completely clean. He never snores, coughs, or makes other noises."

It is only in the morning that Max gets restless. He tosses back and forth until he gets a piece of cake. Reichelt thinks he inherited his taste for sweets from his American parents, who brought him into the world in New Orleans in 1923.

Tastes Simple

Otherwise, Max's tastes are simple. He lives on three to four pounds of spoiled meat a day.

"Where could you find such an economical pet like my Maxie?" says Reichelt. "He eats meat which stinks like the pestilence and never even has stomach cramps."

At night, Reichelt relaxes in his easy chair with Max on his lap. Poppa Reichelt smokes a pipe, Max chews a pipe. Max needs a new pipe every month.

Max once went after another member of the household, a hen named Minna. But that mother of eight squawked so loudly and pecked so fiercely the alligator lost heart.

Meat Company Loses Money In Butter Deals

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP). — Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. lost money on its butter transactions from 1944 to 1947, the Special Committee of Prices was told today.

A. E. Millard, president and general manager of the company, told the committee that its losses had not led Swifts to reduce its dealings in butter.

"We're trying to get all the butter we can," he said.

Mr. Millard said the company's loss on butter in 1947 were $77,237. So far for the 1948 fiscal year, which included the last two months of 1947, the company had a profit of $253,049 on its butter operations.

Mr. Millard said that at the end of September, 1947, the company had 3,187,852 pounds of butter stored. None of it was still on hand.

"We were cleaned out by March," he said.

E. M. Roney, general manager of Swifts dairy products division, said he saw little chance of improved supplies of butter-fat this year.

Has No Preference

Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) asked if the alternatives were not to import butter, ration it or use margarine. Mr. Millard agreed but expressed no preference.

"I've no opinion on margarine," he said. "What we'd like to see is a lot more butter-fat."

Jean Lesage (L—Montmagny-L'Islet) told the committee that butter-fat supplies could be improved by giving butter an edge in price over cheese.

Mr. Roney said the company had exported butter to Newfoundland and the British West Indies under government permit. The quantity, he said, was not substantial.

HAPPY REUNION — "And they lived happily ever after," might well be used to describe the joyful reunion of Leonard Segler, 25, of Detroit, and his pretty German war bride, Margaret, 26. The couple were married in a civil ceremony in Detroit to "clear the record" of curious defects born of a religious ceremony in Germany some two years ago.

Scottish Dances Purged Of Canadian Jitterbugging

By JAMES McCOOK.

GLASGOW, April 13 (CP). — The Scottish Country Dance Society feels Jitterbugging Canadian and U.S. servicemen went home in the nick of time.

When the war ended, the society set about removing "Jive" from Scottish dances like the Eightsome Reel and was shocked to find how completely the lively American influence had permeated the traditional festivities of the Scottish community.

The Canadian and U.S. troops took to Scottish dances with such enthusiasm, introducing their own steps, that in cities like Glasgow the Eightsome Reel became almost unrecognizable. The native Scots liked it, and adopted the North American variations.

Today, the society said that the traditional steps, as developed in misty times, have been restored.

Not only that, but Scottish country dancing is having a bigger boom than ever before, helped by the enthusiasm of dancers like Princess Elizabeth. The society said that when she was invited to a dance she asked: "How many Scottish country dances are there on the program?"

Scottish physical training teachers make country dancing a part of their course. Girl Guide and Boy Scout organizations encourage the country dance movement.

International Branches

The society, formed in 1923, boasts branches in places like Shanghai, Jerusalem and Hong Kong, apart from scores in the United Kingdom.

From research among old books and manuscripts, and from old people, the society revived numbers of almost forgotten dances. A three-week summer school for teachers is operated by the society each year, with students from as far as Australia.

When asked what Dominion displayed the keenest interest in Scottish dances, a society spokesman answered: "Canada."

Program Planning Discussed Monday

Representatives from eight branches of Peterborough District Women's Institutes held a rally Monday in the board room of the agriculture office, Hunter St., with Mrs. E. A. Duke of Port Carling as guest speaker. Mrs. Harry Mann of Trent River, district president, was chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Duke, who is field assistant for Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, discussed program planning, making many suggestions of interest. She stressed the fact that attendance of members depends on the programs presented, and urged more publicity through co-operation with local papers in giving them highlights of each meeting. "Greater interest can be gained through having different members take part in each meeting and have demonstrations of various arts and crafts frequently to stimulate the love of creating," she said.

The speaker suggested interest should be shown by the WI in welfare and handling of school and pre-school children, TB chest surveys, cancer society, toxoids as they affect children, hospitals, dental surveys, testing local water supplies, free examination of perspective mothers, welfare of crippled and sub-normal residents in community, uses discovery and manufacture of new drugs, boys of the district in military hospitals, and other matters.

"Women's Institute members should be well informed and keep up-to-date on current events," said Mrs. Duke. "Develop leadership in your own locality and make use of every talent you have. Survey your community with the question in mind, 'Whose business is it?' If such work as sending parcels overseas or supplying and maintaining community recreation facilities are not being adequately handled, the WI should tackle the problem. Members should also have a thorough knowledge of legislation as it affects their district."

Dr. R. A. Kelly also addressed the meeting in interests of membership campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Guides, Director Praises Spirit of Organization

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 13—(CP)—If every girl were brought up in the traditions of the Girl Guides, there would be less discord in the world.

That is the opinion of Winnifred Kydd, director of the world bureau of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, who arrived here recently from London.

"You have only to be with them for half an hour to realize how intense and enthusiastic they get about any cause that is for the betterment of the world," she said in an interview.

Miss Kydd herself is very "intense and enthusiastic" about the organization. Dressed in air-force-blue uniform and soft grey hat worn by leaders of the Girl Guides in England, she walked rapidly up and down the room, her blue eyes flashing and her small expressive hands gesturing rapidly.

Miss Kydd, a native of Montreal, was appointed director of the World Association early in 1947. She brought to her position a rich fund of experience gained as president of the National Council of Women, Canadian government delegate to the disarmament conference in 1932 and again to the League of Nations Assembly in 1935; and Dean of Women of Queen's University.

Despite the onerous duties imposed by these positions, she managed to find time to captain a company of girl guides.

It is to prepare for the 12th world conference of the Girl Guides and Girl Scouts to be held in Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 13-23, that Mis Kydd has returned to this continent.

Tenderfoot Countries

Approximately 22 full-fledged member countries have signified their intention of sending delegates. Tenderfoot members are those who have applied for membership in the world association but who have not yet been officially accepted. Among the latter are Greece, Quatemala, Haiti, Italy nad the Philippines.

Canada, together with the United States and Brazil is to act as hostess for the event. Mrs. John A. Corbett of Montreal, chairman of the world committee of the Internatinal Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, and chief commissioner, Girl Guides of Canada, is general chairman of the conference. Committee members, heading the 20-member Canadian delegation, are Mrs. D.E.S. Wishart, Toronto, deputy commissioner, Canadian Girl Guides, and Mrs. H. Joseph H. Bishop, Ottawa.

Conference sessions will be held in a hotel in Cooperstown and two encampments adjacent to the town will provide housing for the delegates.

The last conference held by the World Association was in Evian, France, in 1946. The only time this group met previously in the United States was in 1926 when representatives of 29 countries convened near Pleasantville, N. Y.

LONDON IS BOOMING

LONDON — (CP). — A survey by the London Free Press indicates that 2,700 homes have been built since 1937. The city's population has grown from 76,424 in 1937 to an estimated 92,000 and is increasing at the rate of nearly 2,000 a year.

Not Enough Common Sense Cause of Most Troubles

Common sense is not only the rarest thing in the world, but it is the one thing that people most object to using. If you will preach to them some strange, occult, mysterious philosophy, they will embrace it gladly, but if you tell them to show a little horse sense in dealing with a situation they scorn to use it.

Take most of the troubles in the world. Take the unhappy homes in which there are quarreling husbands and wives and discord and strife. Isn't the only solution that of common sense? It take two to make a quarrel, and there never was a family row that couldn't have been stopped in the beginning by either one keeping his or her temper and giving the soft answer that turneth away wrath.

Dorothy Dix

What, except the lack of common sense, makes husbands argue over topics on which they know they disagree? Why do they say the fighting word? If a woman knows that her husband objects to her doing a certain thing, what makes her keep on doing it? If her husband knows that a little flattering and jollying will make his wife happy, why, in Heaven's name, doesn't he give it to her? Practically every home could be made peaceful and every marriage a success by the use of a little common sense applied to its problems.

Parents Remiss

Then why don't parents use a little common sense in bringing up their children? Why do they pamper them and spoil them and make them selfish and self-indulgent and lazy and no-account and then expect them to be anything else except the rotters they have made them?

There is no mystery about how to rear children. Bring them up in the way they should go and they will not depart from it. Teach them obedience and self-control, and that they have duties to perform in the world; teach them to be honest and truthful and clean and upright and, industrious, and they will turn into fine men and women just as surely as good seed produces good grain. It is common sense that does it.

And look at the way we go about our health. All of us know that the way to keep well is to eat moderately, take exercise, sleep plenty and keep out in the fresh air and sunshine as much as possible. But do we use this common sense way of preserving our health? Not at all. We put our faith in drugs and doctors and hospitals and following all sorts of health fads.

Then there are the fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers and cousins and aunts who weep upon our breasts because they are so miserable living together and because they get on each other's nerves. Why haven't they common sense enough to get up and leave? Half the family difficulties in the world could be solved by a railroad ticket to some point a thousand miles distant.

Yes, common sense is the panacea for most human ills, but the sad part is that we just don't use it.

No New Clothes to be Made For Royal Tour of Australasia

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 13 — (CP) — What the King and Queen and Princess Margaret Rose will wear during their tour of Australia and New Zealand early in 1949 is already a live topic at Buckingham Palace.

It is probable that, in view of the need for national economy, the Queen and Princess Margaret will decide to "make do" with their South African clothes but some alterations will be necessary to conform with recent trends of fashion.

As the clothes made for South Africa were suitable for every type of climate, the choice will be fairly wide, and length will be no problem as the Queen and Princess have never worn very short skirts.

"The lengths in vogue in South Africa when we went there in 1947 were the same as those now being sponsored in Britain," a member of the Royal entourage said. "The three state gowns worn by the Queen will never be affected by an change in fashion. They were designed for history."

Margaret Grows Up

It is expected that the clothes Princess Margaret will wear in Australia will be the most formal and sophisticated she has yet had. For then the Princess will be well on the way to her 19th birthday whereas in South Africa she was of schoolgirl age, still regarded as the younger sister.

Talks with her dressmakers will not begin for some months yet, but simple pastel-colored summer day and evening dresses, with lightweight suits and hats, are expected to predominate.

When Senator John Armstrong, minister in charge of the Australian tour, visits Buckingham Palace next July, he will confer with the King and Queen and their advisers concerning the proposed itinerary. The time of their departure from England—probably next February—will also be decided.

One of a number of Royal broadcasts to be made during the visit will include one by Princess Margaret Rose to young Australians and New Zealanders.

Plans for welcoming the Royal Family are already being discussed throughout the two countries. One proposal is that hostels should be erected in towns and cities to accommodate visitors from rural areas.

An official of the Australian House said arrangements for the tour would probably follow similar lines to those made for the South African tour and the Royal visit to Canada in 1939.

For Wednesday, April 14

Very auspicious conditions may be expected, judging by a chain of benefic mutual aspects and lunar transits.

While there is a probability of a deep uprooting of environs, business associations and romantic attachments, yet the mind is keyed to constructive thinking and the energies are under excellent stimuli for definite and strenuous grasp of underlying circustances. In this there may be substantial cooperation from the feminine "contingent" or from the serious and elderly. Jealousy or false hopes might prove disturbing. Refrain from rash moves.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves on the alert to a sudden turn of events calling for keen insight, with serious analysis prior to grasping fresh openings of far-reaching and radical importance. Change of interest, associates and environs, demand constructive thinking and energetic moves in the right direction. Enlist the aid of feminine advisors or the sound ideas of the elderly, since the security of the home and romantic attachments are wrapped up in sudden decisions. These decisions will be ruinous if incited by jealousy or erratic ideas.

Those whose birthday it is, may be called upon to make important decisions, affecting their future happiness and progress. They would profit by giving heed to advice from elderly friends or females.

Parliament Disagrees On Need For Canadian Bill Of Rights

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 13—(CP).—Members of the Commons failed to agree yesterday on the need for a Canadian bill of rights. Progressive Conservative, CCF and Liberal members argued that such a bill was essential. Social Credit members and an Independent Liberal argued that "traitors" and "dupes of Communists" were the ones asking for the legislation.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), one of the first to ask for the incorporation of a bill of rights in the constitution, renewed his plea and urged other steps for the safeguarding of Canadian freedoms.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said the rights of the individual should be uniform across Canada. All Canadians, wherever they live, should possess the same fundamental rights and the same freedoms.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-MacLeod) said the "clamor" for a bill of rights was inspired by Communists. Little was heard of such legislation "until the freedom of Communists" appared in jeopardy. He was supported in this view by Jean Francois Poulot (Ind. L-Temicouta).

Once the debate is concluded members will turn to a CCF motion of non-confidence in the government. The motion was moved last week when the government declined to delay enforcement of a 21-per-cent increase in freight rates. Acceptance of the motion may mean defeat of the government and the probability of an early election.

Don't Need Gas Rationed

Trade Minister Howe said he did not think gasoline rationing would be necessary in Canada this year. He also reported that subventions paid on the movement of coal will be increased to offset boosted freight rates.

Finance Minister Abbott said the U.S. plan for European recovery will enable Canada to continue a large volume of exports to Europe. It will not, however, mean an early easing of the import restrictions clamped on the country to have U.S. dollars.

Shortly after the debate on the bill of rights was resumed, Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled out of order an amendment moved Friday by Mr. Diefenbaker. The amendment, appended to the main motion, called on the government to ask the Supreme Court of Canada to determine whether Parliament has the power to pass a bill of rights.

Dr. Fauteux based his decision on the ground that the amendment added nothing new to the powers of the committee.

Following the decision, Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) moved a second amendment. It would give the committee power to recommend that the Supreme Court state which questions of rights and freedoms fall within federal jurisdiction. Alternately, the committee could recommend that a draft bill of rights be submitted to the court for a ruling.

Asks Act Amended

Mr. Diefenbaker saaid the government should amend the Supreme Court of Canada Act so that any individual whose rights or freedoms were denied could have recourse to the court. The Act also should be amended to prevent provinces and municipalaties from interfering indirectly with rights which they could not touch directly.

Touching on freedom of the press, Mr. Diefenbaker referred to the recent New Liberty libel case in Alberta. He urged Justice Minister Ilsley to ensure that never again would publishers, writers or authors be subjected to trial in a province other than that in which the alleged libel occurred.

House Startled

HALIFAX, April 13—(CP). — Startled members of the Nova Scotia Legislature last night gasped as a Liberal Cabinet Minister delivered a speech on behalf of the Progressive Conservative Party. Looking around the House, in which not a single Progressive Conservative sits, Industry Minister Harold Connolly said it was a "matter of regret the party should have fallen on such evil ways."

On Tuesday the Provincial Grand Lodge of Ontario East, Orange Young Britons, will also meet in Brockville and on the following two days the Provincial Grand Lodge, Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association, and the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East will open annual sessions.

Altogether, some 300 Orange Order delegates are expected to attend.

Railway Fined

TORONTO, April 13—(CP).—The Canadian Pacific Railway was fined $10 and costs yesterday because a lawyer was held up for 20 minutes at a level crossing. Robert C. MORE THAN SUFFICIENT

WHEN you have to resort to a squeeze play to make your contract, you ordinarily hope it will build the one additional trick-taker you require. On rare occasions, however, the operations of the pressure may force from your opponent a discard which establishes more trick winners than you require, possibly more tricks than remain to be taken. In this pleasant predicament, you have the option of choosing which particular tricks you would prefer to take in.

This was a fine example of the skill in play shown by some of Canada's best players. Mrs. J. H. Nevitt, of Toronto, began her planning as soon as she saw the opening lead of the spade 9. West, she reckoned, might have led the unbid hearts unless holding something in the suit that could be jeopardized by a lead of it. When she saw the dummy, she realized that card was undoubtedly the A. So she won the lead with the spade K, and put forth the heart 4, on which West used the A. The heart J came back to the K.

Now note the way this gained perfect timing for the declarer in a gaudy squeeze. She followed with the remaining four spades and then the club K and A. Now, with dummy holding the heart Q-7, diamond J and club Q, she led the club and discarded one of the four diamonds remaining in her closed hand. West, with the heart 10-9, did not discard one of those, since he could see it would establish the dummy's 7. So he picked instead the 7 from the diamond K-7, hoping that would induce a diamond finesse.

Mrs. Nevitt did not fall for the ruse, however. She could have taken diamonds for the last three tricks if she wished, but the heart Q was also good: She scored it, led to the diamond A to drop the K and then took the last trick with the diamond Q.

6—In Memoriam

DUNFORD—In memory of mother, Mrs. Wm. Dunford, who passed away April 13, 1940.
Eight years have passed dear mother,
Since you were called away,
But we cherish memories of you
Every single day.
—Always remembered by Susie and family.

OWEN—In loving memory of our dear brother L.A.C. Earnest Owen, killed serving with the R.C.A.F. overseas, April 14, 1941.
He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by brother and sister-in-law Gladys and Thomas.

Brother, Sister Serve 25 Years

An unusual event took place when a brother and sister, Frank and Florence Mae Robinson, became eligible for members in the CGE Quarter Century Club on the same day. Miss Robinson started with the company in 1918 and has worked in the Porcelain Department continuously for the past 25 years.

Mr. Robinson started in the company's Brass Department in 1910, left a while later and from Fernie, B.C., joined the 59th Battalion and served overseas for three years. He started again with the same department in the CGE in 1923 and has served in Tool Room, Fractional Motors and was Machine foreman of the Switchgear Department for nine years. For the past five years he has been in the Planning Department. This hobby is music and activities in the Social and Athletic Association, for two president and one in the vice-president's chair.

BEAVER IN COURT

One of the exhibits in a court case today was a cardboard box containing the two-months-old remains of (alleged) beaver meat. It was allowed to sit gingerly on the magistrate's desk, and neither counsel appeared anxious to have it opened, but accepted it as containing the left-overs. In a few minutes, however, it began to intrude on the air of the court room, and a police officer understandingly removed it to an open window.—R.B.

Charge Trapper Hunting Beaver

Judgment was reserved today until Saturday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on a charge of illegally hunting or possessing beaver against Gilbert Gilliland. The accused, represented by W. B. Gordon, pleaded not guildy.

OPP Bert Howden, Apsley, said that the accused lives by himself in an old highway camp building about nine miles north of Apsley.

Conservation Officer Vernal Windsor, Apsley, told the court of a day in February when he followed the snowshoe tracks and foot tracks of the accused from the higway. The tracks, he said, led close to beaver houses. Continuing the trail, he said that he found two beaver traps in Cranberry lake. The two traps were entered as exhibits.

Also entered as exhibit by the crown was a coardboard box containing remains of beaver meat which witness Windsor said had been found in the outhouse near the building used by the accused as a residence.

Beaver Meat

Richmond Watson, Apsley, a trapper of 30 years experience, said he was shown some meat by Officer Windsor and he said that what he was shown was definitely beaver meat. He also told the court that the beaver houses referred to are not on crown land. (An objection raised by the defence was that the crown had not proved the charge, which refers to the illegal acts being done on crown lands.)

Fish and Game Inspector A. M. Hodgson, Lindsay, also testified that flesh shown to him at another time by Windsor had been beaver meat.

Mr. Gordon in his argument maintained that evidence of Watson and Hodgson showed that the parts of flesh shown the two men, at separate time, had not been described the same by each. He suggested that the two had been different.

Alf. J. Griffin Tool Room Head

Three changes have been announced by the CGE executive office effective April 5. C. W. Fisher has been appointed general foreman of the punch press department. He was employed first in the mailing room in November, 1938, and transferred to the punch press two years later, assistant foreman in October, 1945, until his present appointment.

A. J. Griffin, member of the Quarter Century Club, has been made general foreman of the tool room. He served in the fractional motor, refrigerator unit, inspection, punch press and finally tool room.

L. M. Heath has been appointed to the General Superintendent's office. He is a member of Peterborough Chapter, Quarter Century Club and his continuous service dates from July, 1919. Most of his time has been spent in the tool room, first as toolmaker, assistant foreman and foreman for the past ten years until his recent appointment

Security Council Blocked In Czech Probe

LAKE SUCCESS, April 13 — (AP).—Refusal of the Czechoslovak government to debate charges against it raised a new question today for the United Nations Security Council.

A formal Council session was set for this afternoon to receive the Prague government's answer to an invitation extended last week to take part in the discussion.

The Council is considering charges by Chile that Russia interfered in Czechoslovak affairs and heped Communists there seize the government in February. It must decide what to do next.

Vladimir Houdek, Czechoslovak envoy, notified Trygve Lee, U.N. secretary-general, Saturday that his government would not appear before the council. His letter to Lie said the discussion of internal matters of Czechoslovakia in the Security Council is contrary to the basic principles of the U.N. charter.

Council members who had planned to call for a sub-committee to investigate the Chilean charges said they would study the case again in view of the Prague government's refusal to talk about it.

They said they did not favor setting up another commission which would meet the same fate of the Balkan and Korean commissioners, both of which have been barred by Slav states from carrying out the orders of the U. N. Assembly.

Andrei Gromyko, Russian deputy foreign minister, was reported ready to deliver a 30-page speech on the Czechoslovak case.

France Plans To Seek Three-Power Solution

PARIS, April 13 — (AP) — France will seek a three-power solution of the German problem if Russian co-operation proves impossible, Premier Robert Schuman says.

He told a meeting of his Mouvement Republicain Populaire yesterday that France seeks three things in Germany; maintenance of French presence in Berlin, reparations and security.

"If the four-power agreement is impracticable we will enter into a three-power agreement," he said. "We have no taste for antagonistic blocs, but we believe there must be a solution."

Schuman did not say whether France was willing to fuse immediately its occupation zone with Bizonia. He hinted at a system of federated states in Germany.

RADAR FOR LAKE SHIPPING — First Canadian lake fleet to be equipped with radar, vessels of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of the Ontario Paper Co., Ltd., have started to move from their winter betrths at the company's Welland ship canal docks, Thorold, opening a navigation season during which the six ships of the fleet will call at all principal great lakes ports. In the 1947 season, radar equipment, which discloses the proximity of objects within a radius of 50 feet up to 12 miles, was tested on the New York News and the fleet will be equipped this season. Here, Capt. William Redfrean, of Colborne, explains radar equipment to Lorna Jones, Marguerite Yates, Thorold, and Ruth McIntosh, Thorold, extreme right.

Musical Program Greatly Enjoyed

MILLBROOK, April 13—(ENS)—Two hours of rare enjoyment were provided for music lovers by "The Davies," in St. Andrew's Church on Wednesday evening, the varied program both delightful and unusual, being listened to with such rapt attention by the audience, that a return engagement was promised when these talented singers are on their way home from a tour of Eastern Quebec.

Each member of the family is a gifted personality, and the group includes Vera Henderson Davie, who has given her three children their musical education: Nelles, possessing a deep resonant bass voice; Fransi, attractive mezzo-soprano; and Noble, who has a rich, lyric baritone. Mrs. Davie accomplished and sympathetic accompanist, added much to the enjoyment of the program with her well-told story of the opera, composer, and other items of interest before the number was sung.

Solos, including arias from some of the old masters, duets and trios sung with beautiful co-ordination of voices, negro spirituals, and some popular songs.

The concert was under the auspices of St. Andrew's Men's Club, the president, Eric Fallis, introducing the singers, and the secretary, Homer Ouellette, voicing the appreciation at the close of the program.

Guard At Penetang Stabbed Below Eye

MIDLAND, April 13—(CP)—A guard in the Ontario Mental Hospital at nearby Penetanguishene was stabbed below the left eye Saturday night by Leo Cada, committed to the institution after the slaying of his sister near Chatham last year.

This was disclosed today by officials. The guard, Robert Maurice is in hospital. Officials said that Cada, who comes from the Detroit area, attacked the guard when the latter took him a drink of water.

Three weeks ago Cada and Melville Wilkie escaped from the hospital and were recaptured three days later 10 miles away. Wilkie was committed several years ago after the slaying of his wife.

I'm an ex-GI and I don't want stuff thrown back at me the way the Japs did with the scrap we sold them."

BOWMANVILLE, April 13 — (CP). — Some 650 employees of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company here have been granted a 9½-cent hourly wage increase, an official of Local 189, United Rubber Workers Union (CIO), announced today.

The across-the-board increase was accepted yesterday at a union meeting attended by some 400 members. The new agreement provides for an additional legal holiday, with pay, raising the annual total to eight. According to the agreement, new wage negotiations may be started after six months if there is a considerable rise in the cost of living.

Returns To City After 11 Years

"'Tis nice to be back in Peterborough after an absence of nearly 12 years," says James Quinn, now living on Hamilton St., along with his wife, two sons and daughter-in-law, and presently employed in the CGE.

In 1936 Mr. and Mrs. Quinn and their two boys returned to Newcastle, England. In the First War he was in the navy, but in the Second was employed as an electrician with the Vickers Company, specialists in submarine work. He desired to return to the navy but his employers demanded that his service was more with them.

His two boys were in the British navy and became petty officers, with one an expert deep sea diver, specializing in burning and welding under water, while the other was a Deisel authority.

"I believe," he continued, "that no matter what political party has been in power they would have had to meet the same situation as we are going through in the British Isles. The Old County people are looking forward to a bright future with the same fortitude as they did throughout the war. They cannot do anything else but 'come through' with gratitude to all."

"We went home with George Lovett, also of Peterborough, but he moved on to New Zealand. We correspond and truth to tell we had our passage booked for the south but the lack of shipping accommodation finally compelled me to accept the great desire of the two boys who had spent their youth in Peterborough."

Given as a small cub to the Police War Veterans Association by a vet sailor, the ocelot was the group's mascot for over one year. Then maturity set in, together with wild-cat tendencies, and the association decided to hand the mascot to the Lafontaine Park Zoo, in Montreal. Left to right, Rosaria Paquette, park foreman; Capt. Today we Live in a Greater Canada

The Barren Lands Produce New Wealth

NEW MINES, new power dams — whole new communities — are rising where only yesterday was nothing but a waste of rocks, water and trees and frozen tundra. Today Canada has a new empire in the wilderness.

The development of our one-time wastelands is one of the most significant phases of Canada's modern advance. Every Canadian is benefitting from that expansion. Today we live in a greater Canada — far greater than we ever knew before — a land of new and exciting opportunities for those commencing their careers today.

. . . . . .

WAR-CREATED transportation facilities — by road and air — have opened up a hundred thousand square miles of the northwest, making accessible, for the first time, vast resources of farmland, forests, coal and power sites.

AT STEEP ROCK the wartime development of one of the richest bodies of iron ore on the continent has given us a new, long-sought primary industry . . . Today under the caribou moss of Ungava vast new areas of high-grade iron ore are now being actively explored.

WHERE BEFORE the war was a roadless Quebec wilderness, Shipshaw is now producing more than a million horsepower of electrical energy . . . At Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake, rich gold-bearing ores are being developed . . . From Great Bear Lake near the Arctic Circle comes precious radium . . .

NEW . . . OPPORTUNITIES

JOHN ADASKIN, son of an immigrant woodworker, developed his talents as a musician to win a distinguished place in Canadian radio. He became CBC's senior program producer; now has his own Productions company in Toronto; has produced over 4,000 radio shows, including some of the most popular on the Canadian air; is Master of Ceremonies and musical conductor on the national talent show "Opportunity Knocks".

JOHN ADASKIN says: "I have never regretted a career in Canada. Today — more than ever before — new fields and opportunities are opening up for young Canadians. As business in general expands, as the arts gain wider recognition, it's certain that opportunity will continue to knock harder and more often for the talent of this country."

Government Won't See Delegation

Leader Of Housewives Says Association Has No Politics

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, April 14 — (CP) — Charging that the anti-price-rise delegation meeting in the capital this week is "being used for communistic propaganda," the government has refused to see the 500 men and women assembling here from across Canada.

Mrs. Rae Luckock of Toronto, president of the Toronto Housewives Consumer Association, which is sponsoring this drive on the government, today said she "very much resented" any implication that the consumers groups represented in the delegation were being used for communistic propaganda.

(This group has no connection with the Canadian Association of Consumers which has a Peterborough Branch).

She described the group as "definitely non-political," and said it was made up of consumers from all parts of Canada. The delegation had brought with it a petition, urging a return to price control and subsidies, which it wished to present to government heads. The petition had been signed by 1,000,000 persons throughout the country, she said.

Releases Letter

Mrs. Luckock released the text of a letter she had received from A. D. P. Heeney, clerk of the Privy Council and secretary to the Cabinet, in which the latter said he had been instructed to say that the cabinet would be unable to see the delegation.

"On two previous occasions members of the ministry have received . . . the association and were left with a strong impression that the association was being used for communistic propagan-

Abandon Investigation Of Berlin Air Crash As Russian Committee Fails To Appear

BERLIN, April 14 — (CP). — A British-Soviet investigation of the fatal crash of a British and a Russian plane April 5 was abandoned today when Russians on the investigating commission failed to appear.

The investigation was doomed yesterday when the Russians refused to hear German and American witnesses.

After waiting 15 minutes for the Russians, the British delegates proceeded with their own inquiry.

The Russians forecast, meanwhile, that a separate currency reform will be instituted soon for western Germany. They blamed the western allies for failure to reach a four-power agreement on this issue.

Informants have predicted that if the western powers proceed with financial reform in their zones the Russians will conduct a reform of their own in the east, thus giving Germany two currencies.

The Soviet military administration denounced as "lies" and "slander" reports in the western-licensed German press that the Russians were responsible for breaking off quadrupartite discussions for a Germany-wide currency reform.

Believe Government To Win In Freight Rate Crisis; Railway Merger Alternative

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 14—(CP).—The controversial freight-rate issue today appeared to be on the wane. Two motions of non-confidence still face the Government. However, there were indications in the Commons yesterday that the administration has rallied sufficient support to withstand the tests. One development was a party caucus behind closed doors. No statement was made after the meeting, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King was understood to have "swung into line" supporters who were opposed to the 21-per-cent. increase granted the railways.

A second was an hour-long speech by Transport Minister Chevrier in the Commons. He warned that denial of the increase would "unquestionably" force amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

The privately-owned C.P.R. would be driven into liquidation for lack of revenues.

For the C.N.R. the government would be forced to provide between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year to meet its deficits. The 1947 deficit totalled $15,885,000.

There was no doubt the railways needed more money, he said. Although revenues were increasing, yearly profit was dropping mainly because of higher labor and other costs. Rates had not been increased since 1922. On the other hand, rates had risen 50 to 60 per cent in the United States since the start of the Second World War. British rates had jumped 55 per cent.

Mr. Chevrier said the Board of Transport Commissioners will initiate a full investigation with a view to eliminating inequalities in freight rates. The Board was ready to start the investigation as soon as the provinces indicated they could submit their cases to the Board. The investigation would run from six months to a year.

Oppose Amalgamation

Mr. Bracken said his party was opposed to amalgamation of the two railways and to any conditions that would bring about amalgamation. It was inconceivable that the railways could carry on without increasing their revenue

Lewis And Mine Workers Plead Innocent To Contempt Of Court

Judge Overrules Motion For Dismissal Despite Back-To- Work Order; Government Opens Case Reviewing Evidence

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP).—John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers today pleaded innocent of contempt of court in the coal strike in the United States. Their formal plea of "not guilty" was made after District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough overruled a motion by Welly K. Hopkins, Lewis' counsel, to dismiss the contempt citation.

Hopkins cited the telegrams Lewis sent to idle miners Monday telling them to go back to work. He argued they showed Lewis had complied with a court order served April 5 to call off the strike.

Lewis has insisted that he never called a strike — that it was a "voluntary cessation" of work.

Immediately after Lewis pleaded "not guilty," the government began presenting evidence.

Government lawyers gave out a list of six witnesses, some of them obviously designed to show the seriousness of the coal strike during the last four weeks.

Two of the witnesses subpoenaed were John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the UMW, and William L. P. Burke, secretary to the trustees of the Miners' Welfare Fund.

The walkout was the result of a dispute over payment of pensions from the Welfare Fund. The fund comes from a 10-cent-a-ton royalty on coal mined.

The other government witnesses were W. H. Young, chief of the bituminous coal section, Bureau of Mines; V. Lewis Bassie, of the Commerce Department; Nelson Lee Smith, chairman of the Federal Power Commission; Arthur H. Gas, director of the Railway Transport Department of the Office of Defence Transportation.

About half the 400,000 mines have gone back to work. Many were waiting to see how Lewis comes out in this second encounter with Judge Goldsborough.

The government opened its case by introducing in evidence the various official documents in the coal strike.

First was President Truman's executive order setting up a board of inquiry under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Assistant Attorney-General H. Graham Morison offered the inquiry board's report, which found that a letter from Lewis to the miners March 12 had been the cause of the coal stoppage March 15.

Arab League Rejects Trusteeship

CAIRO, April 14 — (Reuters). — The Arab League political committee has decided to reject the United States trusteeship plan for Palestine "unless the United Nations appoint the Arab League or one of its members states as trustee," the Egyptian government-controlled Cairo radio announced today.

The radio said this was the gist of instructions sent to Arab representatives at United Nations headquarters and that Arabs were ready to accept a truce "only if the Jewish terrorists are disarmed, (the Jewish defence army) Hagana disbanded, and its members expelled from Palestine."

The Arabs repeated the Hagana demand after reports from New York indicated that the United States truce plan does not call for disarmament of the armed forces in he Holy Land.

An Arab League source said the Arab states will call on the U.N. assembly Friday to reverse its Nov 29 vote for partition of Palestine.

The informant said the Arab bloc in the assembly is under instructions to make no compromise of the ultimate Arab goal of an independent Palestine united under a Democratic government.

Pan-American Parley Resumes

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 14 — (AP). — The Pan-American conference resumes its work today in revolt-battered Bogota.

The conference was broken up five days ago by a bloody uprising which the Colombian government and State Secretary Marshall of the United States attributed to international Communism. Delegates voted unanimously yesterday to resume sessions.

One of the first items on the conference agenda probably will be a resolution against Communism in the western hemisphere.

(Moscow radio last night broadcast a Tass News Agency dispatch which termed — absurd fabrications" what it said were rumors of participation of Russian agents in the events in Bogota.)

Colombia's diplomatic relations with Russia are unclear. Yesterday a member of the presidential secretariat said the cabinet had not yet approved the decree for severing relations, as announced by the government radio the previous day.

Ask Tourists Be Prevented Carrying Guns

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — A recommendation that summer tourists in Ontario be prevented from carrying firearms was passed today by the legislature committee on fish and game.

Proposed by Charles Janes (PC—Lambton East) and seconded by William Docker (CCF—Kenora), the recommendation met considerable opposition and passed by only 9 to 7.

Howard Sale (PC—York South) objected, asking about summer cottagers who want to shoot skunks and snakes. James Wilson (PC—Hastings West) asked who is going to define a tourist. The resolution will be taken under consideration by the Department of Lands and Forests.

A second resolution which would have asked that hunting guides be prohibited from carrying firearms during deer or moose season was defeated 7 to 4.

Another resolution, proposed by Mr. Wilson, that the taking of deer south of No. 7 Highway in Hastings County be prohibited, was approved unanimously.

Mr. Wilson said the Belleville Anglers Club had asked for this regulation. Lands Minister Harold R. Scott said his department would be willing to give consideration to making a deer reserve out of other areas south of the highway if the various county councils requested it. Two other counties which might apply are Frontenac and Addington.

Discussing the wolf bounty, Mr. Scott said it would be left as it is unless agreement is reached with Quebec and Manitoba on any increase. The bounty now is $25 with $10 for pups.

Police Seize 500 Guns

ROME, April 14 —(Reuters)— Italian police confiscated nearly 500 machine-guns, 4,500 rifles and more than half a million rounds of ammunition in the first three months of this year, it was announced today. Twelve persons have been arrested in the last two days for concealing arms.

Anti-tank guns, mortars, incendiary bombs and flame-throwers were also found.

King Street Parking Lot Lost To City In Land Deal

Exchange of property on King St. by Mr. Walter Ferguson and the Dominion Government has reduced substantially the area of the public parking space which for several years has extended from Charlotte St. to King St. along the creek.

The entire south section of that part of the King St. block is now reserved for use as a bus terminal. Public parking has been diminished to the area north of the new fence, with entrances now off Charlotte St. and Louis St. The bus property barrier was put up this week, and private parking is no longer permitted south of the fence.

Mingling of transport buses and automobiles has come to an end.

Too Dangerous

"It is too dangerous for the car owners," Mr. Ferguson said today. "The space south of the fence is needed and used for a bus terminal."

This trimming of the area of free parking for the public has been a discovery by members of the Council since Monday. At the meeting of the Finance Committee Monday night, discussion of the entrance from Charlotte St. assumed that the parking space was still available all the way along the creek from Charlotte to King Street. Members of the Council briefly considered some means of discouraging entrance off Charlotte Street because its narrow inlet tended to impede traffic on that street. Cars moving both ways, in and out of the parking lot, became an obstacle to the street traffic, and it was suggested that entrance to the parking area should be only from King Street. The Ferguson fence terminates that prospect. Approach to the abbreviated parking space is now off Louis Street and Charlotte Street, and possibly the Council may have to consider movement only one way.

Make Trade

Mr. Ferguson had purchased the former Dinsdale property, for years used as a lumber yard, at the corner of King and Louis Sts. It extended up Louis St to the houses on the east side of that street. The government owned the property on King St. immediately west of the creek and reaching to the border of the Dinsdale lot. It is understood that Mr. Ferguson gave the north part of his property fronting on Louis St. for the government's land west of the creek, and south of the line now marked by the fence.

The net result is more convenience and space along King St. for the buses, less free parking space for the public, and the surrender by the government of an outlet into King St. The property, intended as a site of a postal-customs building is bounded now by the fence, Louis St., Charlotte St. and the creek.

Five States Battle Floods

CINCINNATI, April 14.—(AP). —A five state Ohio river valley area today was the focal point of widespread spring floods which also spilled into some Florida and North Dakota lowlands.

Experiencing its first major flood since March, 1945, the Ohio was 10 feet above flood level in some areas and rising steadily throughout the 500-mile stretch. Tributaries went over their banks throughout the watershed.

Florida's state capital, Tallahassee, was isolated from peninsula Florida except by air or roundabout routes through southern Georgia. Branford, Fla., was hardest hit when the meandering Swannee river left its banks. There were no reports of flood deaths or injuries.

An estimated 1,000 families were evacuated in the Orio river area — Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio. Nearly 100 families were forced from their homes in Grand Forks, N.D., and nearby East Grand Forks, Minn., when the Red river crested at 40.70 feet, 12.70 feet above flood level. National Guardsmen dynamited ice jams there to save bridges. Grand Forks' power plant was out of order.

Fourth Man Escapes Burwash In Nine Days

SUDBURY, April 14—(CP). — John Percy Zonta, a "trusty" working as a fireman at the Burwash Industrial Farm, disappeared last night. He was the fourth prisoner to escape within the last nine days but it is reported that the first three have been recaptured.

Although details were not available here, it was learned that Richard B. Steventon, who ran away last Monday while cutting wood at the CNR station about a mile from the camp, had been recaptured at his home in Sault Ste. Marie.

Zonta, described as being five feet 5 inches, 124 pounds, dark with brown hair, had only two months to serve of a two-year term imposed at Kenora in October, 1946, for breaking and entering.

Younger People of Today Too Slow Mrs. Sam Ray Says On 87th Birthday

Newspaper reporters' interviews with elderly people are graded in two classifications, those in which the people have led dull and uninteresting lives and those who have led a full life since childhood. Mrs. Sam Ray, 687 Water St., belongs to the latter group and she is able to look back over 87 years in this changing world, not only in her native Ireland but in the city of Peterborough where she has spent 62 years. A reception is being held today at her home in honor of the great occasions.

She spent a very happy and pleasant childhood in Bailieboro, County Cavan, Northern Ireland, with four brothers and six sisters as constant companions on the family estate, Kilross. Her father, Squire Hill, was a keen hunter and rode to the hounds for many years and installed the love of horsemanship in his large family. Mrs Ray (Ellen) recalls driving to and fro from school behind a donkey named Jim in a dog cart and sometimes in a jaunting carriage, and when 7 of the family trekked to lessons each day, they were known as the "Irish Brigade."

Four uncles had come to Upper Canada, James of Port Hope, Sam of Millbrook, Thomas of Manvers and John of Bethany, and she decided after finishing school to visit them. She travelled extensively in the United States as far west as Chicago and during one visit with a sister-in-law in New York she met Sam Ray of Whitby who was captaining the All Canadian cricket eleven at an international series of games.

Married In Two Years

This vivacious young Irish girl and Sam Ray were married in Whitby two years after this meeting. Her husband's people were carriage builders in Whitby, operated stages to Port Hope, Port Perry and Oshawa and owned a hotel. He decided to open a tobacco shop in Peterboorugh in 1885 and established a home on Water St., a few blocks south of the present house. Until the time of his death 12 years ago, Mr. Ray operated a popular tobacco store and a card room in the rear, still functions and is frequented by middle-aged men who have named it the "Hall of Wisdom."

There are three daughters and one son in the Ray family today and Mrs. Ray recalls many changes in the city since she first settled here. They had a cottage at Chemong for 35 years, and when she was younger, Mrs. Ray enjoyed riding and driving in her carriage. Her family have been members of St. John's Church for many years.

Although Mrs. Ray likes the company of younger people, she thinks very decidedly that they are "too slow," possibly meaning that they do not get about socially as they did in earlier times in the city.

As elderly people will, she is inclined to dwell in the past, but her childhood was so interesting that one could spend a great deal of time listening. She retains her soft Irish brogue, her charm and wit and intense Irish loyalty. It is in keeping that as a bride in Peterborough she lived at the corner of Water and Dublin Sts., and for the past 36 years has lived just up Water St., at the Antrim corner.

BIRTHDAY THURSDAY—Mrs. Sam Ray, 687 Water St., celebrates her 87th birthday on Thursday. A private reception was held today to honor the occasion. She has lived 62 years in the city.

Allies Will Shelve Provisional Gov't

BERLIN, April 14 (Reuters)— The United States and Britain have shelved the plan to set up a provisional government in western Germany as the next move in their German policy, it was reliably learned today.

All Allied sources were said to agree that formal proclamation of a provisional government before elections had been abandoned in favor of extending political powers to existing German bizonal institutions.

The time-table of western policy towards German was not expected to be finally fixed before resumption this month of the London talks between the United States, Britain and France.

Arabs Dynamite Jewish Section In Jerusalem Follow Up Attack On Hospital Convoy

JERUSALEM, April 14 (AP). —An explosion rocked the Jewish Yemen Moshe quarter of Jerusalem today, and the cackle of small arms fire followed.

Arab sources said Arabs drove up in a captured Hagana armored car and placed a box of explosives in a house at the edge of the quarter. Members of Hagana, the Jewish militia, opened fire after the blast, but the raiders escaped to the Arab-controlled Jaffa Gate, the informants said.

The six-hour battle which followed an Arab attack yesterday on a Jewish convoy bound for Hadassah hospital claimed the lives of 35 Jews, 10 Arabs and two British soldiers, Palestine police reported. Two other Jews were killed in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area fighting, and two Arabs wounded at Kastel, outside Jerusalem, died in a Nablus hospital.

Gunfire and mortar duels echoed throughout the night, but casualties were believed to be relatively light.

Jaffa Arabs and Tel Aviv Jews duelled for four hours with mortars and machine-guns. In Jerusalem sniper battles raged. Three Arabs and one Jew were reported killed in the Holy City.

British Government Highly Annoyed At UN Accusation Of Non-Cooperation

LONDON, April 14.—(Reuters).—A colonial office spokesman today categorically repudiated the United Nations Palestine Commission's charges at Lake Success last night that Britain had shown lack of co-operation over the Palestine issue.

The charges, made in the Commission's report to the U. N. General Assembly, has aroused strong resentment in high government quarters here.

The Commission critized Britain for refusing to admit it into Palestine earlier than May 1; for refusing to have progressive transfer of authority; for making it impossible for the Commission to organize Arab and Jewish militias in advance, and for taking financial and economic steps without consulting the Commission.

The Colonial office spokesman said his government had several times stated its view that the arrival of the Commission would be the signal for fresh disorders in Palestine

On the charge of British refusal to have progressive transfer of power, the spokesman asserted that this was mainly because two authorities could not exist side by side.

Ask 2 Million To Develop Farm Plan

Think New Program Improvement Over Subsidy Plan

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP). — A $2,000,000 expanded program for agricultural research, education, extension and marketing was advocated in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by Fletcher S. Thomas (PC-Elgin).

'We need sufficient money to place farming in the forefront of the business of government," Mr. Thomas said in recommending that $1,000,000 be set aside for research and an additional $1,000,000 for education, extension and marketing.

Mr. Thomas took part in the budget debate wtih Rev. Alfred Downer (PC-Dufferin Simcoe). Mr. Downer recommended a system of fathers' allowances similar to the present mothers' allowances. He said he felt there might be aid for fathers who find themselves in difficulty.

At yesterday's session second reading was given to the Statute Law Amendments Act which provides for mortgages on new homes exceeding the present limit of 80 per cent of the value of the home.

On agriculture, Mr. Thomas expressed belief that his methods of financial assistance would be an improvement over subsidies which he described as "an emergency measure to tide over a temporary situation."

186 Co-Ops

He discussed the co-operative movement and noted that there are 186 farmers' co-ops in Ontario with 45,955 farmers. Co-op business last year was $62,563,128.

Mr. Fletcher's remarks were devoted almost wholly to agriculture. A tobacco farmer himself, Mr. Fletcher discussed many of the problems facing the specialist in that field.

"This year the tobacco grower is faced with a very difficult situation because of the fact that no one can predict what the British buyer will be able to take from the 1948 crop. We are planning to grow about 93,000 or 94,000 acres and at an average yield of 1,100 pounds this would give us between 102,000,000 and 103,000,000 pounds.

"The domestic market will likely purchase between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 pounds. Thus we will have between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 pounds left for export."

Mr. Fletcher, in calling for research, noted that in southwestern Ontario during the last quarter century there has been a change from general farming to a specialized type of agriculture.

Mr. Downer told the House that health insurance schemes were too high for the "little man" and suggested the department of health give consideration to this field with a view to developing programs to include the lower wage earner.

Resent Implication

Mrs. Luckock said that "at no time has our association been used for Communistic propaganda, and I very much resent this implication on the part of the government, and that it should be used as an excuse to avoid seeing a representation of such a large section of Canadian citizens."

Mrs. Luckock said the Toronto association was formed in 1937 and "gave the government valuable service during the war years through the consumers branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board...."

She said further efforts would be made to gain an interview with government heads and with Prime Minister King.

Most of the delegation will be arriving tomorrow from Sydney, N.S., to Vancouver. Trade unions, religious groups, and home and school organizations will have representatives in the group. This is the third body of Canadians which has invaded the capital within a year to complain about the high cost of living.

150 Men Safe As Mine Afire

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 14 — (CP). — Underground fire-fighters were within striking distance of the Sylvanite gold mine fire, a representative of the mine said today. Meanwhile, the blaze, which broke out yesterday morning almost trapping 150 miners, still was raging.

Ventilation fans, reversed to draw air out of the mine, spread smoke and fumes over the town. Residents who noticed today that the smoke was less dense, took it as a sign the fire was dying out. Underground employees were notified by radio last night and today not to report for work.

All the miners were out of the mine the 150 workers were brought to the surface yesterday in 15 minutes after discovery of the fire—but the entire population of this Northern Ontario mining community of nearly 20,000 followed the progress of the fire-fighters' efforts.

The acrid smell of smouldering timbers and mine gases hung over the area and reached into most buildings. Smoke penetrated adjoining mine workings and mine officials sealed off connections with Sylvanite. Officials said a cigaret butt might have started the fire in mine timbering.

It was estimated it might take them a week to put out the fire. The fire was confined to a ventilation stope, or vertical passageway, running between the 2,500-foot and 2,700-foot levels.

Stassen Wins Second Sweeping Victory

OMAHA, April 14 (AP)—Tireless Harold E. Stassen lifted himself into the top rank of Republican presidential candidates today with a sweeping victory in Nebraska's Republican primary elections.

Dewey was shut out in the April 6 Wisconsin primary when Stassen won 19 of the state's 27 nominating votes. The former Minnesota governor's victory also dealt a blow to the prestige of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

but the government had ignored the question of inequalities in rates.

T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) said he believed in a policy of bonuses, subventions and subsidies to remove rate inequalities in various parts of the country. He also suggested that the Railway Act, similar to the Bank Act, should be revised every 10 years to remove inequalities.

A third was the action of John Bracken, Progressive Conservative Leader, in moving an amendment to the C.C.F. non-confidence motion. This indicated that the Progressive Conservatives would vote with the government against the C.C.F. motion.

On the heels of these growths came speeches by James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North) and R. H. Winters (L—Queens-Lunenburg).

Most Affected

They represent two of the coastal provinces most affected by the freight-rate boost and were mentioned among those who might break with the government over the issue. Both said, however, they would support the administration in the non-confidence votes.

A second vote will be on the C.C.F. motion, moved before the rate increase became effective last Thursday. It urged that the government reconsider its decision and not allow the increases to become effective until appeal of the provinces is heard.

Mr. Bracken explained that the C.C.F. motion, as far as his party was concerned, did not take into account the need of the railways for additional revenues.

Russia Rejects Plan To Give Trieste To Italy

LONDON, April 14 (AP)—Russia has turned down the western powers' proposal to give Trieste back to Italy Moscow radio announced last night.

A Soviet note terming the suggestion unacceptable was delivered to the governments of Britain, France and the United States yesterday, the broadcast said.

Foreign Minister Bidault of France first broached the idea publicly in a speech at Turin, March 21. It was hailed frankly at the time as a bid for anti-Communist support in the Italian elections next Sunday. The proposal called for a Paris meeting of those principally concerned early in May to consider the future of Trieste.

Yesterday's Soviet note, the broadcast said, pointed out that Trieste was created a free city and territory by the Italian peace treaty, signed by 21 countries, including the Big Four. Revision of the treaty by means of "correspondence or by convening private conferences" was unacceptable and violated "elemental principles of democracy."

The note was in response to formal United States-British-French suggestions on Trieste made to Russia in notes on March 20 and reiterated last Friday with an urgent request for action.

Rules Out Compromise

Among other things, the Russian action apparently ruled out a Yugoslav suggestion that Italy and Yugoslavia get together on Trieste's future.

It was primarily because of Yugoslavia's insistent fight that Trieste was made a free territory in the peace treaty. Yugoslavia had the full backing of Russia in its demand that Trieste be made a Yugoslav city. The free territory emerged as a compromise, as the western powers stubbornly bucked the demand.

Shortly after the new western power proposal was made, Yugoslavia made a tentative offer to trade the free territory of Trieste to Italy for the nearby Italian city of Gorizia. Italy turned that down.

Water Safety Plan Discussed

A meeting was held Tuesday evening in the city council chambers by heads of various summer swimming organizations to form an advisory committee on water safety and organization in connection with Lions, Kiwanis and Kinsmen pools. Kenneth Robertson, recreational director of Barrie, was guest speaker and told the group of how the summer swimming program was organized in that town.

Mr. Robertson dwelt chiefly with junior and senior water safety patrol that had been formed and did excellent work during last summer on the beaches and pools on Lake Simcoe. It was decided by those present to organize the same service for Peterborough. It was further agreed that Canadian Red Cross standards should be adopted.

Among those present were Mrs. A. E. Howson, Mrs. Fred Hooper, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, Alderman Hurrell Dodds, Harold Rehill, Gordon Minty, Mrs. V. R. Curry, Cooke Munro, W. B. Gordon, Mrs. R. Whalon and Jack Dane.

Questions Delay In Traffic Case

E. J. Henwood, 608 Walkerfield Ave., was fined $2 and $1 costs for parking his car over the one-hour limit on Brock St. But the conviction was not registered until more than a half-hour's hearing, in which the city's traffic bylaw, the provincial Highway Traffic Act and the Summary Convictions Act came into play in regards to the accused's defence that the summons on the offence had been sent to him too late.

PC Vern O'Donaghue testified as to the actual charge—which he said was on the morning of February 4 when the Henwood car had been parked in the one-hour limit area from 10:10 to 11:15.

In his own evidence, Henwood told the court that he had not received the summons of the charge until February 23—19 days after the alleged offence. He also argued that he had not received a ticket on his car.

The accused further pointed out that it was a frequent practise of his to take his car out for several short trips in the morning, and he said he was unable to swear as to the particular morning, but that the police officer was not watching it the full hour to see that it had been parked there.

The settlement of the time problem—when must a summons be sent—was decided by Magistrate Philp, who ruled that the case came under the Summary Convictions Act, where the time limit is six months. It is 10 days under the Highway Traffic Act.

Western Oils, Golds Soften Moderately

TORONTO, April 14 —(CP)—Western oils and golds softened in moderately quiet trading on the stock exchange today but base metals developed firmer trends while industrials were mixed on strong steels and irregularly scattered gains and losses. Algoma Steel and Brown Pfd., featured the industrials on gains of 2½ at 53 for the former and 5¾ at 98½ for the latter.

Volume for the first three hours was 393,000 shares, about 72,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Industrials expanded trading to a wide section of the list but turnover was in small lots with prices irreguiar. Better gainers among leading stocks were Abitibi Pfd., Aluminium New, Argus Pfd., Canada Cement Pfd., Distillers, Dominion Foundries, Dominion Steel, Dominion Stores, Eastern Steel, Famous Players, Ford Motors, Walker, International Petroleum, National Steel Car, United Steel, Toronto Iron, Steel of Canada Fd., Powell River and Brown.

Easier golds were Aunor, Bralorne, Central Patricia, Chesterville, Conwest, God's Lake, Guayana, Leitch, Negus, Wright-Hargreaves, Teck-Hughes, San Antonio and Pioneer. Among base metals gainers were Pend Oreille, Normetal, Noranda, International Uranium, Hudson Bay, Golden Manitou and Falconbridge.

Taping Down Horn Results In $30 Fine

Three men were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs for a prank which the police regarded as rather unfunny. Written pleas of guilty were accepted from William P. Davidson, 611 George St., James Fuller, 576 Charlotte St. and Robert Juby, 319 Boswell Ave. The charges, causing a disturbance on Weller St., were laid when the three taped down the horn on a friend's car as a practical joke. A city police officer arrived on the scene just as the interesting noise began to arouse the neighborhood.

U.S. Lifts Restrictions On Railroad Service

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP). — The United States government yesterday lifted all restrictions on railroad service imposed as a result of the pension-dispute coal strike, and thousands of miners returned to work after a month's idleness. Coal-burning railroads had been made to cut their service 25 per cent, and a second 25 per cent cut was due to take effect Thursday.

The embargo on the use of coal will be applied again, it was indicated, if supplies of fuel fail, for any reason, to flow normally into the carriers' stockpiles. These reserves are now down to a 20-day supply, which is considered a "dangerously low level.

Buy Cobourg Lot For 20 Houses

COBOURG, April 14 (ENS).—Town Council Tuesday night authorized purchase of a tract of land owned by G. C. Turpin in the west-end, as the site for 20 houses to be built under the integrated housing plan. Price of the land is $5,500. It is bounded by Burnham and King Streets, and runs south to the lakefront. In the absence of Mayor Joe Smith, who is out of town, Reeve John Westington presided over the Council meeting.

The tender of Thomas Motor Sales for a town truck was accepted, the price being $3,004 for the truck and chassis and $660 for the body. The sum of $500 was allowed on the old truck.

The contract for laying 710 square feet of sidewalk, at 40c a square foot, was awarded to [illegible] Manton & Son, Cobourg.

The town engineer, reporting on spring flooding of cellars and backing up of sewers on James Street, advised the Council that if residents on that street stopped draining their eave troughs into the sanitary sewer, the present sewers would likely handle the spring floods. There is a town by-law which forbids householders from draining roof water into sanitary sewers, and the clerk was advised to notify James Street residents to that effect. It would cost $18,000 to enlarge the sewer on that street, as an alternative to disconnecting eavetroughs from the sanitary sewers, it was said.

Princes Charles Got Zero On His Exams So Everybody Passed, Cobourg Major Tells

COBOURG, April 14.—(ENS).—An interesting story on Prince Charles, the Regent of Belgium, is told by Major A. N. K. Hobbs of Cobourg. Major Hobbs says that when his brother-in-law, Rear Admiral James Breaks, was an instructor on HMS Thunderer, Prince Charles was trying his midshipman's exams. Prince Charles showed an unusual interest and frequently asked the instructor on what questions the exams most likely would concentrate. When the papers were marked Prince Charles got zero on every subject.

"He knew that they would have to pass him, and when he received zero on every paper, it would follow that all the others would have to be passed also," said Major Hobbs.

Smelts Still Running In Cobourg District

COBOURG, April 14 — (ENS). — The smelts are still running in Cobourg and district. Those who know their smelts have been figuring that the run would be over last week-end, but the fish are still coming in. About 20 tried their luck Tuesday night at the mouth of the factory creek.

The water was too dirty to see the smelt but random dipping with the wire net brought up enough to fill a large hunting bag in less than an hour.

Incidentally, due to the waves from the lake, rubber boots were filled also. Reports from Grafton and Colborne also show that the smelts were still running. The fish are a good size this year and vigorous, as evident from the fact that after being carried around in a bag for an hour, many of the fish revived when dumped into a pan of water before cleaning.

Teachers' Salaries Problem In Brantford

BRANTFORD, April 14.—(CP).—A knotty problem faced the Brantford Board of Education last night when it was pointed out that it could not compete with other cties in Ontario when attempting to hire additional teachers for the Brantford Collegiate Institute and Vocational school.

In most centres an increment of $100 a year up to six years for experience was given whereas the local schedule allowed for only $50. Several applicants present wages were as high as $200 or $300 above the maximum salary including the increment allowed by the local schedule.

The Board was told the schedule in most instances here was $200 below that of other centres.

Thirteen public school teachers have been hired for a total salary of approximately $20,000 yearly compared with $11,450 which was the present salary of the six teachers who will retire.

To Make Greater Use Of The Normal School

On March 30 we suggested that a decentralization of the provincial university was desirable, as it has now grown too big for its own good, and hinted that the establishment of a subsidiary of the university in Peterborough would be a wise move. Today we put forward the idea that a number of the summer courses which are offered every year by the Department of Education might well be given here in the Normal School, instead of being concentrated in Toronto, with a few special courses being given in Guelph, London and North Bay.

* * *

There is no particularly strong reason why these courses should be given in Toronto. The teachers who take them are chiefly drawn from rural districts, and the instructors who give them are not all Toronto men by any means. The Department of Education exercises no supervision over the courses which could not be managed equally well in Peterborough. When Ontario was less thickly populated than it is now there was no doubt a certain advantage in drawing these courses close to the provincial university, but as we have pointed out, the university is too big and too busy at present to give much attention to summer students.

* * *

What has Peterborough to offer that would recommend it as a centre for summer education? It has a commodious Normal School, to begin with, which could comfortably accommodate a large number of students; the Province keeps up this large building all through the year, and it is adequate to demands far greater than any which are imposed upon it by its present program of teacher training. Second, Peterborough is a charming town to visit in the summer, and it is less expensive to live here than in Toronto; for most rural teachers this is a very great consideration. Finally, we think that the time has come when the province should decide upon a city in Eastern Ontario as a centre for provincial educational benefits, and as Ottawa and Kingston both have universities, Peterborough is the obvious place.

* * *

Peterborough is already an important manufacturing centre and it will continue to develop in that direction. It is not the best thing, however, for a city's development to be in one direction only, and we feel that the time has come for Peterborough to attract educational institutions, as well, with an eye to the future. There are many good reasons why some of the summer courses offered by the Ontario Department of Education should be given outside Toronto, and we have offered a brief survey of our city's claims to have some of them established here.

Electricity From Steam

Canada is the envy of other nations for its abundant water-power, waterpower to drive the turbines to make electricity. The age of "white" power is eminently Canada's; less favoured nations like Britain have to depend on coal to provide steam for their turbines; the city of London is lit by coal. Now we have the astonishing anomaly of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario deserting Hydro power for steam, at a cost of 21 million dollars. That will be the cost of a new steam electricity-generating plant at Windsor.

Steam has been a secondary source of power in many Ontario localities—even in Peterborough — but never has there been an Ontario project like this. The new plant will ultimately be producing 64 per cent. as much power as Niagara, the key Hydro plant. The main difference is that the source of Niagara's power is water which flows freely and the source of Windsor's power will be steam produced at great annual cost. In a Province so well-endowed with waterpower there seems something artificial and uneconomic about the new Windsor plant. We cannot help but wonder if it would not have been better for Windsor's industries to move to areas where water-power is abundant than to carry coal to them, despite the advantages of being near Detroit. The bumbling John L. Lewis is a less stable provider than babbling brooks and rushing rivers.

"The Largest Railway System In America"

The Canadian National Railway system had its biggest peacetime year in 1947, a hundred years after the beginning of steam locomotion in Canada. The C.N. hauled more freight than in any other year, and twice the load of 1939. The total was 86,221,279 tons, which multiplied by 2,000 makes quite a few pounds. Passenger traffic has been reduced since men in uniform in tens of thousands were transcontinental travellers, but the revenue from this traffic was 25 million dollars greater than in 1939. The Company's twelve hotels flourished, the C.N. Express Company and the C.N. Telegraphs did more business than in any preceding year. The total gross revenues amounted to more than 438 million dollars, an increase of 38 millions over 1946. The subsidiary Canadian National West Indies Steamships reported an all time high of $7,857,471 in operating revenue.

President R. C. Vaughan's annual report shows that the system is doing a thriving, well-managed business in the interest of the Canadian people whom it serves and who own it. Nevertheless, the President had to report that after payment of interest on bonds and all Government interest, there was a net income deficit of $15,885,194.

The deficit can be readily explained. In the first place, the C.N.R. operates at a bookkeeping disadvantage which the C.P.R. does not have. The C.N. is still bound to the capitalization and debts of private railway companies which it took over when they were bankrupt. Secondly, the operating costs due to higher prices for materials have gone up by 114.5 million dollars since 1939—a total of 100.8 per cent. That, it seems to us, is a legitimate reason for the increased freight rates recently authorized by the Transport Commissioners and now being debated in Parliament.

Revolt In Bogota

The rioting in Bogota, capital of Colombia, has been more extensive and the situation more important than was first realized. Three hundreds persons have been killed, the central area of this city of 400,000 people has been gutted by fire and looting, and many streets continue to be dangerous because of small-arms sniping.

The riots were apparently touched off by the assassination of the Liberal leader Jorge Gaitan which roused a rabble-like resentment against the minority Conservative government of Ospina Perez. Several unusual elements in this revolt give validity to the belief that it is more than just another flare-up in volatile South American politics. Colombia has been one of the more orderly of the Latin American republics and Colombians have hitherto taken their politics rather quietly. The two principal parties, Liberals and Conservatives, oppose each other in parliamentary rather than rambunctious fashion. The violence of the riots is therefore remarkable. The timing is likewise remarkable. They came in the midst of the ninth Inter-American Conference being held in Bogota, when the American Secretary of State, Mr. Marshall, was attempting to explain the importance of E.R.P. to South American delegates, many of whom felt that South American interests were being slighted. They came at a time when Russia was seeking to divert western attention from E.R.P. and to disconcert western sodality. It is not surprising that foreign agitators have been found in Bogota and that the Government has seen fit to sever diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia.

A coalition government has been restored, though under the continuing presidency of Senor Perez; the country has been placed under military law and the revolt is being firmly brought under control. It is important that any concealed purposes be not achieved: the Conference should not be dissuaded from resuming its meetings in Bogota; the co-operation between the various Latin American nations should not be impaired; the people of North America and Western Europe should not lose faith in the importance and governmenal potency of the South American republics.

President Harry S. Truman signed the bill approving E.R.P. with twelve pens. We do not know how the feat was accomplished—one pen for each letter of his name or one for each digit of the $6,098,000,000.00 expenditure it authorized?

Everyman's Handicraft

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

FOR the past seven years the English editor Leonard Russell has produced an annual called "The Saturday Book" (Hutchinson). It is a grandchild of the Table Books which our Victorian forbears enjoyed so much, and is only describable as a miscellany of stories, articles and pictures, given whatever cohesion it may have by the taste and skill of the editor. Leonard Russell is remarkably deft in his ability to combine the most unlikely ingredients into an interesting and curiously distinguished whole. His "Saturday Books" may be taken as representative of the taste of a great many people in England and elsewhere, and it is for this reason that I wish to write at some length about handwriting, for the last two "Saturday Books" have contained articles on handwriting, and I assume therefore that many people must find the subject worthy of study and that interest in it is reviving. Certainly it has long been a hobby of my own.

◇ ◇ ◇

WITHIN the past week also, I have read an article called "Graphology In Industry" in the British magazine "Future"—an English equivalent of the American "Fortune". The writer of the article makes the asserfion that a number of British industries insist that all aspirants for jobs write letters of application in their own hands, and that these letters are submitted to a graphologist, who weeds out the impossibles, and makes notations on the letters of the better applicants. There are many people, I know, who would not wish to be judged by their handwriting; and yet, is it not likely that handwriting provides clues to character which are at least as informative to a trained observer as would be characteristics of dress, of speech, or of manners?

◇ ◇ ◇

UPON the whole, the handwriting of people in Britain tends to be more legible than that of the people of the North American continent, and it is likely that this difference is traceable to methods of teaching. In Britain, for many years, a form of upright, printed writing has been taught, which retains most of its legibility even when used at high speed. On this continent we have used, until recently, a debased form of Spencerian writing (once called, I believe, "the Palmer hand") which is hard to learn and which degenerates very rapidly when there is no teacher at hand to insist upon legibility. There is also a curious belief still current among business men that there is something rather fine about having an utterly illegible signature; this goes with the belief that a legible hand is characteristic of a clerk, rather than an "executive". Indeed, I was once told by a man in whose employ I was that the legibility of my handwriting displayed a lack of character, and that if I hoped to advance I would have to get more individuality (he meant erratic illegibility) into it!

◇ ◇ ◇

SUCH talk is, of course, ignorant nonsense. Anybody can write a good hand who wishes to do so, and the acquirement of skill as a writer is an interesting hobby. Everybody has to write, from time to time; surely it is a good thing to be able to write not merely legibly, but beautifully?

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR some years a movement has been on foot in Britain to revive the sixteenth century Italian hand which was called "Cancelleresca Corsiva", or Chancery Running Hand, because it was used by the clerks of the Papal Chancery. It is the most beautiful, as well as the most practical, of all forms of handwriting, and if you want to know what it looks like, examine any page of good Italic type. The type which we now call Italic was imitated directly from the handwriting of the poet Petrarch, who died in 1374. Such writing as this was not imitated in England until the reign of Henry VII, but it quickly displaced the squiggly semi-Gothic writing which had been in use, and everyone of consequence took pride in his ability to write it. It was called Italian Hand, and we still speak of seeing somebody's "fine Italian hand" in any scheme which is a little more subtle than it at first appears. Readers of Shakespeare will recall that in "Twelfth Night" Malvolio speaks of "the sweet Roman hand" which was written by Olivia.

◇ ◇ ◇

A GOOD many modern writers are reviving the sweet Roman hand, and with notable success. It is much easier to write than it looks (certainly much easier than the Palmer method) and it produces satisfactory and sometimes very beautiful results. It is perfectly legible, also, and legibility is not to be despised, even in these days of the typewriter. As I write I have before me specimens of the handwriting of Alfred Fairbank, the typographer, W. C. G. Bradley the scholar, James Wardrop the artist, Eric Gill the sculptor and Edmund Blunden the poet; all are written in personal variants of the Cancelleresca Corsiva, and all are beautiful and legible. Writing is a handicraft which anyone can practise with materials which he has at hand, and with the certain knowledge that his hobby will give pleasure to everyone who must do business, or exchange letters with him. Why not try it?

Opportunity Knocks

All kinds of queer things find their way into a newspaper office. This week, it was a tiny envelope containing two perfumed cards. The pink one said: "Are you worried? Do you want results by a consultant-astrologer? For your problems of love, matrimony, finances, employment, vocation. We can solve them. Send us three question with $2.50." An address on Fifth Avenue, New York, was given. The white card was a more businesslike proposition. For $6.00 per 1,000 words, the Writers' and Speakers' Bureau will write sermons for us. For $7.50 per 1,000 they will write a speech. For $8.95, they will write short stories or novels, or for $15.00 per 1,000 words, they will do research on technical subjects. But the real bargain comes at the end—12 printed sermons for $4.95.—Fergus News Record.

'Move Over, Brother'

Have You Anything To Declare?

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

THE above is the title of an address by Dr. W. E. McNeill at the Autumn Convocation of Queen's University, a printed copy of which has come to us. We wish we could share it with every young man in this country who is embarking on the adventure of life, and share it also with every school teacher, and every preacher, and every public man. For we think it the finest and truest thing that has been said about education and conduct and life's meaning for a long, long time.

Dr. McNeill took his title from an anthology by Maurice Baring.

"The author professes to have dreamed that he arrived at the borders of the next world and was there confronted by a stern guardian with the demand, 'Have you anything to declare?' The question was not about wine or tobacco or lace or diamonds or bank balances, but about moral and intellectual worth. What have you in heart and mind that will qualify you for admission to the more abundant life?"

Dr. McNeill's answer, the answer he would have young men make, is too good to be summarized. As samples of the depth and integrity of his thought, and as well of the beauty of his style, take this:

"In a baccalaureate sermon in this hall a few years ago Dr. Sclater flashed a light on the well-known phrase, 'O brave new world.' He completed the passage. Shakespeare's Miranda, exiled from infancy with her father to a desert island, on first seeing, years later, civilized youth in fair array, exclaimed:

'How beauteous mankind is! O, brave new world
That has such people in't.'

"There the vitual thought—'that has such people in't'. What must people have to make a brave new world? Paul had a good answer: 'Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report'. Perhaps all these are included in the world honour which has been a kingly word in English speech for seven hundred years."

Or this, a plea for more English composition in our schools:

"Most cultivated Englishmen speak and write better than we do because they have more faithfully kept the sayings of renowned men. Great words from the past come knocking at the doors of speech and thought. Winston Churchill constantly draws from his treasury of poetry. In England's darkest hour he stirred a nation's chivalry with Andrew Marvell's tribute to Charles I in his hour of doom:

'He nothing common did or mean
Upon that memorable scene.'

"The last war was won not only by great deeds but by great words—

'Words that have drawn transcendent meanings up
From the best passion of all by-gone time,
Steeped through with tears of triumph and remorse,
Sweet with all sainthood, cleansed in martyr-fires.'"

Thus great thought clothed with beauty. More to declare will they have who will read and cherish it.

Ready To Fight

Canadians have not only fought in two world wars to protect freedom. They have fought for it through two centuries, with every weapon at their disposal, and with the courage of the pioneers they were. They still cherish that freedom, and they will not give it up, even though there are those in our midst who would sell our freedom, our liberty and our way of life to a nation not their own.

Canadians are only beginning to realize they will have to fight Communism, but with the realization they will be ready to fight, with just as much of the pioneer courage as their forefathers.—Saulte Ste. Marie Star.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.... Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas unto the hall of judgment. (John 18: 14, 28.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Then Pilate therefore took Jesus, and scourged him. And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe, and said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him with their hands....

When the chief priests therefore and officers saw him, they cried out, saying, Crucify him, crucify him. Pilate saith unto him, Take ye him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him....

And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha: where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst. (John 19: 1-3, 6, 17, 18.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel, not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect. For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. (Cor. 1: 17, 18.)

Letter To The Editor

QUESTIONS HOUSEWIFE

Sir: Kindly allow me a few lines in your valuable paper re letter from Clarence Neill to Contented Housewife.

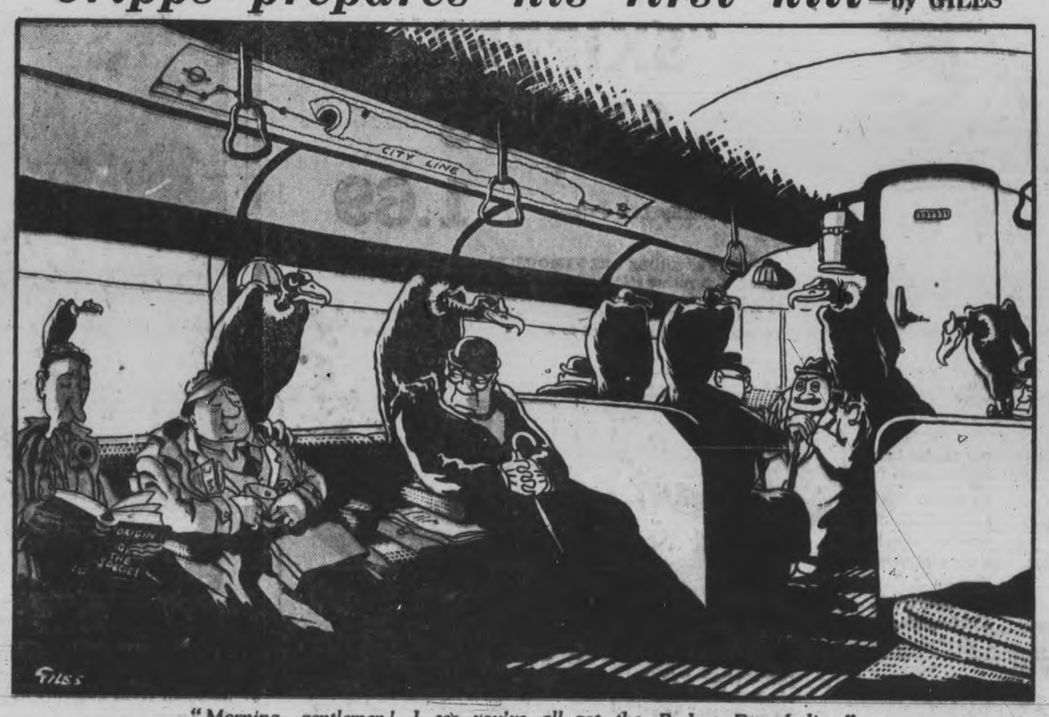
Mr. Neill to my opinion is right as to anyone being satisfied with the wages being paid in our factories today and the increased cost of living, rents, clothing etc. Maybe this Contented Housewife will answer a few questions.

Is her husband a foreman at this said plant, or maybe a company stooge or is she also probably working herself.

Mr. Neill to my opinion is right and we should have more men like him at the head of our local union.

Now Mrs. Contented Housewife in your next letter kindly sign your name so that we may know the smart lady or magician who is so satisfied with the wages paid today.

Thanking you,



G. E. DAWE.

"Morning, gentlemen! I see you've all got the Budget Day feeling."

IT WAS SILVERWARE NIGHT — At Maple Leafs Gardens Monday evening, between the first and second periods of Barrie's 8-3 Memorial Cup semi-final victory over Montreal, J. J. McFadden (right), first vice-president of the OHA, handed out three coveted trophies. Barrie Coach Leighton (Hap) Emms (left) was presented with the John Ross Robertson Cup which he accepted on behalf of the Barrie team as OHA Junior "A" group champions. George Armstrong, youthful Stratford right-winger, was a double trophy winner. He's holding the Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy he won for leading the Junior "A" scoring parade. He also accepted the Albert (Red) Tilson Memorial Trophy, donated by The Globe and Mail, and held by McFadden, which goes to the player best combining outstanding and gentlemanly play.

Revolt In Colombia and Soviet Veto Looked Upon As Suspicious Coincidence

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y.—To a lot of people here there was a suspicious coincidence in timing between the left-wing revolt in Colombia and the Soviet Union's third and inevitable veto on Saturday of Italy's membership in the Security Council.

The happenings in Bogota, in which by the press reports Communists were at least implicated, almost pushed off the front pages the Russian rebuff to Italy at a time when both Russia and the West are bidding for the Italian electorate.

This suspicion would be less widely held—it would indeed be dismissed as unworthy by all but a few—if the aggressive Russian moves in Berlin had not been similarly timed to damp down the news value of the Marshall Plan adoption in America. In wars of nerves there are offensives and counter-offensives.

"It just goes to show," a veteran reporter remarked on Saturday, "what you can do with a world-wide conspiratorial organization at your bidding. You can even play tricks with the 'capitalist press'."

He was sitting in the half empty Security Council chamber, where Andrei Gromyko was once more blackballing Italy and once more blaming the rejection on Britain and America.

Gromyko said it was not possible to support Italy's membership without supporting the applications of other ex-enemy states with whom treaties had been signed—without supporting Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary and Finland. All but the last named (even the last named to an increasing degree) are by something more than coincidence under the domination of the USSR.

The Russian claimed that the Potsdam Declaration and the peace treaties themselves obligated the big powers to seek UN membership for all these ex-enemy states. He linked the gesture of America, Britain and France in seeking membership for Italy with the Italian election and said "the Italian electorate will not be fooled."

The British Reply

Sharp-tongued Valentine Lawford of the United Kingdom, Sir Alexander Cadogan's deputy and an expert Gromyko-needler, retorted that indeed the Italian electorate would not be fooled. They would know who were their friends and who were not their friends. Lawford cited the text of the Potsdam Declaration and of the treaties, to show that they did not obligate the great powers to support he membership of each ex-enemy state once the treaties were signed. "Signing merely removed one obstacle in the way of their membership," he said. But even allowing for the sake of argument that the Potsdam signatories were so obligated, Lawford continued, the Soviet Union was now obligated to support Italy. Instead she was linking Italy with other treaty states in an irrelevant manner. The business before the Council was not those other states, but Italy

After the expected vote of nine to two ("there are two votes against, since one of those voting against is a permanent member, the motion is not carried," the chairman intoned) the United States delegate's indignation exploded. "It is almost unbelievable," Warren Austin charged, "that one member nation will continue to flout the wishes of the rest of the world in this manner." Gromyko sat through the American's philippic with as much expression on his face as a Guardsman on parade.

The defeat of the other applicants—Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungory, Finland, Albania and Outer Mongolia—was a foregone conclusion. It was not necessary for any Western permanent member to invoke a veto, because a majority of the Security Council does not favor these states. Actually, no vote was taken. The applications were merely shelved.

In the view of the Western powers the people of, for example, Hungary may be peace-loving; but their government, imposed on them from the top, is neither peace-loving nor is it democratically elected or democratic in purpose.

The only winner in the extraordinary meeting held on Saturday is Burma, which will in due time become the 58th member nation of the UN. "Due time" will probably be during the special session of the General Assembly which convenes next Friday. Nobody opposes these emerging Far Eastern states and everybody bids for their favor. They are thus even more fortunately placed than the Italian electorate.

As far as Italy is concerned it is important to remember that twice before Britain, France and the United States have sought to get Italy admitted to the UN, and at times when no electoral advantage could be gained.

Canada's General McNaughton put the Italian case very clearly on Saturday when he said: "It is our view that Italy fully lives up to the requirements under chapter four of the Charter. Her government is fully independent and desires peaceful relations with other nations."

That is enough for the Charter. Why is it not enough for the Slav bloc?

Opinion here is that the Soviet Union is still uneasy about its hegemony over the Eastern exenemy states. There is still the possibility that some of them might attempt to throw off the Russian yoke. If Russia approved Italy's election to the family of nations without pushing their case, the discontent in those countries would grow and would feed on that Russian action.

Purge Needed?

There is considerable malaise here over the opposition in the American Senate to granting the United Nations a loan of $65,000,000 for its Manhattan Building. The uneasiness is focussed on the fact that Senator Ralph E. Flanders has led the opposition, demanding that the UN purge itself before it receives this virtual grant-in-aid.

If Flanders were a fire-eating know-nothing from the American Middle West, UN delegates and officials would not be very worried. But Flanders has the reputation of an internationalist. He is generally known as a Liberal Republican whom Democrats admire, a Liberal capitalist who enjoys the support of union labor. If this type of American is turning against the U.N. the situation is far graver than if the Hon. C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois, confidant of Col. Robert R. McCormick and darling of the Chicago Tribune were to voice his continuing mistrust of all foreigners.

Moreover, Flanders is a Republican senator from Vermont. Warren Austin, the chief United States delegate to the United Nations, is a former Republican senator from Vermont. There is speculation here whether Flanders may not be voicing some of Austin's private exasperation at the U.N. procedures, pitfalls and delays.

PHOTOGENIC: "Many people tell me I am very photogenic and should be in Hollywood. Is there any way I can capitalize on my face and figure locally? I am no silly Bobby-soxer."

All the better, for cute looking teen-agers are a dime a dozen. Especially useful to department stores and studios are attractive, well-poised matrons. Fashion shows and style photography absorb their talent. Why not interview stores and studios here at home? Hollywood is literally flooded with beauties who cannot find work.

TARNISHED SILVER: "Is there anything which will keep my silver from turning dark when it is put away? It is flatware I am especially interested in."

Here's a summer aid for silver. Buy a box of man-sized Kleenex; put three pieces of alum in it, leave for two weeks. Clean the silver. Wrap each piece separately in a sheet of the alum saturated Kleenex. Even if the silver discolours slightly, a rub with the medicated tissue will polish it up. It pays to keep a box of this prepared tissue on hand.
